'COLLIER'S TOWERS'

A $65 Million Capitol Building

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Start asking about "Collier Towers" in Sacramento and a curtain of secrecy falls. Behind the scenes, plans are being made for a new state Capitol with the estimated cost now around $65 million. Here is a report by Associated Press writer Bill Boyarsky).

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A select group of legislators is meeting secretly each week, planning construction of a new 24-story twin-tower Capitol that would cost at least $65 million and double the office space allocated to each senator and assemblyman.

Although the word hasn't yet been passed to the taxpayers, lawmakers are likely to offer a bill next year to send workmen out building the replacement for the columned and domed Capitol that has housed the legislature since 1869.

Admittedly afraid of premature publicity, the man behind the new building, Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, has imposed tight security on architects and other officials preparing plans.

All meetings of a special committee to plan the project are held in secret. Most officials connected with it are reluctant to comment and Collier refused all interviews. Officials in the State Division of Architecture wouldn't permit a photographer to take a picture of a preliminary model until Gov. Reagan's office told them to do it.

And although workmen haven't hammered a single nail, cost estimates have zoomed from $32.1 million to $65 million as lawmakers contemplate a toilet in every office, a conference room for every lawmaker and a parking space for every car.

Without debate or public discussion, the legislature has already spent $40,545 on plans, models and overseas trips by legislators who wanted to see the latest in legislative buildings.

Investigating lawmakers, on state expense accounts, have traveled to such capital cities as Brasilia; Honolulu; Lima, Peru; Lansing, Mich.; Albany, N.Y., and Santa Fe, N.M. One of the trips provided the travelers with New Year's Eve in Hawaii.

Around the legislature, the project is half jokingly called "Collier Towers" after its leading booster. Advocates of the project said the legislature and

FLORENCE DONNELLY
Newspaperwoman since 1930

Florence Donnelly, "grand old girl" of Marin County newspapering and founder of the Marin County Historical Society, died yesterday at her long-time home at 117 C Street, San Rafael. She was 76.

Mrs. Donnelly began her newspaper career on the San Rafael Independent in 1930, and was still active as the Independent-Journal's historical writer until her final illness, which began a few weeks ago with an attack of influena.

As a "cub reporter," she covered general news in San Rafael, and did courthouse coverage during the waning years of Prohibition, when rumrunners and gang killings made the headlines and the criminal courts.

Her versatility carried her from such assignments as murder investigations to being first editor of the Marin Magazine, then to women's editor, and finally to historical writer.

She presided over the I-J's women's department for more than 20 years, and in 1952 her women's pages won first award in the California Newspaper Publishers contest. The following year, she was honored by the San Rafael Improvement Club for outstanding community service.

In 1964, she gave up the women's editorship to devote her time to her "first love," Marin County history, writing numerous historical articles for the Marin Magazine. Three of her articles on North Marin are still awaiting publication in the magazine, a section of the Saturday Independent-Journal.

Mrs. Donnelly not only was co-founder of the Marin County Historical Society in 1935, but held a series of offices in it, including that of president. She

U.S. Awaits Hanoi Hint On Pullback

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials are watching for a Hanoi response, either through diplomatic channels or on the battlefield, to President Richard M. Nixon's bid for a North Vietnamese pullback to match the American troop withdrawal from South Vietnam.

So far the enemy's answer seems negative—both in propaganda blasts at Nixon's 25,000-man withdrawal announcement and in a flareup in combat offensives after a brief lull.

But U.S. sources suggested it would take time for Hanoi leaders to make a full evaluation of Sunday's Midway Island meeting between Nixon and South Vietnam's President Nguyen

Army Puts $4.5 Million Tag On Underground Drain

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCIESCO — Col. Frank C. Boerger, San Francisco district engineer of the Army Corps of Engineers, today estimated cost of a diversionary underground route from Corte Madera Creek through Ross between $4 million and $4.5 million.

Boerger's estimated cost of the corps' plan to handle storm water through a concrete-lined ditch on the creek's present course at $2.5 million. The difference in cost between the two plans would have to be borne locally, Boerger said, because he doubted the federal government would allocate additional funds.

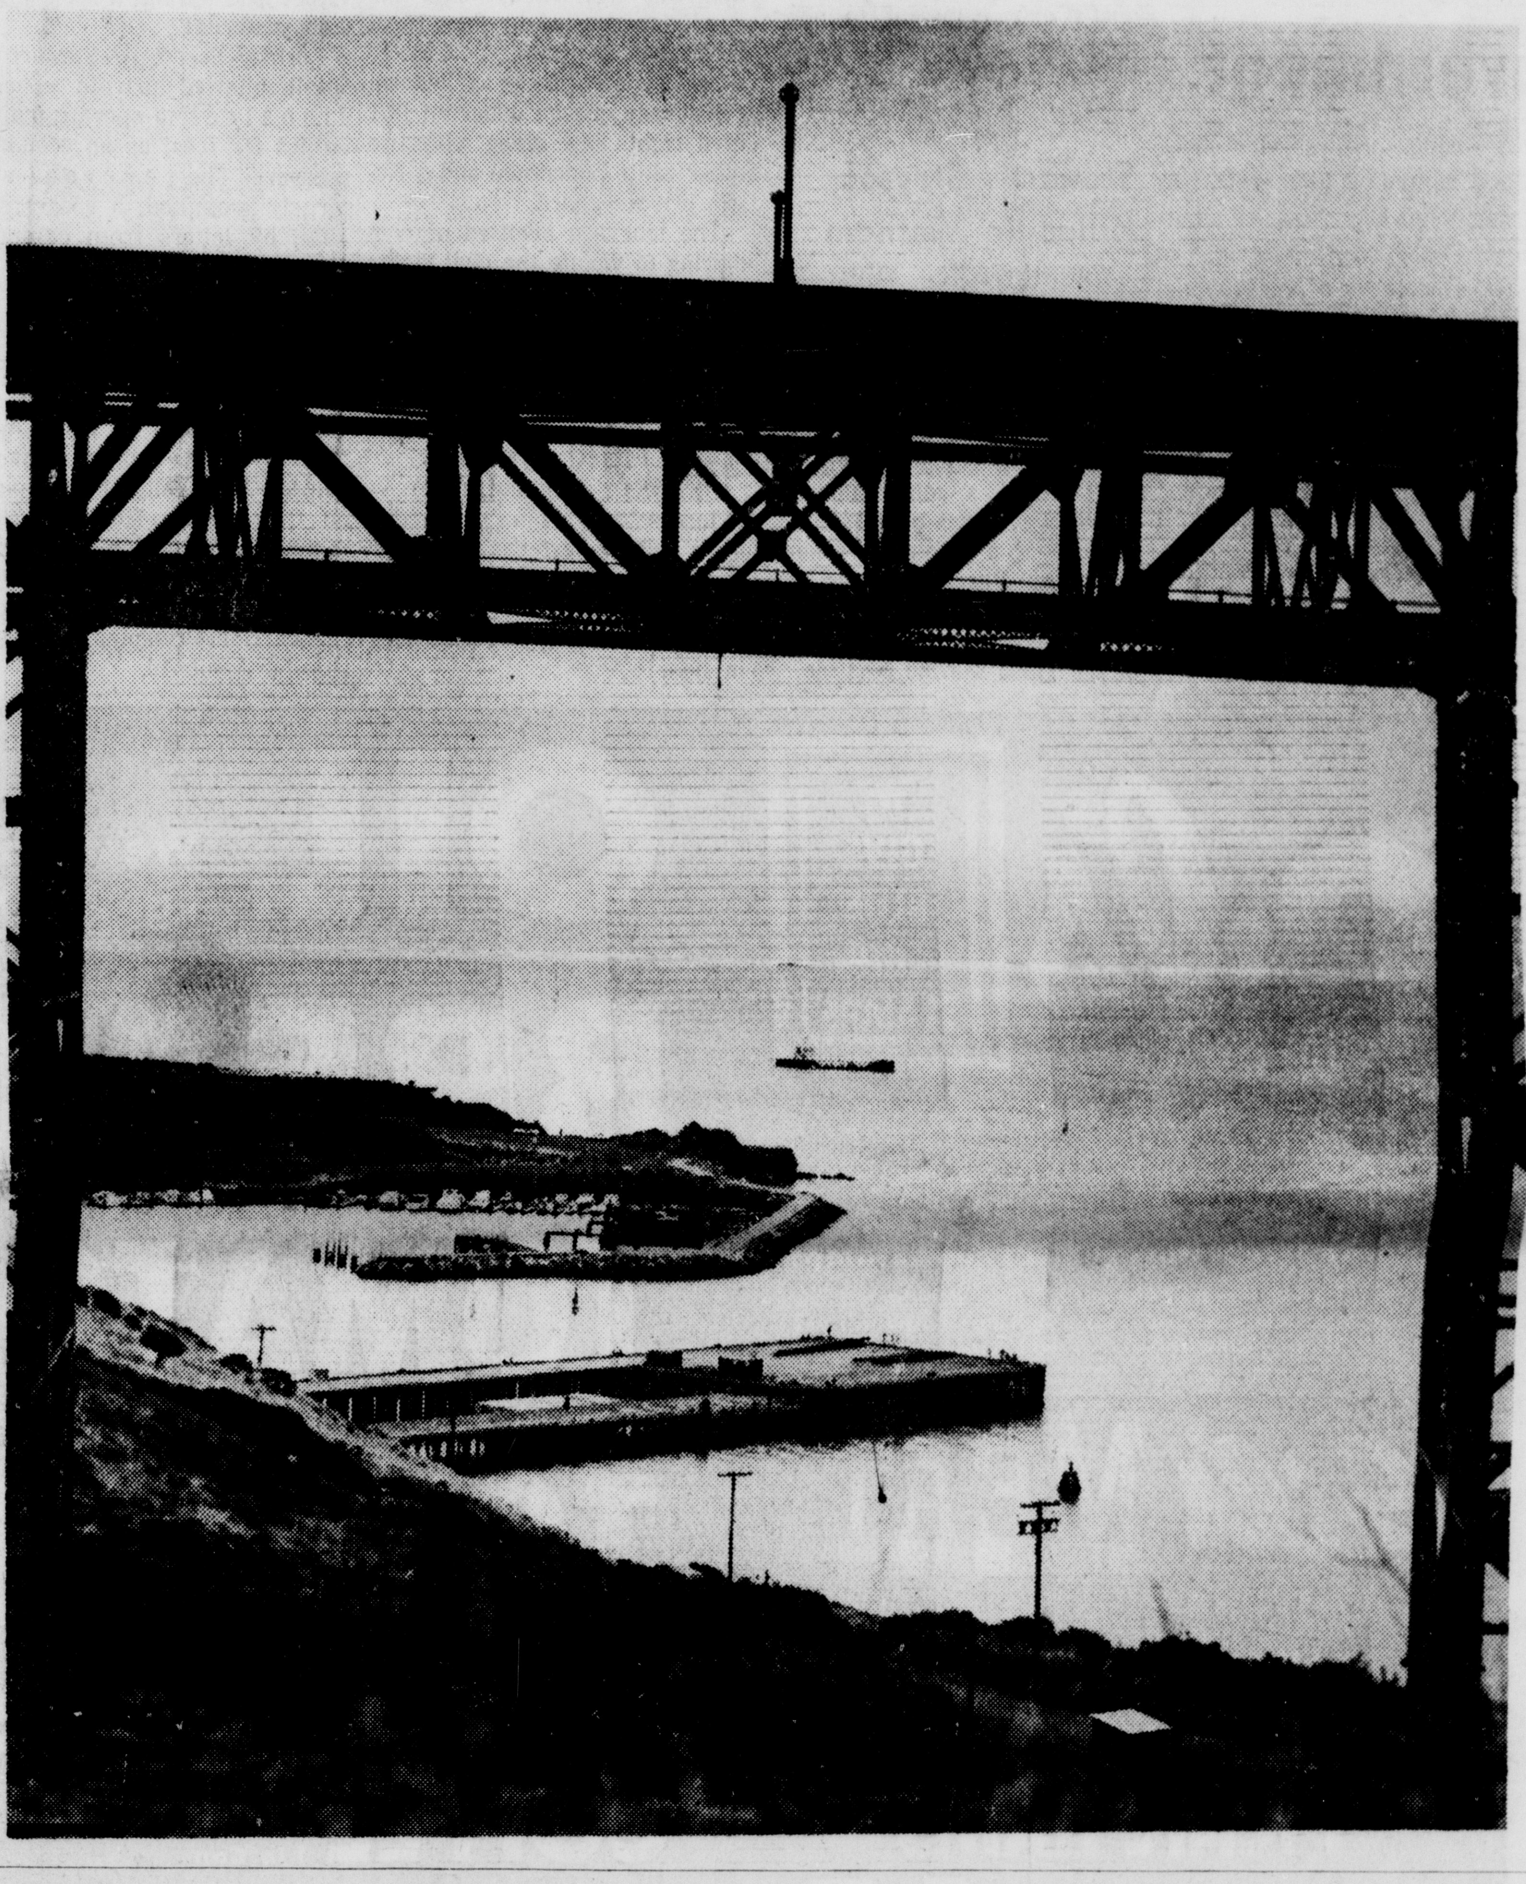
A SOMBER SERENE BAY

The somber mood created by the Bay Area's overcast the past two days was caught this morning by Independent-Journal photographer Bob Hax, looking east from Southern Marin. The stark and skeletal support of Golden Gate Bridge's northern approach frames Fort Baker and the distant East Bay hills. Moving across the silvered bay is the Army Corps of Engineers ship that sweeps the bay clean of debris. The vessel's lonely passage — in a scene where the only other movement is the stirring of water and the scudding of mist — emphasizes the day's serenity.



Mayor Beats Challenger In Petaluma

With 6,705 voters going to the polls out of the 9,218 eligible, Mrs. Putnam received 2,747 votes to Lipman's 2,473. Mrs. Putnam will begin her second four-year term as mayor next month.

City Councilman Phillip L. Joerger was returned to office with 3,058 votes. He will be joined on council by newcomers Fred V. Mattei who polled 3,071 votes and Robert A. Brunner who received 2,086.

The two vacant council positions were created by Vice Mayor Kenneth C. Colin's decision not to run and Councilman Lipman's decision to oppose Mayor Putnam at the end of his council term.

In the board of education race, two incumbents were returned and one defeated.

Newcomer Arthur L. La Franchi proved top vote getter with 4,302, defeating incumbent Clay Thompson who received 3,090. Reelected were Sol Fishman with 3,591 votes and Dr. William M. Kortum with 3,939.

Candidate John K. Murphy received 1,808 and Alfred N. Brengle polled 1,725.

School Bonds Vetoed Again In San Rafael

San Rafael Elementary School District's $2.1 million bond proposal was rejected by the voters yesterday, the second defeat this year for the measure.

The unofficial count was 3,865 yes votes and 2,910 no, a 57.05 per cent favorable vote, but short of the required two-thirds majority.

There were 6,775 votes cast, a 40 per cent turnout.

In February the same measure fell short of the two-thirds mark, but garnered a 60.26 per cent favorable vote, 3,729 yes to 2,459 no.

Board President Herman L. Childress thanked campaign workers and commented: "We still need classroom space." The board will attempt to work out the problem, he said.

Passage of the bonds would have provided a Glenwood Middle School and improvements at existing schools. The financing also would have enabled the district to switch to a middle school setup for sixth, seventh and eighth grades, and eliminated sixth grades at neighborhood schools.

There was overwhelming support from the Glenwood School precinct, 701 to 195, but the defeat came generally from voting throughout the district.

The measure gained a two-thirds vote only in the Glenwood School area and at the polling place at the Tait residence, 71 Lochinvar Road, Loch Lomond.

In eight of the 19 polling places, mainly in the older section of San Rafael, the measure failed to gain even a simple majority.

Paul K. McMullen, chairman of the campaign committee, and his wife, Valerie, were given a standing ovation for their efforts, and luggage as a gift from co-workers.

The unofficial voting count by precincts was:

Sun Valley School 235 yes, 182 no; West End School, 174 yes, 250 no; San Rafael City Hall, 163 yes, 172 no; Farley residence, 1480 Lincoln Avenue, 163 yes, 110 no; Gallinas School, 193 yes, 170 no; MacPhail School, 191 yes, 152 no; Hartzell School 213 yes, 158 no; San Pedro School, 176 yes, 136 no; San Rafael Boy Scout Hall, 61 yes, 107 no; San Rafael City Schools Administration Building, 147 yes, 159 no.

Jobless Count Drops In May

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A record 7.95 million Californians were working during May and unemployment fell to its lowest May level since 1959, the state Employment Department announced today.

Unemployment totaled 327,000 or 4.2 per cent of the work force. The May 1968 jobless rate was 4.6 per cent.

About half the employment gain came in agriculture, but the department said there were increases in all major industrial categories.

Bagley Accuses Reagan Of Fogging Tax Reform

Withholding Issue Ires Key Architect

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A key Republican in the bipartisan drive for a tax reform package with mandatory income tax withholding today accused Gov. Ronald Reagan of fogging the issue of tax reform by debating mandatory versus voluntary withholding.

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, one of the architects of a comprehensive compromise tax package now being discussed, also stated flatly that any tax bill calling for merely voluntary withholding was doomed to failure in the Legislature.

Reacting to Reagan's press conference yesterday, Bagley said today: "The governor's statements really boil down to his trying to make an issue of partial versus complete withholding. There have got to be more important things in the world to argue about."

WHAT KIND

Reagan, in his regular weekly press conference, told reporters the issue is no longer withholding, but what kind.

Bagley today said, "I don't think that's the biggest issue facing California. I don't want to see that issue alone stop tax reform."

He said the whole question centers on whether any tax program can get the necessary two-thirds vote in the Assembly. It cannot if it has a voluntary withholding provision, he said.

"I can fairly say that the business community of California is totally opposed to partial withholding whereas they endorse full withholding," he said. He cited the recent unanimous action of the statewide tax committee of the California Manufacturers Association, which represents 50 major firms, opposing partial withholding.

'NOT IN CONCRETE'

Bagley again emphasized his "feet are not in concrete on any specific aspect of tax reform," adding: "All I'm trying to do is put together enough votes to pass a meaningful tax reform program."

In another development today, Assembly Speaker Robert Monagan of Tracy and Senate President Pro Tem Howard Way of Exeter, in their weekly news conference, said they have some reservations about Reagan's voluntary withholding plan.

Monagan said he is keeping an open mind, but isn't sure whether the governor's plan is "workable," while Way said the

San Pedro Road Fund Promised

An East San Rafael delegation appeared in force today at the Civic Center to fight for San Pedro Road funds but found nothing to argue about when the county administrator reconsidered and recommended the full $500,000 funding.

Instead of a bruising battle, it was sweetness and light, after Asst. Administrator John F. Barrows explained that the admininstrator had recommended cutting $200,000 from the proposed $500,000 joint city-county appropriation to widen San Pedro road from Lochinvar Road to Main Drive.

However, Barrows said he found that carryover balances in the road budget turned out larger than expected, and so did revenues, which makes it possible to fund the full $500,000.

This the supervisors agreed to do. John Shiner, president of the Peacock Gap Homeowners Association, and Norris M. Rawles, San Rafael city engineer, changed their battle plans and wound up with brief thank you speeches.

Public Works Chief's Pay Hiked 5 Pct.

Public Works Director Donald R. Frost, who now gets $1,796 per month, won a 5 per cent raise to $1,883 from July, by unanimous action of the Marin County Board of Supervisors this morning.

The raise is higher than the $1,840 per month recommended by Alan Bruce, county administrator.

Since other county employees are getting raises of 5 per cent in July and another 2.5 per cent cost-of-living raise in January, "any raise less than 5 per cent would be a cut in pay," declared Frost.

Simultaneously, supervisors criticized Frost for having too many staff members and asked for more efficiency in the administration of his department.

"I would like to see a change

Public Works Chief's Pay Hiked 5 Pct.

Public Works Director Donald R. Frost, who now gets $1,796 per month, won a 5 per cent raise to $1,883 from July, by unanimous action of the Marin County Board of Supervisors this morning.

The raise is higher than the $1,840 per month recommended by Alan Bruce, county administrator.

Since other county employees are getting raises of 5 per cent in July and another 2.5 per cent cost-of-living raise in January, "any raise less than 5 per cent would be a cut in pay," declared Frost.

Simultaneously, supervisors criticized Frost for having too many staff members and asked for more efficiency in the administration of his department.

Fierce Red Attacks On U.S. Bases Kill 14 GIs

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese forces attacked three U.S. bases in the coastal lowlands south of Da Nang during the night, killing 14 Americans, wounding 68 and destroying or damaging some artillery guns, the U.S. Command reported today. The Americans said 76 North Vietnamese were killed.

In the heaviest attack, North Vietnamese sappers armed with flame throwers and dynamite bombs blasted their way into an American artillery base in foothills 30 miles south of Da Nang. Eleven Americans were killed and 32 wounded in hand-to-hand fighting.

SECOND THRUST

In the second enemy thrust, about 400 North Vietnamese troops tried to overrun a U.S. Marine battalion headquarters 20 miles south of Da Nang, but were hurled back with a loss of 35 killed. Two U.S. Marines were killed and 28 wounded.

In the third attack, the enemy opened fire with mortars, small arms and rocket-propelled grenades on a night bivouac of troops at the U.S. 11th Light Infantry Brigade 95 miles south of Da Nang. In the night-long exchange of fire, 14 North Vietnamese were killed. U.S. losses were one killed and eight wounded.

But the bitterest fighting raged around the U.S. artillery base where 27 North Vietnamese were killed.

About 150 troops of the U.S. 196th Light Infantry Brigade were camped for the night when the sappers attacked shortly after 2 a.m. The enemy troops broke through the barbed wire perimeter under cover of a 70-round mortar barrage that pinned the Americans down.

CLOSE CONTACT

The fighting was so close, spokesmen said, that the Americans were unable to call in bombers and artillery to help drive the North Vietnamese soldiers back.

The U.S. Command also reported about 50 rocket and mortar attacks during the night on allied bases and towns and said about half of them caused casualties or damage. Three hit American units around Dak To who are supporting a South Vietnamese division that has taken over the fighting in the mountains there. Several Americans were wounded, and South Vietnamese casualties were described as light. More than 100 rounds were fired at the allied positions.

Viet Cong Organize Tactical Government

PARIS (AP) — The Viet Cong's announcement that it has formed a provisional government for South Vietnam appears to have been timed to take the edge off the show of solidarity by President Richard M. Nixon and South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu at their Midway Island meeting Sunday.

The Viet Cong Radio announced last night that a special congress of "resistance forces" at a weekend meeting set up a "revolutionary government to rule Vietnam."

The Saigon government called creation of the provisional regime a "trick tactic" in the Viet Cong's campaign for a coalition government to rule South Vietnam.

"We completely disregard that kind of a puppet government," an official spokesman in Saigon said.

He noted that Nixon and Thieu at Midway agreed to "reject any attempt to impose upon the Republic of Vietnam any system or program or any particular form of government, such as coalition, without regard to the will of the people of South Vietnam."

South Vietnamese Foreign Minister Tran Chanh Thanh described the move as "another deceitful tactic of the Communists which may cause detriment to the progress of the Paris peace talks."

Radio Hanoi announced that the two top positions in the "provisional revolutionary government of the Republic of South Vietnam" would be held by the two top officials of the Viet Cong's Natinal Liberation Front.

NLF Chairman Nguyen Huu Tho was elected "chairman, council of advisers to the government," the broadcast said. Huynh Tan Phat, vice chairman and secretary-general of the NLF's Central Committee, was named "chairman of the government."

It appeared that the council chairman would be the more important, similar to the party chief in Communist-ruled countries.

A broadcast also announced the election of three vice chairmen of the government: Dr. Phung Van Cung, deputy chairman of the NLF; Nguyen Van Tiet, a member of the National Alliance of Deocratic and Peace Forces, regarded in Saigon as a Communist front, and Nguyen Doa, whose background was not immediately available.

The broadcast also said Trinh Dinh Thao, chairman of the National Alliance, was elected vice chairman of the advisers council.

Proclamation of the provisional government had been expected for months.

Bolinas Fire Budget

The Bolinas Fire Protection District board Monday night approved a final 1969-70 budget of $16,239, an increase of $1,179 over last year. The tax rate should stay at or near the present 33 cents per $100 assessed valuation, chairman Manuel S. Peters said, because of increased property valuation.

Detroit Policeman Found Innocent In Murder Trial

MASON Mich. (AP) — An all-white jury has found a suspended white policemen innocent of murdering a Negro youth during Detroit's 1967 racial riot. But he still faces a federal conspiracy charge in the Algiers Motel incident.

It took the jury of 11 women and one man less than three hours yesterday to return the acquittal verdict after Circuit Judge William Beer limited them to two choices: a first-degree murder conviction or a not-guilty finding.

Judge Beer gave no explanation of why he ruled out second-degree murder or manslaughter.

The defendant, Ronald August, 30, was on trial for the shotgun slaying of 19-year-old Aubrey Pollard, one of three Negro teen-agers killed July 26, 1967 at the Algiers Motel in Detroit's inner city.

"I'm going to pray," was August's only comment to newsmen who asked him what he planned to do next. He was escorted from the Ingham County Courthouse under heavy guard.

August admitted killing Pollard but said it was in self-defense in a struggle for the shotgun.

After the verdict was announced, the mother of the victim, Rebecca Pollard, said she thought it was a fair trial and the prosecutor did all he could "but the jury refused to believe the facts."

"All whites stick together," Mrs. Pollard added. "I didn't think they would find him guilty."

The verdict had repercussions in the state senate, where a Negro lawmaker introduced a resolution calling for an investigation of the conduct of the judge in restricting the jury to two possible verdicts.

"The inevitable result of the trial . . . has granted a license to kill to the Detroit Police Department and all law enforcement agencies so far as black men are concerned," said the resolution drafted by Sen. Basil Brown, an attorney.

August still faces a federal conspiracy charge under an 1871 civil rights law along with two other white policemen and a Negro private guard.

The four are accused of conspiring to violate the civil rights of 10 persons at the Algiers Motel, which police and National Guardsmen had raided in a search for reported snipers.

Stewart's Stepson Killed In Vietnam

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The stepson of actor Jimmy Stewart has been killed in action in Vietnam, the Pentagon disclosed today.

He was Marine 1st Lt. Ronald W. McLean. The Pentagon said he suffered a fatal gun shot wound while on a patrol June 8. Stewart is a brigadier general in the Air Force Reserves. The stepson was a member of the Third Reconnaissance Battalion of the Third Marine Division.

Hartfords Split

The Hartfords were reconciled after she sought a divorce in September 1967 and that action was dropped. In both suits Mrs. Hartford charged cruel and inhuman treatment, and in the one lodged yesterday she added a complaint of nonsupport.

Hartford, 57, whose fortune came from A&P Stores, and the red-haired beauty from Wilkes-Barre, Pa., were married in 1962 and have a daughter.

New Park Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Interior Walter J. Hickel has decided to keep all national park campgrounds under federal operation, but to levy a fee for their use.

Tent and trailer fees will probably range from $1.50 to $3.50 a day when they go into effect next spring, a spokesman said yesterday.

Former Secretary Stewart L. Udall allowed private concessionaires to operate trailer camps for fees, as an economy measure. The reversal was largely prompted, a spokesman said, by letters from campers objecting to the higher costs.

Historic Mission

WASHINGTON (AP) — The aircraft carrier Hornet, a 27-year-old veteran of World War II, will be the prime recovery ship for the Apollo 11 astronauts on their return from the first manned landing on the moon next month, space agency officials say. The Hornet replaces the carrier Princeton, recovery ship for Apollo 10.

A 'Heart Suit'

WASHINGTON (AP) — An astronaut-like suit has been developed as an emergency uniform for heart attack victims. The idea — still experimental — is to ease the work load on an overburdened, diseased heart, and save a life.

In a report today to the Artificial Heart Program Conference, sponsored by the National Heart Institute, the suit was said to specifically treat cardiogenic shock, a sharp drop in circulating blood because of a weak heart.

Joint Sun Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) The United States and Germany have agreed to cooperate in the launching of German-built spacecraft in two space probes intended to come closer to the sun — 28 million miles — than any experiment so far.

The agreement signed in Bonn, Germany, yesterdqy provides for two U.S. Atlas-Centaur launch rockets for the probes, which will be known as Helios.

The missions in 1974 and 1975 will study solar wind, magnetic and electric fields, cosmic rays and cosmic dust.

Drug Hauls Up

MEXICO CITY (AP) — U.S. and Mexican border authorities seized more heroin and almost as much marijuana in the first three months of this year as in all of 1968, a U.S. Customs official reported.

Customs officer Joseph Jenkins told a U.S.-Mexican drug traffic conference yesterday that authorities at the border seized 55.3 pounds of heroin during January, February and March compared to 54.8 pounds during 1968. He said the total of 147,624 pounds of marijuana was confiscated in 1968, compared to 107,329 pounds during the first three months of 1969.

Suez Exchange

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli and Egyptian guns roared across the Suez Canal again last night, and the army said two Israelis were killed and seven wounded.

The Egyptians fired mortar and light arms at four places along the waterway, a spokesman said, and shooting continued sporadically through most of the night.

The Israelis killed — two 18-year-old privates and the wounded were caught in the open by one shell.

Fierce Red Attacks On U.S. Bases Kill 14 GIs

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese forces attacked three U.S. bases in the coastal lowlands south of Da Nang during the night, killing 14 Americans, wounding 68 and destroying or damaging some artillery guns, the U.S. Command reported today. The Americans said 76 North Vietnamese were killed.

In the heaviest attack, North Vietnamese sappers armed with flame throwers and dynamite bombs blasted their way into an American artillery base in foothills 30 miles south of Da Nang. Eleven Americans were killed and 32 wounded in hand-to-hand fighting.

SECOND THRUST

In the second enemy thrust, about 400 North Vietnamese troops tried to overrun a U.S. Marine battalion headquarters 20 miles south of Da Nang, but were hurled back with a loss of 35 killed. Two U.S. Marines were killed and 28 wounded.

In the third attack, the enemy opened fire with mortars, small arms and rocket-propelled grenades on a night bivouac of troops at the U.S. 11th Light Infantry Brigade 95 miles south of Da Nang. In the night-long exchange of fire, 14 North Vietnamese were killed. U.S. losses were one killed and eight wounded.

But the bitterest fighting raged around the U.S. artillery base where 27 North Vietnamese were killed.

About 150 troops of the U.S. 196th Light Infantry Brigade were camped for the night when the sappers attacked shortly after 2 a.m. The enemy troops broke through the barbed wire perimeter under cover of a 70-round mortar barrage that pinned the Americans down.

CLOSE CONTACT

The fighting was so close, spokesmen said, that the Americans were unable to call in bombers and artillery to help drive the North Vietnamese soldiers back.

The U.S. Command also reported about 50 rocket and mortar attacks during the night on allied bases and towns and said about half of them caused casualties or damage. Three hit American units around Dak To who are supporting a South Vietnamese division that has taken over the fighting in the mountains there. Several Americans were wounded, and South Vietnamese casualties were described as light. More than 100 rounds were fired at the allied positions.

Viet Cong Organize Tactical Government

PARIS (AP) — The Viet Cong's announcement that it has formed a provisional government for South Vietnam appears to have been timed to take the edge off the show of solidarity by President Richard M. Nixon and South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu at their Midway Island meeting Sunday.

The Viet Cong Radio announced last night that a special congress of "resistance forces" at a weekend meeting set up a "revolutionary government to rule Vietnam."

The Saigon government called creation of the provisional regime a "trick tactic" in the Viet Cong's campaign for a coalition government to rule South Vietnam.

"We completely disregard that kind of a puppet government," an official spokesman in Saigon said.

He noted that Nixon and Thieu at Midway agreed to "reject any attempt to impose upon the Republic of Vietnam any system or program or any particular form of government, such as coalition, without regard to the will of the people of South Vietnam."

*South Vietnamese Foreign Minister Tran Chanh Thanh de*scribed the move as "another deceitful tactic of the Communists which may cause detriment to the progress of the Paris peace talks."

Radio Hanoi announced that the two top positions in the "provisional revolutionary government of the Republic of South Vietnam" would be held by the two top officials of the Viet Cong's Natinal Liberation Front.

NLF Chairman Nguyen Huu Tho was elected "chairman, council of advisers to the government," the broadcast said. Huynh Tan Phat, vice chairman and secretary-general of the NLF's Central Committee, was named "chairman of the government."

It appeared that the council chairman would be the more important, similar to the party chief in Communist-ruled countries.

A broadcast also announced the election of three vice chairmen of the government: Dr. Phung Van Cung, deputy chairman of the NLF; Nguyen Van Tiet, a member of the National Alliance of Deocratic and Peace Forces, regarded in Saigon as a Communist front, and Nguyen Doa, whose background was not immediately available.

The broadcast also said Trinh Dinh Thao, chairman of the National Alliance, was elected vice chairman of the advisers council.

Proclamation of the provisional government had been expected for months.

Bolinas Fire Budget

The Bolinas Fire Protection District board Monday night approved a final 1969-70 budget of $16,239, an increase of $1,179 over last year. The tax rate should stay at or near the present 33 cents per $100 assessed valuation, chairman Manuel S. Peters said, because of increased property valuation.

ALGIERS MOTEL INCIDENT

Detroit Policeman Found Innocent In Murder Trial

MASON Mich. (AP) — An all-white jury has found a suspended white policemen innocent of murdering a Negro youth during Detroit's 1967 racial riot. But he still faces a federal conspiracy charge in the Algiers Motel incident.

It took the jury of 11 women and one man less than three hours yesterday to return the acquittal verdict after Circuit Judge William Beer limited them to two choices: a first-degree murder conviction or a not-guilty finding.

Judge Beer gave no explanation of why he ruled out second-degree murder or manslaughter.

The defendant, Ronald August, 30, was on trial for the shotgun slaying of 19-year-old Aubrey Pollard, one of three Negro teen-agers killed July 26, 1967 at the Algiers Motel in Detroit's inner city.

"I'm going to pray," was August's only comment to newsmen who asked him what he planned to do next. He was escorted from the Ingham County Courthouse under heavy guard.

August admitted killing Pollard but said it was in self-defense in a struggle for the shotgun.

After the verdict was announced, the mother of the victim, Rebecca Pollard, said she thought it was a fair trial and the prosecutor did all he could "but the jury refused to believe the facts."

The verdict had repercussions in the state senate, where a Negro lawmaker introduced a resolution calling for an investigation of the conduct of the judge in restricting the jury to two possible verdicts.

"The inevitable result of the trial . . . has granted a license to kill to the Detroit Police Department and all law enforcement agencies so far as black men are concerned," said the resolution drafted by Sen. Basil Brown, an attorney.

August still faces a federal conspiracy charge under an 1871 civil rights law along with two other white policemen and a Negro private guard.

The four are accused of conspiring to violate the civil rights of 10 persons at the Algiers Motel, which police and National Guardsmen had raided in a search for reported snipers.

Stewart's Stepson Killed In Vietnam

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The stepson of actor Jimmy Stewart has been killed in action in Vietnam, the Pentagon disclosed today.

He was Marine 1st Lt. Ronald W. McLean. The Pentagon said he suffered a fatal gun shot wound while on a patrol June 8. Stewart is a brigadier general in the Air Force Reserves. The stepson was a member of the Third Reconnaissance Battalion of the Third Marine Division.

She and John Ambler, a British businessman, were married in 1964.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Hartfords Split

The Hartfords were reconciled after she sought a divorce in September 1967 and that action was dropped. In both suits Mrs. Hartford charged cruel and inhuman treatment, and in the one lodged yesterday she added a complaint of nonsupport.

Hartford, 57, whose fortune came from A&P Stores, and the red-haired beauty from Wilkes-Barre, Pa., were married in 1962 and have a daughter.

New Park Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Interior Walter J. Hickel has decided to keep all national park campgrounds under federal operation, but to levy a fee for their use.

Tent and trailer fees will probably range from $1.50 to $3.50 a day when they go into effect next spring, a spokesman said yesterday.

Former Secretary Stewart L. Udall allowed private concessionaires to operate trailer camps for fees, as an economy measure. The reversal was largely prompted, a spokesman said, by letters from campers objecting to the higher costs.

Historic Mission

WASHINGTON (AP) — The aircraft carrier Hornet, a 27-year-old veteran of World War II, will be the prime recovery ship for the Apollo 11 astronauts on their return from the first manned landing on the moon next month, space agency officials say. The Hornet replaces the carrier Princeton, recovery ship for Apollo 10.

A 'Heart Suit'

WASHINGTON (AP) — An astronaut-like suit has been developed as an emergency uniform for heart attack victims. The idea — still experimental — is to ease the work load on an overburdened, diseased heart, and save a life.

In a report today to the Artificial Heart Program Conference, sponsored by the National Heart Institute, the suit was said to specifically treat cardiogenic shock, a sharp drop in circulating blood because of a weak heart.

Joint Sun Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) The United States and Germany have agreed to cooperate in the launching of German-built spacecraft in two space probes intended to come closer to the sun — 28 million miles — than any experiment so far.

The agreement signed in Bonn, Germany, yesterdqy provides for two U.S. Atlas-Centaur launch rockets for the probes, which will be known as Helios.

The missions in 1974 and 1975 will study solar wind, magnetic and electric fields, cosmic rays and cosmic dust.

Drug Hauls Up

MEXICO CITY (AP) — U.S. and Mexican border authorities seized more heroin and almost as much marijuana in the first three months of this year as in all of 1968, a U.S. Customs official reported.

Customs officer Joseph Jenkins told a U.S.-Mexican drug traffic conference yesterday that authorities at the border seized 55.3 pounds of heroin during January, February and March compared to 54.8 pounds during 1968. He said the total of 147,624 pounds of marijuana was confiscated in 1968, compared to 107,329 pounds during the first three months of 1969.

Suez Exchange

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli and Egyptian guns roared across the Suez Canal again last night, and the army said two Israelis were killed and seven wounded.

The Egyptians fired mortar and light arms at four places along the waterway, a spokesman said, and shooting continued sporadically through most of the night.

The Israelis killed — two 18-year-old privates and the wounded were caught in the open by one shell.

White House Rules Out Price Controls

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The White House ruled out today possible imposition of wage and price controls if Congress fails to extend the 10 per cent income tax surcharge.

One day after Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy said such controls were among alternatives that might be necessary to curb "runaway inflation" in absence of continuation of the surtax, President Richard M. Nixon was pictured by his press secretary, Ronald Ziegler, as giving no consideration to such a move.

Ziegler told reporters emphatically that the administration does not plan to impose wage and price controls even if Congress rejects Nixon's request to continue the surtax at the 10 per cent rate for all of 1969, phasing it out with a 5 per cent rate for the first half of 1970.

Ziegler said that Kennedy "was referring to some of the problems we will face if the surtax is not passed" in remarks at a news conference Tuesday.

Kennedy mentioned controls, along with additional budget cuts and tighter restrictions on money supplies, among alternatives he said the Adeministration would have to consider if the surtax were allowed to expire as scheduled on June 30.

While ruling out wage and price controls, the White House insisted the surtax extension was "vital not only to provide a strong budget but to assist in stopping the inflationary spiral in existence for the last four years."

Ziegler made his remarks when asked for the White House position in response to "reports on Capitol Hill that the surtax is in trouble."

The Nixon proposal is expected to win approval in the House Ways and Means Committee—possibly this week—but faces trouble on the House floor.

It also has some strong opposition in the Senate. Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., today called the Nixon plan a gimmick. McCarthy said Nixon "is in trouble" on his proposal.

Missile, Submarine Costs Soaring, Congress Learns

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Pentagon official testified today that the Minuteman II missile is expected to cost almost $4 billion more than original estimates and that the price of a rescue submarine has increased 2,700 per cent.

Barry J. Shillito, assistant defense secretary for installations and logistics, told the Senate - House economy in government subcommittee that the cost increases were mostly due to "increased sophistication" built into the projects after original estimates were made.

Shillito also rebutted testimony given to the subcommittee yesterday that the armed services intentionally underestimate the cost of weapons because Congress might scrub programs if it knew the full amount in advance.

Shillito conceded there was an "over-optimism problem" regarding early cost estimates, but said he disagreed completely with a statement of Gordon W. Rule, the Navy's director of procurement control, that the services "play games" with the estimates.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., subcommittee chairman, told Shillito: "When they are off so consistently it seems that it is something more than optimism."

Proxmire asked Shillito about reports that the cost of the Minuteman II had increased from $3.2 billion to $7 billion. "This is pretty much the numbers that have been passed on by the Air Force," Shillito replied.

Proxmire also asked if reports were true that the unit cost of a deep-diving rescue submarine had increased from $3 million to $80 million.

Shillito conceded the figures were accurate but said the program had been improved so much it is "almost totally different from the one we embarked on."

The subcommittee also was told that the Pentagon is so anxious to keep weapons contractors prosperous that government employees who try to cut costs are subject to retaliation.

A. Ernest Fitzgerald said project managers who attempt to require economies are subject to "financial retribution, loss of status and social sanctions."

As a result, he said, "the most successful government project managers take a detached view of all financial matters once they make sure they have enough money to cover their contractors' requirements."

Measure "E", the second street issue providing $1,295,000 for a second Highway 101 overcrossing and street improvements, received 2,657 in favor and 2,004 against.

On the two charter amendments, requiring only a simple majority, one was approved and the other soundly defeated.

Approved was the amendment that would allow the library board of trustees to merge with the Sonoma County library system when an agreement is reached and would also permit the board to receive gifts to the library in forms other than books. The measure passed by a vote of 2,467 to 1,931.

Defeated was the amendment that would permit the city council to post ordinances rather than publish them on a two-thirds council vote, whose unanimous sanction is needed now. The vote was 1,545 in favor and 3,121 against.

Reagan's tax reform program would permit citizens to choose whether they want their state income tax withheld.

The governor contended "voluntary withholding meets all of the requirements of the taxpayer," but compulsory pay-as-you-go "in effect constitutes a tax increase" because the state would pick up more revenue than it does now.

Monagan and Way were opposed to withholding for years, but have softened their positions this session.

Way said at their "Bob and Howard" session that when the prime interest rate rose to 8.5 per cent this week it "really drove home" the state's acute fiscal situation. He indicated new state revenue received from withholding could help resolve that.

"We are faced with a new set of fiscal facts," Way said.

Monagan said he has directed his staff "to dig into" the voluntary concept and see whether it is "practical." He noted it has some attractions — the fact it is voluntary, is one.

"But there may be so many functional problems," he said, "that they may outweigh the advantages."

Greyhound Buses Keep Rolling Along

But officers of the Automotive Machinists Lodge 1305, which called the strike Monday, insisted the buses which carry 23,000 Bay Area commuters, including about 4,000 in Marin, will be halted in a few days.

Company officials said the buses will operate "as long as we can maintain them," adding that long-haul buses can be repaired in other cities such as Los Angeles, Seattle, Portland and Phoenix.

Drivers have not crossed picket lines at the repair depot, but were ordered by their union to cross lines at the main terminal 10 blocks away.

A few drivers refused to cross picket lines at the terminal, the company said, and they had their buses driven through by other drivers.

About 200 Teamster Union members who work with the mechanics honored the lines.

Division 1225 of the Amalgamated Transit Union — the drivers' union — said it has a no-strike clause in its contract with Greyhound that would subject drivers to firings and the union to fines if the drivers do not work.

The mechanics' spokesman, Fred Martin, asserted that the commuter buses, serviced exclusively at the struck depot, can operate "no more than four or five days at the most."

Greyhound officials denied Martin's charge that they are endangering commuters' safety but acknowledged that commuter service "may have to be disrupted."

The mechanics rejected by a two-to-one margin a Greyhound offer with an option of an hourly increase of 68½ cents over two years or $1.02½ over three years.

The mechanics, who earned $5.09 an hour under an expired contract, want an increase of $1.50 an hour over three years.

Daniel Shillinger of Ross, a civil engineer and committee member, said he felt the value of right-of-way would offset additional construction cost.

Charles Murphy of the Marin County public works department represented the county at the meeting. Any change in plans would have to be approved by the county and the Town of Ross, as well as by the Army engineers.

in your department," declared Supervisor Louis H. Baar. "I would like to see the county contract out more of the jobs." He said private firms seem to be able to do the jobs at less cost than the county. "Through attrition, I think you can eliminate a number of people on your staff."

Baar was particularly critical of the number of inspectors in the building department. "I find the department using specialized inspectors whereas most other counties and cities use combined inspectors," said Baar.

He suggested that the seven inspectors would be reduced and some of the jobs combined because of the building slump during the past few years. "There's something radically wrong with the system."

Chairman John F. McInnis asked Frost to work with the county administrator and find ways to reduce his staff by attrition.

Supervisors spent most of this morning poring over various items in the public works budget, which totals more than $4 million.

In another action, supervisors raised the pay for Sheriff's Lt. Michael McLean from the present $188 per month to $650 per month. McLean, who is famous statewide for his work in search and rescue with his bloodhounds, also receives an additional $75 per month as constable at Point Reyes.

NIXON

Van Thieu, at which the U.S. pull-out was announced.

And it would also probably take weeks for U.S. intelligence to confirm an unannounced North Vietnamese troop withdrawal if such were to take place, informants said. North Vietnamese troop strength in the South has been estimated at about 100,000 in recent months.

Nixon made his appeal yesterday in a report to the nation on the Midway summit as he returned to a White House lawn greeting from bipartisan congressional leaders, cabinet members and diplomats.

"We have opened wide the door to peace" with the troop withdrawal announcement and his earlier 8-point peace offer, Nixon said in his brief televised remarks.

"And now we invite the leaders of North Vietnam to walk with us throught that door either by withdrawing forces, their forces, from South Vietnam as we have withdrawn ours, or by negotiating in Paris, or through both avenues," he said.

"We believe this is the time for them to act. We have acted and acted in good faith.

"And if they fail to act in one direction or the other, they must bear the responsibility for blocking the way to peace and not walking through that door which we have opened."

The next Paris negotiating session is due tomorrow. A State Department spokesman indicated that in the peace talks so far, the North Vietnamese have not signaled they would match U.S. withdrawals. He said Washington wants agreement for simultaneous pullbacks.

Nixon said the Midway meeting "brought home the message that the troops of South Vietnam have now been trained and equipped to the point where they can take over a substantial portion of the combat activity presently being borne by Americans."

This went further than his Sunday statement. In announcing the recall of 25,000 GIs by the end of August, Nixon said then Thieu had reported such success in Saigon troop training "that he could now recommend that the United States begin to replace U.S. combat forces with Vietnamese forces."

Some 300,000 of the 538,000 Americans in South Vietnam are estimated to be on combat assignment. Despite Nixon's statement about Saigon preparedness to take over "a substantial portion" of this fighting, administration officials said there are no new plans for a U.S. withdrawal beyond the review already announced for late August.

Silverthorne's Retrial Delayed

SAN FRANCISCO — The retrial of Don E. Silverthorne of Tiburon on charges of manipulation and mismanagement of bank funds has been continued in U. S. District Court while he undergoes a medical examination.

No date was set Monday for the start of the new trial in the court of Judge Albert C. Wollenberg.

Silverthorne, of Tiburon, is former president of the defunct San Francisco National Bank. U. S. Attorney Cecil Poole has requested that eight charges against the 69-year-old banker be dropped, leaving 43.

Harbor Strike Still Holds Sway

No progress toward scheduling negotiations was reported today in a strike by marine engineers that has idled ferryboats, sightseeing boats and tugs on San Francisco Bay.

Lester Bedient, general manager of Harbor Tours, Inc., said it appeared it would take "a few days" for labor and management representatives to get together.

The cutoff in Tiburon ferry service has directly affected about 200 Marin commuters who have been forced to join the freeway traffic.

Impact Of Art Symposium Set

A five-day symposium on "The Community and the Contemporary Arts," will be held Monday through Friday at Dominican College in San Rafael.

The future impact of art on individuals and communities through city planning, design and cultural institutions will be explored in a 30-hour, two-unit course from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. each day.

About 24 architects, planners, museum directors, musicians, actors and artists will participate in the symposium.

OBITUARIES

She also was first secretary of the Marin Tuberculosis and Health Association on its organization. She was a member of the San Rafael Business and Professional Women's Club and an honorary member of the San Rafael Improvement Club.

Mrs. Donnelly was born Florence Gertrude Holland. She came from a newspaper family. Her mother's parents came to California in the gold rush, and operated newspapers in Weaverville and Shasta. Her father's parents came in the 1860s to Tomales, where the future Mrs. Donnelly spent her earliest years before the family moved to San Rafael.

She attended the old Fourth Street and B schools in San Rafael, was graduated from San Rafael High School and San Francisco State College, and also took postgraduate courses at University of California.

Her marriage to state Sen. James Donnelly ended in divorce, after which she returned to the family home at 117 C Street, built for her father in 1905, to remain there until her death. Her father, Frank Sargent Holland, a former Marin County recorder, died in 1946, and her mother, Alice Conmy Holland, in 1963. Her only son, James Holland Donnelly, also preceded her in death.

With Mrs. Donnelly when death came was her longtime close friend, Miss Frances Ridge, who has shared the C Street home for 25 years.

Surviving are three grandchildren and three great-granchildren.

Funeral will be at 10 a.m. Friday at the Harry M. Williams Mortuary, San Rafael. Recitation of the Rosary will be at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the mortuary.

WARREN ANDERSON

Warren Eugene (Red) Anderson, 56, a cook at the Marin Golf and County Club in Novato, died yesterday at his trailer home in Novato. Deputy Coroner Keith Craig said he died of pneumonia after a short illness.

Anderson, who lived at the El Novato Motel and Trailer Court at 7530 Redwood Highway, had worked at the club for three years. A native of Oklahoma, he had lived in Marin County 14 years.

He was a member of the Bartenders and Culinary Workers Union, San Rafael.

He is survived by a daughter, Robin J. Anderson of Daly City; a brother, Wilfred Anderson of San Francisco, and a sister, Dee Anderson of Carlsbad, San Diego County. He is also survived by brothers and sisters in Oklahoma.

Funeral will be at 11 a.m. Friday at Keaton's Chapel of Marin, Novato, with burial at Marin Memorial Gardens, Novato.

VIVIAN SMITH

Memorial services for Vivian McNab Smith, 67, a retired saleswoman with Stan's for Sports in San Rafael, will be held at 3 p.m. tomorrow at the Chapel of the Hills in San Anselmo. Cremation was private with inurnment at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery in San Rafael.

Mrs. Smith, who lived at 1825 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, died after collapsing at her home Monday. The Marin County coroner's office said the death was of natural causes.

She was the widow of the late Ralph A. Smith and had lived in San Rafael for 10 years. She was a native of Ukiah.

Mrs. Smith is survived by a son, Charles A. Lindgren of Moraga, and two sisters, Mrs. Eleanor Scott of Kentfield and Mrs. Mildred Chambers of Cottonwood, Shasta County.

LOUISE BRUNDAGE

Louise M. Brundage, 71, a resident of Marin County for 18 years, died at a local hospital today after a long illness.

Mrs. Brundage, a native of La Veta, Colo., lived with her daughter, Geraldine Riordan at 17 Valley Road, Fairfax.

She is survived by her daughter and by a son, Max Chester Springer of Walsenburg, Colo.

Funeral will be at 11:30 a.m. Friday at Keaton's mortuary, San Rafael. Burial will be private.

MARIE DAL BON

Requiem Mass for Marie L. Dal Bon, 90, mother of Leo Dal Bon of Tiburon, will be offered at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow in Saints Peter and Paul Church in San Francisco. Entombment will be in Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma.

Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today at the Valente Marini and Perata Mortuary at 649 Green Street, San Francisco.

Mrs. Dal Bon, who lived in Redwood City, died Saturday in a San Francisco hospital, where she had been a patient eight days. She was the widow of John Dal Bon, a general contractor, who died in 1952.

Born in Italy, Mrs. Dal Bon emigrated to the United States in 1906, settling in the Bay Area.

Other survivors are a daughter, Gilia Dal Bon of Redwood City; four grandchildren, and three great-grandchildren.

WELDON MORROW

Funeral was held today for San Francisco businessman Weldon Morrow, son of Mrs. Howard Morrow of Tiburon. Burial was at Cypress Lawn in Colma.

Morrow, 67, died yesterday at a Mill Valley convalescent home.

He was a third generation San Franciscan whose family traveled to the west from New Zealand in 1849, during the Gold Rush. Morrow was a member of the Society of California Pioneers.

His wife, the former Florence O'Neill, was active in San Francsco civic affairs until her death in 1958.

Besides his mother Morrow is survived by a son, Howard Morrow of Berkeley; a daughter, Mrs. Barbara Julian of Novato; two brothers, Grant and Howard Morrow; a sister, Maryle Doerflinger, and five grandchildren.

Prison Sentence For Burglar

One of two men accused of burglarizing Braverman's Furniture Store in San Anselmo on March 11 yesterday pleaded guilty to second degree burglary as his trial was set to start in Marin Superior Court.

Judge Thomas F. Keating sentenced Howard Tennyson Payne, 48, of Oakland to a one-to-15 year term in state prison.

They were arrested on the roof of the store with what police called "very sophisticated" burglary tools in their possession.

Courthouse Purchase Funds Eyed

The City of San Rafael may wind up fiscal 1969 with nearly enough money on hand to purchase the Courthouse Square from Marin County.

James H. McCowan, city finance director, said today it appears the city will have at least $130.000 more than anticipated on hand when it closes the books on the fiscal year which ends June 30. This year's budget predicated a year-end general fund carryover of $556,444.

The city also has a capital improvement reserve of nearly $200,000. This, however, is to go for purchase of right-of-way for widening San Pedro Road, if Marin County contributes its half to the $500,000 cost of the third phase of that project. County supervisors were to decide today whether to do so or to accept a recommendation of County Administrator Alan Bruce that the total be cut back to $300,000 — half from the county and half from the city.

Even if part of the capital improvement reserve were available, the city would not have enough cash on hand to buy the Courthouse Square outright in the $750,000-$850,000 price range based on an appraisal received this week. A sizable reserve must be kept against contingencies.

However, during discussion of the Courthouse Square transaction Monday night, supervisors indicated "a sizable down payment" from San Rafael would be acceptable. At one point, Supervisor Louis H. Baar suggested the purchase price might be spread over two years.

City council discussions of buying the square have been based on the assumption it could be resold to a developer at no loss to the city. Funds used for its purchase would thus return to the city treasury for use for other projects.

Case Dismissed; Charges Refiled

A charge of having stolen property was dismissed yesterday in Marin Municipal Court as having been filed in the wrong jurisdiction, but a San Francisco man accused of having articles from a Greenbrae burglary was rearrested by San Francisco authorities.

Judge Hadden W. Roth ruled that since the allegedly stolen goods were found in San Francisco, the case could not proceed in Marin County.

A charge of burglarizing the Greenbrae home of Dr. Robert Todd Cary on May 2 against John Peter Kearney, 23, was also dismissed for lack of evidence to link him to the burglary.

Kearney was later arrested again by San Francisco authorities.

White House Rules Out Price Controls

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The White House ruled out today possible imposition of wage and price controls if Congress fails to extend the 10 per cent income tax surcharge.

One day after Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy said such controls were among alternatives that might be necessary to curb "runaway inflation" in absence of continuation of the surtax, President Richard M. Nixon was pictured by his press secretary, Ronald Ziegler, as giving no consideration to such a move.

Ziegler told reporters emphatically that the administration does not plan to impose wage and price controls even if Congress rejects Nixon's request to continue the surtax at the 10 per cent rate for all of 1969, phasing it out with a 5 per cent rate for the first half of 1970.

Ziegler said that Kennedy "was referring to some of the problems we will face if the surtax is not passed" in remarks at a news conference Tuesday.

Kennedy mentioned controls, along with additional budget cuts and tighter restrictions on money supplies, among alternatives he said the Adeministration would have to consider if the surtax were allowed to expire as scheduled on June 30.

While ruling out wage and price controls, the White House insisted the surtax extension was "vital not only to provide a strong budget but to assist in stopping the inflationary spiral in existence for the last four years."

Ziegler made his remarks when asked for the White House position in response to "reports on Capitol Hill that the surtax is in trouble."

The Nixon proposal is expected to win approval in the House Ways and Means Committee—possibly this week—but faces trouble on the House floor.

It also has some strong opposition in the Senate. Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., today called the Nixon plan a gimmick. McCarthy said Nixon "is in trouble" on his proposal.

Missile, Submarine Costs Soaring, Congress Learns

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Pentagon official testified today that the Minuteman II missile is expected to cost almost $4 billion more than original estimates and that the price of a rescue submarine has increased 2,700 per cent.

Barry J. Shillito, assistant defense secretary for installations and logistics, told the Senate-House economy in government subcommittee that the cost increases were mostly due to "increased sophistication" built into the projects after original estimates were made.

Shillito also rebutted testimony given to the subcommittee yesterday that the armed services intentionally underestimate the cost of weapons because Congress might scrub programs if it knew the full amount in advance.

Shillito conceded there was an "over-optimism problem" regarding early cost estimates, but said he disagreed completely with a statement of Gordon W. Rule, the Navy's director of procurement control, that the services "play games" with the estimates.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., subcommittee chairman, told Shillito: "When they are off so consistently it seems that it is something more than optimism."

Proxmire asked Shillito about reports that the cost of the Minuteman II had increased from $3.2 billion to $7 billion. "This is pretty much the numbers that have been passed on by the Air Force," Shillito replied.

Proxmire also asked if reports were true that the unit cost of a deep-diving rescue submarine had increased from $3 million to $80 million.

Shillito conceded the figures were accurate but said the program had been improved so much it is "almost totally different from the one we embarked on."

The subcommittee also was told that the Pentagon is so anxious to keep weapons contractors prosperous that government employees who try to cut costs are subject to retaliation.

A. Ernest Fitzgerald said project managers who attempt to require economies are subject to "financial retribution, loss of status and social sanctions."

As a result, he said, "the most successful government project managers take a detached view of all financial matters once they make sure they have enough money to cover their contractors' requirements."

Measure "E", the second street issue providing $1,295,000 for a second Highway 101 overcrossing and street improvements, received 2,657 in favor and 2,004 against.

On the two charter amendments, requiring only a simple majority, one was approved and the other soundly defeated.

Approved was the amendment that would allow the library board of trustees to merge with the Sonoma County library system when an agreement is reached and would also permit the board to receive gifts to the library in forms other than books. The measure passed by a vote of 2,467 to 1,931.

Defeated was the amendment that would permit the city council to post ordinances rather than publish them on a two-thirds council vote, whose unanimous sanction is needed now. The vote was 1,545 in favor and 3,121 against.

BAGLEY

Reagan's tax reform program would permit citizens to choose whether they want their state income tax withheld.

The governor contended "voluntary withholding meets all of the requirements of the taxpayer," but compulsory pay-as-you-go "in effect constitutes a tax increase" because the state would pick up more revenue than it does now.

Monagan and Way were opposed to withholding for years, but have softened their positions this session.

Way said at their "Bob and Howard" session that when the prime interest rate rose to 8.5 per cent this week it "really drove home" the state's acute fiscal situation. He indicated new state revenue received from withholding could help resolve that.

"We are faced with a new set of fiscal facts," Way said.

Monagan said he has directed his staff "to dig into" the voluntary concept and see whether it is "practical." He noted it has some attractions — the fact it is voluntary, is one.

"But there may be so many functional problems," he said, "that they may outweigh the advantages."

Greyhound Buses Keep Rolling Along

But officers of the Automotive Machinists Lodge 1305, which called the strike Monday, insisted the buses which carry 23,000 Bay Area commuters, including about 4,000 in Marin, will be halted in a few days.

Company officials said the buses will operate "as long as we can maintain them," adding that long-haul buses can be repaired in other cities such as Los Angeles, Seattle, Portland and Phoenix.

Drivers have not crossed picket lines at the repair depot, but were ordered by their union to cross lines at the main terminal 10 blocks away.

A few drivers refused to cross picket lines at the terminal, the company said, and they had their buses driven through by other drivers.

About 200 Teamster Union members who work with the mechanics honored the lines.

Division 1225 of the Amalgamated Transit Union — the drivers' union — said it has a no-strike clause in its contract with Greyhound that would subject drivers to firings and the union to fines if the drivers do not work.

The mechanics' spokesman, Fred Martin, asserted that the commuter buses, serviced exclusively at the struck depot, can operate "no more than four or five days at the most."

Greyhound officials denied Martin's charge that they are endangering commuters' safety but acknowledged that commuter service "may have to be disrupted."

The mechanics rejected by a two-to-one margin a Greyhound offer with an option of an hourly increase of 68½ cents over two years or $1.02½ over three years.

The mechanics, who earned $5.09 an hour under an expired contract, want an increase of $1.50 an hour over three years.

Daniel Shillinger of Ross, a civil engineer and committee member, said he felt the value of right-of-way would offset additional construction cost.

Charles Murphy of the Marin County public works department represented the county at the meeting. Any change in plans would have to be approved by the county and the Town of Ross, as well as by the Army engineers.

in your department," declared Supervisor Louis H. Baar. "I would like to see the county contract out more of the jobs." He said private firms seem to be able to do the jobs at less cost than the county. "Through attrition, I think you can eliminate a number of people on your staff."

Baar was particularly critical of the number of inspectors in the building department. "I find the department using specialized inspectors whereas most other counties and cities use combined inspectors," said Baar.

He suggested that the seven inspectors would be reduced and some of the jobs combined because of the building slump during the past few years. "There's something radically wrong with the system."

Chairman John F. McInnis asked Frost to work with the county administrator and find ways to reduce his staff by attrition.

Supervisors spent most of this morning poring over various items in the public works budget, which totals more than $4 million.

In another action, supervisors raised the pay for Sheriff's Lt. Michael McLean from the present $188 per month to $650 per month. McLean, who is famous statewide for his work in search and rescue with his bloodhounds, also receives an additional $75 per month as constable at Point Reyes.

Sheriff Louis P. Mountanous agreed to drope one of the new deputies he had requested to offset the pay raise for McLean.

NIXON

Van Thieu, at which the U.S. pull-out was announced.

And it would also probably take weeks for U.S. intelligence to confirm an unannounced North Vietnamese troop withdrawal if such were to take place, informants said. North Vietnamese troop strength in the South has been estimated at about 100,000 in recent months.

Nixon made his appeal yesterday in a report to the nation on the Midway summit as he returned to a White House lawn greeting from bipartisan congressional leaders, cabinet members and diplomats.

"We have opened wide the door to peace" with the troop withdrawal announcement and his earlier 8-point peace offer, Nixon said in his brief televised remarks.

"And now we invite the leaders of North Vietnam to walk with us throught that door either by withdrawing forces, their forces, from South Vietnam as we have withdrawn ours, or by negotiating in Paris, or through both avenues," he said.

"We believe this is the time for them to act. We have acted and acted in good faith.

"And if they fail to act in one direction or the other, they must bear the responsibility for blocking the way to peace and not walking through that door which we have opened."

The next Paris negotiating session is due tomorrow. A State Department spokesman indicated that in the peace talks so far, the North Vietnamese have not signaled they would match U.S. withdrawals. He said Washington wants agreement for simultaneous pullbacks.

Nixon said the Midway meeting "brought home the message that the troops of South Vietnam have now been trained and equipped to the point where they can take over a substantial portion of the combat activity presently being borne by Americans."

This went further than his Sunday statement. In announcing the recall of 25,000 GIs by the end of August, Nixon said then Thieu had reported such success in Saigon troop training "that he could now recommend that the United States begin to replace U.S. combat forces with Vietnamese forces."

Some 300,000 of the 538,000 Americans in South Vietnam are estimated to be on combat assignment. Despite Nixon's statement about Saigon preparedness to take over "a substantial portion" of this fighting, administration officials said there are no new plans for a U.S. withdrawal beyond the review already announced for late August.

Silverthorne's Retrial Delayed

SAN FRANCISCO — The retrial of Don E. Silverthorne of Tiburon on charges of manipulation and mismanagement of bank funds has been continued in U. S. District Court while he undergoes a medical examination.

No date was set Monday for the start of the new trial in the court of Judge Albert C. Wollenberg.

Silverthorne, of Tiburon, is former president of the defunct San Francisco National Bank. U. S. Attorney Cecil Poole has requested that eight charges against the 69-year-old banker be dropped, leaving 43.

Harbor Strike Still Holds Sway

No progress toward scheduling negotiations was reported today in a strike by marine engineers that has idled ferryboats, sightseeing boats and tugs on San Francisco Bay.

Lester Bedient, general manager of Harbor Tours, Inc., said it appeared it would take "a few days" for labor and management representatives to get together.

The cutoff in Tiburon ferry service has directly affected about 200 Marin commuters who have been forced to join the freeway traffic.

Impact Of Art Symposium Set

A five-day symposium on "The Community and the Contemporary Arts," will be held Monday through Friday at Dominican College in San Rafael.

The future impact of art on individuals and communities through city planning, design and cultural institutions will be explored in a 30-hour, two-unit course from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. each day.

About 24 architects, planners, museum directors, musicians, actors and artists will participate in the symposium.

OBITUARIES

She also was first secretary of the Marin Tuberculosis and Health Association on its organization. She was a member of the San Rafael Business and Professional Women's Club and an honorary member of the San Rafael Improvement Club.

Mrs. Donnelly was born Florence Gertrude Holland. She came from a newspaper family. Her mother's parents came to California in the gold rush, and operated newspapers in Weaverville and Shasta. Her father's parents came in the 1860s to Tomales, where the future Mrs. Donnelly spent her earliest years before the family moved to San Rafael.

She attended the old Fourth Street and B schools in San Rafael, was graduated from San Rafael High School and San Francisco State College, and also took postgraduate courses at University of California.

Her marriage to state Sen. James Donnelly ended in divorce, after which she returned to the family home at 117 C Street, built for her father in 1905, to remain there until her death. Her father, Frank Sargent Holland, a former Marin County recorder, died in 1946, and her mother, Alice Conmy Holland, in 1963. Her only son, James Holland Donnelly, also preceded her in death.

With Mrs. Donnelly when death came was her longtime close friend, Miss Frances Ridge, who has shared the C Street home for 25 years.

Surviving are three grandchildren and three great-granchildren.

Funeral will be at 10 a.m. Friday at the Harry M. Williams Mortuary, San Rafael. Recitation of the Rosary will be at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the mortuary.

WARREN ANDERSON

Warren Eugene (Red) Anderson, 56, a cook at the Marin Golf and County Club in Novato, died yesterday at his trailer home in Novato. Deputy Coroner Keith Craig said he died of pneumonia after a short illness.

Anderson, who lived at the El Novato Motel and Trailer Court at 7530 Redwood Highway, had worked at the club for three years. A native of Oklahoma, he had lived in Marin County 14 years.

He was a member of the Bartenders and Culinary Workers Union, San Rafael.

He is survived by a daughter, Robin J. Anderson of Daly City; a brother, Wilfred Anderson of San Francisco, and a sister, Dee Anderson of Carlsbad, San Diego County. He is also survived by brothers and sisters in Oklahoma.

Funeral will be at 11 a.m. Friday at Keaton's Chapel of Marin, Novato, with burial at Marin Memorial Gardens, Novato.

VIVIAN SMITH

Memorial services for Vivian McNab Smith, 67, a retired saleswoman with Stan's for Sports in San Rafael, will be held at 3 p.m. tomorrow at the Chapel of the Hills in San Anselmo. Cremation was private with inurnment at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery in San Rafael.

Mrs. Smith, who lived at 1825 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, died after collapsing at her home Monday. The Marin County coroner's office said the death was of natural causes.

She was the widow of the late Ralph A. Smith and had lived in San Rafael for 10 years. She was a native of Ukiah.

Mrs. Smith is survived by a son, Charles A. Lindgren of Moraga, and two sisters, Mrs. Eleanor Scott of Kentfield and Mrs. Mildred Chambers of Cottonwood, Shasta County.

The family prefers memorial contributions to a favorite charity.

LOUISE BRUNDAGE

Louise M. Brundage, 71, a resident of Marin County for 18 years, died at a local hospital today after a long illness.

Mrs. Brundage, a native of La Veta, Colo., lived with her daughter, Geraldine Riordan at 17 Valley Road, Fairfax.

She is survived by her daughter and by a son, Max Chester Springer of Walsenburg, Colo.

Funeral will be at 11:30 a.m. Friday at Keaton's mortuary, San Rafael. Burial will be private.

MARIE DAL BON

Requiem Mass for Marie L. Dal Bon, 90, mother of Leo Dal Bon of Tiburon, will be offered at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow in Saints Peter and Paul Church in San Francisco. Entombment will be in Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma.

Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today at the Valente Marini and Perata Mortuary at 649 Green Street, San Francisco.

Mrs. Dal Bon, who lived in Redwood City, died Saturday in a San Francisco hospital, where she had been a patient eight days. She was the widow of John Dal Bon, a general contractor, who died in 1952.

Born in Italy, Mrs. Dal Bon emigrated to the United States in 1906, settling in the Bay Area.

Other survivors are a daughter, Gilia Dal Bon of Redwood City; four grandchildren, and three great-grandchildren.

WELDON MORROW

Funeral was held today for San Francisco businessman Weldon Morrow, son of Mrs. Howard Morrow of Tiburon. Burial was at Cypress Lawn in Colma.

Morrow, 67, died yesterday at a Mill Valley convalescent home.

He was a third generation San Franciscan whose family traveled to the west from New Zealand in 1849, during the Gold Rush. Morrow was a member of the Society of California Pioneers.

His wife, the former Florence O'Neill, was active in San Francsco civic affairs until her death in 1958.

Besides his mother Morrow is survived by a son, Howard Morrow of Berkeley; a daughter, Mrs. Barbara Julian of Novato; two brothers, Grant and Howard Morrow; a sister, Maryle Doerflinger, and five grandchildren.

Prison Sentence For Burglar

One of two men accused of burglarizing Braverman's Furniture Store in San Anselmo on March 11 yesterday pleaded guilty to second degree burglary as his trial was set to start in Marin Superior Court.

Judge Thomas F. Keating sentenced Howard Tennyson Payne, 48, of Oakland to a one-to-15 year term in state prison.

They were arrested on the roof of the store with what police called "very sophisticated" burglary tools in their possession.

San Rafael Schools Budget Votes Delayed

Trustees will meet Tuesday to review the tentative budgets $4,879,092 in the high school district, and $4,590,135 in the elementary district.

The tentative elementary budget is $143,264 lower than the current budget, and the high school budget $241,048 higher.

Supt. John F. Plank noted the tentative budgets include the recommended 6 per cent hike in the faculty salary schedule and a 5 per cent pay raise for nonteaching employees, but no cost-of-living increase for administrators.

Plank recommended that teachers be given "open contracts" so they could get an additional pay hike, possibly 2 per cent, if additional state funds were made available.

Also recommended as the result of salary negotiations was full health insurance coverage for dependents, now only partial.

Under the recommended plan the teacher salary schedule would range from $6,678 to $13,356.

Plank has declined to estimate tax rates claiming there are variables unsettled such as state aid but the elementary district rate will have an override for seventh and eighth grade, possibly up to 22 cents, that wasn't included in last year's rate.

The total tax rate for this year is $3.06 in the elementary district and $2.265 in the high school district.

Plank noted that the budgets were based on the maximum legal general purpose tax rate of $2.25 per $100 assessed valuation in the elementary district and $1.75 in the high school district.

One of the economies slated to be undertaken during the coming year is the elimination of 10 buses, at a net savings estimated at $30,000.

The cutting back of service, given a first hearing by the board last night, would end bus travel for 519 elementary pupils and 573 high school students.

The pickup limit for junior high and middle school pupils would be extended from a mile-and-a-half to two miles, and the high school limit would be enforced at the three-mile limit. High school students have been picked up this year outside the two-mile area.

The San Rafael Board Of Education Also:

MORAL GUIDELINES—Took under study a set of moral guidelines for instruction issued by the state Department of Education.

MINORITIES — Heard reports from staff members on improvements in instruction about minorities, and on efforts to recruit minority teachers, which havd resulted in teaching contracts being offered to three as the result of a recruiting trip to the East and South.

FIELD TRIP — Heard a report and viewed slides covering a field trip by a San Rafael High School science class to the Mojave desert.

HIRED — Approved the hiring of Frederick Baguio, teacher, elementary district, $11,000 a year; Tami Bell, intern teacher, social science, high school district, $6,000 a year; Julie Glimpse, German teacher, elementary district, $7,200 a year; and Barry Hoglund, mathematics teacher, elementary district, $8,700 a year; and Samuel Kimokeo, custodian 1, high school district, $5,628 a year.

PERSONNEL MOVES — Approved John King, English teacher at San Rafael High School, as department chairman; Philard McAtee, business education teacher at Terra Linda High School, as work experience coordinator, and switched Alfred Sparks, English-physical education teacher, from the elementary district to the high school district.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted the resignations of Dennis Deems, art teacher, San Rafael High School; Anne Firestone, second grade teacher at MacPhail School; Donald Meroff, physical education-science teacher, at Davidson School; Alice Smith, English teacher, San Rafael High School; Harvey Blackwood, groundsman 1, elementary district; Roland Garcia, custodian 1, Terra Linda High School; Charles Pollard, groundsman 1, elementary district, Paul Thorpe, bus driver; and Ann Yoder, library clerk 1, elementary district.

MEETING SCHEDULE — Adjourned until 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Administration Building, Third and E streets, and canceled the regularly scheduled meeting June 24.

LEAVES — Granted leaves for the 1969-70 school year to Janet Dillon, science teacher; Judith Heuser, fifth grade teacher, West End School, and Anne Sorrelle, English teacher, San Rafael High School.

Helen Wilson New Home Owners Leader

Helen S. Wilson, former City of Larkspur librarian is the new president of the Madrone Woodlands Homeowners Association, Larkspur, succeeding Philip J. Dunnigan for a one year term.

Other newly elected officers include Charles Stuart, vice president and Joan Landman, secretary-treasurer. New directors are Richard Halper and Edward Scherman, Mrs. Landman reported yesterday. She also said that there will be no meeting of the association again until fall.

Teacher's Ouster Demanded

An angry contingent of residents last night demanded action against a San Rafael High School teacher who permitted two Chinese Red Guards to address and distribute Maoist propaganda to two of his world history classes.

"We want this man fired and want him fired now," said Kenneth G. Coleman of 114 Ridgeland Drive, a retired Army officer, one of the protesting group of about seven or eight residents.

The material distributed to the classes was revolutionary, advocating arming of individuals and overthrow of the armed forces, and the presentation "filthy," he said.

The two Red Guards from San Francisco passed out copies of Red Guard Community News and spoke to the classes using four-letter words last month.

The teacher, Angelo Douvos, wrote to parents of his second and third period world history classes, apologizing for dissemination of materials that were objectionable.

One mother said the material distributed was "pure filth," and another gave board members her daughter's notes on the class session.

Supt. John F. Plank said it was a "grievous error of judgment" on the part of Douvos.

Board Member Paul L. Jones said the matter should be aired since the fact that the teacher approved the appearance by the Red Guards, implies district approval.

Alan Hopkins, a representative of the San Rafael Teachers Association, objected to people "tearing someone apart" when he wasn't there, and said "this has got to stop."

Board members advised protestors that there is a procedure for filing complaints against teachers, which should be followed, and that a teacher had the right to a closed session on charges against him.

Board President Herman L. Childress said adhering to policy would be the only fair way to proceed for the protection of all involved.

Some members of the group also protested against a textbook used by Douvos, a book which he and a fellow teacher wrote, which was approved by the board for supplementary classroom use.

Swim Tests Set At Center's Pool

Swim tests have been scheduled for Sunday July 6 at 9 a.m. at the Terra Linda Community Center pool, 670 Del Granado Road.

Openings are still available for canoeing classes sponsored by the American Red Cross and the Marin Canoe Club to be held Monday and June 27 and July 14-25 at the Civic Center lagoon.

Courthouse Purchase Funds Eyed

The City of San Rafael may wind up fiscal 1969 with nearly enough money on hand to purchase the Courthouse Square from Marin County.

James H. McCowan, city finance director, said today it appears the city will have at least $130,000 more than anticipated on hand when it closes the books on the fiscal year which ends June 30. This year's budget predicated a year-end general fund carryover of $556,444.

The city also has a capital improvement reserve of nearly $200,000. This, however, is to go for purchase of right-of-way for widening San Pedro Road, if Marin County contributes its half to the $500,000 cost of the third phase of that project. County supervisors were to decide today whether to do so or to accept a recommendation of County Administrator Alan Bruce that the total be cut back to $300,000 — half from the county and half from the city.

Even if part of the capital improvement reserve were available, the city would not have enough cash on hand to buy the Courthouse Square outright in the $750,000-$850,000 price range based on an appraisal received this week. A sizable reserve must be kept against contingencies.

However, during discussion of the Courthouse Square transaction Monday night, supervisors indicated "a sizable down payment" from San Rafael would be acceptable. At one point, Supervisor Louis H. Baar suggested the purchase price might be spread over two years.

City council discussions of buying the square have been based on the assumption it could be resold to a developer at no loss to the city. Funds used for its purchase would thus return to the city treasury for use for other projects.

Case Dismissed; Charges Refiled

A charge of having stolen property was dismissed yesterday in Marin Municipal Court as having been filed in the wrong jurisdiction, but a San Francisco man accused of having articles from a Greenbrae burglary was rearrested by San Francisco authorities.

Judge Hadden W. Roth ruled that since the allegedly stolen goods were found in San Francisco, the case could not proceed in Marin County.

A charge of burglarizing the Greenbrae home of Dr. Robert Todd Cary on May 2 against John Peter Kearney, 23, was also dismissed for lack of evidence to link him to the burglary.

Kearney was later arrested again by San Francisco authorities.

Atheneum Seeks Use Of Old Robson Home

A proposal thatt the Atheneum Arts Foundation move into the house on the Robson Estate, which was given to San Anselmo as a park, was received with enthusiasm by the city council last night but not by the city attorney.

Representatives of the foundation, which has by its own admission a history of success in artistic ventures but disaster in financial affairs, described how they would care for the old house and grounds in exchange for the use of some of the rooms.

"You have no business even considering such a proposal," the city attorney, John G. Buresh, told councilmen.

Hhe said that the estate was given to the city for a park with the intent that it would be used primarily for older people and children.

"This is a regional operation," he said in reference to the foundation.

The thought of getting the old place cared for appealed to City Administrator-Controller Alfred C. Kaeppel, however. "I have a feeting that the house is a budgetary quicksand," he said.

Councilmen also expressed an interest in looking into the proposal, in which the foundation suggested that groups such as the Marin Shakespeare Festival, Marin Civic Ballet and Marin Symphony Guild could use the house for a meeting place.

Officials of the Atheneum group, which is now housed in the old Dollar Estate in San Rafael, said that they have refurbished that house and kept it in excellent shape but will soon not be able to use it.

The foundation also has its own furniture, the council was told.

With Councilman James F. Reed, who is an Atheneum director, abstaining, the council voted to have the parks and recreation commission consider the proposal.

HUB PROPOSES MEMORIAL TO HANS FISCHEL

The San Anselmo City Council last night set up a memorial fund for the city's part-time treasurer, Hans E. Fischel, who was killed Saturday in a traffic accident.

Councilman James F. Reed suggested that contributions might be collected to purchase a bench for senior citizens or play equipment for children in one of the city's parks in memory of Fischel.

It was agreed that tax-free donations could be made to the fund through the city offices.

San Anselmo Town Meeting Criticism Sparks Debate

San Anselmo's town meeting was blasted, praised and defended at a meeting of the San Anselmo City Council last night where the recent event was thoroughly hashed over.

The discussion followed the writing of a letter to the council and the Independent-Journal by Mrs. Sarah Nome of 77 Alder Avenue, who described the town meeting recommendations as "not a mandate of the people of San Anselmo, but that of a controlled opinion-forming group."

To Mrs. Nome's charge that the town meeting was planned and conducted by a closed group of approximately 20 citizens, Everett Farey, general chairman of the affair, responded that "in San Anselmo 20 people constitute a crowd."

Farey also defended the right of young people to vote at the meeting after Mrs. Nome had written that their hands should not have been counted in the "official" votes summing up the recommendations.

Many of those present agreed with David E. Bacigalupi that since not everyone attending the meeting was present at each panel session, the recommendations only represented the views of a few, but most agreed the town meeting was still beneficial.

Councilman Duane C. Regan described Mrs. Nome's letter as "vicious, unwarranted attack" on the town meeting and Councilman Kenneth L. Anderson called it "petty, sour-grapes griping," but Mayor Woodrow V. Capurro said that Mrs. Nome was not on trial.

Mrs. Nome said last night she had not been able to attend the town meeting because she had to work.

The San Anselmo City Council Also:

VARIANCE — Upheld a planning commission denial of a variance to permit a room over a garage at 50 Florence Avenue with Mayor Capurro voting against the denial.

FESTIVAL — Decided to go ahead with plans for an annual Fall Festival Sept. 17-21 in Memorial Park and agreed to contract for the furnishing of rides and booths.

LIBRARY — Agreed to have questionaires regarding joining the county library system passed out to library patrons.

Hub Rec Meeting Put Off To June 26

The San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Commission did not meet last night in order that Robert England, chairman, and Frank L. Quinn, parks director, could attend a meeting of the San Anselmo City Council.

The next commission meeting wilf be held at 8 p.m. June 26 at the Robson-Harrington Mansion.

Closed Meeting

The Mill Valley School District board will hold a closed meeting at 7:30 a.m. tomorrow to instruct the Supt. James A. Collins on negotiations with employees organizations.

San Rafael Schools Budget Votes Delayed

Trustees will meet Tuesday to review the tentative budgets $4,879,092 in the high school district, and $4,590,135 in the elementary district.

The tentative elementary budget is $143,264 lower than the current budget, and the high school budget $241,048 higher.

Supt. John F. Plank noted the tentative budgets include the recommended 6 per cent hike in the faculty salary schedule and a 5 per cent pay raise for nonteaching employees, but no cost-of-living increase for administrators.

Plank recommended that teachers be given "open contracts" so they could get an additional pay hike, possibly 2 per cent, if additional state funds were made available.

Also recommended as the result of salary negotiations was full health insurance coverage for dependents, now only partial.

Under the recommended plan the teacher salary schedule would range from $6,678 to $13,356.

Plank has declined to estimate tax rates claiming there are variables unsettled such as state aid but the elementary district rate will have an override for seventh and eighth grade, possibly up to 22 cents, that wasn't included in last year's rate.

The total tax rate for this year is $3.06 in the elementary district and $2.265 in the high school district.

Plank noted that the budgets were based on the maximum legal general purpose tax rate of $2.25 per $100 assessed valuation in the elementary district and $1.75 in the high school district.

One of the economies slated to be undertaken during the coming year is the elimination of 10 buses, at a net savings estimated at $30,000.

The cutting back of service, given a first hearing by the board last night, would end bus travel for 519 elementary pupils and 573 high school students.

The pickup limit for junior high and middle school pupils would be extended from a mile-and-a-half to two miles, and the high school limit would be enforced at the three-mile limit. High school students have been picked up this year outside the two-mile area.

Helen Wilson New Home Owners Leader

Helen S. Wilson, former City of Larkspur librarian is the new president of the Madrone Woodlands Homeowners Association, Larkspur, succeeding Philip J. Dunnigan for a one year term.

Other newly elected officers include Charles Stuart, vice president and Joan Landman, secretary-treasurer. New directors are Richard Halper and Edward Scherman, Mrs. Landman reported yesterday. She also said that there will be no meeting of the association again until fall.

Teacher's Ouster Demanded

An angry contingent of residents last night demanded action against a San Rafael High School teacher who permitted two Chinese Red Guards to address and distribute Maoist propaganda to two of his world history classes.

"We want this man fired and want him fired now," said Kenneth G. Coleman of 114 Ridgeland Drive, a retired Army officer, one of the protesting group of about seven or eight residents.

The material distributed to the classes was revolutionary, advocating arming of individuals and overthrow of the armed forces, and the presentation "filthy," he said.

The two Red Guards from San Francisco passed out copies of Red Guard Community News and spoke to the classes using four-letter words last month.

The teacher, Angelo Douvos, wrote to parents of his second and third period world history classes, apologizing for dissemination of materials that were objectionable.

One mother said the material distributed was "pure filth," and another gave board members her daughter's notes on the class session.

Supt. John F. Plank said it was a "grievous error of judgment" on the part of Douvos.

Board Member Paul L. Jones said the matter should be aired since the fact that the teacher approved the appearance by the Red Guards, implies district approval.

Alan Hopkins, a representative of the San Rafael Teachers Association, objected to people "tearing someone apart" when he wasn't there, and said "this has got to stop."

Board members advised protestors that there is a procedure for filing complaints against teachers, which should be followed, and that a teacher had the right to a closed session on charges against him.

Board President Herman L. Childress said adhering to policy would be the only fair way to proceed for the protection of all involved.

Some members of the group also protested against a textbook used by Douvos, a book which he and a fellow teacher wrote, which was approved by the board for supplementary classroom use.

Picnic Avenue Apartment Units, Swim Pool Lessons Win Backing

San Rafael planning commissioners came to grips with two neighborhood controversies last night, listened patiently to repeat performances of previously aired grievances and decided in favor of the projects that started it all.

The voted unanimously to recommend that the city council let stand the 10-year-old zoning that would permit construction of a 40-unit apartment on 1.41 acres at 237 Picnic Avenue.

They then approved 4 to 3, — with Commissioners Thomas R. O'Toole, Lawrence E. Mulryan and Pat Hetherton dissenting— the request of Patricia Del Prete to give swimming lessons in the pool at her home at 46 Brentwood Drive.

The apartment house decision left the Picnic Valley residents in a solid bloc of disgruntlement, while the swimming pool ruling left the Glenwood area residents as divided against each other as before, the anti-pool faction promising to appeal the matter to the city council.

In the Picnic matter, the commissioners found themselves caught between an aroused neighborhood and what it conceived to be its more dispassionate obligation to maintain public confidence in the efficiency of city zoning.

One after the other residents went to the rostrum to repeat that the large apartment project would create traffic problems, burden Laurel Dell Intermediate and Davidson Junior High schools, be inaccessible to fire engines and destroy the single-family and duplex character of the valley.

The same arguments had caused the city council on May 19 to unanimously overrule the planning commissioners' previous grant of a use permit for the development to Picnic Hill Properties.

Planning Director Herbert G. Hotchner last night pointed out that the developer had met all city requirements for the project. He said it was no longer a staff matter but a policy decision to be made by the commissioners "as to who should bear what burden," since the owner considered "any reduction in density would be detrimental to him" and "analysis indicates that . . . 40 units would be detrimental to the neighborhood."

He offered a suggestion, which got nowhere, that rezoning to garden apartments, permitting 30 units, be considered.

Edmund T. Ghirardo, one of the partners in Picnic Hill Properties, reviewed the history of the property which he said was zoned for 40 units without neighborhood opposition in 1959 and reviewed in connection with projects that fell through in 1962, 1964 and 1965, all without opposition.

Nora Hawkins of 44 Roberts Avenue, a leader of Picnic Valley opposition, acknowledged that the original zoning was without opposition, but said that was because "Lila Aldridge, a widow and neighbor was trying to dispose of her property . . . if she could get some money for it, that was okay." Subsequent lack of opposition she attributed to unawareness of the situation.

Ghirardo said he and his partners had bought the property based on the long history of its zoning and on the assumption that it could be developed. The $72,000 cost of land, he said, was based on that zoning and the high price and high site development costs would make development impossible with less than 40 units. Moreover, he said, he was locked in by FHA and private financing commitments which would all go down the drain if thep lans were tampered with.

He was supported by Carl S. Brown, speaking for the Associated Home Builders of Marin; Stanley Goldsmith, president of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce; David Greenless of Marin Builders Exchange, and others, all arguing that the integrity of zoning and the confidence necessary to investment in property were at stake.

Commissioner Mulryan then moved that the council be asked to approve the use permit and John J. Adams seconded, the motion carrying unanimously.

The swimming lessons controversy started with the request by Sheldon Bowers, president of the Glenwood Homeowners Association that the matter be put off because six months had not passed since previous commission denial of a permit to Mrs. Del Prete March 11.

The council ruled that this was a different application, however, since there would be only one pupil at a time and the matter fell under home occupations, rather than business or commercial.

Association members repeated past objections that it was opening neighborhood doors to commercial enterprises and would downgrade the neighborhood.

Other residents, non-association members, spoke for the lessons.

A set of conditions was presented by senior planner Charles J. Linthicum, who had replaced Hotchner in directing staff work on the issue because the latter is a neighbor of Mrs. Del Prete and opposed to the lessons.

The conditions were accepted by Mrs. Del Prete after some modifications proposed by Hotchner, speaking as a private citizen.

By 4-3 vote the commission granted her a five-month permit limiting the number of students to one at a time and accompanied by no more than one adult; no one else to be permitted in the pool area during lessons; hours to be daily from 10 a.m. to sunset; no noise permitted, and no advertising of the lessons.

Baptist Youth Hit Segregation

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Racial segregation within the Southern Baptist Convention was under attack today from the huge Protestant denomination's tiny progressive student group.

David Swink, 21, a Furman University graduate from Charleston, S.C., said his activist group called "Baptist Students Concerned" hoped to get an antisegregation resolution before the 15,000 delegates at the convention's annual meeting in progress here.

The resolution, one of several by the young people on social action issues, would "ask that this convention refuse to seat any church which discriminates against minority groups as a matter of policy."

Hillside Apartments Given Nod

The San Rafael Planning Commission last night gave a unanimous go-ahead to a proposed 87-unit apartment development on Professional Center Parkway, granting a necessary variance, use permit and architectural approval.

The apartments planned by Terra Linda Hills at Nos. 127 through 197 consists of 10 structures rising in tiers on the steep hillsides on both sides of the parkway.

The variance was to permit 12 to 16-foot separation instead of the required 20-foot separation, between the double-row dwelling groups to allow for chimneys. Among conditions of architectural approval was required installation of sidewalk along the entire frontage of the project's southerly site at the parkway and Channing Way.

Senior planner Charles Linthicum said the maximum permit fees paid by the developer indicated an investment in excess of $1 million.

The San Rafael Planning Commission also:

DRIVEWAY PARKING — Reversed 4 to 3 its May 13 denial and recommended to the city council approval of a variance request from Sanford Harris for parking in his front yard driveway at 244 Humboldt Street, since new information showed his existing garage too narrow for the larger, modern automobile. Commissioners Joseph J. Garbarino, Thomas R. O'Toole and Jorgen V. Lunding opposed.

GARAGE SPACE — Approved unanimously, over staff objections based on precendent, a five-foot encroachment within nine and one-half feet of Nye Street, requested by Frederick Matock for addition of two parking stalls to his five-unit apartment at Nye and Laurel Place, after hearing neighbors say it would end parking of two cars on the street.

NORTHGATE — Granted a use permit and approved plans for an office building of about 8,440 square feet to be built by Robert and Frank Antonioli at 117-123 Pau. Drive in Northgate Industrial Park.

CHURCH SIGNS — Granted a one-year extension of Unitarian-Universalist Church's directional signs adjacent to Terra Linda interchange and Professional Center Parkway.

TAKE-OUT FOOD — Granted a use permit to Harman Investment Inc. for a take-out Kentucky Fried Chicken service restaurant at 561 Second Street, and approved architectural design after toning down a planned candy striped roof to a more sedate solid red and imposing sign restrictions.

OFFICES — Granted Johnny Ribeiro a use permit and architectural approval for 2,650 square feet of offices and 8,190 square feet of warehouse space at 85 Mitchell Boulevard in Northgate Industrial Park.

APARTMENTS — Gave architectural approval to plans of Roland Johnson for a 22-unit apartment building at 1428 Mission Avenue, a revision of plans approved last September.

SIGN — Approved an illuminated, double-faced 12-square foot sign to project over sidewalk for Atlas Heating at 1570 Fourth Street.

Gunman Sent To State Hospital

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A man who wounded a policeman while allegedly gunning for a judge has been sent to the Atascadero State Mental Hospital.

Powell was stopped near Gilroy hours after he shot and wounded officer Jay Rogovoy, 30, on April 20, police said.

Rogovoy had been guarding the house of Judge Bernard Glickfeld when Powell entered. Later, Powell said he was looking for the judge because Glickfeld gave a light sentence to a rapist. The judge was not home at the time.

Atheneum Seeks Use Of Old Robson Home

A proposal thatt the Atheneum Arts Foundation move into the house on the Robson Estate, which was given to San Anselmo as a park, was received with enthusiasm by the city council last night but not by the city attorney.

Representatives of the foundation, which has by its own admission a history of success in artistic ventures but disaster in financial affairs, described how they would care for the old house and grounds in exchange for the use of some of the rooms.

"You have no business even considering such a proposal," the city attorney, John G. Buresh, told councilmen.

Hhe said that the estate was given to the city for a park with the intent that it would be used primarily for older people and children.

"This is a regional operation," he said in reference to the foundation.

The thought of getting the old place cared for appealed to City Administrator-Controller Alfred C. Kaeppel, however. "I have a feeting that the house is a budgetary quicksand," he said.

Councilmen also expressed an interest in looking into the proposal, in which the foundation suggested that groups such as the Marin Shakespeare Festival, Marin Civic Ballet and Marin Symphony Guild could use the house for a meeting place.

Officials of the Atheneum group, which is now housed in the old Dollar Estate in San Rafael, said that they have refurbished that house and kept it in excellent shape but will soon not be able to use it.

The foundation also has its own furniture, the council was told.

With Councilman James F. Reed, who is an Atheneum director, abstaining, the council voted to have the parks and recreation commission consider the proposal.

HUB PROPOSES MEMORIAL TO HANS FISCHEL

The San Anselmo City Council last night set up a memorial fund for the city's part-time treasurer, Hans E. Fischel, who was killed Saturday in a traffic accident.

Councilman James F. Reed suggested that contributions might be collected to purchase a bench for senior citizens or play equipment for children in one of the city's parks in memory of Fischel.

It was agreed that tax-free donations could be made to the fund through the city offices.

San Anselmo Town Meeting Criticism Sparks Debate

San Anselmo's town meeting was blasted, praised and defended at a meeting of the San Anselmo City Council last night where the recent event was thoroughly hashed over.

The discussion followed the writing of a letter to the council and the Independent-Journal by Mrs. Sarah Nome of 77 Alder Avenue, who described the town meeting recommendations as "not a mandate of the people of San Anselmo, but that of a controlled opinion-forming group."

To Mrs. Nome's charge that the town meeting was planned and conducted by a closed group of approximately 20 citizens, Everett Farey, general chairman of the affair, responded that "in San Anselmo 20 people constitute a crowd."

Farey also defended the right of young people to vote at the meeting after Mrs. Nome had written that their hands should not have been counted in the "official" votes summing up the recommendations.

Many of those present agreed with David E. Bacigalupi that since not everyone attending the meeting was present at each panel session, the recommendations only represented the views of a few, but most agreed the town meeting was still beneficial.

Councilman Duane C. Regan described Mrs. Nome's letter as "vicious, unwarranted attack" on the town meeting and Councilman Kenneth L. Anderson called it "petty, sour-grapes griping," but Mayor Woodrow V. Capurro said that Mrs. Nome was not on trial.

Mrs. Nome said last night she had not been able to attend the town meeting because she had to work.

The San Anselmo City Council Also:

VARIANCE — Upheld a planning commission denial of a variance to permit a room over a garage at 50 Florence Avenue with Mayor Capurro voting against the denial.

FESTIVAL — Decided to go ahead with plans for an annual Fall Festival Sept. 17-21 in Memorial Park and agreed to contract for the furnishing of rides and booths.

LIBRARY — Agreed to have questionaires regarding joining the county library system passed out to library patrons.

The San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Commission did not meet last night in order that Robert England, chairman, and Frank L. Quinn, parks director, could attend a meeting of the San Anselmo City Council.

The next commission meeting will be held at 8 p.m. June 26 at the Robson-Harrington Mansion.

Closed Meeting

The Mill Valley School District board will hold a closed meeting at 7:30 a.m. tomorrow to instruct the Supt. James A. Collins on negotiations with employees organizations.

Only about one San Mateo County voter in 20 backed a first-stage rapid transit plan that called for feeder bus lines connecting with the present Southern Pacific commute system.

Only about 20 per cent of the county's registered voters turned out for yesterday's election, which climaxed eight years of discussion and studies on a rapid transit program for the Peninsula county.

And only about 20 per cent of those voting approved the plan as 8,859 voted yes to 38,836 against.

The system was proposed by the West Bay Rapid Transit Authority, which was set up when San Mateo County pulled out of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District in 1961. The defeat means the transit authority goes out of business this month.

Belmont passed a $900,000 sewer bond issue, but defeated a second $900,000 measure to buy and develop new parklands. With two-thirds needed for both measures, the sewers won 2,703-987 and the park bonds lost 2,069-1,623.

In Contra Costa County, voters in the San Ramon Valley Unified School District defeated a proposal to increase the tax rate from $3.75 to $4.75 per $100 of assessed valuation. The vote was 2,090 yes and 2,713 no.

Six Tires Stolen

Six tires worth about $180 were stolen during the weekend from a locked display rack outside Triple S Tire at 110 Jacoby Street, San Rafael, business manager Leonard H. Sager reported to police.

Federal Funds Seen For Traffic Signals

Federal funds may be available to finance traffic signals and other improvements for the East Blithedale Avenue-Camino Alto intersection, long a commuters' headache, the Mill Valley Planning Commission has been advised.

City engineer Stanley M. Bala told commissioners Monday that $21 million in federal funds is now available for California road safety improvement projects.

Improvements would include stop signals, widening of the street to accommodate four lanes, including a left hand storage lane, and optional left turn lane, a lane heading west on East Blithedale Avenue and a right hand turn lane onto Camino Alto north.

In addition, East Blithedale Avenue west of Camino Alto would be widened for a merging lane. Stop signals for the East Blithedale-Lomita Avenue intersection would also be requested, Bala said.

The project would cost approximately $100,000, he estimated. Last year, Bala said, more than 18,000 cars a day went through the intersection which is presently controlled by four-way stop signs.

Bala's proposal, which he said he would present to the city council Monday night, was opposed by the commissioners who said the city should instead seek funds to study the "vehicular entrances and exits . . . with particular emphasis on major intersections.

The Mill Valley Planning Commission Also:

SUBDIVISION Denied a request by the Bank of America to delay submission of a master plan for 31 acres on the Highway 101 frontage road near Sycamore Avenue extension until a subdivision has been authorized.

ENCROACHMENT — Approved an encroachment permit and variance requested by Joseph Sparrowhawk for 602 Ralston Avenue to allow construction of two separate one-car parking decks on the city right of way and a one-room addition to an existing house.

LOT SPLIT — Approved a subdivision of property at 630 West Blithedale Avenue, into four lots as requested by Alvin Corkland.

VARIANCE — Granted a variance to Dustin Fuller for an addition to an existing house which has no offstreet parking at 88 Magee Avenue.

REMODELING — Granted a variance to permit remodeling of Muller's General Insurance Co., 170 East Blithedale Avenue, requiring 10 rather than 12 offstreet parking spaces.

REZONING — Restated its previous position that the northwest corner of East Blithedale Avenue and Camino Alto should be zoned professional-administrative, not general commercial as proposed by the city council.

CONDITIONS —Told developer Manuel Gomez he must control dust by June 30 and erosion by Oct. 15 on his Cresta del Norte subdivision on the North Ridge or have his master plan approval revoked.

WORKSHOP — Set a workshop session for 8 p.m. tomorrow in The Planning Department to discuss the Millridge subdivision.

BICYCLE TRAILS — Postponed discussion of bicycle paths in Mill Valley to the June 24 meeting.

Stolen Car Is Found Wrecked Near Reno, Nev.

A car stolen Friday in Sausalito has been recovered — wrecked — near Reno, Nev., Sausalito police reported yesterday.

Police said Washoe County authorities Monday recovered a Mercedes-Benz stolen from Joaquina A. Duysin of 50 Cable Roadway and arrested Kenny Cleaver, 15, of San Francisco, on suspicion of car theft. Cleaver, now in Juvenile Hall at Reno, reportedly had wrecked the car shortly before being caught.

Police said Cleaver will not be extradited, but disposition of the case will be left up to the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the boy's parents.

Mother Of 15 Has Quadruplets

MADRAS, India (AP) — Mrs. Sulekha Bibi, a 38-year-old Moslem, has given birth to quadruplet boys in her 16th delivery.

The latest arrivals, weighing between 3.5 and 4 pounds, were reported by the hospital to be doing well.

Eleven of her 15 previous children are alive. Her husband earns about $15 a month in a cycle shop.

Picnic Avenue Apartment Units, Swim Pool Lessons Win Backing

San Rafael planning commissioners came to grips with two neighborhood controversies last night, listened patiently to repeat performances of previously aired grievances and decided in favor of the projects that started it all.

The voted unanimously to recommend that the city council let stand the 10-year-old zoning that would permit construction of a 40-unit apartment on 1.41 acres at 237 Picnic Avenue.

They then approved 4 to 3, — with Commissioners Thomas R. O'Toole, Lawrence E. Mulryan and Pat Hetherton dissenting—the request of Patricia Del Prete to give swimming lessons in the pool at her home at 46 Brentwood Drive.

The apartment house decision left the Picnic Valley residents in a solid bloc of disgruntlement, while the swimming pool ruling left the Glenwood area residents as divided against each other as before, the anti-pool faction promising to appeal the matter to the city council.

In the Picnic matter, the commissioners found themselves caught between an aroused neighborhood and what it conceived to be its more dispassionate obligation to maintain public confidence in the efficiency of city zoning.

One after the other residents went to the rostrum to repeat that the large apartment project would create traffic problems, burden Laurel Dell Intermediate and Davidson Junior High schools, be inaccessible to fire engines and destroy the single-family and duplex character of the valley.

The same arguments had caused the city council on May 19 to unanimously overrule the planning commissioners' previous grant of a use permit for the development to Picnic Hill Properties.

Planning Director Herbert G. Hotchner last night pointed out that the developer had met all city requirements for the project. He said it was no longer a staff matter but a policy decision to be made by the commissioners "as to who should bear what burden," since the owner considered "any reduction in density would be detrimental to him" and "analysis indicates that . . . 40 units would be detrimental to the neighborhood."

He offered a suggestion, which got nowhere, that rezoning to garden apartments, permitting 30 units, be considered.

Edmund T. Ghirardo, one of the partners in Picnic Hill Properties, reviewed the history of the property which he said was zoned for 40 units without neighborhood opposition in 1959 and reviewed in connection with projects that fell through in 1962, 1964 and 1965, all without opposition.

Nora Hawkins of 44 Roberts Avenue, a leader of Picnic Valley opposition, acknowledged that the original zoning was without opposition, but said that was because "Lila Aldridge, a widow and neighbor was trying to dispose of her property . . . if she could get some money for it, that was okay." Subsequent lack of opposition she attributed to unawareness of the situation.

Ghirardo said he and his partners had bought the property based on the long history of its zoning and on the assumption that it could be developed. The $72,000 cost of land, he said, was based on that zoning and the high price and high site development costs would make development impossible with less than 40 units. Moreover, he said, he was locked in by FHA and private financing commitments which would all go down the drain if thep lans were tampered with.

He was supported by Carl S. Brown, speaking for the Associated Home Builders of Marin; Stanley Goldsmith, president of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce; David Greenless of Marin Builders Exchange, and others, all arguing that the integrity of zoning and the confidence necessary to investment in property were at stake.

Commissioner Mulryan then moved that the council be asked to approve the use permit and John J. Adams seconded, the motion carrying unanimously.

The swimming lessons controversy started with the request by Sheldon Bowers, president of the Glenwood Homeowners Association that the matter be put off because six months had not passed since previous commission denial of a permit to Mrs. Del Prete March 11.

The council ruled that this was a different application, however, since there would be only one pupil at a time and the matter fell under home occupations, rather than business or commercial.

Association members repeated past objections that it was opening neighborhood doors to commercial enterprises and would downgrade the neighborhood.

Other residents, non-association members, spoke for the lessons.

A set of conditions was presented by senior planner Charles J. Linthicum, who had replaced Hotchner in directing staff work on the issue because the latter is a neighbor of Mrs. Del Prete and opposed to the lessons.

The conditions were accepted by Mrs. Del Prete after some modifications proposed by Hotchner, speaking as a private citizen.

By 4-3 vote the commission granted her a five-month permit limiting the number of students to one at a time and accompanied by no more than one adult; no one else to be permitted in the pool area during lessons; hours to be daily from 10 a.m. to sunset; no noise permitted, and no advertising of the lessons.

Baptist Youth Hit Segregation

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Racial segregation within the Southern Baptist Convention was under attack today from the huge Protestant denomination's tiny progressive student group.

David Swink, 21, a Furman University graduate from Charleston, S.C., said his activist group called "Baptist Students Concerned" hoped to get an antisegregation resolution before the 15,000 delegates at the convention's annual meeting in progress here.

The resolution, one of several by the young people on social action issues, would "ask that this convention refuse to seat any church which discriminates against minority groups as a matter of policy."

Hillside Apartments Given Nod

The San Rafael Planning Commission last night gave a unanimous go-ahead to a proposed 87-unit apartment development on Professional Center Parkway, granting a necessary variance, use permit and architectural approval.

The apartments planned by Terra Linda Hills at Nos. 127 through 197 consists of 10 structures rising in tiers on the steep hillsides on both sides of the parkway.

The variance was to permit 12 to 16-foot separation instead of the required 20-foot separation, between the double-row dwelling groups to allow for chimneys. Among conditions of architectural approval was required installation of sidewalk along the entire frontage of the project's southerly site at the parkway and Channing Way.

Senior planner Charles Linthicum said the maximum permit fees paid by the developer indicated an investment in excess of $1 million.

The San Rafael Planning Commission also:

DRIVEWAY PARKING — Reversed 4 to 3 its May 13 denial and recommended to the city council approval of a variance request from Sanford Harris for parking in his front yard driveway at 244 Humboldt Street, since new information showed his existing garage too narrow for the larger, modern automobile. Commissioners Joseph J. Garbarino, Thomas R. O'Toole and Jorgen V. Lunding opposed.

GARAGE SPACE — Approved unanimously, over staff objections based on precendent, a five-foot encroachment within nine and one-half feet of Nye Street, requested by Frederick Matock for addition of two parking stalls to his five-unit apartment at Nye and Laurel Place, after hearing neighbors say it would end parking of two cars on the street.

NORTHGATE — Granted a use permit and approved plans for an office building of about 8,440 square feet to be built by Robert and Frank Antonioli at 117-123 Pau. Drive in Northgate Industrial Park.

CHURCH SIGNS — Granted a one-year extension of Unitarian-Universalist Church's directional signs adjacent to Terra Linda interchange and Professional Center Parkway.

TAKE-OUT FOOD — Granted a use permit to Harman Investment Inc. for a take-out Kentucky Fried Chicken service restaurant at 561 Second Street, and approved architectural design after toning down a planned candy striped roof to a more sedate solid red and imposing sign restrictions.

OFFICES — Granted Johnny Ribeiro a use permit and architectural approval for 2,650 square feet of offices and 8,190 square feet of warehouse space at 85 Mitchell Boulevard in Northgate Industrial Park.

APARTMENTS — Gave architectural approval to plans of Roland Johnson for a 22-unit apartment building at 1428 Mission Avenue, a revision of plans approved last September.

SIGN — Approved an illuminated, double-faced 12-square foot sign to project over sidewalk for Atlas Heating at 1570 Fourth Street.

Gunman Sent To State Hospital

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A man who wounded a policeman while allegedly gunning for a judge has been sent to the Atascadero State Mental Hospital.

Powell was stopped near Gilroy hours after he shot and wounded officer Jay Rogovoy, 30, on April 20, police said.

Rogovoy had been guarding the house of Judge Bernard Glickfeld when Powell entered. Later, Powell said he was looking for the judge because Glickfeld gave a light sentence to a rapist. The judge was not home at the time.

Strawberry Apartments Given Nod

A 112-unit marina apartment project along Strawberry Cove on the water side of Seminary Drive won the unanimous approval of the Marin County Board of Superivosrs yesterday.

Supervisors, however, set restrictions on the amount of land coverage, and required the developer to leave at least 45 per cent of water frontage in open space and to provide a boat turnaround in the cove.

If these requirements cannot be met, the number of units may have to be reduced, said Supervisor Michael Wornum, who moved for approval.

The decision was a reversal of a denial by the Marin County Planning Commission.

Leonard B. Fleischman of Belvedere will develop two-story apartments on 6.7 acres of land along the south side of Seminary Drive east of Ricardo Drive.

Attorney Albert Bianchi of San Rafael and architect Allan Steinau of Belvedere argued successfully that the land coverage for the 112 units would be less than if 25 homes were built under the present one-family zoning.

Steinau presented plans and figures showing cluster type development that would leave 45 per cent of the waterfront open to view.

Density depends, "not on the number of doorknobs but on the size of each unit," said Bianchi. He said the architect will limit the average size of each apartment to 712 square feet, whereas the average size of units in nearby waterfront developments range from 760 square feet to 1,485 square feet.

Fleischman also agreed to provide public access to the water over his property. Werner Von Gundell, chief of current planning, insisted that 112 units is too dense, but acknowledged that the size of each unit had not been considered.

Wornum's motion to rezone the property to planned apartments with a density of 17 units per acre (112 units in all) passed with a 5 to 0 vote. A second motion by Wornum recommended to the county planning commission that development be bound by restrictions agreed upon by Fleischman.

Camera Theft

Burglars took $1,100 in camera equipment from the home of Joseph J. Giometti, 351 Corte Madera Avenue, Mill Valley, between 2:30 and 6:30 p.m. Monday, police reported.

Nursery School Gets Board's 3-2 Approval

A nursery school for up to 65 children in Terra Linda barely squeaked by on a 3 to 2 vote of the Marin County Board of Supervisors last night.

The Creative Nursery School, now operated at the Lucas Valley Community Church by Jeannette Parfitt, will be allowed to operate at 1100 Las Gallinas Avenue, across the street from Bernard Hoffman School.

The site, owned by Harold Nichelini, has 27,800 square feet and provides six offstreet parking spaces. Mrs. Parfitt said she will have no more than 65 children attending at one time, and school will operate five days a week.

Supervisor Michael Wornum moved for approval, seconded by Supervisor William A. Gnoss. Supervisor Louis H. Baar cast the third vote.

Supervisor Chairman John F. McInnis and Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr., who dissented, both stressed that slides had occurred on the site, and future slippage could endanger the children.

McInnis said he also took into account the "dominant number" of residents in the area who protested.

The Marin County Planning Commission had approved the nursery school last month by a 4 to 3 vote.

Robert Brown, who lives in a home directly overlooking the school, had appealed the decision. He and several other residents, including Rev. Dale J. Nystrom of Lucas Valley Community Church, protested that the school would add noise and traffic congestion.

Mrs. Parfitt and several parents argued that Hoffman School across the street already creates noise, and the nursery school children would be quiet by comparison. They argued that a circular driveway at the school would allow parents to deliver their children and immediately drive away without causing congestion.

When McInnis urged that the school be denied, Gnoss put up the strongest defense for the school.

"As a rule, I usually go by the supervisor in the district," said Gnoss. The school is within McInnis' district. "But this afternoon I have to disagree." He said he strongly favors nursery schools, which give mothers a chance to work. Gnoss added that privately operated nursery schools take the load off public schools and provide savings to taxpayers.

'Park' Plant Turns Out To Be Marijuana

BERKELEY (UPI) — Despite almost four weeks of police and National Guard occupation of "people's park," some of the seeds planted there are still growing.

But Mayor Wallace Johnson finds the horticultural efforts as "unusual" as everything else about the do-it-yourself park that sparked rioting and 19-day occupation of the city by the National Guard.

He hoisted a can holding a lush green plant at a city council meeting last night and said he had picked it from a lush growth at the park during an inspection earlier in the day.

The plant was marijuana.

Canada-Peking Meeting Hinted

OSLO (London Express) — Canada's willingness to recognize Red China was revealed yesterday at a press conference in Oslo when Mitchell Sharp, minister for external affairs, said he was going to Stockholm next Sunday and Monday and might meet Chinese diplomats there.

He said it was coincidence that he would be in Stockholm while the Chines diplomats were there, but if they wanted to meet him the would do so.

Talks with Peking officials and Canadian representatives have been going on for some months in Stockholm.

The talks began on the initiative of Canada after it consulted other nations.

Sharp said Canada was not coordinating its talks with any other country.

County Sign Curbs Come Under Fire

A 25-foot height limit on freestanding signs and the 75-square-foot limit on size, which are proposed in the county's new sign ordinance, may be lifted to give more flexibility for businesses along the freeway.

Marin County Board of Supervisors reached that tentative consensus after a four-hour hearing yesterday. However, they did not wind up the discussion on the entire ordinance and continued the hearing until 3 p.m. July 15.

Richard P. Nave and Ben A. Farlatti, representing the Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Visitors Bureau; Norman Traverso, manager of the Marin Property Owners Association; and several businessmen protested that highway businesses should not be restricted to the 25-foot height and 75-square-foot size. They conceded that such restrictions would be proper on nonfreeway roads.

"The Holiday Inn (at Terra Linda) has a 310-square-foot sign and it's still too small," said Nave. "Seventy-five square feet for Holiday Inn would be absolutely ridiculous. And 25-foot height along Highway 101 would be at eye level and more distracting to traffic than taller signs."

Nave and his group also asked that existing signs that do not conform to the new ordinance be exempted under a "grandfather clause," and that the planning director not be given sole authority over sign review.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors also:

SLIDE — Gave Fred Davidson 45 days to abate his home, perched on a sliding hill at 12 East LaVerne Avenue, Mill Valley, unless he can bring in an engineer's assurance that the home is safe. Supervisors also advised Davidson and his wife to vacate the home because county engineers warned the home could topple onto Miller Avenue at any time.

DEBRIS — Warned Jack B. Tefft of 23 Lomita Drive, Mill Valley, to clean up his property and start working on his unfinished home or he would face abatement. The county building inspector will report back next Tuesday, on progress made by Tefft.

SENIORS — Presented Mrs. Eleanor H. Snare of the Novato Senior organization with a plaque as one of two outstanding senior citizens in Marin County. The other, Ernest J. Blagg of San Rafael, was out of county and did not attend yesterday's ceremony.

FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT — Directed the county administrator to prepare a resolution of application to the Local Agency Formation Commission to set up a county fire protection district in areas now served solely by the county fire department.

LIBRARY — Hired financial consultants Stone and Youngberg of San Francisco to arrange financing for a new regional branch of the Marin County Library in Corte Madera, the consulting fee not to exceed $7,500.

FAIR-MARIN — Accepted the following as new members of Fair-Marin: Mount Tamalpais Branch of the Fleet Reserve Association; Marin County Retired Officers Association; Marin Barracks No. 550, Veterans of World War I and Ladies Auxiliary; Macin Council of the San Francisco Symphony Guild; and Marin Ballet Aquacade.

GASOLINE BIDS — Contracted with Shell Oil Co. to provide gasoline and Union Oil Co. to provide diesel fuel oil to the county for the 1969-70 fiscal year. They were the low bidders among four companies.

Home Looted

George L. Ballaseux of 315 Golden Gate Avenue, Belvedere, told police someone took jewelry and a camera, valued at $400, from his home between 10 a.m and noon yesterday.

San Mateo Transit Link Plan Beaten

COMBINED AP & UPI

Only about one San Mateo County voter in 20 backed a first-stage rapid transit plan that called for feeder bus lines connecting with the present Southern Pacific commute system.

Only about 20 per cent of the county's registered voters turned out for yesterday's election, which climaxed eight years of discussion and studies on a rapid transit program for the Peninsula county.

And only about 20 per cent of those voting approved the plan as 8,859 voted yes to 38,836 against.

The system was proposed by the West Bay Rapid Transit Authority, which was set up when San Mateo County pulled out of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District in 1961. The defeat means the transit authority goes out of business this month.

Belmont passed a $900,000 sewer bond issue, but defeated a second $900,000 measure to buy and develop new parklands. With two-thirds needed for both measures, the sewers won 2,703-987 and the park bonds lost 2,069-1,623.

In Contra Costa County, voters in the San Ramon Valley Unified School District defeated a proposal to increase the tax rate from $3.75 to $4.75 per $100 of assessed valuation. The vote was 2,090 yes and 2,713 no.

Six Tires Stolen

Six tires worth about $180 were stolen during the weekend from a locked display rack outside Triple S Tire at 110 Jacoby Street, San Rafael, business manager Leonard H. Sager reported to police.

Federal Funds Seen For Traffic Signals

Federal funds may be available to finance traffic signals and other improvements for the East Blithedale Avenue-Camino Alto intersection, long a commuters' headache, the Mill Valley Planning Commission has been advised.

City engineer Stanley M. Bala told commissioners Monday that $21 million in federal funds is now available for California road safety improvement projects.

Improvements would include stop signals, widening of the street to accommodate four lanes, including a left hand storage lane, and optional left turn lane, a lane heading west on East Blithedale Avenue and a right hand turn lane onto Camino Alto north.

In addition, East Blithedale Avenue west of Camino Alto would be widened for a merging lane. Stop signals for the East Blithedale-Lomita Avenue intersection would also be requested, Bala said.

The project would cost approximately $100,000, he estimated. Last year, Bala said, more than 18,000 cars a day went through the intersection which is presently controlled by four-way stop signs.

Bala's proposal, which he said he would present to the city council Monday night, was opposed by the commissioners who said the city should instead seek funds to study the "vehicular entrances and exits . . . with particular emphasis on major intersections.

The Mill Valley Planning Commission Also:

SUBDIVISION Denied a request by the Bank of America to delay submission of a master plan for 31 acres on the Highway 101 frontage road near Sycamore Avenue extension until a subdivision has been authorized.

ENCROACHMENT — Approved an encroachment permit and variance requested by Joseph Sparrowhawk for 602 Ralston Avenue to allow construction of two separate one-car parking decks on the city right of way and a one-room addition to an existing house.

LOT SPLIT — Approved a subdivision of property at 630 West Blithedale Avenue, into four lots as requested by Alvin Corkland.

VARIANCE — Granted a variance to Dustin Fuller for an addition to an existing house which has no offstreet parking at 88 Magee Avenue.

REMODELING — Granted a variance to permit remodeling of Muller's General Insurance Co., 170 East Blithedale Avenue, requiring 10 rather than 12 offstreet parking spaces.

REZONING — Restated its previous position that the northwest corner of East Blithedale Avenue and Camino Alto should be zoned professional-administrative, not general commercial as proposed by the city council.

CONDITIONS —Told developer Manuel Gomez he must control dust by June 30 and erosion by Oct. 15 on his Cresta del Norte subdivision on the North Ridge or have his master plan approval revoked.

WORKSHOP — Set a workshop session for 8 p.m. tomorrow in The Planning Department to discuss the Millridge subdivision.

BICYCLE TRAILS — Postponed discussion of bicycle paths in Mill Valley to the June 24 meeting.

Stolen Car Is Found Wrecked Near Reno, Nev.

A car stolen Friday in Sausalito has been recovered — wrecked — near Reno, Nev., Sausalito police reported yesterday.

Police said Washoe County authorities Monday recovered a Mercedes-Benz stolen from Joaquina A. Duysin of 50 Cable Roadway and arrested Kenny Cleaver, 15, of San Francisco, on suspicion of car theft. Cleaver, now in Juvenile Hall at Reno, reportedly had wrecked the car shortly before being caught.

Police said Cleaver will not be extradited, but disposition of the case will be left up to the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the boy's parents.

Mother Of 15 Has Quadruplets

The latest arrivals, weighing between 3.5 and 4 pounds, were reported by the hospital to be doing well.

Eleven of her 15 previous children are alive. Her husband earns about $15 a month in a cycle shop.

Tomales Gets Warning To Boil Water

An outbreak of hepatitis in Tomales, possibly caused by sewage contamination in wells which supply drinking water, was reported today by Marin County Health Officer Dr. Carolyn Albrecht.

Dr. Albrecht advised all Tomales residents to boil their drinking water until further notice.

The first case of infectious hepatitis was reported last week, she said, and two more have been reported since.

There is no public water supply in Tomales, Dr. Albrecht said, and drinking water is taken from private wells. She said there are a number of failing septic tanks in Tomales and several of them are located too close to the wells.

"Until such time as we have had the opportunity to run laboratory tests on all the wells out there to see whether they're contaminated with sewage, we advise all residents of Tomales to boil their drinking water," Dr. Albrecht said. "That includes any water that goes into the human mouth, including water used for brushing teeth, cooking and mixing drinks."

The survey of wells and septic tanks and lab tests on water samples could take three or four weeks, she said.

Workshops Slated In Photography

Applications are now being accepted for two three-day photography workshops conducted by Mill Valley photographers Prikle Jones and Ruth-Marion Baruch, to be held Aug. 1-3 and 15-17 at the photographers' studio, 663 Lovell Avenue, Mill Valley.

Participants will be required to have a working knowledge of photography. The workshops will emphasize the use of the small camera.

55 Tam Students Due Honors Tonight

Fifty-five Tamalpais High School students will receive awards and honors at the annual awards day ceremoney at 8 p.m. today in the school library.

Joan E. Polanshek has garnered the greatest number of awards, five, including finalist status in the National Merit Scholarship competition. She also has earned the Readers Digest valedictorian award, a regional award in Spanish, a Bank of America certificate in mathematics, and a Life Honor T membership and award from the California Scholarship Federation.

Two seniors in Tamalpais High School's food education and service training program have won $100 scholarships toward college: Wendell McReynolds a scholarship from the Restaurant and Tavern Owners Association, and Marie Howard a scholarship from the class itself, the money being raised by the class during the year at its breakfast-serving series.

Other winners and their awards:

National Merit Scholarship Finalists — Stephen J. Hayes, John V. Leonard and Ellen G. Rosenthal.

Strawberry Apartments Given Nod

A 112-unit marina apartment project along Strawberry Cove on the water side of Seminary Drive won the unanimous approval of the Marin County Board of Superivosrs yesterday.

Supervisors, however, set restrictions on the amount of land coverage, and required the developer to leave at least 45 per cent of water frontage in open space and to provide a boat turnaround in the cove.

If these requirements cannot be met, the number of units may have to be reduced, said Supervisor Michael Wornum, who moved for approval.

The decision was a reversal of a denial by the Marin County Planning Commission.

Leonard B. Fleischman of Belvedere will develop two-story apartments on 6.7 acres of land along the south side of Seminary Drive east of Ricardo Drive.

Attorney Albert Bianchi of San Rafael and architect Allan Steinau of Belvedere argued successfully that the land coverage for the 112 units would be less than if 25 homes were built under the present one-family zoning.

Steinau presented plans and figures showing cluster type development that would leave 45 per cent of the waterfront open to view.

Density depends, "not on the number of doorknobs but on the size of each unit," said Bianchi. He said the architect will limit the average size of each apartment to 712 square feet, whereas the average size of units in nearby waterfront developments range from 760 square feet to 1,485 square feet.

Fleischman also agreed to provide public access to the water over his property. Werner Von Gundell, chief of current planning, insisted that 112 units is too dense, but acknowledged that the size of each unit had not been considered.

Wornum's motion to rezone the property to planned apartments with a density of 17 units per acre (112 units in all) passed with a 5 to 0 vote. A second motion by Wornum recommended to the county planning commission that development be bound by restrictions agreed upon by Fleischman.

Camera Theft

Burglars took $1,100 in camera equipment from the home of Joseph J. Giometti, 351 Corte Madera Avenue, Mill Valley, between 2:30 and 6:30 p.m. Monday, police reported.

Nursery School Gets Board's 3-2 Approval

A nursery school for up to 65 children in Terra Linda barely squeaked by on a 3 to 2 vote of the Marin County Board of Supervisors last night.

The Creative Nursery School, now operated at the Lucas Valley Community Church by Jeannette Parfitt, will be allowed to operate at 1100 Las Gallinas Avenue, across the street from Bernard Hoffman School.

The site, owned by Harold Nichelini, has 27,800 square feet and provides six offstreet parking spaces. Mrs. Parfitt said she will have no more than 65 children attending at one time, and school will operate five days a week.

Supervisor Michael Wornum moved for approval, seconded by Supervisor William A. Gnoss. Supervisor Louis H. Baar cast the third vote.

Supervisor Chairman John F. McInnis and Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr., who dissented, both stressed that slides had occurred on the site, and future slippage could endanger the children.

McInnis said he also took into account the "dominant number" of residents in the area who protested.

The Marin County Planning Commission had approved the nursery school last month by a 4 to 3 vote.

Robert Brown, who lives in a home directly overlooking the school, had appealed the decision. He and several other residents, including Rev. Dale J. Nystrom of Lucas Valley Community Church, protested that the school would add noise and traffic congestion.

Mrs. Parfitt and several parents argued that Hoffman School across the street already creates noise, and the nursery school children would be quiet by comparison. They argued that a circular driveway at the school would allow parents to deliver their children and immediately drive away without causing congestion.

When McInnis urged that the school be denied, Gnoss put up the strongest defense for the school.

"As a rule, I usually go by the supervisor in the district," said Gnoss. The school is within McInnis' district. "But this afternoon I have to disagree." He said he strongly favors nursery schools, which give mothers a chance to work. Gnoss added that privately operated nursery schools take the load off public schools and provide savings to taxpayers.

'Park' Plant Turns Out To Be Marijuana

BERKELEY (UPI) — Despite almost four weeks of police and National Guard occupation of "people's park," some of the seeds planted there are still growing.

But Mayor Wallace Johnson finds the horticultural efforts as "unusual" as everything else about the do-it-yourself park that sparked rioting and 19-day occupation of the city by the National Guard.

He hoisted a can holding a lush green plant at a city council meeting last night and said he had picked it from a lush growth at the park during an inspection earlier in the day.

The plant was marijuana.

Canada-Peking Meeting Hinted

OSLO (London Express) — Canada's willingness to recognize Red China was revealed yesterday at a press conference in Oslo when Mitchell Sharp, minister for external affairs, said he was going to Stockholm next Sunday and Monday and might meet Chinese diplomats there.

He said it was coincidence that he would be in Stockholm while the Chines diplomats were there, but if they wanted to meet him the would do so.

Talks with Peking officials and Canadian representatives have been going on for some months in Stockholm.

The talks began on the initiative of Canada after it consulted other nations.

Sharp said Canada was not coordinating its talks with any other country.

County Sign Curbs Come Under Fire

A 25-foot height limit on freestanding signs and the 75-square-foot limit on size, which are proposed in the county's new sign ordinance, may be lifted to give more flexibility for businesses along the freeway.

Marin County Board of Supervisors reached that tentative consensus after a four-hour hearing yesterday. However, they did not wind up the discussion on the entire ordinance and continued the hearing until 3 p.m. July 15.

Richard P. Nave and Ben A. Farlatti, representing the Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Visitors Bureau; Norman Traverso, manager of the Marin Property Owners Association; and several businessmen protested that highway businesses should not be restricted to the 25-foot height and 75-square-foot size. They conceded that such restrictions would be proper on nonfreeway roads.

"The Holiday Inn (at Terra Linda) has a 310-square-foot sign and it's still too small," said Nave. "Seventy-five square feet for Holiday Inn would be absolutely ridiculous. And 25-foot height along Highway 101 would be at eye level and more distracting to traffic than taller signs."

Nave and his group also asked that existing signs that do not conform to the new ordinance be exempted under a "grandfather clause," and that the planning director not be given sole authority over sign review.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors also:

SLIDE — Gave Fred Davidson 45 days to abate his home, perched on a sliding hill at 12 East LaVerne Avenue, Mill Valley, unless he can bring in an engineer's assurance that the home is safe. Supervisors also advised Davidson and his wife to vacate the home because county engineers warned the home could topple onto Miller Avenue at any time.

DEBRIS — Warned Jack B. Tefft of 23 Lomita Drive, Mill Valley, to clean up his property and start working on his unfinished home or he would face abatement. The county building inspector will report back next Tuesday, on progress made by Tefft.

SENIORS — Presented Mrs. Eleanor H. Snare of the Novato Senior organization with a plaque as one of two outstanding senior citizens in Marin County. The other, Ernest J. Blagg of San Rafael, was out of county and did not attend yesterday's ceremony.

FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT — Directed the county administrator to prepare a resolution of application to the Local Agency Formation Commission to set up a county fire protection district in areas now served solely by the county fire department.

LIBRARY — Hired financial consultants Stone and Youngberg of San Francisco to arrange financing for a new regional branch of the Marin County Library in Corte Madera, the consulting fee not to exceed $7,500.

FAIR-MARIN — Accepted the following as new members of Fair-Marin: Mount Tamalpais Branch of the Fleet Reserve Association; Marin County Retired Officers Association; Marin Barracks No. 550, Veterans of World War I and Ladies Auxiliary; Macin Council of the San Francisco Symphony Guild; and Marin Ballet Aquacade.

GASOLINE BIDS — Contracted with Shell Oil Co. to provide gasoline and Union Oil Co. to provide diesel fuel oil to the county for the 1969-70 fiscal year. They were the low bidders among four companies.

Novato Streets Due Summer Upgrading

Novato's streets are due for a summer upgrading.

The Novato City Council last night awarded contract for one street widening project, called for bids on another, and learned that the city public works department plans to spend $140,000 this summer on resurfacing of still others.

Ghilotti Brothers Inc. of San Rafael, lowest of four bidders, received a $65,348 contract to widen Wilson Avenue at Sinaloa Junior High School and Novato Boulevard at San Marin High School. Novato Unified School District is to pay $33,200 toward the project from funds allocated by the state.

Bids for widening Simmons Lane from Novato Creek to Novato Boulevard, a job estimated at $55,250, were called for July 1.

Public Works Director Clifford E. Temps reported the city plans to overlay other streets during the summer in the $140,000 additional program.

Besides streets, Pioneer Memorial Park is due for improvement.

The council called for bids for a spray pool and small boating lagoon at the park to be opened July 8. Cost is estimated at $33,000.

Edward W. Adams, parks and recreation director, announced Sept. 20 as tentative date for dedicating the park. He said the first phase of park improvement should be completed about Sept. 15.

The Novato City Council also:

SIGN DENIAL — Denied William Jonas' appeal from planning commission turndown of a readerboard sign for the Novak Square Shopping Center, emphasizing that such signs are granted only under special circumstances. One was allowed earlier for Pacheco Plaza Shopping Center because it is not visible from the highway, said Councilman J. Wayne Womack. Councilman Joseph D. Gargiulo dissented from the turndown.

EXCHANGE STUDENTS — Awarded honorary citizenship in Novato to three foreign exchange students: Gunilla Danielsson of Sweden, Morton Viul of Norway and Ahmet Talug of Turkey.

USE PERMITS — Passed an ordinance continuing for one year the requirement of use permits for certain businesses in the commercial district. This was done at the request of planning consultants Sedway and Cooke of San Francisco, who are making a study of the downtown area.

RESIGNATION — Accepted the resignation of F. James Picchi from the plan review committee.

REZONING — Passed an ordinance rezoning from mobile home to planned residential approximately 30 acres of Los Robles Mobile Park on Bel Marin Keys Boulevard.

ACCESS — Approved vacating an access easement into Novato Square from Highway 101 to conform to plans approved May 13 for the proposed MacDonald's Restaurant.

SCHOOL AID — Endorsed Assembly Bill 409 which would appropriate $372 million state aid to schools on a 50 per cent cost basis. This would give Novato Unified School District $1,143,175 in state funds, according to Emily Baptiste, chairman of the Citizens Committee on School Legislation.

DOG CONTROL — Asked City Mgr. Charles A. Brown to arrange for a meeting with the Marin County Board of Supervisors to discuss the board's turndown of an appropriation for a countywide animal control program for next fiscal year.

BUDGET — Adjourned to 8 p.m. Thursday at the Novato Community House for its fourth budget study session. It also set 8 p.m. Monday and Tuesday next week at the same place for further budget meetings. Public hearings on the budget will be held at 8 p.m. on June 18 and 24 at the community house.

$500 Fine In Marijuana Case

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court yesterday ordered Ronald T. Faircloth, 24, of Kentfield to pay a $500 fine and spend 10 weekends in jail for possessing marijuana.

The youth had been convicted by a jury last month of possessing the drug but the jury was hung on whether he was guilty of two charges of selling marijuana.

Judge McGuire also placed Faircloth on one year probation and told him to refrain from the use, possession or sale of any narcotics.

Faircloth was arrested May 15, 1968 at his Kentfield apartment. He was a College of Marin student at the time.

Antisecrecy Bill Sent To Senate Floor

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill to toughen enforcement of the Ralph M. Brown Act was sent to the Senate floor by the Senate Judiciary Committee yesterday but an important punitive provision was pulled out first.

Passage of the bill, which makes it easier for a citizen to seek court action to prevent secret meetings by government bodies, is virtually certain in the Senate, according to aides of Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, who is seeking to strengthen the act.

Cut out of the bill by the committee was a provision which would have made attendance by public officials at an illegal closed meeting "misconduct in office." Upon a finding by a county grand jury that there was sufficient cause for legal action, a Superior Court trial could have been held to remove the offending official from office.

Violation of the Brown Act, not uncommon, is punishable now only as a misdemeanor but this penalty apparently never has been used successfully.

The Brown Act permits closed meetings only to hire or fire a public employee or officer or to hear charges against a public employee or officer.

The Senate Judiciary Committee also recommended passage of another Bagley measure to eliminate most exemptions to a public records act passed by the Legislature last year which requires most state agencies to make their records public.

A third Bagley bill given a "do pass" stamp by the committee would require charitable trusts pay legal expenses for any state action made necessary to insure the trusts meet state registration and filing requirements.

School Advisers Eye Roles In Kentfield

The Kentfield School District task force — meeting to establish a continuing planning council for the district — yesterday worked on defining roles of the planning council, the responsibilities of the school board the superintendent and how the council would set up task forces to solve various problems. No action was taken.

The nine-member task force will meet with five other such groups at 9 a.m. June 20 at the Sonoma County Superintendent of Schools office in Santa Rosa to discuss how to involve the community in comprehensive planning, Anthony G. Bacich, Kentfield School District superintendent, reported.

Tomales Gets Warning To Boil Water

An outbreak of hepatitis in Tomales, possibly caused by sewage contamination in wells which supply drinking water, was reported today by Marin County Health Officer Dr. Carolyn Albrecht.

Dr. Albrecht advised all Tomales residents to boil their drinking water until further notice.

The first case of infectious hepatitis was reported last week, she said, and two more have been reported since.

There is no public water supply in Tomales, Dr. Albrecht said, and drinking water is taken from private wells. She said there are a number of failing septic tanks in Tomales and several of them are located too close to the wells.

"Until such time as we have had the opportunity to run laboratory tests on all the wells out there to see whether they're contaminated with sewage, we advise all residents of Tomales to boil their drinking water," Dr. Albrecht said. "That includes any water that goes into the human mouth, including water used for brushing teeth, cooking and mixing drinks."

The survey of wells and septic tanks and lab tests on water samples could take three or four weeks, she said.

Schools Tax Will Increase In Petaluma

The Petaluma Board of Education last night approved a tentative budget of $2.4 million for the elementary district that will increase the general purpose tax rate by 30 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

George E. Castleberry, business manager, said the exact amount of the increase would be determined by the assessed valuation of the district. The tentative 1969-70 budget of $2,406,315 represents a decrease from this year's estimated expenditures of $2,445,662.

The board was told that major increases in the budget were cause by the 50 per cent teacher salary increase and the increase of 3 per cent in the district's contribution to health and dental plans.

The present general purpose tax rate is $1.83. Total tax rate in the district this year, including overrides is $2.11 per $100 assessed valuation.

Castleberry said the carryover balance this year would be $357,131, but would probably drop to $80,987 at the end of the next year.

The tentative budget of the elementary district will be reviewed this month by the Sonoma County Superintendent of Schools. The high school district tentative budget will be presented to the board later this month or in July.

The Petaluma Board of Education also:

CARE CENTER — Approved the use of property on the northwest corner of the McDowell School by the Sonoma County schools office for a child care center, with costs to be borne by the county school's office. Forty to 50 children of working mothers and students are expected to be enrolled next fall at the portable classroom building.

HIRED — Approved the employment of teachers George Geiger, at $8,135; James O'Malley, $9,620; Mary Ostrander, $7,290, and Muriel Reynolds, $9,147.

SUMMER SESSION — Approved the employment of 40 teachers for the summer school sessions. Pay for the first session will be $122 per week and $128 per week for the second.

REMODELING — Approved plans to remodel the counseling and attendance area at Petaluma Senior High School at an estimated cost of $37,000, and the remodeling of central corridor at Kenilworth Junior High School at an estimated cost of $18,000 bids may be received by July 8 with completion hoped for by the fall.

PENNGROVE — Heard report that plans are underway to upgrade the Penngrove School by fall to meet state building requirements and to make the building safe during earthquakes.

Redwood High Names Officers

Chris Martin, of Ross, also unopposed, was elected vice president; Debbie Leininger of Greenbrae defeated Robin Christensen for secretary, and Tim Shippey of San Anselmo, unopposed, was elected finance commissioner.

Also elected were song girls Chris Richardson, Karen Shimamoto, Noreen Ferrari, Pam Shreeve, Bonnie Sutherland, Lissa Hershleb and Linda Ball.

Vote tallies are not released in accordance with student council policy, but election candidates may see the results at the student office, William D. Wilkinson, student activities dean, reported.

Novato Streets Due Summer Upgrading

Novato's streets are due for a summer upgrading.

The Novato City Council last night awarded contract for one street widening project, called for bids on another, and learned that the city public works department plans to spend $140,000 this summer on resurfacing of still others.

Ghilotti Brothers Inc. of San Rafael, lowest of four bidders, received a $65,348 contract to widen Wilson Avenue at Sinaloa Junior High School and Novato Boulevard at San Marin High School. Novato Unified School District is to pay $33,200 toward the project from funds allocated by the state.

Bids for widening Simmons Lane from Novato Creek to Novato Boulevard, a job estimated at $55,250, were called for July 1.

Public Works Director Clifford E. Temps reported the city plans to overlay other streets during the summer in the $140,000 additional program.

Besides streets, Pioneer Memorial Park is due for improvement.

The council called for bids for a spray pool and small boating lagoon at the park to be opened July 8. Cost is estimated at $33,000.

Edward W. Adams, parks and recreation director, announced Sept. 20 as tentative date for dedicating the park. He said the first phase of park improvement should be completed about Sept. 15.

The Novato City Council also:

SIGN DENIAL — Denied William Jonas' appeal from planning commission turndown of a readerboard sign for the Novak Square Shopping Center, emphasizing that such signs are granted only under special circumstances. One was allowed earlier for Pacheco Plaza Shopping Center because it is not visible from the highway, said Councilman J. Wayne Womack. Councilman Joseph D. Gargiulo dissented from the turndown.

EXCHANGE STUDENTS — Awarded honorary citizenship in Novato to three foreign exchange students: Gunilla Danielsson of Sweden, Morton Viul of Norway and Ahmet Talug of Turkey.

USE PERMITS — Passed an ordinance continuing for one year the requirement of use permits for certain businesses in the commercial district. This was done at the request of planning consultants Sedway and Cooke of San Francisco, who are making a study of the downtown area.

RESIGNATION — Accepted the resignation of F. James Picchi from the plan review committee.

REZONING — Passed an ordinance rezoning from mobile home to planned residential approximately 30 acres of Los Robles Mobile Park on Bel Marin Keys Boulevard.

ACCESS — Approved vacating an access easement into Novato Square from Highway 101 to conform to plans approved May 13 for the proposed MacDonald's Restaurant.

SCHOOL AID — Endorsed Assembly Bill 409 which would appropriate $372 million state aid to schools on a 50 per cent cost basis. This would give Novato Unified School District $1,143,175 in state funds, according to Emily Baptiste, chairman of the Citizens Committee on School Legislation.

DOG CONTROL — Asked City Mgr. Charles A. Brown to arrange for a meeting with the Marin County Board of Supervisors to discuss the board's turndown of an appropriation for a countywide animal control program for next fiscal year.

BUDGET — Adjourned to 8 p.m. Thursday at the Novato Community House for its fourth budget study session. It also set 8 p.m. Monday and Tuesday next week at the same place for further budget meetings. Public hearings on the budget will be held at 8 p.m. on June 18 and 24 at the community house.

$500 Fine In Marijuana Case

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court yesterday ordered Ronald T. Faircloth, 24, of Kentfield to pay a $500 fine and spend 10 weekends in jail for possessing marijuana.

The youth had been convicted by a jury last month of possessing the drug but the jury was hung on whether he was guilty of two charges of selling marijuana.

Judge McGuire also placed Faircloth on one year probation and told him to refrain from the use, possession or sale of any narcotics.

Faircloth was arrested May 15, 1968 at his Kentfield apartment. He was a College of Marin student at the time.

Antisecrecy Bill Sent To Senate Floor

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill to toughen enforcement of the Ralph M. Brown Act was sent to the Senate floor by the Senate Judiciary Committee yesterday but an important punitive provision was pulled out first.

Passage of the bill, which makes it easier for a citizen to seek court action to prevent secret meetings by government bodies, is virtually certain in the Senate, according to aides of Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, who is seek- to strengthen the act.

Cut out of the bill by the committee was a provision which would have made attendance by public officials at an illegal closed meeting "misconduct in office." Upon a finding by a county grand jury that there was sufficient cause for legal action, a Superior Court trial could have been held to remove the offending official from office.

Violation of the Brown Act, not uncommon, is punishable now only as a misdemeanor but this penalty apparently never has been used successfully.

The Brown Act permits closed meetings only to hire or fire a public employee or officer or to hear charges against a public employee or officer.

The Senate Judiciary Committee also recommended passage of another Bagley measure to eliminate most exemptions to a public records act passed by the Legislature last year which requires most state agencies to make their records public.

A third Bagley bill given a "do pass" stamp by the committee would require charitable trusts pay legal expenses for any state action made necessary to insure the trusts meet state registration and filing requirements.

School Advisers Eye Roles In Kentfield

The Kentfield School District task force — meeting to establish a continuing planning council for the district — yesterday worked on defining roles of the planning council, the responsibilities of the school board the superintendent and how the council would set up task forces to solve various problems. No action was taken.

The nine-member task force will meet with five other such groups at 9 a.m. June 20 at the Sonoma County Superintendent of Schools office in Santa Rosa to discuss how to involve the community in comprehensive planning, Anthony G. Bacich, Kentfield School District superintendent, reported.

TWIN-TOWER CAPITOL BUILDING—This model of a new proposed 24-story twin-tower Capitol building is a preliminary $65 million design which is being studied by the Legislature in tight security sessions. (AP Wirephoto)

$65 Million Capitol Building In Planning

its staff has outgrown its present quarters.

As envisioned by state architect Fred Hummel, the new Capitol would be a handsome one—two graceful, square towers rising from a tree-lined grass and concrete plaza. A five-story structure would link the towers. Airy glass-enclosed buildings on each side of the towers would house the Senate and Assembly chambers.

The layout would be located at the eastern end of Capitol Park on land now owned by the state. A street separating the park from the site would be tunnelled underground.

"A preliminary cost estimate for the entire complex, including towers, garage, plaza development, street depressions, utility relocations and tunnel extension is $65 million," Hummel said in a confidential report to Collier, the silver-haired veteran of the Senate and chairman of the finance committee.

Under Hummel's plan, the size of each legislative office would be more than doubled. Lawmakers who are committee chairmen—there are 42—would have 2,707 square feet, those who are not, 1,693 square feet. Now they get less than half that space.

The state Department of General Services, building planner for the Reagan administration, allocates only 400 square feet of office space to the four agency administrators, who are in the highest echelon of the executive department.

Each senator and assemblyman would have a toilet in his office. The General Services Department said this facility boosts construction costs by $3,000 an office.

Andrew Lolli, director of general services, has banned individual toilets for state executives. "Most of the directors said they didn't want them," Lolli said.

Since his administration came into office in January 1967, Gov. Ronald Reagan has insisted on economy in allocating office space for state employees. He canceled planned construction of one $10 million office building, saying space could be made available elsewhere.

Each of the 40 senators and 80 assemblymen would have his own conference room and space for two staff members and three secretaries.

And, there would be a 2,000-car garage underneath the Capitol.

The present Capitol would probably become a museum. The adjoining office annex would be turned over to other state agencies, with the governor likely remaining there.

The planning group, the Joint Committee on Legislative Space Needs, holds its meetings without giving notification in the daily legislative files. It meets in executive session, with newsmen barred.

Collier, the chairman, has refused to give interviews on the project or even consent to being photographed with the latest model of the building, although he has been asked four times.

In a brief conversation with an Associated Press reporter, he said he would comment after July 1 "when I've gotten all the facts and figures together."

Not all committee members insist on this secrecy. Assemblyman Joe A. Gonsalves, D-La

Schools Tax Will Increase In Petaluma

The Petaluma Board of Education last night approved a tentative budget of $2.4 million for the elementary district that will increase the general purpose tax rate by 30 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

George E. Castleberry, business manager, said the exact amount of the increase would be determined by the assessed valuation of the district. The tentative 1969-70 budget of $2,406,315 represents a decrease from this year's estimated expenditures of $2,445,662.

The board was told that major increases in the budget were cause by the 50 per cent teacher salary increase and the increase of 3 per cent in the district's contribution to health and dental plans.

The present general purpose tax rate is $1.83. Total tax rate in the district this year, including overrides is $2.11 per $100 assessed valuation.

Castleberry said the carryover balance this year would be $357,131, but would probably drop to $80,987 at the end of the next year.

The tentative budget of the elementary district will be reviewed this month by the Sonoma County Superintendent of Schools. The high school district tentative budget will be presented to the board later this month or in July.

The Petaluma Board of Education also:

CARE CENTER — Approved the use of property on the northwest corner of the McDowell School by the Sonoma County schools office for a child care center, with costs to be borne by the county school's office. Forty to 50 children of working mothers and students are expected to be enrolled next fall at the portable classroom building.

HIRED — Approved the employment of teachers George Geiger, at $8,135; James O'Malley, $9,620; Mary Ostrander, $7,290, and Muriel Reynolds, $9.147.

SUMMER SESSION — Approved the employment of 40 teachers for the summer school sessions. Pay for the first session will be $122 per week and $128 per week for the second.

REMODELING — Approved plans to remodel the counseling and attendance area at Petaluma Senior High School at an estimated cost of $37,000, and the remodeling of central corridor at Kenilworth Junior High School at an estimated cost of $18,000 bids may be received by July 8 with completion hoped for by the fall.

PENNGROVE — Heard report that plans are underway to upgrade the Penngrove School by fall to meet state building requirements and to make the building safe during earthquakes.

Redwood High Names Officers

Chris Martin, of Ross, also unopposed, was elected vice president; Debbie Leininger of Greenbrae defeated Robin Christensen for secretary, and Tim Shippey of San Anselmo, unopposed, was elected finance commissioner.

Also elected were song girls Chris Richardson, Karen Shimamoto, Noreen Ferrari, Pam Shreeve, Bonnie Sutherland, Lissa Hershleb and Linda Ball.

Vote tallies are not released in accordance with student council policy, but election candidates may see the results at the student office, William D. Wilkinson, student activities dean, reported.

Mirada, arguing that the people should have all the facts, strongly defended the project.

He said the Legislature needs a big and sophisticated staff to study the nation's biggest state budget and detailed legislation dealing with taxes, resources and transportation. If staff members aren't available to provide advice, he said, lawmakers must consult lobbyists.

Technical staffs, he said, are now being forced out of present quarters because of lack of space. "If we are going to have something to base our decisions on, we have to have our own staffing," he said. "If not, we might as well take it from the lobbyists."

The Assembly, for example, has created a major Office of Research, with 25 or so staff members. The ways and means, education and revenue and taxation committees have all increased their staffs in recent years.

And, the Legislature has won nationwide praise from scholars for its staff and its research.

Gonsalves, an expert on legislative space, was chairman of the Assembly Rules Committee during a recent $1 million remodeling of Assembly quarters in the sprawling six-story Capitol annex.

He also noted that several state agencies are leasing offices in private buildings in Sacramento. It would be cheaper, he said, for them to move into the offices to be abandoned by the Legislature.

He said the building would be financed by a loan from the state employes retirement fund, and repair by rent payments made by state agencies using the abandoned legislative offices.

A highlight of the Colier committee investigation was the trips to other capitol cities.

In late 1968, Collier and Sen. James Wedworth, D-Hawthorne, flew to Brasilia, the new capital of Brazil, a city hewn out of the interior jungle. The state pays only mileage or transportation fare and a set per diem expense for such trips.

Collier's trip cost the state $1,467 and Wedworth's $1,413. Lima, Peru; Caracas, Venezuela and Buenos Aires, Argentina were on the list of stops.

In April 1968, Assemblyman Newton Russell, R-Tujunga, Sen. Tom Carrell, D-San Fernando; Gonsalves and Collier visited the Michigan capital, Lansing. They continued on to Albany, N.Y., where New York is planning a new Capitol.

In February 1968, the touring lawmakers swung through the south and southwest. Collier, Wedworth, Russell and Carrell went to Atlanta, Ga. and Raleigh, N.C.

In addition, Carrell and Collier visited Santa Fe, N.M., and Phoenix, Arix. Wedworth stopped at Phoenix.

Another trip took the travelers to Hawaii, for a look at that state's new Capitol. It began during the last week of December and ended New Year's Day.

Legislators on that trip were Gonsalves, Carrell, Collier and Wedworth.

Architect Hummel defended the trips.

"If we didn't do some preliminary studies, we could create a horrible monster," he said.

And Wedworth said that the lawmakers had learned the mistakes made by other states and nations in their new capitols and are determined not to repeat them here.

Gonsalves said he will insist on economy in the building, and will oppose such frills as recreational facilities. "I don't see how you can justify that in any public building," he said.

First Lady Sets Western Tour

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Richard M. Nixon flies to Oregon Monday to start a four-day visit to volunteer projects in three West Coast cities.

The White House said today the First Lady, making her first trip on her own, will tour "vest pockets of volunteerism" in Portland and Forest Grove, Ore., and Los Angeles.

She will be promoting one of the President's major projects, the effort to enlist million of Americans in volunteer projects to help cure the nation's social ills.

Scott Bonfiglio New Leader Of Catholic Students

Scott Bonfiglio will be president of the Marin Catholic High School student body for the 1969-70 school year, Joel Kiff, director of student personnel services, has announced.

Other officers named to the student body are Karen Luchessa, vice president; Carol Frate, secretary; Mark Rodriguez, treasurer and Dana Seestedt, rally commissioner.

Public Hearing

The Tamalpais Community Services District will hold a public hearing on its proposed master plan at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Tamalpais Valley School.

Brixon Calls Mayors To Quick Parley

Larkspur Mayor Neil R. Brixon has called for a special meeting of mayors of Marin's 11 cities and towns to determine their views on three subjects: animal control, structural fire tax and added sheriff's deputies for unincorporated areas.

The luncheon meeting is set for 12:15 p.m. Monday at the Edgewater Inn, Corte Madera.

Early action is necessary, Brixon stressed, because these matters are now being considered by the Marin County Board of Supervisors and cannot await the next meeting of the Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen on June 25.

The supervisors might implement the animal control program if cities would consider making up the necessary $31,000, which Brixon calls "doggie dollars," to fund the program.

Brixon said that the Sheriff's Patrol Division costs of $960,472 should be borne solely by the unincorporated area taxpayers.

The supervisors are considering a possible fire district for the unincorporated area in which the structural fire tax would be levied according to relative benefits.

Brixon has urged each mayor to at least poll his council as to its thoughts on the three subjects prior to the luncheon meeting.

The ocelot, a species of wildcat in tropical America, averages about three feet long.

TWIN-TOWER CAPITOL BUILDING—This model of a new proposed 24-story twin-tower Capitol building is a preliminary $65 million design which is being studied by the Legislature in tight security sessions.

its staff has outgrown its present quarters.

As envisioned by state architect Fred Hummel, the new Capitol would be a handsome one—two graceful, square towers rising from a tree-lined grass and concrete plaza. A five-story structure would link the towers. Airy glass-enclosed buildings on each side of the towers would house the Senate and Assembly chambers.

The layout would be located at the eastern end of Capitol Park on land now owned by the state. A street separating the park from the site would be tunnelled underground.

"A preliminary cost estimate for the entire complex, including towers, garage, plaza development, street depressions, utility relocations and tunnel extension is $65 million," Hummel said in a confidential report to Collier, the silver-haired veteran of the Senate and chairman of the finance committee.

Under Hummel's plan, the size of each legislative office would be more than doubled. Lawmakers who are committee chairmen—there are 42—would have 2,707 square feet, those who are not, 1,693 square feet. Now they get less than half that space.

The state Department of General Services, building planner for the Reagan administration, allocates only 400 square feet of office space to the four agency administrators, who are in the highest echelon of the executive department.

Each senator and assemblyman would have a toilet in his office. The General Services Department said this facility boosts construction costs by $3,000 an office.

Andrew Lolli, director of general services, has banned individual toilets for state executives. "Most of the directors said they didn't want them," Lolli said.

Since his administration came into office in January 1967, Gov. Ronald Reagan has insisted on economy in allocating office space for state employees. He canceled planned construction of one $10 million office building, saying space could be made available elsewhere.

Each of the 40 senators and 80 assemblymen would have his own conference room and space for two staff members and three secretaries.

And, there would be a 2,000-car garage underneath the Capitol.

The present Capitol would probably become a museum. The adjoining office annex would be turned over to other state agencies, with the governor likely remaining there.

The planning group, the Joint Committee on Legislative Space Needs, holds its meetings without giving notification in the daily legislative files. It meets in executive session, with newsmen barred.

Collier, the chairman, has refused to give interviews on the project or even consent to being photographed with the latest model of the building, although he has been asked four times.

In a brief conversation with an Associated Press reporter, he said he would comment after July 1 "when I've gotten all the facts and figures together."

Not all committee members insist on this secrecy. Assemblyman Joe A. Gonsalves, D-La

Mirada, arguing that the people should have all the facts, strongly defended the project.

He said the Legislature needs a big and sophisticated staff to study the nation's biggest state budget and detailed legislation dealing with taxes, resources and transportation. If staff members aren't available to provide advice, he said, lawmakers must consult lobbyists.

Technical staffs, he said, are now being forced out of present quarters because of lack of space. "If we are going to have something to base our decisions on, we have to have our own staffing," he said. "If not, we might as well take it from the lobbyists."

The Assembly, for example, has created a major Office of Research, with 25 or so staff members. The ways and means, education and revenue and taxation committees have all increased their staffs in recent years.

And, the Legislature has won nationwide praise from scholars for its staff and its research.

Gonsalves, an expert on legislative space, was chairman of the Assembly Rules Committee during a recent $1 million remodeling of Assembly quarters in the sprawling six-story Capitol annex.

He also noted that several state agencies are leasing offices in private buildings in Sacramento. It would be cheaper, he said, for them to move into the offices to be abandoned by the Legislature.

He said the building would be financed by a loan from the state employes retirement fund, and repair by rent payments made by state agencies using the abandoned legislative offices.

A highlight of the Colier committee investigation was the trips to other capitol cities.

In late 1968, Collier and Sen. James Wedworth, D-Hawthorne, flew to Brasilia, the new capital of Brazil, a city hewn out of the interior jungle. The state pays only mileage or transportation fare and a set per diem expense for such trips.

Collier's trip cost the state $1,467 and Wedworth's $1,413. Lima, Peru; Caracas, Venezuela and Buenos Aires, Argentina were on the list of stops.

In April 1968, Assemblyman Newton Russell, R-Tujunga, Sen. Tom Carrell, D-San Fernando; Gonsalves and Collier visited the Michigan capital, Lansing. They continued on to Albany, N.Y., where New York is planning a new Capitol.

In February 1968, the touring lawmakers swung through the south and southwest. Collier, Wedworth, Russell and Carrell went to Atlanta, Ga. and Raleigh, N.C.

In addition, Carrell and Collier visited Santa Fe, N.M., and Phoenix, Arix. Wedworth stopped at Phoenix.

Another trip took the travelers to Hawaii, for a look at that state's new Capitol. It began during the last week of December and ended New Year's Day.

Legislators on that trip were Gonsalves, Carrell, Collier and Wedworth.

Architect Hummel defended the trips.

"If we didn't do some preliminary studies, we could create a horrible monster," he said.

And Wedworth said that the lawmakers had learned the mistakes made by other states and nations in their new capitols and are determined not to repeat them here.

Gonsalves said he will insist on economy in the building, and will oppose such frills as recreational facilities. "I don't see how you can justify that in any public building," he said.

First Lady Sets Western Tour

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Richard M. Nixon flies to Oregon Monday to start a four-day visit to volunteer projects in three West Coast cities.

The White House said today the First Lady, making her first trip on her own, will tour "vest pockets of volunteerism" in Portland and Forest Grove, Ore., and Los Angeles.

She will be promoting one of the President's major projects, the effort to enlist million of Americans in volunteer projects to help cure the nation's social ills.

Scott Bonfiglio New Leader Of Catholic Students

Scott Bonfiglio will be president of the Marin Catholic High School student body for the 1969-70 school year, Joel Kiff, director of student personnel services, has announced.

Other officers named to the student body are Karen Luchessa, vice president; Carol Frate, secretary; Mark Rodriguez, treasurer and Dana Seestedt, rally commissioner.

Public Hearing

The Tamalpais Community Services District will hold a public hearing on its proposed master plan at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Tamalpais Valley School.

Brixon Calls Mayors To Quick Parley

Larkspur Mayor Neil R. Brixon has called for a special meeting of mayors of Marin's 11 cities and towns to determine their views on three subjects: animal control, structural fire tax and added sheriff's deputies for unincorporated areas.

The luncheon meeting is set for 12:15 p.m. Monday at the Edgewater Inn, Corte Madera.

Early action is necessary, Brixon stressed, because these matters are now being considered by the Marin County Board of Supervisors and cannot await the next meeting of the Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen on June 25.

The supervisors might implement the animal control program if cities would consider making up the necessary $31,000, which Brixon calls "doggie dollars," to fund the program.

Brixon said that the Sheriff's Patrol Division costs of $960,472 should be borne solely by the unincorporated area taxpayers.

The supervisors are considering a possible fire district for the unincorporated area in which the structural fire tax would be levied according to relative benefits.

Brixon has urged each mayor to at least poll his council as to its thoughts on the three subjects prior to the luncheon meeting.

The ocelot, a species of wildcat in tropical America, averages about three feet long.

Turn Fresh Peaches Into A Cheese Cake

Everything's coming up peaches.

For over 2,000 years, it was believed the peach came from Persia. The botanical name a derivative from the Latin meaning "Persian" led to peaches being originally called "Persian Apples." Authorities have agreed that China is the home of the peach which probably traveled from there to Persia along caravan routes. The Spaniards are credited with bringing peach seeds and trees for planting in America on the second, third or both voyages of Christopher Columbus.

But those that are well colored with a creamy hue and roughed cheeks. The peaches should be fairly firm. Ripen at room temperature.

PEACH CHEESE CAKE

To prepare crumb mixture:

1 cup graham cracker crumbs
¼ cup sugar
¼ cup softened butter or margarine

Blend together all ingredients; press firmly into an even layer over bottom of 9-inch springform pan.

To prepare filling:

3 envelopes unflavored gelatin
¾ cup water
2 pounds peaches (6 medium-sized)
1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
2 egg yolks
¾ cup sugar
1 pound cream cheese, softened
2 egg whites
½ teaspoon salt
¼ Cup sugar
1 cup heavy cream

Soften gelatin in water. Peel, pit and thoroughly crush or puree peaches (you should have 3 cups). Stir in lemon juice. Beat egg yolks slightly in top of double boiler; stir in ½ cup crushed peaches and ¾ cup sugar. Cook and stir over hot water until mixture thickens; mix in softened gelatin; remove from heat.

Combine cream cheese and remaining peaches; stir in gelatin mixture. Chill until mixture mounds. Beat egg whites and salt until foamy. Gradually beat in ¼ cup sugar until stiff peaks form. Whip cream stiff. Fold egg whites and cream into cheese mixture. Pour into prepared pan. Chill at least 4 hours, or until firm. Serve with Crushed Peach Sauce. Makes 12 servings.

Crushed Peach Sauce

6 medium-sized peaches (about 2 pounds)
⅓ cup sugar

Peel, pit and slightly crush peaches; stir in sugar. Makes about 2¼ cups.

PEACH PARFAIT

1 package (3⅝ ounces) vanilla pudding mix
1½ cup milk
½ cup sour cream
2 cups diced peeled fresh peaches

Combine pudding mix and milk in medium saucepan. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture reaches boiling point. Remove from heat; blend in sour cream. Cool thoroughly, stirring frequently. Arrange alternate layers of peaches and pudding in parfait glasses ending with pudding layer. Chill until serving time. Makes about 4 servings.

Vegetables Take On New Flavor In Special Ways

Looking for some different ways to serve green vegetables? Blue Lake Puff with green beans is an unusual idea, and abundant asparagus is given special treatment here with blue cheese, almonds and chopped celery or onions.

BLUE LAKE PUFF

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 tablespoons finley chopped onion
2 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon powdered marjoram
Dash pepper
¾ cup milk
2 eggs, separated
½ cup shredded American cheese

Drain beans, reserving ¼ cup liquid. Turn beans into 8-inch round baking dish. Melt butter in saucepan; add onion and saute lightly. Stir in flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, marjoram and pepper. Add milk and reserved bean liquid; cook and stir over medium heat until thickened. Pour over beans. Beat egg whites with remaining ¼ teaspoon salt until stiff but not dry. Beat yolks until thick and lemon-colored; stir in cheese. Gently fold cheese-yolk mixture into egg whites; spread over bean mixture. Bake at 375 degrees 15 to 20 minutes. Serve at once from baking dish.

Makes 4 servings.

ASPARAGUS ALMONDINE

1¼ to 1½ lb. fresh asparagus, cooked or 2 pkg. (10 oz. each) frozen asparagus spears, cooked
2 tablespoons melted butter or buttery flavor oil
¼ cup chopped almonds, toasted
2 tablespoons fine, dry bread crumbs
2 tablespoons finely chopped celery or green or yellow onion
2 teaspoons blue cheese dressing mix
½ cup mayonnasie
1 tablespoon lemon juice

While asparagus cooks, make topping by combining butter, almonds, crumbs and celery and 1 teaspoon dressing mix. Blend mayonnaise, lemon juice and remaining 1 teaspoon dressing mix in saucepan, heat just until warm. Add hot asparagus to mayonnaise mixture and turn over to coat. Turn into serving dish; sprinkle with crumb topping.

Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Vegetable Dip Favors The Calorie Counters

Dips are everywhere. Today a party isn't a party without them.

Why not join the dip set by finding the dip of your choice—a dip that's pretty to look at, easy to make, appropriate for all seasons and occasions, and not too fattening.

The answer to this quest is vegetable dip. It will appeal to all dip setters. By using fresh raw vegetables as dippers, you automatically cut down on calories from the usual dippers.

You will also appreciate the harmony of seasonings in combining blue cheese and sour cream with this rich brown seasoning and broth. This combo should entitle you to a priority rating among the best of the dip set.

A VEGETABLE DIP

1 pint sour cream
½ cup catsup
¼ lb. blue cheese, crumbled
6 packets rich brown seasoning and broth

Mix all ingredients together in a bowl. Blend well and serve with bite-size fresh vegetables: carrot sticks, tomato wedges, cauliflowerettes, cucumber slices, green pepper cubes, and ripe olives.

Tasty Italian Way With Ham

Often homemakers want to serve something different and a bit on the gourmet side, but busy schedules keep a creative cook in check.

If this is your problem, serve Baked Italian-Style Ham and become an "instant gourmet." Start with a handy canned ham, ready to serve or to heat-and-eat, and in a variety of sizes and shapes — the not-so-secret ingredient to many a famous meal. The ham is heated, spread with a flavorful tomato sauce, sprinkled with Parmesan cheese and topped with Mozzarella cheese wedges and French fried onion rings and return to the oven to soften the cheese. You'll be surprised at the dividend of flavor an investment of a few minutes can make.

Arrange the hame on a large platter and garnish with additional French fried onions and romaine hearts or escarole, if desired. Serve with hot buttered noodles, buttered artichoke hearts, Italian green beans, crispy bread sticks, a leafy salad with Italian dressing and Chianti wine or coffee, as desired. It's quite a feast.

Italian-Style Ham is great served hot or cold, so bake enough for a second meal. Just tuck the leftovers in the refrigerator and it's ready to be eaten as is or to be given a quick reheating for a second meal.

ITALIAN-STYLE HAM

1 canned (6 to 8 pound) ham
1 can (6 ounce) tomato paste
¾ cup water
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
1 teaspoon basil
½ teaspoon oregano
teaspoon garlic salt
⅓ cup shredded Parmesan cheese
1 package (6-ounce) sliced Mozzarella cheese
1 can (3 ounce) French fried onions (optional)

Place ham on rack in shallow uncovered pan. Bake for length of time and at temperature recommended on canned ham label. Combine tomato paste, water, onion, basil, oregano and garlic salt; mix. Simmer slowly to blend flavors, about 15 minutes.

Return to oven to soften cheese and heat onions. (If desired 1½ cups thick spaghetti sauce from a can or a mix may be substituted for the tomato sauce and spices.) Heat remaining French fried onions in separate pan with ham. Yield: About 12 servings.

Tasty Italian Way With Ham

Often homemakers want to serve something different and a bit on the gourmet side, but busy schedules keep a creative cook in check.

If this is your problem, serve Baked Italian-Style Ham and become an "instant gourmet." Start with a handy canned ham, ready to serve or to heat-and-eat, and in a variety of sizes and shapes — the not-so-secret ingredient to many a famous meal. The ham is heated, spread with a flavorful tomato sauce, sprinkled with Parmesan cheese and topped with Mozzarella cheese wedges and French fried onion rings and return to the oven to soften the cheese. You'll be surprised at the dividend of flavor an investment of a few minutes can make.

Arrange the hame on a large platter and garnish with additional French fried onions and romaine hearts or escarole, if desired. Serve with hot buttered noodles, buttered artichoke hearts, Italian green beans, crispy bread sticks, a leafy salad with Italian dressing and Chianti wine or coffee, as desired. It's quite a feast.

Italian-Style Ham is great served hot or cold, so bake enough for a second meal. Just tuck the leftovers in the refrigerator and it's ready to be eaten as is or to be given a quick reheating for a second meal.

ITALIAN-STYLE HAM

1 canned (6 to 8 pound) ham
1 can (6 ounce) tomato paste
¾ cup water
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
1 teaspoon basil
½ teaspoon oregano
teaspoon garlic salt
⅓ cup shredded Parmesan cheese
1 package (6-ounce) sliced Mozzarella cheese
1 can (3 ounce) French fried onions (optional)

Place ham on rack in shallow uncovered pan. Bake for length of time and at temperature recommended on canned ham label. Combine tomato paste, water, onion, basil, oregano and garlic salt; mix. Simmer slowly to blend flavors, about 15 minutes.

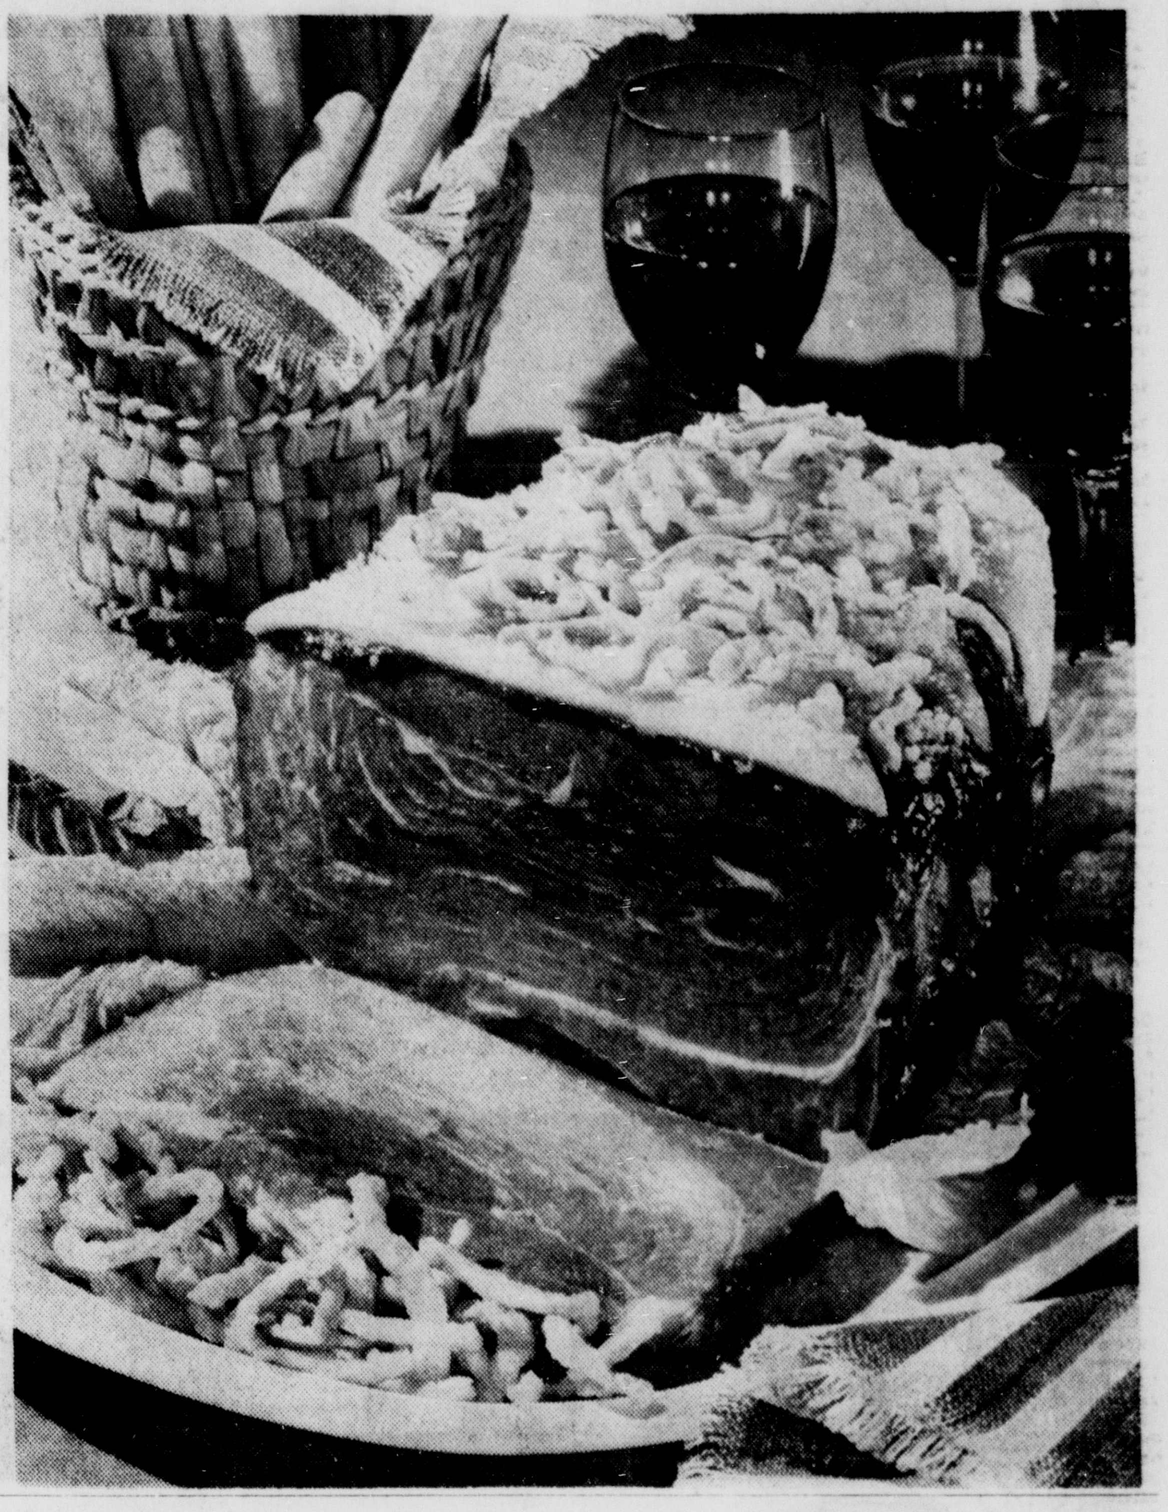
Return to oven to soften cheese and heat onions. (If desired 1½ cups thick spaghetti sauce from a can or a mix may be substituted for the tomato sauce and spices.) Heat remaining French fried onions in separate pan with ham. Yield: About 12 servings.



Turn Fresh Peaches Into A Cheese Cake

For over 2,000 years, it was believed the peach came from Persia. The botanical name a derivative from the Latin meaning "Persian" led to peaches being originally called "Persian Apples." Authorities have agreed that China is the home of the peach which probably traveled from there to Persia along caravan routes. The Spaniards are credited with bringing peach seeds and trees for planting in America on the second, third or both voyages of Christopher Columbus.

But those that are well colored with a creamy hue and roughed cheeks. The peaches should be fairly firm. Ripen at room temperature.

PEACH CHEESE CAKE

To prepare crumb mixture:
1 cup graham cracker crumbs
¼ cup sugar
¼ cup softened butter or margarine

Blend together all ingredients; press firmly into an even layer over bottom of 9-inch springform pan.

To prepare filling:
3 envelopes unflavored gelatin
¾ cup water
2 pounds peaches (6 medium-sized)
1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
2 egg yolks
¾ cup sugar
1 pound cream cheese, softened
2 egg whites
½ teaspoon salt
¼ Cup sugar
1 cup heavy cream

Soften gelatin in water. Peel, pit and thoroughly crush or puree peaches (you should have 3 cups). Stir in lemon juice. Beat egg yolks slightly in top of double boiler; stir in ½ cup crushed peaches and ¾ cup sugar. Cook and stir over hot water until mixture thickens; mix in softened gelatin; remove from heat.

Combine cream cheese and remaining peaches; stir in gelatin mixture. Chill until mixture mounds. Beat egg whites and salt until foamy. Gradually beat in ¼ cup sugar until stiff peaks form. Whip cream stiff. Fold egg whites and cream into cheese mixture. Pour into prepared pan. Chill at least 4 hours, or until firm. Serve with Crushed Peach Sauce. Makes 12 servings.

Crushed Peach Sauce

6 medium-sized peaches (about 2 pounds)
⅓ cup sugar

Peel, pit and slightly crush peaches; stir in sugar. Makes about 2¼ cups.

PEACH PARFAIT

1 package (3⅝ ounces) vanilla pudding mix
1½ cup milk
½ cup sour cream
2 cups diced peeled fresh peaches

Combine pudding mix and milk in medium saucepan. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture reaches boiling point. Remove from heat; blend in sour cream. Cool thoroughly, stirring frequently. Arrange alternate layers of peaches and pudding in parfait glasses ending with pudding layer. Chill until serving time. Makes about 4 servings.

Vegetable Dip Favors The Calorie Counters

Why not join the dip set by finding the dip of your choice—a dip that's pretty to look at, easy to make, appropriate for all seasons and occasions, and not too fattening.

The answer to this quest is vegetable dip. It will appeal to all dip setters. By using fresh raw vegetables as dippers, you automatically cut down on calories from the usual dippers.

You will also appreciate the harmony of seasonings in combining blue cheese and sour cream with this rich brown seasoning and broth. This combo should entitle you to a priority rating among the best of the dip set.

A VEGETABLE DIP

1 pint sour cream
½ cup catsup
¼ lb. blue cheese, crumbled
6 packets rich brown seasoning and broth

Mix all ingredients together in a bowl. Blend well and serve with bite-size fresh vegetables: carrot sticks, tomato wedges, cauliflowerettes, cucumber slices, green pepper cubes, and ripe olives.

Vegetables Take On New Flavor In Special Ways

Looking for some different ways to serve green vegetables? Blue Lake Puff with green beans is an unusual idea, and abundant asparagus is given special treatment here with blue cheese, almonds and chopped celery or onions.

BLUE LAKE PUFF

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 tablespoons finley chopped onion
2 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon powdered marjoram
Dash pepper
¾ cup milk
2 eggs, separated
½ cup shredded American cheese

Drain beans, reserving ¼ cup liquid. Turn beans into 8-inch round baking dish. Melt butter in saucepan; add onion and saute lightly. Stir in flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, marjoram and pepper. Add milk and reserved bean liquid; cook and stir over medium heat until thickened. Pour over beans. Beat egg whites with remaining ¼ teaspoon salt until stiff but not dry. Beat yolks until thick and lemon-colored; stir in cheese. Gently fold cheese-yolk mixture into egg whites; spread over bean mixture. Bake at 375 degrees 15 to 20 minutes. Serve at once from baking dish.

Makes 4 servings.

1¼ to 1½ lb. fresh asparagus, cooked or 2 pkg. (10 oz. each) frozen asparagus spears, cooked
2 tablespoons melted butter or buttery flavor oil
¼ cup chopped almonds, toasted
2 tablespoons fine, dry bread crumbs
2 tablespoons finely chopped celery or green or yellow onion
2 teaspoons blue cheese dressing mix
½ cup mayonnasie
1 tablespoon lemon juice

While asparagus cooks, make topping by combining butter, almonds, crumbs and celery and 1 teaspoon dressing mix. Blend mayonnaise, lemon juice and remaining 1 teaspoon dressing mix in saucepan, heat just until warm. Add hot asparagus to mayonnaise mixture and turn over to coat. Turn into serving dish; sprinkle with crumb topping.

Makes 4 to 6 servings.

LOOKING ABOUT LONDON . . . Variety is the word when it comes to London's youth scene. Fashionably dressed "dollies" coexist with scruffy student rebels as all make the scene on Portebello Road. (1) Latest in underground fashions; (2) young street musicians—"buskers"—entertain Saturday morning shoppers; (3) teen-agers contemplate stallholders' wares; (4) Simon Stable, proprietor of the underground's latest gathering spot.

Neat Beat Takes Over London

By GLENN GOODEY

LONDON (AP) — Bizarre music with words about love and peace filled the tiny room.

Flashing red and green lights barely cut through the thick haze of cigarette smoke. Black curtains shut out the spring sunshine, and black-painted walls accentuated the gloom.

In between records he talked about the "underground," the post-hippie generation and young people in general.

"Last year's hippies, Britain's happy band of flower people, got fed up with just sitting around and being happy," he explained. "They dropped the bells and the beads. Some took jobs to see them through the winter. Others even cut their hair. I leave mine long to keep my neck warm," he added.

Simon's record shop is at the unfashionable end of London's famous Portobello Road, which has become the center of the city's post-hippie generation.

TWO MILES to the south, the Kings Road, mecca of fashion-conscious youth, winds through expensive Chelsea. Taking over this year from Carnaby Street, original home of the thigh-high miniskirt, the Kings Road has become the Savile Row of the London dollies and their barely distinguishable boy friends.

A short walk away lies London's entertainment center, the West End. There clubs like the Revolution, and the Speak-Easy have become favorite haunts of the city's young who have more money to spend than ever before and are determined to spend it as quickly as possible.

A quarter million youths 15 to 24 years old live in London and its suburbs. During the past year a wind of change has blown through their ranks.

Last year the image of the "different" youth was largely that of the free-thinking, free-loving hippies with bells, beads and long hair and a pocketful of drugs.

TODAY THERE is no longer any one cult. The majority are probably the most fashion-conscious youngsters in the world, ruled by no set trends, just a common desire for individuality.

Many take drugs, but unlike last year's hippies, they are clean and more readily accepted by the older generation.

The so-called "underground" movement's aim is to seek a new permissive climate for experiments in literature, art, films, theater, music and living.

They number under 1,000 and have taken the remnants of the hippie set into their ranks. Their outpost is the Bayswater Road area and the Portobello Road.

THEY LIVE in one-room apartments in near-derelict houses. During the day they earn a few pounds from laboring jobs, just enough to pay the rent and buy their own particular kind of food.

"Macrobiotic food," as they describe it, is mainly brown rice. "The idea is to imagine it's chicken or lobster," explained Simon Stable. "Mind over matter and all that."

At night underground life centers in the many clubs that have sprung up in the area. These feature unknown pop groups and serve soft drinks. Most popular is the Middle Earth Club in Lancaster Road, where for four shillings (48 cents) one can spend all night listening, dancing or talking about what's wrong with the world.

"We want to improve life," said Simon. "But we do it by persuading people that peace is better than war and money isn't everything."

His own shop, which barely provides him a living, sells records of the underground groups whose names — Caravan, Family, The Nervous System — are as weird as the music they play.

His life is a far cry from those led by the Kings Road and Carnaby Street sets. Their main desire is to earn enough to dress well and hopefully have some left over for the clubs, pubs, discotheques, cinemas and theaters they frequent.

It is the half-mile stretch of the Kings Road from Sloane Square to the top of Flood Street that really interests the youngsters. The shops (the word boutique is no longer used) vary from the way out "Quorum" and "Granny Takes A Trip," to the more elegant "Top Gear," "Countdown" and "Fifth Avenue."

"The youngsters have money to burn," commented Anthony Wookey, 29, manager of Mates, whose turnover exceeds 100,000 pounds ($240,000) a year and is rapidly rising. "Most of those over 20 earn about 20 pounds ($48) a week and spend it all during the weekend."

WOOKEY PROVIDED a quick rundown on the latest fashion trends:

"See-through shirts are in, and the hairier the chest a man has the better. Trousers are very tight round the hips and flared down below.

"Black velvet is the coming material for jackets, trousers and suits.

"Hair is shorter, tidier with long sideburns."

"THE MINISKIRTS have been eclipsed by trousers, with long cossack-styled tunic blouses which can invariably be worn on their own as dresses.

"A girl no longer bases her entire wardrobe on the mini. This summer and autumn will be a cover-up but not a wrap-up. Clothes will be loose and light, with matching colors and very gay."

They both agreed male and female fashion was coming together. "Soon you won't be able to tell the man from the woman," said Tony.

The most unfashionable group of young people in the city are probably the students —some look scruffier than the "underground" set.

There are just over 200,000 students in the London area attending technical, art and commercial colleges. Another 30,000 attend universities and the London School of Economics (LSE). It is from this latter group that nearly all student protest in the city, including the anti-Vietnam demonstrations last year, riots, occupations and sit-ins this year, originated.

Pales Stay

White and pastels promise to be just as strong as fall and winter colors as they have been for spring and summer. Pale pinks, blues and yellows show for both day and evening in New York wholesale collections. Coming on strong: all shades of purple. By contrast, some of the colors are sharp reds, yellows, limes, and American beauty rose.

THE SUBURBAN SCENE

Old St. Hilary's Church Is Again Wedding Site

By MOLLY MARIN

Old St. Hilary's Church, now the museum of the Belvedere-Tiburon Landmarks Society, will once again be the scene of a wedding. Elaine Lyons, daughter of Dr. Harold Lyons of Ross and Mrs. Ione Lyons of Winton, selected the little white edifice as the setting for her exchange of vows with William Halnan of San Francisco on July 4.

The first church on the Tiburon Peninsula, St. Hilary's was dedicated Oct. 21, 1888. The Roman Catholic Church was a mission church attached to the Star of the Sea Church in Sausalito until 1951. In that year St. Hilary's Parish was formed. The present St. Hilary's Church was built in 1954, and since then Old St. Hilary's has not been used for religious services. The structure, a noted example of carpenter's Gothic architecture, was acquired by the Belvedere-Tiburon Landmarks Society in 1959. The society was formed expressly to preserve the former church.

Thanks to the sentiment of bride-elect, Elaine Lyons, it will once again be used for the marriage sacrament. "I always have wanted to be married there," Elaine said.

Local wildflowers growing in the surrounding acreage, also a Landmarks Society conservation project, will be used to decorate the church for its first wedding in 15 years. Mrs. George Ellman, the society's botanical expert, has volunteered to arrange the flowers.

The future bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Halnan of Oakland. He was graduated from the University of California with a Bachelor of Science degree in engineering and is employed by Airco Temescal Co. in Berkeley.

Elaine attended Sir Francis Drake and Redwood High schools, and is a graduate of Willamette University in Salem, Ore., where she was affiliated with Delta Gamma sorority.

THE ACRES of flowers in Portugal, Spain and France, were a memorable experience for the Robert Towles of Mill Valley, who have just returned from a month tour through those countries.

Mrs. Towle says the extraordinary display of flowers, including field after field of red poppies in Spain, was due to the unusually heavy rains last winter.

Also a highlight of their trip was the gourmet food in France.

SENORA JOAN Millzner de Palmero of Mexico City came to Marin last week, where she stayed with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Raymund Millzner of Belvedere. Her quick visit was especially timed so that she could attend the wedding of Suzi Mitchell of Belvedere and Sheldon Miller of El Cerrito last Saturday at the Swedenborgian Church in San Francisco.

THE LEONARD Blakelys have returned to Sausalito from their fourth trip to Mexico. After leaving on May 22 they flew to Mazatlan, Puerto Vallarta, Guadalajara and Mexico City. They especially enjoyed Mazatlan.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Old Man's Darling A Slave, Wishes For 'Younger' Life

DEAR HELEN:

I am one of those so-called "old man's darlings." I married my husband when I was 18 and he was over 40. My family was poor. He was a prominent executive, had a beautiful home, and I was divinely happy — for a while.

He showed me off to all his friends and called me his baby. He wanted children right away and when they didn't come, he rushed me to every specialist. They said nothing was wrong with me. He wouldn't be examined.

Then he started changing. He said I was making a fool of him and people were laughing. When a clerk referred to him as my father, he sulked for days.

I can't wear slacks — they're unfeminine. I can't act my own age and I don't know how to act his. I can't have young friends.

One night after a terrible argument he said he'd only married me because his friends made insinuations at his being still single. Now they're sneering, he says, because "he isn't man enough to have a child."

Helen, when I visit my old home and see my former friends and their children, I get sick. Youth needs youth. After 10 years, I despise my husband, but he won't let me go. Says he'd never hear the end of it as his friends would say he couldn't hold a young woman. Where do I go from here? — HEARTSICK

DEAR HEARTSICK:

Go to your doctor who will hopefully persuade your husband that he needs psychiatric counselling. Not age, but attitude, is ruining your marriage. When a man is consumed with fear, he can't function as a husband.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

A year ago I, a widow, married a healthy, handsome retired widower 15 years my senior. I was offered the world with a fence around it; all I have is the fence. The house is his, the furnishings his, the car his, and I am his! He gives me no money, not even gifts.

He wants me to quit my most enjoyable executive position so I can be home with him all day. This without even a television set, which he calls the idiot box; and without friends, whom he belittles.

How can a man change so radically? He, who took me out every week before we were married, was an interesting, lively conversationalist and seemingly enjoyed travel and people, has proved what he really is: A sour, sex-mad, stingy, old recluse.

I shall leave him, without asking support or concessions. But what I want to know is: Why can't people see beneath the surface during a courtship? Is this why there are so many divorces? — UNPAID HOUSEKEEPER

DEAR U.H.:

During a courtship people see only what pleases them because, 1. They are both trying hard to please, and 2, They want so desperately to be pleased that they ignore faults even when others see them plainly. Too bad there isn't some sort of foolproof machine which can take an engaged couple's components, scramble them, and predict what their future together will be like.

But then, who'd believe the machine, unless it registered "Compatible"?—H.

DEAR HELEN:

"Not a Nursemaid" says she hardly knows her husband who has lost his leg in Vietnam. I can understand her fear, but not her greed in wanting part of his pension even when she divorces him.

We had been married just one day when my husband went overseas. He returned a double amputee. I too was scared, and so was he, but we found we loved each other just as much. We now have four fine children, he has a good position, and we are ever so happy. Incidentally, our hobby is skiing What matter if he lost a hand and a leg? I won a wonderful husband!—SATISFIED FULLY

Jeweler Offers Bride Tips On Table Harmony

Stunning as her silver mealtime accessories may be, the bride knows that before her table setting can be a masterpiece, the china and crystal that is so much a sparkling, eye-catching part of the whole must be chosen with coordinating care. A well-appointed table requires silver and china and crystal patterns that harmonize into a beautiful working unit. To achieve this end, a wise bride will head directly for her jeweler for tips on table harmony.

Here are a few of the pointers he will give her: china comes in two basic design categories: traditional and contemporary. Between these two categories, even the most modern bride will find a pattern to her taste. (A thoughtful reminder from the Jewelry Industry Council: fad designs can become a bore in a short time. It is best to avoid them in fine china, which is a lifetime investment.)

Quality china can be easily determined by a few simple tests. The bride's jeweler will demonstrate these willingly for her:

1) She should be able to see light through it.

2) Balancing a plate on three fingers and tapping it with a pencil should produce a clear, bell-like ring.

3) The glass should feel smooth to the touch.

4) The cup should fit snugly and securely in the saucer.

As in silver, four place settings of china are considered the minimum necessary to set a table. A place setting of china includes a dinner plate, salad plate, bread and butter plate, teacup and saucer.

Naturally, the bride wants to enjoy her china for many years to come. She will, if she carefully follows these few simple rules:

1) Wash china as soon as possible after use.

2) Wash each piece individually in warm water with mild soap. Do not use steel wool or soap pads .

3) Rinse china thoroughly and drain.

4) Store on a felt pad. Hang cups on hooks or place individually on shelves.

Sure to focus attention on her table is the sunny sparkle of the bride's crystal. That's why, when she comes to choose it, her jeweler will suggest a design noted for its timelessness, to keep her table always in style. Crystal, like china, has a standard of quality that can be easily discovered:

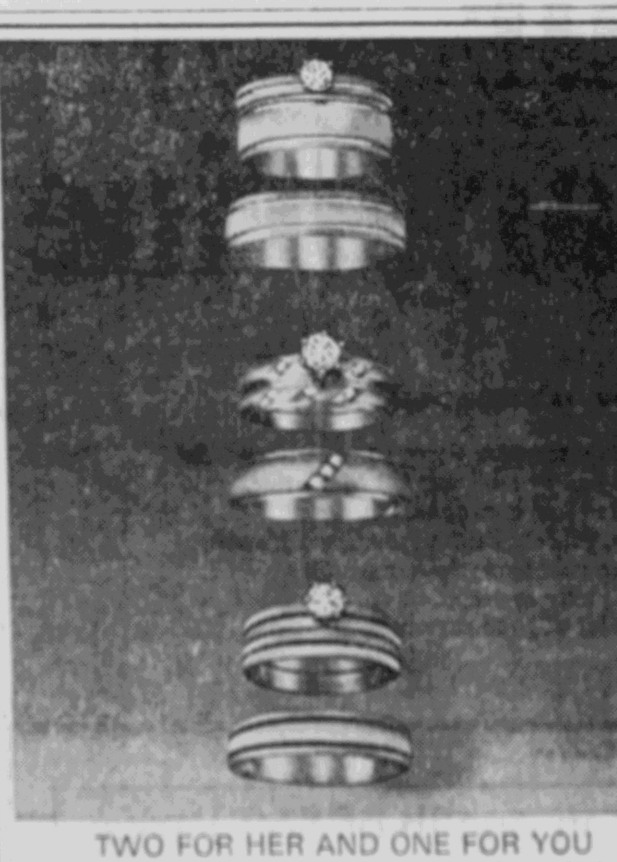
1) The bowls and stems of glasses should have uniform shape and balance.

2) Held to the light, the glassware should not reveal waves or bubbles.

3) Tapped gently with a fingernail, it should give off a clear, bell-like ring.

The bride will purchase her crystal by the place setting also: a water goblet, sherbet, wine glass and salad plate. Of course, the number of the china and crystal place settings that a young bride aims for must be the same.

After she has had the happy experience of finding the crystal and china patterns that have a definite place in her future home, the bride will want to register these patterns with her jeweler's bridal registry. Just like silver, crystal and china will be given to the bridal couple as wedding gifts. By registering her needs and wants, the bride signals her relatives and friends as to what would be the most useful and treasured of gifts they could bestow.



TWO FOR HER AND ONE FOR YOU

ART BOOM

Get Out Of Rut, Into Collecting

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—Get out of the rut. Get into collecting art.

Martha Jackson, entrepreneur of a well-known art gallery, offers the advice. And not, she insists, just because she sells art.

"Modern life is so compartmentalized," Miss Jackson explained. "Collecting takes you out of the mold you're in, and lifts you into another world of a whole new group of people. Everyone should be interested in art. It keeps you from being bored."

MISS JACKSON'S comments came during an interview as we talked on the "whys" of the art boom, in which almost everyone is showing off an original or originals by somebody or other.

Besides bringing you in contact with a new group in your town, there are other dividends. Add the pure enjoyment of a good painting or sculpture. And there's the investment factor.

"People have confidence in art," said Miss Jackson, whose gallery bears her name. "If they need to sell, it is negotiable.

"WE CAN GAUGE a lot of our business by what the stock market is doing. When the market is unstable, seesawing up and down, we sell beautifully. On a rising market, sales drop off. The money goes into stocks."

Miss Jackson, who's had her gallery since 1953 and introduced many an artist now famous, said that a lot of people are in the art market today for the same reason they're in the stock market— affluence.

"You can only spend so much on travel, buy only so many antiques," she said. "There just aren't enough places to spend it all, so people turn to art."

SOME COLLECT art because it's the "in" thing, she said. Some people purchase art simply to complete a decorating scheme. But others get bitten by the collecting bug and then art takes over. She knows one collector who long since has run out of room to hang works and they go under the bed, anywhere she can store them. She'll never forget the apartment she visited to find a Gaugin hanging in the bathroom.

Miss Jackson, a divorcee, was born in Buffalo, N.Y. She started her own collecting during World War II when her husband was stationed at Fort Meade. She began to tour museums and take courses at Johns Hopkins University. Her first purchase was a Marc Chagall wash which cost her $500. It's many times over that in value today.

SHE COMMENDS a similar training route for the uninitiated—read the art magazines, tour the galleries and museums, go back to school, for almost every college these days offers some courses in art.

Then go to a good gallery. If in doubt, she said, the gallery is easily checked through the Art Dealers Association of America, your local museum director, or the American Federation of Arts.

Karen Smoot Is A Bride

The wedding of Karen Lee Smoot and Robert A. Barreras was held Saturday afternoon at St. Bernard's Church in Los Angeles. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Smoot of Corte Madera.

She was attended by Beth Clegg of Fullerton as maid of honor, and Dan Kriete of Thousand Oaks served as best man. Gilbert Escobedo was an usher.

Karen is a graduate of Redwood High School and attended the University of California at San Diego and Glendale College. She is employed in Glendale. The D. W. Smoots of Richmond are her grandparents, and Cathy Smoot is Karen's sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Barreras of Los Angeles are parents of the bridegroom. Robert is a graduate of Eagle Rock High School in Los Angeles and he attended Glendale College. He is serving with the Army at Ft. Harrison in Indianapolis.

Bel Marin Keys Women's Club Elects Mrs. Evans

MRS. WALLACE EVANS

A former resident of Toledo, Ohio, Mrs. Wallace M. Evans has been elected president of the Bel Marin Keys Women's Club in Novato.

She served as treasurer during her first year as a member of the club.

A Marin resident nearly three years, the new president is also a member of the Bel Marin Keys Yacht Club, Girls Scouts, Parent-Teacher Association and Sausalito Cruising Club.

She received a bachelor of arts degree in home economics from De Pauw University in Indiana.

Her husband is employed with the control and systems division of Motorola Corp. and they have two children. David is 11 years old and Julia is 9.

Sewing, cooking, sailing and sightseeing are among the interests of Nancy Evans. She was active in American Association of University Women, the Newcomers Group and the Pi Beta Phi Alumnae before moving to Bel Marin Keys.

The club members meet the second Thursday of every month and the activity groups include bridge, bowling and crafts.

Mrs. Evans will be installed at a luncheon meeting at Nero's restaurant in Ignacio on Thursday. A social hour at 11:30 a.m. will be followed by luncheon at noon.

Other officers to be installed are Mmes. Charles Chapin, first vice president; Carl Wandt, second vice president; Fred Niederberger, recording secretary; Joan Chase, corresponding secretary; Edgar Cruz, treasurer; Hans Randrup, hospitality; Glenn Jamieson, membership, Arthur Oppedal, historian; and Louis Kapler, parlimentarian.

LOOKING ABOUT LONDON . . . Variety is the word when it comes to London's youth scene. Fashionably dressed "dollies" coexist with scruffy student rebels as all make the scene on Portebello Road. (1) Latest in underground fashions; (2) young street musicians—"buskers"—entertain Saturday morning shoppers; (3) teen-agers contemplate stallholders' wares; (4) Simon Stable, proprietor of the underground's latest gathering spot.

Neat Beat Takes Over London

By GLENN GOODEY

LONDON (AP) — Bizarre music with words about love and peace filled the tiny room.

Flashing red and green lights barely cut through the thick haze of cigarette smoke. Black curtains shut out the spring sunshine, and black-painted walls accentuated the gloom.

In between records he talked about the "underground," the post-hippie generation and young people in general.

"Last year's hippies, Britain's happy band of flower people, got fed up with just sitting around and being happy," he explained. "They dropped the bells and the beads. Some took jobs to see them through the winter. Others even cut their hair. I leave mine long to keep my neck warm," he added.

Simon's record shop is at the unfashionable end of London's famous Portobello Road, which has become the center of the city's post-hippie generation.

TWO MILES to the south, the Kings Road, mecca of fashion-conscious youth, winds through expensive Chelsea. Taking over this year from Carnaby Street, original home of the thigh-high miniskirt, the Kings Road has become the Savile Row of the London dollies and their barely distinguishable boy friends.

A short walk away lies London's entertainment center, the West End. There clubs like the Revolution, and the Speak-Easy have become favorite haunts of the city's young who have more money to spend than ever before and are determined to spend it as quickly as possible.

A quarter million youths 15 to 24 years old live in London and its suburbs. During the past year a wind of change has blown through their ranks.

Last year the image of the "different" youth was largely that of the free-thinking, free-loving hippies with bells, beads and long hair and a pocketful of drugs.

TODAY THERE is no longer any one cult. The majority are probably the most fashion-conscious youngsters in the world, ruled by no set trends, just a common desire for individuality.

Many take drugs, but unlike last year's hippies, they are clean and more readily accepted by the older generation.

The so-called "underground" movement's aim is to seek a new permissive climate for experiments in literature, art, films, theater, music and living.

They number under 1,000 and have taken the remnants of the hippie set into their ranks. Their outpost is the Bayswater Road area and the Portobello Road.

THEY LIVE in one-room apartments in near-derelict houses. During the day they earn a few pounds from laboring jobs, just enough to pay the rent and buy their own particular kind of food.

"Macrobiotic food," as they describe it, is mainly brown rice. "The idea is to imagine it's chicken or lobster," explained Simon Stable. "Mind over matter and all that."

At night underground life centers in the many clubs that have sprung up in the area. These feature unknown pop groups and serve soft drinks. Most popular is the Middle Earth Club in Lancaster Road, where for four shillings (48 cents) one can spend all night listening, dancing or talking about what's wrong with the world.

"We want to improve life," said Simon. "But we do it by persuading people that peace is better than war and money isn't everything."

His own shop, which barely provides him a living, sells records of the underground groups whose names — Caravan, Family, The Nervous System — are as weird as the music they play.

His life is a far cry from those led by the Kings Road and Carnaby Street sets. Their main desire is to earn enough to dress well and hopefully have some left over for the clubs, pubs, discotheques, cinemas and theaters they frequent.

It is the half-mile stretch of the Kings Road from Sloane Square to the top of Flood Street that really interests the youngsters. The shops (the word boutique is no longer used) vary from the way out "Quorum" and "Granny Takes A Trip," to the more elegant "Top Gear," "Countdown" and "Fifth Avenue."

"The youngsters have money to burn," commented Anthony Wookey, 29, manager of Mates, whose turnover exceeds 100,000 pounds ($240,000) a year and is rapidly rising. "Most of those over 20 earn about 20 pounds ($48) a week and spend it all during the weekend."

WOOKEY PROVIDED a quick rundown on the latest fashion trends:

"See-through shirts are in, and the hairier the chest a man has the better. Trousers are very tight round the hips and flared down below.

"Black velvet is the coming material for jackets, trousers and suits.

"Hair is shorter, tidier with long sideburns."

Downstairs his manager, Valerie Atkinson, 23, explained the female fashion scene:

"THE MINISKIRTS have been eclipsed by trousers, with long cossack-styled tunic blouses which can invariably be worn on their own as dresses.

"A girl no longer bases her entire wardrobe on the mini. This summer and autumn will be a cover-up but not a wrap-up. Clothes will be loose and light, with matching colors and very gay."

They both agreed male and female fashion was coming together. "Soon you won't be able to tell the man from the woman," said Tony.

The most unfashionable group of young people in the city are probably the students—some look scruffier than the "underground" set.

There are just over 200,000 students in the London area attending technical, art and commercial colleges. Another 30,000 attend universities and the London School of Economics (LSE). It is from this latter group that nearly all student protest in the city, including the anti-Vietnam demonstrations last year, riots, occupations and sit-ins this year, originated.

Pales Stay

White and pastels promise to be just as strong as fall and winter colors as they have been for spring and summer. Pale pinks, blues and yellows show for both day and evening in New York wholesale collections. Coming on strong: all shades of purple. By contrast, some of the colors are sharp reds, yellows, limes, and American beauty rose.

THE SUBURBAN SCENE

By MOLLY MARIN

Old St. Hilary's Church, now the museum of the Belvedere-Tiburon Landmarks Society, will once again be the scene of a wedding. Elaine Lyons, daughter of Dr. Harold Lyons of Ross and Mrs. Ione Lyons of Winton, selected the little white edifice as the setting for her exchange of vows with William Halnan of San Francisco on July 4.

The first church on the Tiburon Peninsula, St. Hilary's was dedicated Oct. 21, 1888. The Roman Catholic Church was a mission church attached to the Star of the Sea Church in Sausalito until 1951. In that year St. Hilary's Parish was formed. The present St. Hilary's Church was built in 1954, and since then Old St. Hilary's has not been used for religious services. The structure, a noted example of carpenter's Gothic architecture, was acquired by the Belvedere-Tiburon Landmarks Society in 1959. The society was formed expressly to preserve the former church.

Thanks to the sentiment of bride-elect, Elaine Lyons, it will once again be used for the marriage sacrament. "I always have wanted to be married there," Elaine said.

Local wildflowers growing in the surrounding acreage, also a Landmarks Society conservation project, will be used to decorate the church for its first wedding in 15 years. Mrs. George Ellman, the society's botanical expert, has volunteered to arrange the flowers.

The future bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Halnan of Oakland. He was graduated from the University of California with a Bachelor of Science degree in engineering and is employed by Airco Temescal Co. in Berkeley.

Elaine attended Sir Francis Drake and Redwood High schools, and is a graduate of Willamette University in Salem, Ore., where she was affiliated with Delta Gamma sorority.

The reception will be given at the home of family friends, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Watkin in Kent Woodlands.

THE ACRES of flowers in Portugal, Spain and France, were a memorable experience for the Robert Towles of Mill Valley, who have just returned from a month tour through those countries.

Mrs. Towle says the extraordinary display of flowers, including field after field of red poppies in Spain, was due to the unusually heavy rains last winter.

Also a highlight of their trip was the gourmet food in France.

SENORA JOAN Millzner de Palmero of Mexico City came to Marin last week, where she stayed with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Raymund Millzner of Belvedere. Her quick visit was especially timed so that she could attend the wedding of Suzi Mitchell of Belvedere and Sheldon Miller of El Cerrito last Saturday at the Swedenborgian Church in San Francisco.

THE LEONARD Blakelys have returned to Sausalito from their fourth trip to Mexico. After leaving on May 22 they flew to Mazatlan, Puerto Vallarta, Guadalajara and Mexico City. They especially enjoyed Mazatlan.

ON THE AGENDA

Golf Tournament To Benefit Area Cerebral Palsy Center

The first Shoong Foundation Invitational Golf Tournament for the benefit of the Cerebral Palsy Center for the Bay Area has been set for Friday. The event will be included in two nights and a day of activity.

The golf tournament, with area golfers participating, will be at the California Golf Club in San Francisco and will be preceded by a reception at the Cerebral Palsy Center on Lincoln Avenue in Oakland on Thursday evening. The reception is planned for players, their wives and guests and committee members. A Chinese gourmet banquet will be held at the Four Seas Restaurant in San Francisco's Chinatown the evening of the tournament.

Social activities are under the leadership of Mrs. William Webb of Oakland and Mrs. William MacDonald of Lafayette. Assistants include Mmes. Walter Shew of San Francisco and William Peterson of San Rafael.

The Cerebral Palsy Center is the only one of its kind in the Bay Area, providing a full range of therapy and workshop activities for youngsters and adults afflicted with cerebral palsy.

The Shoong Foundation, the philanthropic arm of the National Dollar Store chain, is headed by Milton Shoong, president.

CATHERINE CORDIERO

VICTORIA SCHWARTZ

SCHOLARSHIPS totaling $600 have been awarded to two Marin County 1969 high school graduates by the Marin Charter Chapter of American Business Women's Association.

Catherine M. Cordeiro, student at Sir Francis Drake High School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Cordeiro of Fairfax. Ranking fifth in a graduating class of 445, she is interested in the field of teaching and physical therapy and plans to attend the College of Marin.

Victoria D. Schwartz, graduating from Tamalpais High School, also plans to enter the College of Marin this fall. She is the daughter of Mrs. Rosemary D. Schwartz of Mill Valley. Vicky will study data processing and computerized accounting.

Both students have been active in school and community affairs and were selected on the basis of scholastic rating, interest in a worthwhile career and need of financial assistance.

Mrs. Vlado Kolitsch, educational chairman, was assisted by Mmes. Walter J. Tait and Jack McNerney in presenting the qualifications of various applicants to the members for their vote.

Since its chartering in 1965, Marin Charter Chapter has appropriated funds amounting to $2,000 in scholarships to students. Past recipients include Pamela Doherty, Linda Swipes, Maureen Oster, Paula Jacobson and Beverly Sowash.

MILL VALLEY American Legion Auxiliary Unit 284 will have a joint installation of officers with American Legion Post 284 Friday at 8:30 p.m. at Hammond Hall of the Mill Valley Episcopal Church of Our Saviour.

The auxiliary is in the process of choosing a new president. The late Mrs. David Wilson was to have been installed president.

Other officers to be installed Friday are Mmes. Ted Greubel, first vice president; William Cavanagh, corresponding secretary; Ralph Slonecker, treasurer; Bernice Camp, chaplain; William Lassner, sergeant at arms; Harry Fitzgibbon, second vice president; Norman G. Boyd, recording secretary, and Miss Kathleen Fitzgibbon, marshal.

PRE-KINDERGARTEN classes of the Belvedere Nursery School, Inc., are being scheduled for the morning hours this fall, with five-, three- and two-day-a-week sessions offered.

Children who will be five years old before March 1, 1970, will be admitted to the classes. All pre-kindergarten sessions will be held at the Hawthorne Nursery School in Tiburon, one of the member schools of the Belvedere Nursery School corporation.

The announcement was made by Mrs. B. G. Falk, president of the non-profit community organization which also operates Belvedere and Tiburon Nursery schools. "With the opening of the Hawthorne facility last year, it is now possible to have all the programs in the morning, the prime learning time for young children," Mrs. Falk said.

Mrs. Marilyn Knight is principal of the Hawthorne pre-kindergarten school; Mrs. Mary Anne Evans and Mrs. Nancy Curley, teachers. Two- and three-day-a-week nursery school level sessions will continue at the Belvedere Nursery School and the Tiburon Nursery School at Westminster Presbyterian Church. With all sessions in the morning, Mrs. Beverly Bastian, executive director of the associated schools, principals and teachers, will be available in the afternoons for parent conferences and will schedule group discussions on child development.

CHRISTINE GROTH

Chris Groth Will Marry In August

Mr. and Mrs. Wilmot Groth of Ross announce the engagement of their daughter Christine Marie Groth of San Rafael to Dr. Warren G. Kleinmaier of Larkspur.

Christine is the sister of Mary-Anne Orsi of San Rafael and the granddaughter of Mrs. Florence Lynch of San Francisco and Mrs. Florence Groth of Santa Clara. She is a graduate of Notre Dame des Victoires in San Francisco and San Francisco City College of Nursing. The future bride is a nurse at Marin General Hospital.

The future bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George G. Kleinmaier of San Francisco. He received a medical degree from Ohio State University, training in pediatrics and child neuropsychiatry at Emma Pendleton Bradley Home in Providence, R. I., and a degree in psychiatry at the Presbyterian Medical Center in Palo Alto. Warren trained in family therapy at the Mental Research Institute in Palo Alto and is practicing psychiatry and family therapy in Marin.

The couple plan an Aug. 31 wedding.

President of Novato Parents Nursery School for the 1969-70 year is Mrs. David B. Mathis.

The parents group was organized last year, and she served as membership chairman with the ultimate purpose of the organization to provide a developmental nursery program that enables mothers to participate and observe.

They plan an expanded membership from one to two sessions this year and mothers with children 3 to 5 years old who are available to participate in a cooperative program are eligible to join.

Novato Parents Nursery School is now in its second year of operation and is housed in the educational annex to the United Methodist Church.

Parents assist the director in the nursery school, serving at the school one morning every week. The school is a non-profit, non-sectarian, interracial corporation and is affiliated with the California Council of Parent Participation Nursery Schools. Registrations are now being accepted for the Monday, Wednesday and Friday fall sessions to be held from 9 to 11:30 a.m. Parents may obtain additional information by calling Mrs. Jay Stryker in Novato.

Toni Mathis attended Lake Forest College in Illinois and received a degree and general elementary teaching credential at San Francisco State College.

She and her husband, a sales manager with an insurance company, have two sons, Michael David, 4, and Kent August, 2 years old.

The Mathises have lived in Marin County for seven years, moving to Novato from Kentfield.

Toni taught this spring in the educationally handicapped program in Novato and also as a substitute teacher.

She most enjoys children, "my own or teaching school," bridge and commercial art. She is also a member of the Novato Newcomers Club and Jolly Roger Chapter of Children's Home Society.

Officers serving with Mrs. Mathis are Mmes. Duane Bengs, vice president; Thomas O'Brien, secretary; Ray Owens, treasurer, and Stryker, membership.

MRS. DAVID MATHIS

Kathy Ann Samilson Wed In Garden Of Parents' Home

In a garden ceremony Sunday afternoon at the home of her parents in Tiburon Kathy Ann Samilson became the bride of Gary Edward Reiman of Tempe, Ariz.

Kathy's sisters, Linda, Leslie and Terry Samilson, were her attendants. They are the daughters of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Samilson.

Kathy is a graduate of Redwood High School and is a student at Arizona State University at Tempe. Her husband was graduated from North High School in Phoenix and Arizona State University and is employed at Camelback High School in Phoenix.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Reiman of Phoenix.

Julie Cramer Is Bride Of Brian Grove In Guam

Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church, not in Mill Valley, the home parish of the bride, but in Agat, Guam, was the setting for the 7 p.m. wedding on May 29 of Julie Anne Cramer and Brian Henry Grove.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith L. Cramer of Mill Valley, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Mirian Grove of San Anselmo and Clark Grove of San Francisco.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Kenneth Christianson, and best man was Richard Plog, both of Guam. Following the wedding a reception was held at the Mocambo, enlisted men's club on Guam.

Both of the young people were graduated from Marin Catholic High School. The bride attended the College of Marin and was employed with the Southern Pacific Co. in San Francisco. She is the sister of Mrs. Robert R. Zeigler Jr., Rosemary, Ellen, Joseph and Matthew Cramer and the granddaughter of Mrs. Andrew J. White, all of Mill Valley.

Brian was graduated from the College of Marin and is with the U. S. Navy finance office on Guam, where the couple will be for two years.

He is the brother of Mrs. Richard Matthews of Novato, Mrs. John Kent of San Francisco and Bruce, Diane, Clark and Deborah Grove, all of San Anselmo. His grandparents are Mrs. Harry Elmerich of San Anselmo and Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Roix of Santa Rosa.

take home the springtime flavor of TODAY'S NEW LAMB
Like flying kites . . . like robins on the lawn and jonquils in the garden . . . tender young lamb is a part of the Spring scene. Enjoy the great variety of cuts now in your food store. Have a different one every week. For starters, fix a great American leg of lamb a marvelous new way. Have guests—or have delicious leftovers. Take your choice. Anyway, here's the recipe.
SPRINGTIME LEG OF LAMB AMERICANA
(makes 8 servings)
1 leg of lamb
1 cup onion bouillon
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon oregano leaves
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/2 pound medium size mushrooms
1 tablespoon chopped chives
2 cans (1 pound each) whole baby carrots, drained with 3/4 cup liquid reserved
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
Place lamb on rack in shallow roasting pan. Roast in 325° (slow) oven 2 hours; drain off fat. Combine bouillon, salt, pepper, oregano and lemon juice in saucepan; bring to boil. Add mushrooms; cover and cook 15 minutes or until tender. Combine mushroom liquid with chives; pour over lamb. Roast 30 minutes longer or until meat thermometer registers 175° for medium doneness, basting occasionally. Blend carrot liquid with flour; add lamb drippings. Cook until gravy boils 1 minute, stirring constantly. Heat carrots and mushrooms in butter and serve on the side. Lamb may be garnished with pear halves filled with grated cheddar cheese and halves of English walnuts.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Old Man's Darling A Slave, Wishes For 'Younger' Life

DEAR HELEN:

I am one of those so-called "old man's darlings." I married my husband when I was 18 and he was over 40. My family was poor. He was a prominent executive, had a beautiful home, and I was divinely happy — for a while.

He showed me off to all his friends and called me his baby. He wanted children right away and when they didn't come, he rushed me to every specialist. They said nothing was wrong with me. He wouldn't be examined.

Then he started changing. He said I was making a fool of him and people were laughing. When a clerk referred to him as my father, he sulked for days.

I can't wear slacks — they're unfeminine. I can't act my own age and I don't know how to act his. I can't have young friends.

One night after a terrible argument he said he'd only married me because his friends made insinuations at his being still single. Now they're sneering, he says, because "he isn't man enough to have a child."

Helen, when I visit my old home and see my former friends and their children, I get sick. Youth needs youth. After 10 years, I despise my husband, but he won't let me go. Says he'd never hear the end of it as his friends would say he couldn't hold a young woman. Where do I go from here? — HEARTSICK

DEAR HEARTSICK:

Go to your doctor who will hopefully persuade your husband that he needs psychiatric counselling. Not age, but attitude, is ruining your marriage. When a man is consumed with fear, he can't function as a husband.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

A year ago I, a widow, married a healthy, handsome retired widower 15 years my senior. I was offered the world with a fence around it; all I have is the fence. The house is his, the furnishings his, the car his, and I am his! He gives me no money, not even gifts.

He wants me to quit my most enjoyable executive position so I can be home with him all day. This without even a television set, which he calls the idiot box; and without friends, whom he belittles.

How can a man change so radically? He, who took me out every week before we were married, was an interesting, lively conversationalist and seemingly enjoyed travel and people, has proved what he really is: A sour, sex-mad, stingy, old recluse.

I shall leave him, without asking support or concessions. But what I want to know is: Why can't people see beneath the surface during a courtship? Is this why there are so many divorces? — UNPAID HOUSEKEEPER

DEAR U.H.:

During a courtship people see only what pleases them because, 1. They are both trying hard to please, and 2, They want so desperately to be pleased that they ignore faults even when others see them plainly. Too bad there isn't some sort of foolproof machine which can take an engaged couple's components, scramble them, and predict what their future together will be like.

But then, who'd believe the machine, unless it registered "Compatible"?—H.

DEAR HELEN:

"Not a Nursemaid" says she hardly knows her husband who has lost his leg in Vietnam. I can understand her fear, but not her greed in wanting part of his pension even when she divorces him.

We had been married just one day when my husband went overseas. He returned a double amputee. I too was scared, and so was he, but we found we loved each other just as much. We now have four fine children, he has a good position, and we are ever so happy. Incidentally, our hobby is skiing What matter if he lost a hand and a leg? I won a wonderful husband!—SATISFIED FULLY

Stunning as her silver mealtime accessories may be, the bride knows that before her table setting can be a masterpiece, the china and crystal that is so much a sparkling, eye-catching part of the whole must be chosen with coordinating care. A well-appointed table requires silver and china and crystal patterns that harmonize into a beautiful working unit. To achieve this end, a wise bride will head directly for her jeweler for tips on table harmony.

Here are a few of the pointers he will give her: china comes in two basic design categories: traditional and contemporary. Between these two categories, even the most modern bride will find a pattern to her taste. (A thoughtful reminder from the Jewelry Industry Council: fad designs can become a bore in a short time. It is best to avoid them in fine china, which is a lifetime investment.)

Quality china can be easily determined by a few simple tests. The bride's jeweler will demonstrate these willingly for her:

1) She should be able to see light through it.

2) Balancing a plate on three fingers and tapping it with a pencil should produce a clear, bell-like ring.

3) The glass should feel smooth to the touch.

4) The cup should fit snugly and securely in the saucer.

As in silver, four place settings of china are considered the minimum necessary to set a table. A place setting of china includes a dinner plate, salad plate, bread and butter plate, teacup and saucer.

Naturally, the bride wants to enjoy her china for many years to come. She will, if she carefully follows these few simple rules:

1) Wash china as soon as possible after use.

2) Wash each piece individually in warm water with mild soap. Do not use steel wool or soap pads .

3) Rinse china thoroughly and drain.

4) Store on a felt pad. Hang cups on hooks or place individually on shelves.

Sure to focus attention on her table is the sunny sparkle of the bride's crystal. That's why, when she comes to choose it, her jeweler will suggest a design noted for its timelessness, to keep her table always in style. Crystal, like china, has a standard of quality that can be easily discovered:

1) The bowls and stems of glasses should have uniform shape and balance.

2) Held to the light, the glassware should not reveal waves or bubbles.

3) Tapped gently with a fingernail, it should give off a clear, bell-like ring.

The bride will purchase her crystal by the place setting also: a water goblet, sherbet, wine glass and salad plate. Of course, the number of the china and crystal place settings that a young bride aims for must be the same.

After she has had the happy experience of finding the crystal and china patterns that have a definite place in her future home, the bride will want to register these patterns with her jeweler's bridal registry. Just like silver, crystal and china will be given to the bridal couple as wedding gifts. By registering her needs and wants, the bride signals her relatives and friends as to what would be the most useful and treasured of gifts they could bestow.

ART BOOM

Get Out Of Rut, Into Collecting

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—Get out of the rut. Get into collecting art.

Martha Jackson, entrepreneur of a well-known art gallery, offers the advice. And not, she insists, just because she sells art.

"Modern life is so compartmentalized," Miss Jackson explained. "Collecting takes you out of the mold you're in, and lifts you into another world of a whole new group of people. Everyone should be interested in art. It keeps you from being bored."

MISS JACKSON'S comments came during an interview as we talked on the "whys" of the art boom, in which almost everyone is showing off an original or originals by somebody or other.

Besides bringing you in contact with a new group in your town, there are other dividends. Add the pure enjoyment of a good painting or sculpture. And there's the investment factor.

"People have confidence in art," said Miss Jackson, whose gallery bears her name. "If they need to sell, it is negotiable.

"WE CAN GAUGE a lot of our business by what the stock market is doing. When the market is unstable, seesawing up and down, we sell beautifully. On a rising market, sales drop off. The money goes into stocks."

Miss Jackson, who's had her gallery since 1953 and introduced many an artist now famous, said that a lot of people are in the art market today for the same reason they're in the stock market— affluence.

"You can only spend so much on travel, buy only so many antiques," she said. "There just aren't enough places to spend it all, so people turn to art."

SOME COLLECT art because it's the "in" thing, she said. Some people purchase art simply to complete a decorating scheme. But others get bitten by the collecting bug and then art takes over. She knows one collector who long since has run out of room to hang works and they go under the bed, anywhere she can store them. She'll never forget the apartment she visited to find a Gaugin hanging in the bathroom.

Miss Jackson, a divorcee, was born in Buffalo, N.Y. She started her own collecting during World War II when her husband was stationed at Fort Meade. She began to tour museums and take courses at Johns Hopkins University. Her first purchase was a Marc Chagall wash which cost her $500. It's many times over that in value today.

SHE COMMENDS a similar training route for the uninitiated—read the art magazines, tour the galleries and museums, go back to school, for almost every college these days offers some courses in art.

Then go to a good gallery. If in doubt, she said, the gallery is easily checked through the Art Dealers Association of America, your local museum director, or the American Federation of Arts.

Rules Change, Couples Permitted Public Kisses

By VIC ALDISS
London Express

LONDON — Courting couples are having a better deal in many parts of the world today. In Britain, there was a time when they had to seek the seclusion of some lover's lane or the back seats of a cinema. Now they can smooch away almost anywhere in public — in the street, in trains and buses.

In Italy it used to be a "crime" to be caught kissing in the street. Until this January, couples convicted of giving even polite pecks in public could be fined or even jailed.

But now the judges are turning a blind eye. The offense has "entered the zone of official indifference."

In the past 10 years, hundreds of modern Romeos and their Juliets have been convicted of public kissing. The problem was so serious an Italian magazine printed "helpful hints to young people on how they may kiss in public and get away with it."

The reason for this puritanical attitude was an ancient belief that one kiss morally meant an engagement. And a recent poll showed that 48 out of every hundred Italian girls had never been kissed up to the age of 16.

But now, perhaps after studying the subject in England, where public kissing is commonplace, Italy's judges are becoming more tolerant.

In Milan, a couple arrested for kissing each other good night at a railway station were acquitted. In Turin, a judge threw out a case with the comment: "The facts do not constitute a crime." And a Bologna magistrate acquitted two teen-agers of kissing in a car, saying: "They were only doing what comes naturally."

But it's still unwise to get too romantic in a few parts of the world. In Limerick, Ireland, a pretty teen-ager who kissed her boy friend was convicted recently under an act that states it is "an offense to offend against modesty and cause scandal, or injure the morals of the public on a public street."

It appeared that residents had been complaining about the activities of courting couples at night. The girl was fined $4.80 in what was said to be the first case of its kind in the republic.

Even in England, there are times when kissing is frowned on by law—for instance, while driving.

At Croydon, Surrey, a 20-year-old truck driver kissed his fiancee at the traffic lights. He kissed her again as he pulled away and was still kissing her when a police driver caught up with his lorry at 40 m.p.h.

In court, it was said the truck swerved to the curb, and at one intersection the defendant had his arm around the girl, so that the vehicle hit a traffic island.

This carry-on cost him $36 for careless driving and not being in a position to control his truck properly.

Another young motorist, Bill —, got in trouble with the law when his fiancee stole a kiss. The crew of a police car saw the car hit the curb and Bill was booked for careless driving and fined $24.

Kisses can cause other sorts of trouble. At an exclusive golf club in York, two young student sweethearts drove off from the first tee, then stopped for a kiss. They were spotted by scandalized senior members, who decided the kiss had broken their rules of "etiquette."

As a result, the loving pair, and 19 other university student golfers, lost their cheap-rate concession to play at the club.

Much more costly were a Liverpool lad's lunch - hour kisses. They were so long-drawn-out he arrived back late for his shift and was laid off.

His mates threatened to strike unless he was reinstated —and it's estimated the kissing argument cost $24,000 in lost production.

Kisses have often rated high prices, however. At a charity ball during the first World War, the Duke of St. Alban's bid $28,000 for a kiss—then let his 9-year-old son receive it from a famous actress.

At a similar function, Lord Lonsdale, the sporting peer, lashed out $3,600 for one smacker.

She was amused then, but amazed a few years later, when told he had left her $62,000 in his will in appreciation of the kiss.

Party kisses can cause trouble, sometimes. A South London woman was furious when her husband returned home from a New Year's Eve party with lipstick on his collar. Next day she moved to another bedroom. The husband then lost his temper and tipped her mattress up.

Later, the couple landed in the divorce court, where the north country judge commented: "I cannot think that any natural, normal wife would object to her husband being kissed by other women, or he kissing other women, or object to other men kissing her on New Year's Eve."

"Where I come from the first-footer opens the door to let the New Year in and then he has the right to kiss every lady in the room."

In Britain today, it's not only young lovers who kiss in public. Showbiz stars and soccer players are particularly uninhibited. And in the House of Commons when he was foreign secretary, George Brown blew a kiss to Labor veteran Emanuel Shinwell — and politicians of all parties roared approval.

Although few MPs realize it, he was reviving an old tradition. Back in the 17th Century, diarist Samuel Pepys was reporting that a member of parliament, "having made a successful speech, was kissed by Mr. Montague."

Greek poets used to call kissing "the key to paradise." But other nations and ages have branded the kiss as vulgar, indecent and a social sin.

In parts of China, kissing was held to be suggestive of cannibalism, and in Indo-China mothers used to frighten their children into obedience by threatening them with the "white man's kiss."

How did the kissing habit start? There are quite a few intriguing theories. Some experts say it developed because primitive man believed that the air he exhaled had magic power.

It was said to be an emanation of his true self. So, by kissing each other, men and women mingled their souls.

Other authorities claim the kiss is the last stage of a long evolution. Primitive Indians used to show friendship by standing face to face and smelling each other. They'd say "Smell me!" instead of "Give me a kiss!"

In other regions, tribes rubbed noses, just as Eskimos and Maoris do today. Rubbing noses naturally led to rubbing lips, and so the delightful habit was started.

In yet another explanation, the kiss is traced back to our earliest ancestors and animal forebears. In the days when food was raw and uncooked, the mother would warm and chew it up in her mouth, before transferring it by way of a "kiss" to her infant. Our present-day kiss is said to have stemmed from a subconscious memory of this pleasant association.

It's been said Britain led many other nations in bringing kissing to the popular art it is today, just as she taught the world cricket and soccer.

In the Middle Ages, Britain was famous — or infamous — for its kissing. Continentals who came over were amazed. But they took up the national pastime with gusto, and added their own refinements.

Now it seems history is repeating itself. Other countries are catching on to Britain's brand of permissiveness. The kissing custom is so popular it's surprising no civil servant hasn't thought of a way to tax it.

ON THE AGENDA

Golf Tournament To Benefit Area Cerebral Palsy Center

The first Shoong Foundation Invitational Golf Tournament for the benefit of the Cerebral Palsy Center for the Bay Area has been set for Friday. The event will be included in two nights and a day of activity.

The golf tournament, with area golfers participating, will be at the California Golf Club in San Francisco and will be preceded by a reception at the Cerebral Palsy Center on Lincoln Avenue in Oakland on Thursday evening. The reception is planned for players, their wives and guests and committee members. A Chinese gourmet banquet will be held at the Four Seas Restaurant in San Francisco's Chinatown the evening of the tournament.

Social activities are under the leadership of Mrs. William Webb of Oakland and Mrs. William MacDonald of Lafayette. Assistants include Mmes. Walter Shew of San Francisco and William Peterson of San Rafael.

The Cerebral Palsy Center is the only one of its kind in the Bay Area, providing a full range of therapy and workshop activities for youngsters and adults afflicted with cerebral palsy.

The Shoong Foundation, the philanthropic arm of the National Dollar Store chain, is headed by Milton Shoong, president.

CATHERINE CORDIERO

VICTORIA SCHWARTZ

SCHOLARSHIPS totaling $600 have been awarded to two Marin County 1969 high school graduates by the Marin Charter Chapter of American Business Women's Association.

Catherine M. Cordeiro, student at Sir Francis Drake High School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Cordeiro of Fairfax. Ranking fifth in a graduating class of 445, she is interested in the field of teaching and physical therapy and plans to attend the College of Marin.

Victoria D. Schwartz, graduating from Tamalpais High School, also plans to enter the College of Marin this fall. She is the daughter of Mrs. Rosemary D. Schwartz of Mill Valley. Vicky will study data processing and computerized accounting.

Both students have been active in school and community affairs and were selected on the basis of scholastic rating, interest in a worthwhile career and need of financial assistance.

Mrs. Vlado Kolitsch, educational chairman, was assisted by Mmes. Walter J. Tait and Jack McNerney in presenting the qualifications of various applicants to the members for their vote.

Since its chartering in 1965, Marin Charter Chapter has appropriated funds amounting to $2,000 in scholarships to students. Past recipients include Pamela Doherty, Linda Swipes, Maureen Oster, Paula Jacobson and Beverly Sowash.

MILL VALLEY American Legion Auxiliary Unit 284 will have a joint installation of officers with American Legion Post 284 Friday at 8:30 p.m. at Hammond Hall of the Mill Valley Episcopal Church of Our Saviour.

The auxiliary is in the process of choosing a new president. The late Mrs. David Wilson was to have been installed president.

Other officers to be installed Friday are Mmes. Ted Greubel, first vice president; William Cavanagh, corresponding secretary; Ralph Slonecker, treasurer; Bernice Camp, chaplain; William Lassner, sergeant at arms; Harry Fitzgibbon, second vice president; Norman G. Boyd, recording secretary, and Miss Kathleen Fitzgibbon, marshal.

PRE - KINDERGARTEN classes of the Belvedere Nursery School, Inc., are being scheduled for the morning hours this fall, with five-, three- and two-day-a-week sessions offered.

Children who will be five years old before March 1, 1970, will be admitted to the classes. All pre-kindergarten sessions will be held at the Hawthorne Nursery School in Tiburon, one of the member schools of the Belvedere Nursery School corporation.

The announcement was made by Mrs. B. G. Falk, president of the non-profit community organization which also operates Belvedere and Tiburon Nursery schools. "With the opening of the Hawthorne facility last year, it is now possible to have all the programs in the morning, the prime learning time for young children," Mrs. Falk said.

Mrs. Marilyn Knight is principal of the Hawthorne pre-kindergarten school; Mrs. Mary Anne Evans and Mrs. Nancy Curley, teachers. Two- and three-day-a-week nursery school level sessions will continue at the Belvedere Nursery School and the Tiburon Nursery School at Westminster Presbyterian Church. With all sessions in the morning, Mrs. Beverly Bastian, executive director of the associated schools, principals and teachers, will be available in the afternoons for parent conferences and will schedule group discussions on child development.

CHRISTINE GROTH

Chris Groth Will Marry In August

Mr. and Mrs. Wilmot Groth of Ross announce the engagement of their daughter Christine Marie Groth of San Rafael to Dr. Warren G. Kleinmaier of Larkspur.

Christine is the sister of Mary-Anne Orsi of San Rafael and the granddaughter of Mrs. Florence Lynch of San Francisco and Mrs. Florence Groth of Santa Clara. She is a graduate of Notre Dame des Victoires in San Francisco and San Francisco City College of Nursing. The future bride is a nurse at Marin General Hospital.

The future bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George G. Kleinmaier of San Francisco. He received a medical degree from Ohio State University, training in pediatrics and child neuropsychiatry at Emma Pendleton Bradley Home in Providence, R. I., and a degree in psychiatry at the Presbyterian Medical Center in Palo Alto. Warren trained in family therapy at the Mental Research Institute in Palo Alto and is practicing psychiatry and family therapy in Marin.

The couple plan an Aug. 31 wedding.

President of Novato Parents Nursery School for the 1969-70 year is Mrs. David B. Mathis.

The parents group was organized last year, and she served as membership chairman with the ultimate purpose of the organization to provide a developmental nursery program that enables mothers to participate and observe.

They plan an expanded membership from one to two sessions this year and mothers with children 3 to 5 years old who are available to participate in a cooperative program are eligible to join.

Novato Parents Nursery School is now in its second year of operation and is housed in the educational annex to the United Methodist Church.

Parents assist the director in the nursery school, serving at the school one morning every week. The school is a non-profit, non-sectarian, interracial corporation and is affiliated with the California Council of Parent Participation Nursery Schools. Registrations are now being accepted for the Monday, Wednesday and Friday fall sessions to be held from 9 to 11:30 a.m. Parents may obtain additional information by calling Mrs. Jay Stryker in Novato.

Toni Mathis attended Lake Forest College in Illinois and received a degree and general elementary teaching credential at San Francisco State College.

She and her husband, a sales manager with an insurance company, have two sons, Michael David, 4, and Kent August, 2 years old.

The Mathises have lived in Marin County for seven years, moving to Novato from Kentfield.

Toni taught this spring in the educationally handicapped program in Novato and also as a substitute teacher.

She most enjoys children, "my own or teaching school," bridge and commercial art. She is also a member of the Novato Newcomers Club and Jolly Roger Chapter of Children's Home Society.

Officers serving with Mrs. Mathis are Mmes. Duane Bengs, vice president; Thomas O'Brien, secretary; Ray Owens, treasurer, and Stryker, membership.

MRS. DAVID MATHIS

Kathy Ann Samilson Wed In Garden Of Parents' Home

In a garden ceremony Sunday afternoon at the home of her parents in Tiburon Kathy Ann Samilson became the bride of Gary Edward Reiman of Tempe, Ariz.

Kathy is a graduate of Redwood High School and is a student at Arizona State University at Tempe. Her husband was graduated from North High School in Phoenix and Arizona State University and is employed at Camelback High School in Phoenix.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Reiman of Phoenix.

Julie Cramer Is Bride Of Brian Grove In Guam

Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church, not in Mill Valley, the home parish of the bride, but in Agat, Guam, was the setting for the 7 p.m. wedding on May 29 of Julie Anne Cramer and Brian Henry Grove.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith L. Cramer of Mill Valley, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Mirian Grove of San Anselmo and Clark Grove of San Francisco.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Kenneth Christianson, and best man was Richard Plog, both of Guam. Following the wedding a reception was held at the Mocambo, enlisted men's club on Guam.

Both of the young people were graduated from Marin Catholic High School. The bride attended the College of Marin and was employed with the Southern Pacific Co. in San Francisco. She is the sister of Mrs. Robert R. Zeigler Jr., Rosemary, Ellen, Joseph and Matthew Cramer and the granddaughter of Mrs. Andrew J. White, all of Mill Valley.

Brian was graduated from the College of Marin and is with the U. S. Navy finance office on Guam, where the couple will be for two years.

He is the brother of Mrs. Richard Matthews of Novato, Mrs. John Kent of San Francisco and Bruce, Diane, Clark and Deborah Grove, all of San Anselmo. His grandparents are Mrs. Harry Elmerich of San Anselmo and Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Roix of Santa Rosa.

TODAY'S NEW LAMB
Like flying kites . . . like robins on the lawn and jonquils in the garden . . . tender young lamb is a part of the Spring scene. Enjoy the great variety of cuts now in your food store. Have a different one every week. For starters, fix a great American leg of lamb a marvelous new way. Have guests—or have delicious leftovers. Take your choice. Anyway, here's the recipe.
SPRINGTIME LEG OF LAMB AMERICANA
(makes 8 servings)
1 leg of lamb
1 cup onion bouillon
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon oregano leaves
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/2 pound medium size mushrooms
1 tablespoon chopped chives
2 cans (1 pound each) whole baby carrots, drained with 3/4 cup liquid reserved
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
Place lamb on rack in shallow roasting pan. Roast in 325° (slow) oven 2 hours; drain off fat. Combine bouillon, salt, pepper, oregano and lemon juice in saucepan; bring to boil. Add mushrooms; cover and cook 15 minutes or until tender. Combine mushroom liquid with chives; pour over lamb. Roast 30 minutes longer or until meat thermometer registers 175° for medium doneness, basting occasionally. Blend carrot liquid with flour; add lamb drippings. Cook until gravy boils 1 minute, stirring constantly. Heat carrots and mushrooms in butter and serve on the side. Lamb may be garnished with pear halves filled with grated cheddar cheese and halves of English walnuts.

OPERA REVIEW

Menotti's 'Consul' Gripping Experience

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

SAN FRANCISCO — Thanks to several excellent singing actors and staging by the composer himself, Gian-Carlo Menotti, last night's Spring Opera production of "The Consul" at the Opera House was a gripping emotional experience.

The prediction at the time of its premiere in 1950 that the story of an underground hero's and his family's tragic efforts to escape persectuion might soon be too dated has failed to materialize, for it is still as current as today's newspaper.

For this reason the drama alone has impact enought to hold one's rapt attention, regardless of whether or not one likes the music.

For me the music is great because Menotti himself wrote the libretto and created music that expresses every nuance of the action and emotion. Furthermore, it contains some beautiful music, such as the trio of the hero, his wife and her mother at the end of the first scene, the bitter lullaby the grandmother sings to her dying grandson and the dream-like waltz that accompanies the magician's hypnotic manipulations at the consulate.

Everything from the directing by Charles Wilson, assistant conductor of the Boston Symphony, through Robert Darling's bleak, monchromatic sets of the dingy apartment and coldly antiseptic consulate to the powerful singing and acting of the major characters contributed to the sense of tension and frustration involved in trying to obtain visas and escape the horrors of a police state.

Taking top honors as a singing actress was soprano Jeannine Crader in the leading role of Magda Sorel, wife of the underground fighter John Sorel. Her tragic satirical aria on the frustrations of red tape in Act 2, Scene 2 was a tour de force. However, though she had a clear, powerful voice, she could not always be understood.

Because of her tremendously moving lullaby scene, contralto Christine Krooskos as Magda's mother stole Scene 1 of Act 2. A third singing actress of exceptional talent and clear diction was mezzo Joy Davidson as the coldly efficient consulate secretary who proved human at the end.

With his black iron bass Joshua Hecht was perfect as the sadistic secret police agent and baritone Seymour Schwartzman sang well and was convincing as the underground hero.

The only bit of humor in the highly charged musical drama, the role of the magician Nika Magadoff, was handled with comic flair and finesse by tenor Raymond Manton.

Except for soprano Jacklyn Schneider, whose voice sounded too youthful, the others applying for visas who served as a small chorus were well cast and sang well. They were bass-baritone Richard J. Clark, soprano Claudia Lindsey, contralto Donna Petersen and baritone Sean Barker.

The opera will be performed again Friday at 8 p.m.

SOLOIST FOR CONCERT — Violinist Deborah Donaldson will perform Samuel Barber's "Concerto for Violin and Orchestra" with the College of Marin Community Orchestra Saturday at 8:30 p.m. in the Fine Arts Theater on the campus. Miss Donaldson is concertmeister of the orchestra and a music major at the college.

Photographers Exhibiting At Library Gallery

Photographs from "Portfolio II" by Pirkle Jones and "Photographs from Haight-Ashbury — 1967" by Ruth-Marion Baruch are now on exhibit in the Mill Valley Library gallery from 2 to 4 p.m. daily through June 27.

At other hours, visitors can request the key at the library desk. The show is sponsored by the Mill Valley Art Commission.

"Portfolio II," printed by Lawton Kennedy with a foreword by Ansel Adams, is a limited edition of prints suitable for framing. Copies are owned by the Oakland Museum, the Amon Carter Museum in Texas and Dominican College Library and the Mills College Library.

'Diary Of Anne Frank' Is Set

The Little Hills Theater of Petaluma will present "The Diary of Anne Frank" at 8:30 p.m. June 20, 21, 27 and 28 at the Petaluma Senior High School multiuse room.

Directing the amateur production is Diane Strohmeyer of Petaluma. Starring as Anne is Wendy Dragoo with Troy Wicker playing her father.

Opera Auditions Are Being Held

Auditions for lead and chorus parts in the Inverness Music Festival's production of Mascagni's "Cavalleria Rusticana" are being held at the Festival Theater in San Anselmo.

Those interested in participating may attend the rehearsal Monday from 8 to 10 p.m. at the theater.

The music festival will be produced on the grounds of St. Columba's Church, Aug. 15-17.

Film Crew Sought

Cast and technicians are now being sought for the Mill Valley Center for the Performing Arts' first venture into film making, "Sabbath in Gehenna" to be produced by Marvin Norinsky of Berkeley. Actors, technicians, apprentice crews, organizers, promoters and other interested persons may contact Maxine White in Mill Valley for further information.

Harmony Vocals Concert Slated At Dominican

"Baseball Daze," a barbershop harmony show will be presented by the Marin County Golden Gate Chorus at 8 p.m. Saturday at Dominican College, San Rafael.

Marin quartets participating will be the Bay Rums, Golden Gaters and Big Time Operators, according to Robert W. Johnson, program vice president.

Guest quartets are the Villains of Berkeley and the Plus Four of Monterey.

The event is to benefit several Little League teams in Marin County as well as the Logopedics. Tickets may be purchased at the door or through members, Johnson said.

Homestead Players Set Play Auditions

Tryouts for the Homestead Players' production of "Dark of the Moon" based on the ballad of Barbara Allen, will be held at 8 p.m. Friday at Brown's Hall, 390 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley.

The play, scheduled to open in August, will be directed by Don Eaton of Sausalito.

Rules Change, Couples Permitted Public Kisses

By VIC ALDISS
London Express

LONDON — Courting couples are having a better deal in many parts of the world today. In Britain, there was a time when they had to seek the seclusion of some lover's lane or the back seats of a cinema. Now they can smooch away almost anywhere in public — in the street, in trains and buses.

In Italy it used to be a "crime" to be caught kissing in the street. Until this January, couples convicted of giving even polite pecks in public could be fined or even jailed.

But now the judges are turning a blind eye. The offense has "entered the zone of official indifference."

In the past 10 years, hundreds of modern Romeos and their Juliets have been convicted of public kissing. The problem was so serious an Italian magazine printed "helpful hints to young people on how they may kiss in public and get away with it."

The reason for this puritanical attitude was an ancient belief that one kiss morally meant an engagement. And a recent poll showed that 48 out of every hundred Italian girls had never been kissed up to the age of 16.

But now, perhaps after studying the subject in England, where public kissing is commonplace, Italy's judges are becoming more tolerant.

In Milan, a couple arrested for kissing each other good night at a railway station were acquitted. In Turin, a judge threw out a case with the comment: "The facts do not constitute a crime." And a Bologna magistrate acquitted two teen-agers of kissing in a car, saying: "They were only doing what comes naturally."

But it's still unwise to get too romantic in a few parts of the world. In Limerick, Ireland, a pretty teen-ager who kissed her boy friend was convicted recently under an act that states it is "an offense to offend against modesty and cause scandal, or injure the morals of the public on a public street."

It appeared that residents had been complaining about the activities of courting couples at night. The girl was fined $4.80 in what was said to be the first case of its kind in the republic.

Even in England, there are times when kissing is frowned on by law—for instance, while driving.

At Croydon, Surrey, a 20-year-old truck driver kissed his fiancee at the traffic lights. He kissed her again as he pulled away and was still kissing her when a police driver caught up with his lorry at 40 m.p.h.

In court, it was said the truck swerved to the curb, and at one intersection the defendant had his arm around the girl, so that the vehicle hit a traffic island.

This carry-on cost him $36 for careless driving and not being in a position to control his truck properly.

Another young motorist, Bill —, got in trouble with the law when his fiancee stole a kiss. The crew of a police car saw the car hit the curb and Bill was booked for careless driving and fined $24.

Kisses can cause other sorts of trouble. At an exclusive golf club in York, two young student sweethearts drove off from the first tee, then stopped for a kiss. They were spotted by scandalized senior members, who decided the kiss had broken their rules of "etiquette."

As a result, the loving pair, and 19 other university student golfers, lost their cheap-rate concession to play at the club.

Much more costly were a Liverpool lad's lunch-hour kisses. They were so long-drawn-out he arrived back late for his shift and was laid off.

His mates threatened to strike unless he was reinstated —and it's estimated the kissing argument cost $24,000 in lost production.

Kisses have often rated high prices, however. At a charity ball during the first World War, the Duke of St. Alban's bid $28,000 for a kiss—then let his 9-year-old son receive it from a famous actress.

At a similar function, Lord Lonsdale, the sporting peer, lashed out $3,600 for one smacker.

She was amused then, but amazed a few years later, when told he had left her $62,000 in his will in appreciation of the kiss.

Party kisses can cause trouble, sometimes. A South London woman was furious when her husband returned home from a New Year's Eve party with lipstick on his collar. Next day she moved to another bedroom. The husband then lost his temper and tipped her mattress up.

Later, the couple landed in the divorce court, where the north country judge commented: "I cannot think that any natural, normal wife would object to her husband being kissed by other women, or he kissing other women, or object to other men kissing her on New Year's Eve."

"Where I come from the first-footer opens the door to let the New Year in and then he has the right to kiss every lady in the room."

In Britain today, it's not only young lovers who kiss in public. Showbiz stars and soccer players are particularly uninhibited. And in the House of Commons when he was foreign secretary, George Brown blew a kiss to Labor veteran Emanuel Shinwell — and politicians of all parties roared approval.

Although few MPs realize it, he was reviving an old tradition. Back in the 17th Century, diarist Samuel Pepys was reporting that a member of parliament, "having made a successful speech, was kissed by Mr. Montague."

Greek poets used to call kissing "the key to paradise." But other nations and ages have branded the kiss as vulgar, indecent and a social sin.

In parts of China, kissing was held to be suggestive of cannibalism, and in Indo-China mothers used to frighten their children into obedience by threatening them with the "white man's kiss."

How did the kissing habit start? There are quite a few intriguing theories. Some experts say it developed because primitive man believed that the air he exhaled had magic power.

It was said to be an emanation of his true self. So, by kissing each other, men and women mingled their souls.

Other authorities claim the kiss is the last stage of a long evolution. Primitive Indians used to show friendship by standing face to face and smelling each other. They'd say "Smell me!" instead of "Give me a kiss!"

In other regions, tribes rubbed noses, just as Eskimos and Maoris do today. Rubbing noses naturally led to rubbing lips, and so the delightful habit was started.

In yet another explanation, the kiss is traced back to our earliest ancestors and animal forebears. In the days when food was raw and uncooked, the mother would warm and chew it up in her mouth, before transferring it by way of a "kiss" to her infant. Our present-day kiss is said to have stemmed from a subconscious memory of this pleasant association.

It's been said Britain led many other nations in bringing kissing to the popular art it is today, just as she taught the world cricket and soccer.

In the Middle Ages, Britain was famous — or infamous — for its kissing. Continentals who came over were amazed. But they took up the national pastime with gusto, and added their own refinements.

Now it seems history is repeating itself. Other countries are catching on to Britain's brand of permissiveness. The kissing custom is so popular it's surprising no civil servant hasn't thought of a way to tax it.

OPERA REVIEW

Menotti's 'Consul' Gripping Experience

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

SAN FRANCISCO — Thanks to several excellent singing actors and staging by the composer himself, Gian-Carlo Menotti, last night's Spring Opera production of "The Consul" at the Opera House was a gripping emotional experience.

The prediction at the time of its premiere in 1950 that the story of an underground hero's and his family's tragic efforts to escape persectuion might soon be too dated has failed to materialize, for it is still as current as today's newspaper.

For this reason the drama alone has impact enought to hold one's rapt attention, regardless of whether or not one likes the music.

For me the music is great because Menotti himself wrote the libretto and created music that expresses every nuance of the action and emotion. Furthermore, it contains some beautiful music, such as the trio of the hero, his wife and her mother at the end of the first scene, the bitter lullaby the grandmother sings to her dying grandson and the dream-like waltz that accompanies the magician's hypnotic manipulations at the consulate.

Everything from the directing by Charles Wilson, assistant conductor of the Boston Symphony, through Robert Darling's bleak, monchromatic sets of the dingy apartment and coldly antiseptic consulate to the powerful singing and acting of the major characters contributed to the sense of tension and frustration involved in trying to obtain visas and escape the horrors of a police state.

Taking top honors as a singing actress was soprano Jeannine Crader in the leading role of Magda Sorel, wife of the underground fighter John Sorel. Her tragic satirical aria on the frustrations of red tape in Act 2, Scene 2 was a tour de force. However, though she had a clear, powerful voice, she could not always be understood.

Because of her tremendously moving lullaby scene, contralto Christine Krooskos as Magda's mother stole Scene 1 of Act 2. A third singing actress of exceptional talent and clear diction was mezzo Joy Davidson as the coldly efficient consulate secretary who proved human at the end.

With his black iron bass Joshua Hecht was perfect as the sadistic secret police agent and baritone Seymour Schwartzman sang well and was convincing as the underground hero.

The only bit of humor in the highly charged musical drama, the role of the magician Nika Magadoff, was handled with comic flair and finesse by tenor Raymond Manton.

Except for soprano Jacklyn Schneider, whose voice sounded too youthful, the others applying for visas who served as a small chorus were well cast and sang well. They were bass-baritone Richard J. Clark, soprano Claudia Lindsey, contralto Donna Petersen and baritone Sean Barker.

The opera will be performed again Friday at 8 p.m.

SOLOIST FOR CONCERT — Violinist Deborah Donaldson will perform Samuel Barber's "Concerto for Violin and Orchestra" with the College of Marin Community Orchestra Saturday at 8:30 p.m. in the Fine Arts Theater on the campus. Miss Donaldson is concertmeister of the orchestra and a music major at the college.

Homestead Players Set Play Auditions

Tryouts for the Homestead Players' production of "Dark of the Moon" based on the ballad of Barbara Allen, will be held at 8 p.m. Friday at Brown's Hall, 390 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley.

The play, scheduled to open in August, will be directed by Don Eaton of Sausalito.

Photographers Exhibiting At Library Gallery

Photographs from "Portfolio II" by Pirkle Jones and "Photographs from Haight-Ashbury — 1967" by Ruth-Marion Baruch are now on exhibit in the Mill Valley Library gallery from 2 to 4 p.m. daily through June 27.

At other hours, visitors can request the key at the library desk. The show is sponsored by the Mill Valley Art Commission.

"Portfolio II," printed by Lawton Kennedy with a foreword by Ansel Adams, is a limited edition of prints suitable for framing. Copies are owned by the Oakland Museum, the Amon Carter Museum in Texas and Dominican College Library and the Mills College Library.

'Diary Of Anne Frank' Is Set

The Little Hills Theater of Petaluma will present "The Diary of Anne Frank" at 8:30 p.m. June 20, 21, 27 and 28 at the Petaluma Senior High School multiuse room.

Directing the amateur production is Diane Strohmeyer of Petaluma. Starring as Anne is Wendy Dragoo with Troy Wicker playing her father.

Opera Auditions Are Being Held

Auditions for lead and chorus parts in the Inverness Music Festival's production of Mascagni's "Cavalleria Rusticana" are being held at the Festival Theater in San Anselmo.

Those interested in participating may attend the rehearsal Monday from 8 to 10 p.m. at the theater.

The music festival will be produced on the grounds of St. Columba's Church, Aug. 15-17.

Film Crew Sought

Cast and technicians are now being sought for the Mill Valley Center for the Performing Arts' first venture into film making, "Sabbath in Gehenna" to be produced by Marvin Norinsky of Berkeley. Actors, technicians, apprentice crews, organizers, promoters and other interested persons may contact Maxine White in Mill Valley for further information.

Harmony Vocals Concert Slated At Dominican

"Baseball Daze," a barbershop harmony show will be presented by the Marin County Golden Gate Chorus at 8 p.m. Saturday at Dominican College, San Rafael.

Marin quartets participating will be the Bay Rums, Golden Gaters and Big Time Operators, according to Robert W. Johnson, program vice president.

Guest quartets are the Villains of Berkeley and the Plus Four of Monterey.

The event is to benefit several Little League teams in Marin County as well as the Logopedics. Tickets may be purchased at the door or through members, Johnson said.

100,000 DISHES LATER

Two Dishwashing Teens Pack Gear For Europe

By BRUCE COLEMAN

Two Corte Madera youths are packing for a summer in Europe after having washed more than 100,000 dishes to save for the trip.

How did the trip come about? they were asked.

"When you are dishwashers, you're in a room as big as this desk," explained Herber C. Leney Jr., 19. "You're back to back and it gets very boring for eight hours. It leads to talk."

"We sang, we whistled and we talked up a trip over the hot dishes," said Leney's partner, Gordon Kamai, 18.

Lene, who went to Hawaii last summer with Kamai's brother, said, "I've always wanted to go to Europe." Kamai wanted to go to Europe, among other reasons, to see his grandmother in Aachen, Germany.

"In seventh grade, I got the idea of youth hosteling in Europe," he declared. "We said we'd go when we graduated."

Kamai is to be graduated Thursday from Redwood High School. Leney is a College of Marin student.

The boys, seemingly almost too excited to sit still, indicated any young person can get to Europe the way they plan to.

Leney, who had just bought a new light windbreaker, said they had done a lot of research for the trip and knew they want to travel light. To save on space and weight, they will use back packs.

To save on money, they got charter air fares which run $280 to $300 each round trip. In Europe they will buy special rail passes.

To save on food and shelter they joined the International Youth Hostel which enables them to sleep and cook their own meals in hostels. "We can't afford restaurants," Leney explained.

Asked if they learned how to cook at The Original Hick'ry Pit, the Strawberry restaurant where they worked to save their money, Kamai said, "We know everything about making barbecued spare ribs."

In addition to working as dishwashers, the youths worked as bus boys and cook's helpers and Kamai also worked part time at a Tiburon publishing firm.

The youths estimate their fanancial needs for the summer at $850 each or $4 a day "including everything."

Departure dates are different because the boys couldn't get the same flight. Kamai will leave Friday for Frankfurt, Germany. Leney will depart July 1 for Zurich, Switzerland. They will meet in Aachen July 4 and start their grand tour. They plan to visit England, Holland, Belgium, France, Spain, Italy and the Scandinavian countries departing from Zurich in September and return to Marin before school opens.

"What is going to be interesting," said Kamai, "is to see where high school language is. I want to see how good my German is," Lene added: "My language is Spanish."

Occupations they learned at the Hick'ry Pit which might help them while hosteling, Kamai explained include salad making ("We made salad by the sink-full,") buttering bread and preparing fish for frying. Asked if they planned to do any dishwashing, Kamai replied, "Oh, no — not at all."

SAUSALITO PARENTS SPEAK

Black And White Fears Bared

By ALAN JONES

"If we can't find teachers to teach black children . . . this country is going to blow up," a white Sausalito parent said last night.

Black and white parents reached little agreement in a second meeting of the Sausalito School District Parents Club, but the group agreed to meet in two weeks to consider specific ideas for improving the school district. The discussion, like last week's, centered on problems of discipline, education quality and intetration at Martin Luther King School.

More than 100 persons listened as several speakers assailed the level of education in general at King School, charging that many teachers could not control their classes and so were unable to teach effectively.

Desegregation of the district still has not been accomplished, Assistant Principal James T. Toliver of King School said. After four years, only four of 30 teachers at the school are members of minority groups, he said. "Somebody's jiving" when they talk of integration, he said.

Supt. Philip W. Schneider said the district wants to hire more minority group teachers, but there is only one teaching vacancy at King next year. "You're going to have to ask more white teachers to resign . . . if you want more black teachers," he said.

Some parents asked for firing of incompetent teachers, but Schneider and parent Michael Harris of Sausalito said tenure rules make it difficult.

William Broder, a white Sausalitan, drew applause for a fiery speech. "I think the white community is finally understanding how furiously angry the black community has been . . . and it's afraid," Broder said.

If the district hires a bright, yonung black teacher, he said, he or she is bound to be angry at what has gone on in this society.

"We must find a way," Broder said. ':If we can't find teachers to teach black children . . . this country is going to blow up. . . . If we can't . . . we're going to kill our children."

Teacher Marilyn Burns brought listeners up short midway through the meeting when she pointed out that "I haven't heard anybody talk about what they want for their children . . . That's the crux of the whole problem."

Leneta Thomas, parents club secretary, explained the roots of present black feeling. "White people "can't give me my rights," Mrs. Thomas said. "It's up to me to become aware of my individuality . . . and take my rights."

Black people are militant, she said, because they are trying to form a solid black culture for a stable background. White minorities, she explained, are "secure in a group culture" which black Americans lack. Until that culture is stable, black people as a group cannot feeel equal, she said.

If white America rejects black demands, she said, "we all go down the drain," because society no longer can stand having one group constantly at the bottom of the ladder.

A classroom aide at King School, Ruby Carter, said she "needed a rope" to get children to settle down when classes start. She blamed lack of discipline on parents, teachers and students alike.

In many classrooms, she said, "Kids have no respect for the teacher . . . they didn't even have respect for themselves."

Some parents wanted to discuss teachers by name, but Mrs. Charles Lester, chairman, ruled that out. Teacher William Bradley (Chaka) was mentioned frequently, but in support rather than criticism. Bradley took over a social studies class in April after another teacher dropped the class.

A late evening argument blossomed between Mrs. Thomas and Benjamin Myles of Marin City. "We're teaching children some things that have nothing to do with a classroom," Myles said. He advocated good education regardless of integration — "If I never see a white man in my life, I can learn," he said.

"Are we interested in our children, or are we going to sit here and talk this black and white stuff till September?" he asked.

As the next meeting was being scheduled, a white man who did not identify himself took the Independent-Journal to task for what he called biased reporting, and asked if the group might not exclude the press from the next meeting.

"Speaking as a newspaperman," Harris said, "I can tell you that a secret meeting of 100 people is a farce." Harris is a San Francisco Chronicle reporter.

Others present attacked the I-J for "racist news coverage," particularly criticizing a story last month about a reported attack on one white student by several black students.

At the next meeting, set for 8 p.m. June 24, Mrs. Lester said parents should bring concrete suggestions for improving the school situation rather than continuing to air complaints. The meeting will be at St. Andrew United Presbyterian Church, Marin City.

Defendant In Sabella Kidnaping Questions Former Confederate

By MARY LEYDECKER

A 22-year-old man who is accused of kidnaping and robbing restaurant owner Luciano A. Sabella and who fired his lawyer yesterday, began his own defense by questioning his alleged former confederate who is now serving a sentence at San Quentin.

Daniel Thomas Stathos, who is a co-defendant in the Sabella case with Kenneth Lee Harnal, cross-examined Walter John Hoefler, former Larkspur man, over Stathos''s alleged use of drugs and Stathos's relations with Hoefler's wife.

Hoefler, who earlier pleaded guilty to the Sabella crime in November as well as the robbing of the Greenbrae Lanes in October, told a jury in Judge Samuel W. Gardiner's Superior court room, how he, Stathos and Harnal kidnaped and robbed Sabella.

He also described how he and Stathos held up the bowling alley.

During cross examination by Stathos yesterday, he said that his wife had told him that Stathos, a frequent visitor at the Hoefler's former home in Larkspur, had tried to "sexually assault her" in June or July of last year.

Both his wife and Stathos told him of the incident, Hoefler said, and he then told Stathos "to stay away from my wife."

"Did you tell me to stay away from your house?" Stathos inquired.

"No, just my wife," the convict responded.

However, Hoefler said that he learned last week from Dept. Dist. Atty. Jerry R. Herman that Stathos and his wife had been intimate on one occasion after Hoefler was arrested in December.

"I wasn't sure," Hoefler said, until told by Herman of testimony at the preliminary hearing of the case.

Stathos also questioned Hoefler about Stathos's alleged drug use, and Hoefler said, "You took 'reds' almost every day." In addition to the seconal pills, Stathos had smoked marijuana in his presence and mentioned taking LSD, he said.

"Was the person you describe as Stathos, who went with you to the Sabellas' house, high on pills?" Stathos asked Hoefler.

"No, he didn't seem to be," Hoefler responded with a faint smile.

Today a Larkspur police officer, Sgt. Charles J. Mattos, testified to finding a number of articles, including handcuffs, adhesive tape and keys allegedly from the Sabella restaurant, in a creek near Hoefler's home.

The prosecution has maintained that the handcuffs and keys were thrown in the creek.

Sausalito Votes Pay Boost For Most City Employees

The Sausalito City Council last night approved 1969-70 salary and operating budgets for the police, fire and public works departments and passed a compromise $2,950 addition to the city manager's recommendation for library operations.

Th council approved 7.5 per cent pay raises of all but a handful of workers, as had been recommended by City Mgr. George M. Patterson.

The budget as it now stands totals $1,255,170, up $2,950 over the city manager's recommendations. Patterson said this package does not increase the total city tax rate of $1.315.

Only one change in tax rate funds was approved, a 1.5-cent increase to 16.2 cents for the library. A half-cent adjustment down in the general fund also was included.

Library board members appeared at the meeting to plead for passage of a $15,800 budget, $3,800 more than recommended by Patterson.

Michael Harris, library board president, said the boost was needed for book and periodical purchases, more part-time help and the establishment of a record collection at $400 — a feature he said would eventually be self-sustaining enabling it to expand.

Kathleen Worsley, head librarian, also informed the council of a critical shortage of standard library books in both the reference and general collection.

Needed are books by such authors as John Muir, C. Wright Mills, Mark Twain, T. S. Elliot and others, she said.

Councilman Mrs. Robin Sweeny, although expressing deep concern for the book shortage, said she would not want to increase the library tax rate fund since Sausalitans soon may be asked to approve funding of a new library.

She said she was worried that such an increase now would prove to be "psychologically upsetting" to voters.

Reaction of others on the council was mixed until councilman Jan Paul Dyk offered a compromise measure of $1,000 less than requested and $2,800 more than recommended.

The compromise as approved turned out to be $2,950, Patterson explained later.

The council approved a raise of $100 a month to $1,200 for Police Chief James D. Wright, a $100 raise to $1,300 for Fire Chief Charles E. Masten, who serves as acting city manager in Patterson's absence, and a $120 raise to $1,250 for City Engineer Norman Wohlschlaeger, making him the highest-paid department head.

Pay for patrolmen was boosted from a range of $644-$782 to $693-$881; for firemen from $628-$763 to $676-$821, and for heavy duty operators in the public works department from $584-$710 to $644-$782, a 10 per cent hike.

The city manager's salary was increased from $1,575 to $1,700 a month.

Other changes approved were the reclassification of a patrolman to detective, giving the department two in that category; fringe benefit improvements in hospital insurance, life insurance, medical-surgical benefits; establishment of health insurance for part-time library employees, and setting of a $5 per call bonus for off-duty firemen called in to work.

A 5 per cent raise was approved for the assistant fire chief and a 2.5 per cent increase for the head librarian.

Burglars Get Diver's Spear Gun, Camera

Burglars who broke into the Bamboo Reef at 3765 Redwood Highway north of San Rafael early yesterday morning took a spear gun and four underwater cameras, one of them valued at $2,300, sheriff's deputies said today.

The deputies found the alarm ringing at the building and the glass in the front door smashed when they arrived at about 12:36 a.m.

Builder May Face Penalty In Cotati

Supt. Duncan A. Doleman said the slow progress on the building indicates that it might not be completed by the Sept. 2 opening of school. Contractor for the project is G. J. Elkington and Son, who would be subject to a $50 per day penalty charge if the school is not ready by fall.

The board directed the firm to report within two weeks on the causes of the slow pace of construction and to state why the penalty clause should not be invoked.

The board gave no discussion to what provisions could be made for the 240 students scheduled to be enrolled.

Bids on the installation of an eight-inch water line to the school were opened with the apparent low bidder the Argonaut Constructors of Santa Rosa at $28,946. The other bid was $46,300, received from the Everson Construction Co. of San Bruno.

The Cotati School Board also:

HIRED — Approved the employment of Lynn Walsh as a teacher at a salary of $6.690 and Frank Bruce as custodian at a salary of $5.632.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted teacher resignations from Wanda Ward, who is returning to college, and from Margaret Johnson is moving away.

WALDO ROHNERT — Heard a report that preliminary plans on the six classroom addition to the Waldo Rohnert School will be presented at the June 24 meeting. Local bonds totaling $50,000 for the project will be sold at 2:30 p.m. that day. Request for funding the project scheduled to go before the state Board of Allocation at 9:30 a.m. Friday.

Captain Tobin Nominated For Marshal Post

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON—Capt. George E. Tobin of the California Highway Patrol, a Mill Valley resident, today was nominated by President Richard M. Nixon to be U.S. Marshal for the northern district of California.

Tobin, 55, a Republican, was named to succeed Louis H. Martin, a Democrat appointed by former President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Tobin, reached at his office in San Francisco, told the Independent-Journal he was "tickled to death" with news of the nomination. He said it was his first knowledge of the nomination.

His four-year term is subject to Senate confirmation.

Tobin is a veteran highway patrolman, who formerly patrolled in Marin County. He was elevated to captain's rank in 1954 and had command of Calaveras and Amador counties before being transferred to San Francisco.

Tobin and his wife reside at 14 Glen Drive, Mill Valley.

Car Flips, Fairfax Youth Escapes Hurt

Dennis M. Lincks, 18, of 11 Madrone Court, Fairfax, escaped without apparent injury at 12:20 p.m. and flipped for 186 feet on Highway 101 in Corte Madera, the California Highway Patrol said.

Lincks told the patrol he started to change lanes, then swerved when he saw another car in his path. Lincks was unconscience at the scene for 20 seconds, the patrol said, but was examined at Marin General Hospital and released when no injury was found.

Sausalito Teachers Accept Pay Proposal

Sausalito School District teachers yesterday voted to accept a proffered 7.5 per cent pay raise, but kept their option open to seek more money later this year if they can find it in the 1969-70 budget.

The teachers had asked a 14.8 per cent raise.

The teachers also agreed to have an auditor from the California Teachers Association examine the district budget. If more money is found available, the teachers would ask for a bigger raise.

The teachers Monday asked the school district board to negotiate directly with the teachers association on salaries because Supt. Philip W. Schneider had not made a concrete counter-offer to the 14.8 per cent request.

The board offered 7.5 per cent for teaching and classified employees alike. The raise will cost $71,113 a year, Schneider said, and will raise the teachers' pay scale to a range of $6,876 to $13,825.

The board Monday also reviewed the proposed 1969-70 budget of $1,431,411 and made several tentative cuts to hold the total while granting the pay raise.

Asst. Supt. Joseph Amato had prepared another working budget for $1,474,411 which included $43,000 income requested from Marin County as payment in lieu of property taxes for public housing in Marin City. The county supervisors provided $43,000 last year, but Monday turned down the district request and alloted $3,500 for the district.

The board also accepted resignations of Bernadette Baraty, fifth grade teacher at Martin Luther King School, and Oralia Morales, third grade teacher at Central School. Miss Morales is returning to Stanford University for a master's degree. Mrs. Baraty gave no reason for resigning.

Budget Discussion

The Terra Linda Community Services District board will discuss the 1969-70 budget when it meets at 9 p.m. Monday at the Terra Linda Fire Station, secretary Helen Lontz reported today.

Bolinas Bill Passes Over Major Hurdle

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill to carry out the dissolution of the Bolinas Harbor District voted by Bolinas voters in March cleared an important legislative hurdle last night when it was approved by the Assembly Ways and Means Committee.

The measure, by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, carried an amendment which would require Marin County to submit an improvement plan for Bolinas Lagoon to the state Resources Agency within three years for approval. Any plan ultimately would have to return to the Legislature for final approval.

Bagley was not happy with the amendment, aides indicated, but accepted it in order to get the bill out of committee with a recommendation for passage. Assembly approval is almost certain.

The amendment was a departure from the usual policy of granting local agencies controlling state lands a 10-year deadline to make "substantial improvements" but with no deadline on planning.

The amendment had been tacked on the bill by the Assembly Natural Resources and Conservation Committee at the urging of minority leader Jesse M. Unruh, D-Los Angeles.

The bill, as passed by ways and means, did not include a "harbor of refuge" amendment which had been the aim of a lobbying campaign by some of the harbor district board and others.

Marin County planners had opposed the amendment because they felt it would spark extensive development of the lagoon. The intent of Bagley's bill, which drew support from the Sierra Club, the Nature Conservancy and other conservation groups, is to insure only limited development under tight county controls.

100,000 DISHES LATER

Two Dishwashing Teens Pack Gear For Europe

By BRUCE COLEMAN

Two Corte Madera youths are packing for a summer in Europe after having washed more than 100,000 dishes to save for the trip.

How did the trip come about? they were asked.

"When you are dishwashers, you're in a room as big as this desk," explained Herber C. Leney Jr., 19. "You're back to back and it gets very boring for eight hours. It leads to talk."

"We sang, we whistled and we talked up a trip over the hot dishes," said Leney's partner, Gordon Kamai, 18.

Lene, who went to Hawaii last summer with Kamai's brother, said, "I've always wanted to go to Europe." Kamai wanted to go to Europe, among other reasons, to see his grandmother in Aachen, Germany.

"In seventh grade, I got the idea of youth hosteling in Europe," he declared. "We said we'd go when we graduated."

Kamai is to be graduated Thursday from Redwood High School. Leney is a College of Marin student.

The boys, seemingly almost too excited to sit still, indicated any young person can get to Europe the way they plan to.

Leney, who had just bought a new light windbreaker, said they had done a lot of research for the trip and knew they want to travel light. To save on space and weight, they will use back packs.

To save on money, they got charter air fares which run $280 to $300 each round trip. In Europe they will buy special rail passes.

To save on food and shelter they joined the International Youth Hostel which enables them to sleep and cook their own meals in hostels. "We can't afford restaurants," Leney explained.

Asked if they learned how to cook at The Original Hick'ry Pit, the Strawberry restaurant where they worked to save their money, Kamai said, "We know everything about making barbecued spare ribs."

In addition to working as dishwashers, the youths worked as bus boys and cook's helpers and Kamai also worked part time at a Tiburon publishing firm.

The youths estimate their fanancial needs for the summer at $850 each or $4 a day "including everything."

Departure dates are different because the boys couldn't get the same flight. Kamai will leave Friday for Frankfurt, Germany. Leney will depart July 1 for Zurich, Switzerland. They will meet in Aachen July 4 and start their grand tour. They plan to visit England, Holland, Belgium, France, Spain, Italy and the Scandinavian countries departing from Zurich in September and return to Marin before school opens.

"What is going to be interesting," said Kamai, "is to see where high school language is. I want to see how good my German is," Lene added: "My language is Spanish."

Occupations they learned at the Hick'ry Pit which might help them while hosteling, Kamai explained include salad making ("We made salad by the sink-full,") buttering bread and preparing fish for frying. Asked if they planned to do any dishwashing, Kamai replied, "Oh, no — not at all."

Sausalito Votes Pay Boost For Most City Employees

The Sausalito City Council last night approved 1969-70 salary and operating budgets for the police, fire and public works departments and passed a compromise $2,950 addition to the city manager's recommendation for library operations.

Th council approved 7.5 per cent pay raises of all but a handful of workers, as had been recommended by City Mgr. George M. Patterson.

The budget as it now stands totals $1,255,170, up $2,950 over the city manager's recommendations. Patterson said this package does not increase the total city tax rate of $1.315.

Only one change in tax rate funds was approved, a 1.5-cent increase to 16.2 cents for the library. A half-cent adjustment down in the general fund also was included.

Library board members appeared at the meeting to plead for passage of a $15.800 budget, $3.800 more than recommended by Patterson.

Michael Harris, library board president, said the boost was needed for book and periodical purchases, more part-time help and the establishment of a record collection at $400 — a feature he said would eventually be self-sustaining enabling it to expand.

Kathleen Worsley, head librarian, also informed the council of a critical shortage of standard library books in both the reference and general collection.

Needed are books by such authors as John Muir, C. Wright Mills, Mark Twain, T. S. Elliot and others, she said.

Councilman Mrs. Robin Sweeny, although expressing deep concern for the book shortage, said she would not want to increase the library tax rate fund since Sausalitans soon may be asked to approve funding of a new library.

She said she was worried that such an increase now would prove to be "psychologically upsetting" to voters.

Reaction of others on the council was mixed until councilman Jan Paul Dyk offered a compromise measure of $1,000 less than requested and $2,800 more than recommended.

The compromise as approved turned out to be $2,950, Patterson explained later.

The council approved a raise of $100 a month to $1,200 for Police Chief James D. Wright, a $100 raise to $1,300 for Fire Chief Charles E. Masten, who serves as acting city manager in Patterson's absence, and a $120 raise to $1,350 for City Engineer Norman Wohlschlaeger, making him the highest-paid department head.

Pay for patrolmen was boosted from a range of $644-$782 to $693-$881; for firemen from $628-$763 to $676-$821, and for heavy duty operators in the public works department from $584-$710 to $644-$782, a 10 per cent hike.

The city manager's salary was increased from $1,575 to $1,700 a month.

Other changes approved were the reclassification of a patrolman to detective, giving the department two in that category; fringe benefit improvements in hospital insurance, life insurance, medical-surgical benefits; establishment of health insurance for part-time library employees, and setting of a $5 per call bonus for off-duty firemen called in to work.

A 5 per cent raise was approved for the assistant fire chief and a 2.5 per cent increase for the head librarian.

Burglars Get Diver's Spear Gun, Camera

Burglars who broke into the Bamboo Reef at 3765 Redwood Highway north of San Rafael early yesterday morning took a spear gun and four underwater cameras, one of them valued at $2,300, sheriff's deputies said today.

The deputies found the alarm ringing at the building and the glass in the front door smashed when they arrived at about 12:36 a.m.

SAUSALITO PARENTS SPEAK

Black And White Fears Bared

By ALAN JONES

"If we can't find teachers to teach black children . . . this country is going to blow up," a white Sausalito parent said last night.

Black and white parents reached little agreement in a second meeting of the Sausalito School District Parents Club, but the group agreed to meet in two weeks to consider specific ideas for improving the school district. The discussion, like last week's, centered on problems of discipline, education quality and intetration at Martin Luther King School.

More than 100 persons listened as several speakers assailed the level of education in general at King School, charging that many teachers could not control their classes and so were unable to teach effectively.

Desegregation of the district still has not been accomplished, Assistant Principal James T. Toliver of King School said. After four years, only four of 30 teachers at the school are members of minority groups, he said. "Somebody's jiving" when they talk of integration, he said.

Supt. Philip W. Schneider said the district wants to hire more minority group teachers, but there is only one teaching vacancy at King next year. "You're going to have to ask more white teachers to resign . . . if you want more black teachers," he said.

Some parents asked for firing of incompetent teachers, but Schneider and parent Michael Harris of Sausalito said tenure rules make it difficult.

"There's no tenure in a revolution," a black woman responded.

William Broder, a white Sausalitan, drew applause for a fiery speech. "I think the white community is finally understanding how furiously angry the black community has been . . . and it's afraid," Broder said.

If the district hires a bright, yonung black teacher, he said, he or she is bound to be angry at what has gone on in this society.

"We must find a way," Broder said. ':If we can't find teachers to teach black children . . . this country is going to blow up. . . . If we can't . . . we're going to kill our children."

Teacher Marilyn Burns brought listeners up short midway through the meeting when she pointed out that "I haven't heard anybody talk about what they want for their children . . . That's the crux of the whole problem."

Leneta Thomas, parents club secretary, explained the roots of present black feeling. "White people "can't give me my rights," Mrs. Thomas said. "It's up to me to become aware of my individuality . . . and take my rights."

Black people are militant, she said, because they are trying to form a solid black culture for a stable background. White minorities, she explained, are "secure in a group culture" which black Americans lack. Until that culture is stable, black people as a group cannot feeel equal, she said.

If white America rejects black demands, she said, "we all go down the drain," because society no longer can stand having one group constantly at the bottom of the ladder.

A classroom aide at King School, Ruby Carter, said she "needed a rope" to get children to settle down when classes start. She blamed lack of discipline on parents, teachers and students alike.

In many classrooms, she said, "Kids have no respect for the teacher . . . they didn't even have respect for themselves."

Some parents wanted to discuss teachers by name, but Mrs. Charles Lester, chairman, ruled that out. Teacher William Bradley (Chaka) was mentioned frequently, but in support rather than criticism. Bradley took over a social studies class in April after another teacher dropped the class.

A late evening argument blossomed between Mrs. Thomas and Benjamin Myles of Marin City. "We're teaching children some things that have nothing to do with a classroom," Myles said. He advocated good education regardless of integration — "If I never see a white man in my life, I can learn," he said.

"Are we interested in our children, or are we going to sit here and talk this black and white stuff till September?" he asked.

As the next meeting was being scheduled, a white man who did not identify himself took the Independent-Journal to task for what he called biased reporting, and asked if the group might not exclude the press from the next meeting.

"Speaking as a newspaperman," Harris said, "I can tell you that a secret meeting of 100 people is a farce." Harris is a San Francisco Chronicle reporter.

Others present attacked the I-J for "racist news coverage," particularly criticizing a story last month about a reported attack on one white student by several black students.

At the next meeting, set for 8 p.m. June 24, Mrs. Lester said parents should bring concrete suggestions for improving the school situation rather than continuing to air complaints. The meeting will be at St. Andrew United Presbyterian Church, Marin City.

Defendant In Sabella Kidnaping Questions Former Confederate

By MARY LEYDECKER

A 22-year-old man who is accused of kidnaping and robbing restaurant owner Luciano A. Sabella and who fired his lawyer yesterday, began his own defense by questioning his alleged former confederate who is now serving a sentence at San Quentin.

Daniel Thomas Stathos, who is a co-defendant in the Sabella case with Kenneth Lee Harnal, cross-examined Walter John Hoefler, former Larkspur man, over Stathos''s alleged use of drugs and Stathos's relations with Hoefler's wife.

Hoefler, who earlier pleaded guilty to the Sabella crime in November as well as the robbing of the Greenbrae Lanes in October, told a jury in Judge Samuel W. Gardiner's Superior court room, how he, Stathos and Harnal kidnaped and robbed Sabella.

He also described how he and Stathos held up the bowling alley.

During cross examination by Stathos yesterday, he said that his wife had told him that Stathos, a frequent visitor at the Hoefler's former home in Larkspur, had tried to "sexually assault her" in June or July of last year.

Both his wife and Stathos told him of the incident, Hoefler said, and he then told Stathos "to stay away from my wife."

"Did you tell me to stay away from your house?" Stathos inquired.

"No, just my wife," the convict responded.

However, Hoefler said that he learned last week from Dept. Dist. Atty. Jerry R. Herman that Stathos and his wife had been intimate on one occasion after Hoefler was arrested in December.

"I wasn't sure," Hoefler said, until told by Herman of testimony at the preliminary hearing of the case.

Stathos also questioned Hoefler about Stathos's alleged drug use, and Hoefler said, "You took 'reds' almost every day." In addition to the seconal pills, Stathos had smoked marijuana in his presence and mentioned taking LSD, he said.

"Was the person you describe as Stathos, who went with you to the Sabellas' house, high on pills?" Stathos asked Hoefler.

"No, he didn't seem to be," Hoefler responded with a faint smile.

Today a Larkspur police officer, Sgt. Charles J. Mattos, testified to finding a number of articles, including handcuffs, adhesive tape and keys allegedly from the Sabella restaurant, in a creek near Hoefler's home.

The prosecution has maintained that the handcuffs and keys were thrown in the creek.

San Francisco Moves On School Integration

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The board of education has voted unanimously to accept a controversial integration plan for a segment of the city's public schools.

But the board also made it clear in its resolution adopted last night that the plan will not go into effect as scheduled in September 1970 unless it approves concrete plans in eight areas in order to insure better quality to go along with the integration.

The plan, first drafted by a citizens committee and backed by Supt. Robert Jenkins, calls for creation of school complexes in the Richmond district and an area southeast of Golden Gate Park. Included would be 9,000 children from 20 schools. To achieve the integration, some busing within the areas would be required.

The resolution reaffirmed the principle that "racial and ethnic integration of the school population and staff is one of the essential conditions of educational excellence in America's schools.

But it went on to emphasize that "there are instructional components equally necessary to any plan designed to improve the quality of education."

Long Memorial Lecture Is Set

"The Family with a Disturbed Child: Current Research" will be the topic for the third annual E. J. Long Memorial Lecture, Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the Ross Rehabilitation Hospital, 1111 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Kentfield.

The speaker will be Dr. Margaret Thaler Singer who will present findings from her family studies. The public is invited.

Zucker Publicly Thanks Backers In Controversy

County planning Director Paul C. Zucker, who barely survived an attempt to fire him on April 18, yesterday issued an open letter thanking those who supported him and expressing hope that differences in opinion can be discussed calmly.

"I particularly appreciate the support of those who may have differed with us in the past, but share our concern for honest public debate and those who believe the program should be continued on this basis," said Zucker.

"To those persons who publicly supported by removal from office, I wish to express my admiration for standing by your convictions as I truly believe we share this common desire for holding to convictions. I would welcome the opportunity to discuss our differences in a calm atmosphere and am at your disposal in this regard.

"In the final analysis, the hearing has shown again that Marin County is worth getting excited over and even, if necessary, getting fired over."

Nine Cases Of TB Reported

Nine Marin residents have been struck by tuberculosis during the first five months of this year, according to the Marin Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association. The number is the same as for the first five months of last year.

There were no children stricken last year; however, a 4-year-old boy is among those this year. Two of the reported cases are reactivations. Six of the victims are male, and all but one are under 50 years of age.

Bootzin's Companion Relates First Meeting

By PATRICK SULLIVAN

If it had not been for a chance meeting on a San Francisco street corner in November 1960, Max Bootzin might today be just a vague memory to Joan Saylor and her friend Charmaine Klenman.

But that unexpected meeting — and Miss Saylor's later conclusion that fate's dictates must be served — ultimately plunged the two young women deep into the elderly man's life, according to testimony yesterday in Marin Superior Court.

Miss Klenman is accused in a suit being pressed by Bootzin's three children of bilking him of large sums of money and property by promising to marry him. Judge Joseph G. Wilson, hearing the case without a jury, earlier ruled that similar charges against Miss Saylor were unfounded, since she received nothing from Bootzin, who died in 1966 at the age of 83.

Miss Saylor, 30, and stylish, said under questioning by defense attorney Marvin E. Lewis that she encountered Bootzin unexpectedly one evening about seven months after she and Miss Klenman, 36, moved out of his San Francisco apartment house.

TEA VISITS

The meeting led to a resumption of tea-drinking visits by Bootzin to their residence during which time the three became well-acquainted and Bootzin affectionately called her "the little one," said Miss Saylor, who was to resume testimony today.

Miss Saylor, a former bank teller and restaurant cashier, broke down at one point while describing Bootzin's clothing as shabby, with buttons missing from his shirts.

"He was very sad . . . very pathetic . . . his loneliness . . ." she said sniffling. She regained her composure after about 30 seconds of delay.

When Bootzin suffered an attack of influenza, the two women took him to their home, where he stayed about 10 days, Miss Saylor said.

It was during that time they did their first work for Bootzin, collecting rents, doing laundry for tenants and having appliances fixed for his apartment house at 495 14th Avenue, she said.

RELATES MONEY

When he recovered, Bootzin told the two women over tea that he planned to leave Miss Klenman $50,000 in his will for the help while he was sick. He told Miss Saylor he would "take care" of her also, she testified. She said both of them were shocked.

From then on Bootzin urged the two women to move in with him, first at a $175,000 apartment building in San Francisco, and later at a home he owned in Mill Valley, Miss Saylor said.

"I started to think it was fate — it was meant to be," she said. Miss Klenman ultimately was convinced to make the move because of those arguments, the witness added.

REMODELING COSTS

Earlier in the trial, Hubert H. Hanison of Mill Valley, a former building contractor, said his estimates for remodeling work done by the women at Bootzin's Strawberry home totaled $5,464 at 1962 rates.

The women, who still live at the home at 8 Richardson Drive, have maintained the Bootzin estate owes them $40,000 for the work and companionship they provided him after moving in about July 1961.

Builder May Face Penalty In Cotati

Supt. Duncan A. Doleman said the slow progress on the building indicates that it might not be completed by the Sept. 2 opening of school. Contractor for the project is G. J. Elkington and Son, who would be subject to a $50 per day penalty charge if the school is not ready by fall.

The board directed the firm to report within two weeks on the causes of the slow pace of construction and to state why the penalty clause should not be invoked.

The board gave no discussion to what provisions could be made for the 240 students scheduled to be enrolled.

Bids on the installation of an eight-inch water line to the school were opened with the apparent low bidder the Argonaut Constructors of Santa Rosa at $28,946. The other bid was $46,300, received from the Everson Construction Co. of San Bruno.

The Cotati School Board also:

HIRED — Approved the employment of Lynn Walsh as a teacher at a salary of $6.690 and Frank Bruce as custodian at a salary of $5,632.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted teacher resignations from Wanda Ward, who is returning to college, and from Margaret Johnson is moving away.

WALDO ROHNERT — Heard a report that preliminary plans on the six classroom addition to the Waldo Rohnert School will be presented at the June 24 meeting. Local bonds totaling $50,000 for the project will be sold at 2:30 p.m. that day. Request for funding the project scheduled to go before the state Board of Allocation at 9:30 a.m. Friday.

Sausalito Teachers Accept Pay Proposal

Sausalito School District teachers yesterday voted to accept a proffered 7.5 per cent pay raise, but kept their option open to seek more money later this year if they can find it in the 1969-70 budget.

The teachers had asked a 14.8 per cent raise.

The teachers also agreed to have an auditor from the California Teachers Association examine the district budget. If more money is found available, the teachers would ask for a bigger raise.

The teachers Monday asked the school district board to negotiate directly with the teachers association on salaries because Supt. Philip W. Schneider had not made a concrete counter-offer to the 14.8 per cent request.

The board offered 7.5 per cent for teaching and classified employees alike. The raise will cost $71,113 a year, Schneider said, and will raise the teachers' pay scale to a range of $6,876 to $13,825.

The board Monday also reviewed the proposed 1969-70 budget of $1,431,411 and made several tentative cuts to hold the total while granting the pay raise.

Asst. Supt. Joseph Amato had prepared another working budget for $1,474,411 which included $43,000 income requested from Marin County as payment in lieu of property taxes for public housing in Marin City. The county supervisors provided $43,000 last year, but Monday turned down the district request and alloted $3,500 for the district.

The board also accepted resignations of Bernadette Baraty, fifth grade teacher at Martin Luther King School, and Oralia Morales, third grade teacher at Central School. Miss Morales is returning to Stanford University for a master's degree. Mrs. Baraty gave no reason for resigning.

Budget Discussion

The Terra Linda Community Services District board will discuss the 1969-70 budget when it meets at 9 p.m. Monday at the Terra Linda Fire Station, secretary Helen Lontz reported today.

School Looted

Burglars who broke a window lock at Marin Terrace School in Tamalpais Valley stole a movie projector and an adding machine yesterday, sheriff's deputies have reported.

Bolinas Bill Passes Over Major Hurdle

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill to carry out the dissolution of the Bolinas Harbor District voted by Bolinas voters in March cleared an important legislative hurdle last night when it was approved by the Assembly Ways and Means Committee.

The measure, by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, carried an amendment which would require Marin County to submit an improvement plan for Bolinas Lagoon to the state Resources Agency within three years for approval. Any plan ultimately would have to return to the Legislature for final approval.

Bagley was not happy with the amendment, aides indicated, but accepted it in order to get the bill out of committee with a recommendation for passage. Assembly approval is almost certain.

The amendment was a departure from the usual policy of granting local agencies controlling state lands a 10-year deadline to make "substantial improvements" but with no deadline on planning.

The amendment had been tacked on the bill by the Assembly Natural Resources and Conservation Committee at the urging of minority leader Jesse M. Unruh, D-Los Angeles.

The bill, as passed by ways and means, did not include a "harbor of refuge" amendment which had been the aim of a lobbying campaign by some of the harbor district board and others.

Marin County planners had opposed the amendment because they felt it would spark extensive development of the lagoon. The intent of Bagley's bill, which drew support from the Sierra Club, the Nature Conservancy and other conservation groups, is to insure only limited development under tight county controls.

Captain Tobin Nominated For Marshal Post

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON—Capt. George E. Tobin of the California Highway Patrol, a Mill Valley resident, today was nominated by President Richard M. Nixon to be U.S. Marshal for the northern district of California.

Tobin, 55, a Republican, was named to succeed Louis H. Martin, a Democrat appointed by former President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Tobin, reached at his office in San Francisco, told the Independent-Journal he was "tickled to death" with news of the nomination. He said it was his first knowledge of the nomination.

His four-year term is subject to Senate confirmation.

Tobin is a veteran highway patrolman, who formerly patrolled in Marin County. He was elevated to captain's rank in 1954 and had command of Calaveras and Amador counties before being transferred to San Francisco.

Tobin and his wife reside at 14 Glen Drive, Mill Valley.

Car Flips, Fairfax Youth Escapes Hurt

Dennis M. Lincks, 18, of 11 Madrone Court, Fairfax, escaped without apparent injury at 12:20 p.m. and flipped for 186 feet on Highway 101 in Corte Madera, the California Highway Patrol said.

Lincks told the patrol he started to change lanes, then swerved when he saw another car in his path. Lincks was unconscience at the scene for 20 seconds, the patrol said, but was examined at Marin General Hospital and released when no injury was found.

Ann Arbor Co-Ed Is Sixth Murder Victim

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Mrs. Joseph Kalom was watching television in Kalamazoo, Mich., when she saw an artist's sketch of a young woman whose mutilated body was found near this college town.

She recognized the likeness of her daughter Alice.

Last night, the Kaloms drove a 100 miles to Ann Arbor and after viewing the body, confirmed that their 21-year-old daughter was the latest victim in a 22-month string of six murders of young women in the Ann Arbor area.

Miss Kalom, a recent graduate of the University of Michigan School of Architecture and Design who stayed on to take a few courses this summer, was last seen alive by her boy friend early Saturday morning.

Police believe she was killed some time Sunday night. Her body was found Monday on an abandoned farm.

She had been shot in the head and repeatedly stabbed, once in the heart.

"I raised a good girl," said gan school of architecture and design who stayed on to take a Kalon, a pharmacist, after identifying the body. "I was afraid. I called her every time there was one of the murders. She said, "I'm careful; I don't associate with strangers."

The murder chain began Aug. 7, 1967. The victims ranged in age from 13 to 23 years.

All the bodies have been found on the fringes of Ann Arbor and nearby Ypsilanti. All had been shot, strangled or stabbed. All but one were partially nude and had been sexually molested.

Authorities investigating the murders believe all six deaths were the work of a single assailant.

Antilogging Case To Youth Court

The cases of two persons arrested during a protest of logging on the Righetti Ranch on Bolinas Ridge yesterday were transferred to juvenile court even though Juvenile Judge Samuel W. Gardiner said the defendants will receive five-day jail sentences if convicted.

Gregory Alan Brougham, 18, and Gillian LeProvest Baxter, 18, are accused of failing to yield the right of way to vehicles and failure to disperse. Brougham is additionally charged with marijuana possession.

Two others arrested at the same time, Michael Alan Bond, 26, and Lorraine Barrow, 35, both of Bolinas, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court and a jury trial was set for Sept. 18.

Police Chief Admits Park Action Was 'Inappropriate'

Charges that police pushed over a tool shed and playhouse "unfortunately are true," Chief Bruce Baker told a news conference yesterday.

Baker, who has been chief only two months, said "investigations are continuing, and until we're finished, I can't say what disciplinary action if any, will be taken."

He said the police action "was not a planned police raid."

About 30 officers dispersed 150 persons who gathered at the "annex" following an abortive march Friday night on the original "people's park" more than a mile away.

Baker said his men took "inappropriate action" when they tore apart one structure, overturned another and snapped some young newly planted trees.

The small buildings were "unauthorized structures," Baker said, but "it is not customary for police officers to dismantle such structures. The action ... was not responsive to specific complaints."

The chief denied reports that they clubbed or "stomped" puppies, and that they threw a kitten into a fire, as some of the "street people" have claimed.

Baker said the department has received over 100 complaints about noisy gatherings in the area.

The "people's park annex" is on land owned by the Bay Area Rapid Transit District, which has offered to lease the land for a park.

The "annex" was established after the University of California fenced in land May 15 near the campus, sparking demonstrations that resulted in 130 injuries, one of them fatal.

BART General Manager B. R. Stokes said police did not contact him before the raid .

To reduce congestion and to insure speedy trials resulting from more than 920 arrests since May 15, State Supreme Court Judge Rogert J. Traynor authorized yesterday use of five additional courtrooms and three judges.

Traynor's order specifies use of three Alameda County Superior courtrooms and two Oakland-Piedmont municipal courts. Names of the judges will be announced.

Charges against many of the 500 arrested in a sweep of the Shattuck Avenue business district by police and National Guardsmen may be dropped after a review of affidavits and police consultations, said Deputy Dist. Atty. Jeffrey Horner.

U-Boat was the name given to German submarines during World War I.

Banquet Will Honor Prather

Robert Prather, principal of Tamalpais High School, will be honored by faculty, parents and district residents at a buffet dinner at 7 p.m. June 19 at the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley, the Tamalpais High School Parent-Teachers Association has announced.

Prather, principal since 1962, is taking a year's sabbatical and will take a post in the Tamalpais District office when he returns.

Reservations for the dinner may be made by calling Mrs. Ernest Kroner, 77 Del Casa Drive, or Mrs. John A. Thomson, 266 Hillside Avenue, both Mill Valley.

San Francisco Moves On School Integration

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The board of education has voted unanimously to accept a controversial integration plan for a segment of the city's public schools.

But the board also made it clear in its resolution adopted last night that the plan will not go into effect as scheduled in September 1970 unless it approves concrete plans in eight areas in order to insure better quality to go along with the integration.

The plan, first drafted by a citizens committee and backed by Supt. Robert Jenkins, calls for creation of school complexes in the Richmond district and an area southeast of Golden Gate Park. Included would be 9,000 children from 20 schools. To achieve the integration, some busing within the areas would be required.

The resolution reaffirmed the principle that "racial and ethnic integration of the school population and staff is one of the essential conditions of educational excellence in America's schools.

But it went on to emphasize that "there are instructional components equally necessary to any plan designed to improve the quality of education."

The board ordered Jenkins to give it details of the plan by Dec. 1.

Long Memorial Lecture Is Set

"The Family with a Disturbed Child: Current Research" will be the topic for the third annual E. J. Long Memorial Lecture, Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the Ross Rehabilitation Hospital, 1111 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Kentfield.

The speaker will be Dr. Margaret Thaler Singer who will present findings from her family studies. The public is invited.

Zucker Publicly Thanks Backers In Controversy

County planning Director Paul C. Zucker, who barely survived an attempt to fire him on April 18, yesterday issued an open letter thanking those who supported him and expressing hope that differences in opinion can be discussed calmly.

"I particularly appreciate the support of those who may have differed with us in the past, but share our concern for honest public debate and those who believe the program should be continued on this basis," said Zucker.

"To those persons who publicly supported by removal from office, I wish to express my admiration for standing by your convictions as I truly believe we share this common desire for holding to convictions. I would welcome the opportunity to discuss our differences in a calm atmosphere and am at your disposal in this regard.

"In the final analysis, the hearing has shown again that Marin County is worth getting excited over and even, if necessary, getting fired over."

Nine Cases Of TB Reported

Nine Marin residents have been struck by tuberculosis during the first five months of this year, according to the Marin Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association. The number is the same as for the first five months of last year.

There were no children stricken last year; however, a 4-year-old boy is among those this year. Two of the reported cases are reactivations. Six of the victims are male, and all but one are under 50 years of age.

Cases occurred in Novato, Mill Valley, Sausalito, Ross, Fairfax and at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Bootzin's Companion Relates First Meeting

By PATRICK SULLIVAN

If it had not been for a chance meeting on a San Francisco street corner in November 1960, Max Bootzin might today be just a vague memory to Joan Saylor and her friend Charmaine Klenman.

But that unexpected meeting — and Miss Saylor's later conclusion that fate's dictates must be served — ultimately plunged the two young women deep into the elderly man's life, according to testimony yesterday in Marin Superior Court.

Miss Klenman is accused in a suit being pressed by Bootzin's three children of bilking him of large sums of money and property by promising to marry him. Judge Joseph G. Wilson, hearing the case without a jury, earlier ruled that similar charges against Miss Saylor were unfounded, since she received nothing from Bootzin, who died in 1966 at the age of 83.

Miss Saylor, 30, and stylish, said under questioning by defense attorney Marvin E. Lewis that she encountered Bootzin unexpectedly one evening about seven months after she and Miss Klenman, 36, moved out of his San Francisco apartment house.

TEA VISITS

The meeting led to a resumption of tea-drinking visits by Bootzin to their residence during which time the three became well-acquainted and Bootzin affectionately called her "the little one," said Miss Saylor, who was to resume testimony today.

Miss Saylor, a former bank teller and restaurant cashier, broke down at one point while describing Bootzin's clothing as shabby, with buttons missing from his shirts.

"He was very sad . . . very pathetic . . . his loneliness . . ." she said sniffling. She regained her composure after about 30 seconds of delay.

When Bootzin suffered an attack of influenza, the two women took him to their home, where he stayed about 10 days, Miss Saylor said.

It was during that time they did their first work for Bootzin, collecting rents, doing laundry for tenants and having appliances fixed for his apartment house at 495 14th Avenue, she said.

RELATES MONEY

When he recovered, Bootzin told the two women over tea that he planned to leave Miss Klenman $50,000 in his will for the help while he was sick. He told Miss Saylor he would "take care" of her also, she testified. She said both of them were shocked.

From then on Bootzin urged the two women to move in with him, first at a $175,000 apartment building in San Francisco, and later at a home he owned in Mill Valley, Miss Saylor said.

"I started to think it was fate — it was meant to be," she said. Miss Klenman ultimately was convinced to make the move because of those arguments, the witness added.

REMODELING COSTS

Earlier in the trial, Hubert H. Hanison of Mill Valley, a former building contractor, said his estimates for remodeling work done by the women at Bootzin's Strawberry home totaled $5,464 at 1962 rates.

The women, who still live at the home at 8 Richardson Drive, have maintained the Bootzin estate owes them $40,000 for the work and companionship they provided him after moving in about July 1961.

Parked Auto Looted

William M. Spearman of 718 B Street, San Rafael, has reported to police that a thief entered his car parked outside his home Sunday night and stole $75 hidden under the seat.

Moscow Blasts Red China On Border Provocations

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union accused Communist China today of provoking new clashes on the Soviet border and said China possibly will make further efforts to "poison the good, businesslike atmosphere" at the Moscow-organized international Communist conference.

Soviet Foreign Ministry spokesman Leonid Zamyatin added that a recent series of incidents on the border "probably has the purpose of hampering the consultations proposed by the Soviet government" on the border question.

Zamyatin was replying to a question on the Chinese protest note, delivered to the Soviet Embassy in Peking, accusing the Russians of killing a woman herder and kidnaping another herdsman. The note claimed Soviet troops, tanks and armored cars were involved in the incident which allegedly occurred yesterday in Sinkiang Province.

Zamyatin was speaking at a press conference in connection with the current international Communist conference of 75 parties.

China is boycotting the conference and several other neutral or China-aligned parties also are absent.

Manslaughter, Forgery Trial Judge Is Out

The manslaughter and forgery trial scheduled to tbegin yesterday in Sonoma County Superior Court for Vera Mae Walsh, former Fairfax practical nurse, was delayed after disqualification of the judge.

Mrs. Walsh, through her attorney, Albert Rizzo, disqualified Judge Lincoln F. Mahan. No reason was given.

The case will be assigned to another Superior Court judge on Monday with trial tentatively scheduled to begin June 17.

Mrs. Walsh, 42, is accused of the manslaughter death of her patient, Mrs. Gloria Giannis, who died Jan. 5 from an overdose of drugs at the Women's Santa Rosa apartment. She is also accused of forging Mrs. Giannis's name after her death to two checks totaling $235.

Mrs. Walsh is awaiting sentencing in Marin Superior Court for the theft of valuables from the home of a Fairfax couple by whom she was employed.

Richmond Bridge Traffic Increases

Traffic on the Richmond-San Rafael bridge showed 6.7 and 9.7 per cent increases in April and May over last year's figures for those months.

There were 497.558 vehicles on the bridge for an increase of 31.274 over April 1968, and 533-083 in May for a difference of 47.224 over May 1968.

Ann Arbor Co-Ed Is Sixth Murder Victim

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Mrs. Joseph Kalom was watching television in Kalamazoo, Mich., when she saw an artist's sketch of a young woman whose mutilated body was found near this college town.

She recognized the likeness of her daughter Alice.

Last night, the Kaloms drove a 100 miles to Ann Arbor and after viewing the body, confirmed that their 21-year-old daughter was the latest victim in a 22-month string of six murders of young women in the Ann Arbor area.

Miss Kalom, a recent graduate of the University of Michigan School of Architecture and Design who stayed on to take a few courses this summer, was last seen alive by her boy friend early Saturday morning.

Police believe she was killed some time Sunday night. Her body was found Monday on an abandoned farm.

She had been shot in the head and repeatedly stabbed, once in the heart.

"I raised a good girl," said gan school of architecture and design who stayed on to take a Kalon, a pharmacist, after identifying the body. "I was afraid. I called her every time there was one of the murders. She said, "I'm careful; I don't associate with strangers."

The murder chain began Aug. 7, 1967. The victims ranged in age from 13 to 23 years.

All the bodies have been found on the fringes of Ann Arbor and nearby Ypsilanti. All had been shot, strangled or stabbed. All but one were partially nude and had been sexually molested.

Authorities investigating the murders believe all six deaths were the work of a single assailant.

Antilogging Case To Youth Court

The cases of two persons arrested during a protest of logging on the Righetti Ranch on Bolinas Ridge yesterday were transferred to juvenile court even though Juvenile Judge Samuel W. Gardiner said the defendants will receive five-day jail sentences if convicted.

Gregory Alan Brougham, 18, and Gillian LeProvest Baxter, 18, are accused of failing to yield the right of way to vehicles and failure to disperse. Brougham is additionally charged with marijuana possession.

Two others arrested at the same time, Michael Alan Bond, 26, and Lorraine Barrow, 35, both of Bolinas, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court and a jury trial was set for Sept. 18.

Police Chief Admits Park Action Was 'Inappropriate'

Charges that police pushed over a tool shed and playhouse "unfortunately are true," Chief Bruce Baker told a news conference yesterday.

Baker, who has been chief only two months, said "investigations are continuing, and until we're finished, I can't say what disciplinary action if any, will be taken."

He said the police action "was not a planned police raid."

About 30 officers dispersed 150 persons who gathered at the "annex" following an abortive march Friday night on the original "people's park" more than a mile away.

Baker said his men took "inappropriate action" when they tore apart one structure, overturned another and snapped some young newly planted trees.

The small buildings were "unauthorized structures," Baker said, but "it is not customary for police officers to dismantle such structures. The action . . . was not responsive to specific complaints."

The chief denied reports that they clubbed or "stomped" puppies, and that they threw a kitten into a fire, as some of the "street people" have claimed.

Baker said the department has received over 100 complaints about noisy gatherings in the area.

The "people's park annex" is on land owned by the Bay Area Rapid Transit District, which has offered to lease the land for a park.

The "annex" was established after the University of California fenced in land May 15 near the campus, sparking demonstrations that resulted in 130 injuries, one of them fatal.

BART General Manager B. R. Stokes said police did not contact him before the raid .

To reduce congestion and to insure speedy trials resulting from more than 920 arrests since May 15, State Supreme Court Judge Rogert J. Traynor authorized yesterday use of five additional courtrooms and three judges.

Traynor's order specifies use of three Alameda County Superior courtrooms and two Oakland-Piedmont municipal courts. Names of the judges will be announced.

Charges against many of the 500 arrested in a sweep of the Shattuck Avenue business district by police and National Guardsmen may be dropped after a review of affidavits and police consultations, said Deputy Dist. Atty. Jeffrey Horner.

U-Boat was the name given to German submarines during World War I.

Banquet Will Honor Prather

Robert Prather, principal of Tamalpais High School, will be honored by faculty, parents and district residents at a buffet dinner at 7 p.m. June 19 at the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley, the Tamalpais High School Parent-Teachers Association has announced.

Prather, principal since 1962, is taking a year's sabbatical and will take a post in the Tamalpais District office when he returns.

Reservations for the dinner may be made by calling Mrs. Ernest Kroner, 77 Del Casa Drive, or Mrs. John A. Thomson, 266 Hillside Avenue, both Mill Valley.

Member Of Bolinas Panel Quits

Mrs. Alyce Thompson, longtime member of the Bolinas-Stinson Beach School District board last night formally submitted her resignation to the board.

In her letter to the board Mrs. Thompson said that she felt "utter futility by another example of the kind of behavior that's tearing this school apart."

The former board member actually quit the body following a closed meeting held prior to a budget session on May 27, declaring that the "discussion is incongruous after what we've just been through." Mrs. Thompson offered no clarification at that time.

In obvious reference to that closed meeting Mrs. Thompson's letter said: "There's no problem facing this school which couldn't be solved by placing it squarely on the table in a public meeting, and openly, fairly without prejudice discussing it to a solution."

The letter of resignation will now be forwarded to the county superintendent of schools office for action.

Mrs. Thompson's resignation was essentially academic, however, since her term expires June 30 and this was the last meeting of the present board. She did not run for reelection in April.

Pompidou Sees Better U.S. Ties

PARIS (AP — Georges Pompidou, favored to succeed Gen. Charles de Gaulle as president of France, says his country's relations with the United States have improved mainly because of the "evolution of the Vietnam situation."

In a televised interview yesterday, Pompidou said another factor was "a better understanding by the U.S. government — and particularly the (Richard M.) Nixon government — of the fact that France, despite its reservations about NATO defense arrangements, remains profoundly attached to the North Atlantic Alliance and to its old friendship with the United States."

Stray Message Bared In Probe Of Warships' Deadly Collision

SUBIC BAY, Philippines(AP) — The skipper of the U.S. destroyer Frank E. Evans testified today a message outlining expected plans for destroyer escort deployment around the Australian carrier Melbourne never was received by his ship before the two vessels collided last week.

Cmdr. Albert S. McLemore told a U.S.-Australian board investigating the collision that killed 74 Americans that the period covered by the message was 24 hours starting on the morning of June 2 and included the time of the collision—3:15 a.m. June 3.

McLemore said he has learned that the other two American destroyers around the Melbourne also had not received the communication.

U.S. Navy spokesmen stressed, however, that the message, a regular daily communication, was not an order for ships to follow and was considered more as an expected program for the day.

The spokesmen said the missing message would not have had any effect on the collision, but did indicate communications problems between the Evans and Melbourne. The message originated aboard the Melbourne.

McLemore told the board of three Australian and three American Navy officers that he had gone to sleep about midnight, and was not awakened until a violent crash threw him from his bed.

In reconstructing the events of the day and evening before that, he said he knew of an exercise scheduled for the night but that it did not involve switching the Evans from one station to another.

McLemore said that standing orders aboard the Evans were for him to be awakened if a change of station was coming, but not to be awakened if the vessel only changed speed or course.

The Australian Navy Department has said that the Evans had been ordered to switch from a screening position forward of the Melbourne to a plane guard position behind her.

Asked if he had any indication when he went to sleep that he might be required to change stations, McLemore said, "No, I really didn't know. I hadn't received the destroyer duty assignments of the day. Since then I have, and I was not the designated plane guard."

McLemore said, however, "We evidently were ordered in, and that's enough."

McLemore said Ramsey had been aboard the Evans for 20 months.

He said Ramsey had been qualified formally to operate the ship in fleet task force maneuvers only 10 days, but that he had been doing so with informal qualifications for about four months.

Earlier in the day, the board heard new testimony from Australian Rear Adm. G. J. B. Crabb, commander of the task group formation around the Melbourne.

Crabb, who had been asleep in his bunk up to within three minutes of the collision, said he had ransferred tactical command of the group to the commander of the Melbourne about 10:30 p.m. when an exercise was completed.

He said he was in his pajamas when he saw the carrier slice the Evans in two. Then he hurried back to his cabin to put on his uniform because "I thought it was incorrect for an admiral to be seen on deck in his pajamas."

Crabb said he was awakened at 3:12 a.m. and was told that the two ships were on a collision course.

He said he hurried to the flag bridge of the Melbourne, saw the crash and reported it at 3:16. One minute later he had changed into his uniform, he said, then he hurried back to the bridge to direct the rescue of the destroyer's surviving crewmen.

Seventy-four of the Evans' men were killed in the collision.

Moscow Blasts Red China On Border Provocations

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union accused Communist China today of provoking new clashes on the Soviet border and said China possibly will make further efforts to "poison the good, businesslike atmosphere" at the Moscow-organized international Communist conference.

Soviet Foreign Ministry spokesman Leonid Zamyatin added that a recent series of incidents on the border "probably has the purpose of hampering the consultations proposed by the Soviet government" on the border question.

Zamyatin was replying to a question on the Chinese protest note, delivered to the Soviet Embassy in Peking, accusing the Russians of killing a woman herder and kidnaping another herdsman. The note claimed Soviet troops, tanks and armored cars were involved in the incident which allegedly occurred yesterday in Sinkiang Province.

Zamyatin was speaking at a press conference in connection with the current international Communist conference of 75 parties.

China is boycotting the conference and several other neutral or China-aligned parties also are absent.

Manslaughter, Forgery Trial Judge Is Out

The manslaughter and forgery trial scheduled to tbegin yesterday in Sonoma County Superior Court for Vera Mae Walsh, former Fairfax practical nurse, was delayed after disqualification of the judge.

Mrs. Walsh, through her attorney, Albert Rizzo, disqualified Judge Lincoln F. Mahan. No reason was given.

The case will be assigned to another Superior Court judge on Monday with trial tentatively scheduled to begin June 17.

Mrs. Walsh, 42, is accused of the manslaughter death of her patient, Mrs. Gloria Giannis, who died Jan. 5 from an overdose of drugs at the Women's Santa Rosa apartment. She is also accused of forging Mrs. Giannis's name after her death to two checks totaling $235.

Mrs. Walsh is awaiting sentencing in Marin Superior Court for the theft of valuables from the home of a Fairfax couple by whom she was employed.

Richmond Bridge Traffic Increases

Traffic on the Richmond-San Rafael bridge showed 6.7 and 9.7 per cent increases in April and May over last year's figures for those months.

There were 497,558 vehicles on the bridge for an increase of 31,274 over April 1968, and 533-083 in May for a difference of 47,224 over May 1968.

Member Of Bolinas Panel Quits

Mrs. Alyce Thompson, longtime member of the Bolinas-Stinson Beach School District board last night formally submitted her resignation to the board.

In her letter to the board Mrs. Thompson said that she felt "utter futility by another example of the kind of behavior that's tearing this school apart."

The former board member actually quit the body following a closed meeting held prior to a budget session on May 27, declaring that the "discussion is incongruous after what we've just been through." Mrs. Thompson offered no clarification at that time.

In obvious reference to that closed meeting Mrs. Thompson's letter said: "There's no problem facing this school which couldn't be solved by placing it squarely on the table in a public meeting, and openly, fairly without prejudice discussing it to a solution."

The letter of resignation will now be forwarded to the county superintendent of schools office for action.

Mrs. Thompson's resignation was essentially academic, however, since her term expires June 30 and this was the last meeting of the present board. She did not run for reelection in April.

Pompidou Sees Better U.S. Ties

PARIS (AP — Georges Pompidou, favored to succeed Gen. Charles de Gaulle as president of France, says his country's relations with the United States have improved mainly because of the "evolution of the Vietnam situation."

In a televised interview yesterday, Pompidou said another factor was "a better understanding by the U.S. government — and particularly the (Richard M.) Nixon government — of the fact that France, despite its reservations about NATO defense arrangements, remains profoundly attached to the North Atlantic Alliance and to its old friendship with the United States."

Stray Message Bared In Probe Of Warships' Deadly Collision

SUBIC BAY, Philippines(AP) — The skipper of the U.S. destroyer Frank E. Evans testified today a message outlining expected plans for destroyer escort deployment around the Australian carrier Melbourne never was received by his ship before the two vessels collided last week.

Cmdr. Albert S. McLemore told a U.S.-Australian board investigating the collision that killed 74 Americans that the period covered by the message was 24 hours starting on the morning of June 2 and included the time of the collision—3:15 a.m. June 3.

McLemore said he has learned that the other two American destroyers around the Melbourne also had not received the communication.

U.S. Navy spokesmen stressed, however, that the message, a regular daily communication, was not an order for ships to follow and was considered more as an expected program for the day.

The spokesmen said the missing message would not have had any effect on the collision, but did indicate communications problems between the Evans and Melbourne. The message originated aboard the Melbourne.

McLemore told the board of three Australian and three American Navy officers that he had gone to sleep about midnight, and was not awakened until a violent crash threw him from his bed.

In reconstructing the events of the day and evening before that, he said he knew of an exercise scheduled for the night but that it did not involve switching the Evans from one station to another.

McLemore said that standing orders aboard the Evans were for him to be awakened if a change of station was coming, but not to be awakened if the vessel only changed speed or course.

The Australian Navy Department has said that the Evans had been ordered to switch from a screening position forward of the Melbourne to a plane guard position behind her.

Asked if he had any indication when he went to sleep that he might be required to change stations, McLemore said, "No, I really didn't know. I hadn't received the destroyer duty assignments of the day. Since then I have, and I was not the designated plane guard."

McLemore said, however, "We evidently were ordered in, and that's enough."

McLemore said Ramsey had been aboard the Evans for 20 months.

He said Ramsey had been qualified formally to operate the ship in fleet task force maneuvers only 10 days, but that he had been doing so with informal qualifications for about four months.

Earlier in the day, the board heard new testimony from Australian Rear Adm. G. J. B. Crabb, commander of the task group formation around the Melbourne.

Crabb, who had been asleep in his bunk up to within three minutes of the collision, said he had ransferred tactical command of the group to the commander of the Melbourne about 10:30 p.m. when an exercise was completed.

He said he was in his pajamas when he saw the carrier slice the Evans in two. Then he hurried back to his cabin to put on his uniform because "I thought it was incorrect for an admiral to be seen on deck in his pajamas."

Crabb said he was awakened at 3:12 a.m. and was told that the two ships were on a collision course.

He said he hurried to the flag bridge of the Melbourne, saw the crash and reported it at 3:16. One minute later he had changed into his uniform, he said, then he hurried back to the bridge to direct the rescue of the destroyer's surviving crewmen.

Seventy-four of the Evans' men were killed in the collision.

A new listing — large 2-story colonial — professionally landscaped on a level lot and within walking distance to elementary school and park. This is an ideal home for the young family. 4 bedrooms, 3 baths, paneled family room, hardwood floors. Assumable 5½% loan. $43,750.00. Eves. 453-5983.

DEEP WATER CHANNEL SAN RAFAEL
Right in your own back yard. Dock your boat at your doorstep. Immaculate 3-bedroom, 3-bath ranch style home with beautiful landscaping, sprinkler system on time clock, patios and terrace; carpeting over random plank floors, paneling in living room and dining room; all walls and ceilings insulated; close to all schools; swimming club membership and stereo equipment included in price. $52,500.00 Eves. 453-8881.

DOMINICAN COLONIAL SAN RAFAEL
Remodeled older home in the heart of the exclusive Dominican, keynoted by formality and elegance. Antique buffs note graceful fan light over front door and carved mouldings in interior rooms. Separate guest house or maid's quarters. 3 bedrooms, 3+ baths. Level ½ acre with POOL. Eves. 453-5983. $68,000.00.

TRES ELEGANTE SAN RAFAEL
A sophisticated home for the mature family. Entry foyer and dining room have terrazzo floors. Sunken living room with plush w/w carpeting. Huge kitchen with Island Cooking Center by Jenn Air. Breakfast room and separate garden room open to the sky. 3 bedrooms, 3 baths. 3,300 sq. ft. of luxurious living space, all of the highest quality. Situated on 1.3 acres with pool site — view of Civic Center. $79,950.00. Eves. 924-4323.

CUSTOM BUILT KENTFIELD
Ideal location. Custom built home of Master Builder gives privacy and seclusion, but on the level and within walking distance to schools and bus. 3 bedrooms, 3 baths, paneled living room, huge family room, large free-form pool. $89,500.00. Eves. 453-5983.

MINIATURE ESTATE KENTFIELD
Approach this superb home by circular driveway, winding through the lavish gardens, designed for minimum maintenance and accented by night lighting. View the massive living room with one entire glass wall facing a panoramic view encompassing the Bay to Mt. Tamalpais; another wall has a mitered glass outlook into a tranquil garden. Formal dining room plus breakfast room; stainless steel All-Electric Kitchen, butlers pantry and wet bar; 3 bedrooms, 3 baths complete the interior picture. Huge wrap-around deck, 2-car garage and workshop outside. A splendid home for the discriminating buyer seeking quality and charm. $100,000.00. Eves. 924-4323.

AN IDEA

Are you reading the Want Ads every day, hoping to spot a good buy? Then consider for a moment another way of doing the same thing which we think may be better.

It is a fact that often OUR best buys never get advertised at all. We have over $13 million in Marin property listed for sale at any one time, and naturally we can't advertise all we have for sale every day. And furthermore, we call OUR buyers BEFORE a property gets to the papers, and if it is what they want, it is sold before it is advertised at all!

So our suggestion is that you tell us what it is that YOU are looking for in Marin. Chances are we have it listed now, or if not, that we will have it listed soon, because we have a continuous flow of new listings from a backlog of FIFTY-NINE YEARS of selling here (relistings) as well as from our complete coverage with SIX MARIN COUNTY OFFICES.

As soon as we spot what you are looking for, WE WILL CALL YOU FIRST, BEFORE WE ADVERTISE THE PROPERTY. Become one of our buyers . . . call

AN IDEA
Are you reading the Want Ads every day, hoping to spot a good buy? Then consider for a moment another way of doing the same thing which we think may be better.

It is a fact that often OUR best buys never get advertised at all. We have over $13 million in Marin property listed for sale at any one time, and naturally we can't advertise all we have for sale every day. And furthermore, we call OUR buyers BEFORE a property gets to the papers, and if it is what they want, it is sold before it is advertised at all!

So our suggestion is that you tell us what it is that YOU are looking for in Marin. Chances are we have it listed now, or if not, that we will have it listed soon, because we have a continuous flow of new listings from a backlog of FIFTY-NINE YEARS of selling here (relistings) as well as from our complete coverage with SIX MARIN COUNTY OFFICES.

As soon as we spot what you are looking for, WE WILL CALL YOU FIRST, BEFORE WE ADVERTISE THE PROPERTY. Become one of our buyers . . . call

SUMMONS
(General)
No. 53026

Superior Court of the State of California for the County of Marin.

JACQUELINE LOU SMITH,
Plaintiff
vs.
ROBERT FRANCIS SMITH,
Defendant

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA to the above named Defendant:

You are directed to file with the clerk of this court in which the above entitled action is brought a written pleading in response to the complaint within ten days after the service on you of this summons, if served within the above named county, or within thirty days if served elsewhere (except that if the action is against the state pursuant to Section 738.5 of the Code of Civil Procedure, within 180 days). You are notified that unless you so file a written response pleading, the plaintiff will take judgment for any money or damages demanded in the complaint as arising upon contract, or will apply to the court for any other relief demanded in the complaint.

You may seek the advice of an attorney on any matter connected with the complaint or this summons. Such attorney should be consulted within the time limit stated in this summons for filing a written pleading to the complaint.

Dated February 5, 1969.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Reagan Refuses To Make A Bay Stand

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Gov. Ronald Reagan stood firm today in his refusal to commit himself to any one of four bills designed to save San Francisco Bay from haphazard development.

The governor told his weekly news conference yesterday he'll wait and see what is contained in the measures when they reach his desk.

Reagan was asked if his criteria for save-the-bay legislation excluded any bills, particularly one that gives the Bay Conservation and Development Commission (BCDC) authority over a strip of bay shoreline and adjacent salt ponds and marshlands.

"I'm going to wait till they get down here and I see them on the desk," he said.

DDT VIEWED

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Gov. Ronald Reagan says there would be "great difficulty" in banning DDT in California because it is the only bug killer that can effectively protect some crops.

"We'd have great difficulty in this state in an outright ban," the governor told his weekly news conference yesterday.

Reagan said some crops such as cotton require DDT applications to remain healthy.

But he said the state Department of Agriculture "has been working on this subject" and in the past five years has helped reduce the use of the pesticide by 80 per cent.

NO DANGER

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Fish in the Sacramento River contain safe levels of the pesticide DDT, the Department of Fish and Game reported yesterday.

Director Ray Arnett said his department has taken fish samples from an area of the river where DDT levels are the highest as any in California.

He said the survey showed fish in the river remain "well within the tolerance of five parts per million" set in April by the Federal Health, Education and Welfare Department.

CREDIT PANEL

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A 16-member task force was named yesterday by Gov. Ronald Reagan to investigate abuses in credit and personnel reporting which prevent persons from getting credit, insurance or jobs.

The governor said the group, which will serve without pay, will submit its findings and recommendations to him by Feb. 1, 1970.

"Widespread public concern about possible abuses in reporting practices that may have wrongfully denied citizens credit, insurance or employment deserves priority attention to determine the extent and nature of abuses and the appropriate steps needed to correct them," he said.

The task force will hold testimony from individuals and groups.

Reagan appointed Guy W. Wadsworth Jr., president of the Los Angeles Civil Service Commission, to head the task force and Gordon H. Bishop, chief of the state Collection Agency Licensing Bureau, as the group's executive secretary.

HITS REPORT

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Portions of a report criticizing the conditions for the mentally retarded at Sonoma State Hospital were labeled inaccurate yesterday by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

The governor noted the report was prepared a year ago by three prominent authorities of mental retardation for the state Department of Mental Hygiene. The document was ordered made public by a judge Monday.

Reagan said some of the report's criticisms "are already corrected or being corrected" and that staff workers are being hired "as fast as we can" to offset the reduction in patients who perform caretaker chores.

PROSTITUTES

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The Assembly yesterday voted 47-12 to place a minimum 45-day jail sentence on prostitutes convicted twice.

But author of the bill, Assemblyman Leo McCarthy, D-San Francisco, promised to offer amendments in the Senate to punish customers of prostitutes.

His measure requires a 45-day jail sentence for a second offense and 90 days on a third probation. Currently, the sentence is determined by the judge.

MEDI-CAL

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — An Assembly-passed bill providing stiff penalties for persons who attempt to defraud the state medical care program by submitting false claims has advanced to the Senate floor.

The Senate Labor and Social Welfare Committee yesterday endorsed the measure by Assemblyman Gordon Duffy, R-Hanford, which authorizes a maximum $5,000 fine and five years in prison for suppliers of medical services who knowingly submit false claims.

The committee also cleared to the floor a companion bill by Duffy that imposes a conflict of interest code on providers of Medi-Cal services. It would prohibit payment to a doctor who refers Medi-Cal patients to clinics or hospitals in which they have a "significant beneficial interest."

LACKS BACKING

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Robert H. Simpson, 89, walked the Capitol halls today wrapped in his sandwich-board sign abusively critical of state officials. A bill that would have ended his picketing lay gathering dust in a Senate committee.

Assemblyman Don Mulford, R-Piedmont, asked the Senate judiciary committee yesterday to remove his bill banning picketing within the Capitol from its agenda. The bill presently does not have enough support to clear the lawyers' panel.

While placing the bill in legislative limbo, chairman Donald L. Grunsky, R-Watsonville, allowed Simpson to air his grievances to the committee.

Simpson is a familiar figure in Capitol corridors with his signs including some abusive language accusing state officials of conspiring to violate his civil rights.

He once was committed to a mental hospital. A jury later found him sane.

Hitchhiking Girls Loot Woman's Purse

Three hitchhiking girls yesterday stole $16 from the purse of a Saratoga woman who gave them a ride, sheriff's deputies reported.

Deputies said Mrs. Ann W. Moss picked up the three teenagers in front of Tamalpais High School yesterday afternoon. When she let them off near Marin City, she found her puse had been ransacked, according to deputies.

Reed Parents Rate Teacher Need Highest

Parents in Reed School District believe well trained teachers, at pay competitive with other districts, are the most important single factor for the schools.

Ninety-one per cent of 930 parents listed well-trained, well-paid teachers as one of the three most important items in a survey conducted by an ad hoc study committee set up by the Reed District Parent-Teacher Club.

The only other item voted among "most important" by more than half of those responding to the survey was small classes — 25 pupils to one teacher. This got an 83 per cent vote.

Third in line, but far behind, was "large variety of educational materials (including audio-visual)," market by 32 per cent.

OTHER PRIORITIES

Following this came: good libraries with paid professional staff, 28 per cent; special trained personnel to deal with special problems, 27 per cent; bus transportation, 19 per cent, and paid teacher aides, 5 per cent.

Dianne G. Bramman, who headed the committee, said 72 persons worked on the survey, putting in a total of "439 woman-hours."

Reed District parents showed strong support for special programs, of which the district has many. More than half the respondents urged continuance of remedial reading, art, speech therapy, vocal music, "more able learner," instrumental music, Spanish and summer school programs.

The parents attached little importance to traditional classroom arrangements. Only two per cent felt desks should be in rows, and only six per cent felt every child should be working on the same page at the same time.

Use of standard textbooks in all classes got support of only 34 per cent, while 87 per cent said a variety of learning materials should be available.

DISCIPLINE ISSUE

A series of questions dealt with discipline. They showed 92 per cent of parents wishing to retain emphasis on self-discipline. Some discipline lacks which were noted by 25 per cent or more were: tardiness, too much moving about in classrooms, running in the halls, and failure to complete daily assignments.

There was little agreement on how teachers should report to parents, but a parent conference plus some sort of written evaluation found the most support.

Reed District parents—at least those who filled out the questionnaire—apparently keep track of their schools more closely than do parents in most districts, for 33 per cent said they had spent at least an hour observing their children's classes and 57 per cent said they had attended at least one meeting of the Reed School District board.

Eighty-six per cent said they would like to attend a special board meeting set up to discuss with parents the district's goals in discipline, curriculum and communication.

Paint Explodes, Causing Damage Of $1 Million

RICHMOND (UPI) — "It was really just a freak accident," said manager Bob Dickerson in describing a paint explosion which caused a million dollars damage to his small manufacturing plant and sent 17 men scrambling to safety.

Black clouds of smoke billowed over Dickerson's Reliance Chemical Co. yesterday as firemen fought the waterfront blaze for several hours and finally let it burn out.

He called the explosion a freak accident.

The plant, which manufactures paints, enamels and solvents for the government, was a total loss.

Incomes Climb By 2 Per Cent

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Personal income in California during the first three months of this year climbed by 2 per cent from the final quarter of 1968.

The state Finance Department said yesterday the $80.63 billion income total was 8.9 per cent higher than the first quarter of 1968.

The department said the increases were fractionally greater than those recorded for the rest of the nation.

Wages and salaries for the January-through-March period reached $55.24 billion, a gain of 2.5 per cent from the previous quarter.

Seminary In San Anselmo To Award Degrees To 61

Sixty-one persons will receive degrees at the 98th annual commencement exercises of San Francisco Theological Seminary, in San Anselmo Saturday.

In place of the traditional commencement speaker, two members of the class, Paul W. Pinegar and Donald R. Shaw, will join President Arnold B. Come in a dialogue "The Christ of the Future." The ceremonies begin at 10:30 a.m. in Baird Hall Court.

Commencement will be preceded by a baccalaureate sermon and service of communion at 8 p.m. Friday in the First Presbyterian Church of San Anselmo. The Rev. John O. Najarian Jr., a 1957 graduate of the seminary and newly installed pastor of the Hub church, will preach the sermon entitled "People with a Past."

Fifteen candidates will receive advanced degrees: three the doctor of theology, two the doctor of the science of theology, five the master of theology, and five the master of the science of theology. Thirty-eight candidates will receive the bachelor of divinity degree and eight the master of arts degree.

Other honors to be awarded at the exercises include: the Seminary Fellowship to Gerard Hubbel Weiss of White Plains, N.Y.: the Alumni Fellowship to Robert Edwin Kreischer of Lake Forest, Ill.; and the Fellowship for the Pastoral Ministry to Douglas Brown McMurry, Madison, Wis. Plans Approved For Apartments

Architectural plans for the 54-apartment Hummingbird Hill development on Via Hidalgo in Larkspur were approved last night by the Larkspur Planning Commission on application from John Tarantino and Al Franzi.

The commission also approved variance applications to permit tandem parking spaces for John S. Russell of 545 South Eliseo Drive and Everett Pezoldt at 557 South Eliseo Drive.

It approved renaming the now informally named North Industrial Way as Rich Street.

SUMMONS
(General)
No. 53026

Superior Court of the State of California for the County of Marin.
JACQUELINE LOU SMITH,
Plaintiff
vs.
ROBERT FRANCIS SMITH,
Defendant

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA to the above named Defendant:

You are directed to file with the clerk of this court in which the above entitled action is brought a written pleading in response to the complaint within ten days after the service on you of this summons, if served within the above named county, or within thirty days if served elsewhere (except that if the action is against the state pursuant to Section 738.5 of the Code of Civil Procedure, within 180 days). You are notified that unless you so file a written response pleading, the plaintiff will take judgment for any money or damages demanded in the complaint as arising upon contract, or will apply to the court for any other relief demanded in the complaint.

You may seek the advice of an attorney on any matter connected with the complaint or this summons. Such attorney should be consulted within the time limit stated in this summons for filing a written pleading to the complaint.

Dated February 5, 1969.

Jones Reelected President Of Family Service

Clinton Jones III of Kentfield has been reelected president of the Marin County Family Service Agency Board of Trustees.

Other officers elected are Mrs. Donald R. Wellington of San Rafael, vice president; Ben Solomon of Kentfield, treasurer, and Donald G. Davis of San Rafael, secretary.

Named as new members of the board were Mrs. Helen Washington of Marin City, a community worker in Project Breakthrough in Marin City, and Gerard Weiss of San Anselmo, a student at the San Francisco Theological Seminary and a worker in Head Start at Marin City.

Library Named For Eisenhower

The Sausalito School District board approved the library's name Monday after Jane Pomerleau, student council member told the board the student body had voted to name the library after the late president, Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Five Marinites Get UOP Degrees

They are: Peter James Bohan Jr. of Belvedere-Tiburon, bachelor of science in pharmacy; Kenneth B. Clarke of Mill Valley, Marcela Lewin of San Rafael and Carl Schwarcz of Sausalito, all bachelor of arts; and Vernon Kenneth Leonard Jr. of Pacific Marine Station, Dillon Beach, master of science.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Reagan Refuses To Make A Bay Stand

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Gov. Ronald Reagan stood firm today in his refusal to commit himself to any one of four bills designed to save San Francisco Bay from haphazard development.

The governor told his weekly news conference yesterday he'll wait and see what is contained in the measures when they reach his desk.

Reagan was asked if his criteria for save-the-bay legislation excluded any bills, particularly one that gives the Bay Conservation and Development Commission (BCDC) authority over a strip of bay shoreline and adjacent salt ponds and marshlands.

"I'm going to wait till they get down here and I see them on the desk," he said.

DDT VIEWED

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Gov. Ronald Reagan says there would be "great difficulty" in banning DDT in California because it is the only bug killer that can effectively protect some crops.

"We'd have great difficulty in this state in an outright ban," the governor told his weekly news conference yesterday.

Reagan said some crops such as cotton require DDT applications to remain healthy.

But he said the state Department of Agriculture "has been working on this subject" and in the past five years has helped reduce the use of the pesticide by 80 per cent.

NO DANGER

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Fish in the Sacramento River contain safe levels of the pesticide DDT, the Department of Fish and Game reported yesterday.

Director Ray Arnett said his department has taken fish samples from an area of the river where DDT levels are the highest as any in California.

He said the survey showed fish in the river remain "well within the tolerance of five parts per million" set in April by the Federal Health, Education and Welfare Department.

CREDIT PANEL

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A 16-member task force was named yesterday by Gov. Ronald Reagan to investigate abuses in credit and personnel reporting which prevent persons from getting credit, insurance or jobs.

The governor said the group, which will serve without pay, will submit its findings and recommendations to him by Feb. 1, 1970.

"Widespread public concern about possible abuses in reporting practices that may have wrongfully denied citizens credit, insurance or employment deserves priority attention to determine the extent and nature of abuses and the appropriate steps needed to correct them," he said.

The task force will hold testimony from individuals and groups.

Reagan appointed Guy W. Wadsworth Jr., president of the Los Angeles Civil Service Commission, to head the task force and Gordon H. Bishop, chief of the state Collection Agency Licensing Bureau, as the group's executive secretary.

HITS REPORT

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Portions of a report criticizing the conditions for the mentally retarded at Sonoma State Hospital were labeled inaccurate yesterday by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

The governor noted the report was prepared a year ago by three prominent authorities of mental retardation for the state Department of Mental Hygiene. The document was ordered made public by a judge Monday.

Reagan said some of the report's criticisms "are already corrected or being corrected" and that staff workers are being hired "as fast as we can" to offset the reduction in patients who perform caretaker chores.

PROSTITUTES

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The Assembly yesterday voted 47-12 to place a minimum 45-day jail sentence on prostitutes convicted twice.

But author of the bill, Assemblyman Leo McCarthy, D-San Francisco, promised to offer amendments in the Senate to punish customers of prostitutes.

His measure requires a 45-day jail sentence for a second offense and 90 days on a third probation. Currently, the sentence is determined by the judge.

MEDI-CAL

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — An Assembly-passed bill providing stiff penalties for persons who attempt to defraud the state medical care program by submitting false claims has advanced to the Senate floor.

The Senate Labor and Social Welfare Committee yesterday endorsed the measure by Assemblyman Gordon Duffy, R-Hanford, which authorizes a maximum $5,000 fine and five years in prison for suppliers of medical services who knowingly submit false claims.

The committee also cleared to the floor a companion bill by Duffy that imposes a conflict of interest code on providers of Medi-Cal services. It would prohibit payment to a doctor who refers Medi-Cal patients to clinics or hospitals in which they have a "significant beneficial interest."

LACKS BACKING

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Robert H. Simpson, 89, walked the Capitol halls today wrapped in his sandwich-board sign abusively critical of state officials. A bill that would have ended his picketing lay gathering dust in a Senate committee.

Assemblyman Don Mulford, R-Piedmont, asked the Senate judiciary committee yesterday to remove his bill banning picketing within the Capitol from its agenda. The bill presently does not have enough support to clear the lawyers' panel.

While placing the bill in legislative limbo, chairman Donald L. Grunsky, R-Watsonville, allowed Simpson to air his grievances to the committee.

Simpson is a familiar figure in Capitol corridors with his signs including some abusive language accusing state officials of conspiring to violate his civil rights.

He once was committed to a mental hospital. A jury later found him sane.

Reed Parents Rate Teacher Need Highest

Parents in Reed School District believe well trained teachers, at pay competitive with other districts, are the most important single factor for the schools.

Ninety-one per cent of 930 parents listed well-trained, well-paid teachers as one of the three most important items in a survey conducted by an ad hoc study committee set up by the Reed District Parent-Teacher Club.

The only other item voted among "most important" by more than half of those responding to the survey was small classes — 25 pupils to one teacher. This got an 83 per cent vote.

Third in line, but far behind, was "large variety of educational materials (including audio-visual)," market by 32 per cent.

OTHER PRIORITIES

Following this came: good libraries with paid professional staff, 28 per cent; special trained personnel to deal with special problems, 27 per cent; bus transportation, 19 per cent, and paid teacher aides, 5 per cent.

Dianne G. Bramman, who headed the committee, said 72 persons worked on the survey, putting in a total of "439 woman-hours."

Reed District parents showed strong support for special programs, of which the district has many. More than half the respondents urged continuance of remedial reading, art, speech therapy, vocal music, "more able learner," instrumental music, Spanish and summer school programs.

The parents attached little importance to traditional classroom arrangements. Only two per cent felt desks should be in rows, and only six per cent felt every child should be working on the same page at the same time.

Use of standard textbooks in all classes got support of only 34 per cent, while 87 per cent said a variety of learning materials should be available.

DISCIPLINE ISSUE

A series of questions dealt with discipline. They showed 92 per cent of parents wishing to retain emphasis on self-discipline. Some discipline lacks which were noted by 25 per cent or more were: tardiness, too much moving about in classrooms, running in the halls, and failure to complete daily assignments.

There was little agreement on how teachers should report to parents, but a parent conference plus some sort of written evaluation found the most support.

Reed District parents—at least those who filled out the questionnaire—apparently keep track of their schools more closely than do parents in most districts, for 33 per cent said they had spent at least an hour observing their children's classes and 57 per cent said they had attended at least one meeting of the Reed School District board.

Eighty-six per cent said they would like to attend a special board meeting set up to discuss with parents the district's goals in discipline, curriculum and communication.

Hitchhiking Girls Loot Woman's Purse

Three hitchhiking girls yesterday stole $16 from the purse of a Saratoga woman who gave them a ride, sheriff's deputies reported.

Deputies said Mrs. Ann W. Moss picked up the three teenagers in front of Tamalpais High School yesterday afternoon. When she let them off near Marin City, she found her puse had been ransacked, according to deputies.

Paint Explodes, Causing Damage Of $1 Million

RICHMOND (UPI) — "It was really just a freak accident," said manager Bob Dickerson in describing a paint explosion which caused a million dollars damage to his small manufacturing plant and sent 17 men scrambling to safety.

Black clouds of smoke billowed over Dickerson's Reliance Chemical Co. yesterday as firemen fought the waterfront blaze for several hours and finally let it burn out.

He called the explosion a freak accident.

The plant, which manufactures paints, enamels and solvents for the government, was a total loss.

Incomes Climb By 2 Per Cent

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Personal income in California during the first three months of this year climbed by 2 per cent from the final quarter of 1968.

The state Finance Department said yesterday the $80.63 billion income total was 8.9 per cent higher than the first quarter of 1968.

The department said the increases were fractionally greater than those recorded for the rest of the nation.

Wages and salaries for the January-through-March period reached $55.24 billion, a gain of 2.5 per cent from the previous quarter.

Seminary In San Anselmo To Award Degrees To 61

Sixty-one persons will receive degrees at the 98th annual commencement exercises of San Francisco Theological Seminary, in San Anselmo Saturday.

In place of the traditional commencement speaker, two members of the class, Paul W. Pinegar and Donald R. Shaw, will join President Arnold B. Come in a dialogue "The Christ of the Future." The ceremonies begin at 10:30 a.m. in Baird Hall Court.

Commencement will be preceded by a baccalaureate sermon and service of communion at 8 p.m. Friday in the First Presbyterian Church of San Anselmo. The Rev. John O. Najarian Jr., a 1957 graduate of the seminary and newly installed pastor of the Hub church, will preach the sermon entitled "People with a Past."

Fifteen candidates will receive advanced degrees: three the doctor of theology, two the doctor of the science of theology, five the master of theology, and five the master of the science of theology. Thirty-eight candidates will receive the bachelor of divinity degree and eight the master of arts degree.

Other honors to be awarded at the exercises include: the Seminary Fellowship to Gerard Hubbel Weiss of White Plains, N.Y.: the Alumni Fellowship to Robert Edwin Kreischer of Lake Forest, Ill.; and the Fellowship for the Pastoral Ministry to Douglas Brown McMurry, Madison, Wis. McMurry also will receive the Martin Dwelle Kneeland Preaching Prize, with honorable mention going to Errol Ford of Compton, Los Angeles County; Reford Brooks Nash, Oklahoma City; Robert Wedaa, Gardena, Los Angeles County; and Roger Thomas Williams of Escondido, San Diego County.

Plans Approved For Apartments

Architectural plans for the 54-apartment Hummingbird Hill development on Via Hidalgo in Larkspur were approved last night by the Larkspur Planning Commission on application from John Tarantino and Al Franzi.

The commission also approved variance applications to permit tandem parking spaces for John S. Russell of 545 South Eliseo Drive and Everett Pezoldt at 557 South Eliseo Drive.

It approved renaming the now informally named North Industrial Way as Rich Street.

Jones Reelected President Of Family Service

Clinton Jones III of Kentfield has been reelected president of the Marin County Family Service Agency Board of Trustees.

Other officers elected are Mrs. Donald R. Wellington of San Rafael, vice president; Ben Solomon of Kentfield, treasurer, and Donald G. Davis of San Rafael, secretary.

Named as new members of the board were Mrs. Helen Washington of Marin City, a community worker in Project Breakthrough in Marin City, and Gerard Weiss of San Anselmo, a student at the San Francisco Theological Seminary and a worker in Head Start at Marin City.

Library Named For Eisenhower

The Sausalito School District board approved the library's name Monday after Jane Pomerleau, student council member told the board the student body had voted to name the library after the late president, Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Five Marinites Get UOP Degrees

They are: Peter James Bohan Jr. of Belvedere-Tiburon, bachelor of science in pharmacy; Kenneth B. Clarke of Mill Valley, Marcela Lewin of San Rafael and Carl Schwarcz of Sausalito, all bachelor of arts; and Vernon Kenneth Leonard Jr. of Pacific Marine Station, Dillon Beach, master of science.

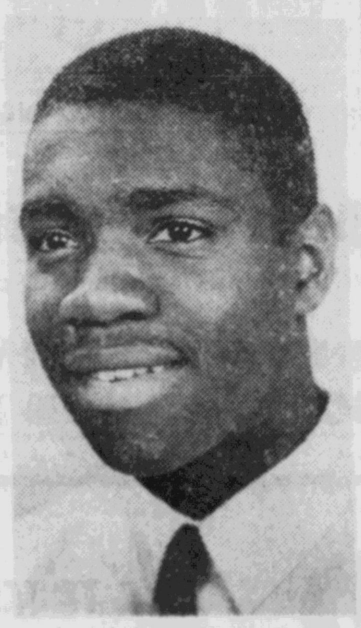
Two Marin Yearlings In NCAA Track Meet

It may be considered a bit of a rarity for a freshman to compete in the National Collegiate Athletic Association track and field championships, but Marin County can claim not one but two collegiate yearlings at the NCAA meet at University of Tennessee in two weeks.

They are hurdler Lowell Harris of Oregon State, a Terra Linda grad, and Alan Lee of Rice, Tam's great sprinter of 1968.



LOWELL HARRIS

That talented twosome, who dominated the Marin County Athletic League championships a year ago, have qualified for the big show, Harris by skimming the tall timber in 14.1 seconds and Lee as leadoff man for Rice's crack 440-yard relay team.

Harris, incidentally, has repeatedly lowered the OSU frosh mark for the high hurdles and last week, in an All-Comers meet at Corvallis, whipped Oregon and OSU varisty hurdlers with his sensational 14.1 clocking.

ATTORNEY BOB MARSHALL, president of Sears Point International Raceway, says it is quite an unnerving experience to ride in a pace car for the big stock car races, as he did Sunday for the parade and pace laps at the 150-mile NASCAR event.

"When you stop to think of what is following you around the course," said Marshall, "it makes you shudder. Each of those 26 cars weighs about 4,000 pounds and has about 500 horsepower. So, look at it this way: I was being chased by 13,000 wild horses weighing 52 tons. Brrr."

Formula A Cars Next At Sears

Next on the Sears agenda June 21-22 is the Sports Car Club of America's Continental Championship featuring those Formula A cars in a 49-lap, 123.6-mile main event. Formula B and C races will supplement the big show.

The Continental Series had its first fatality Sunday at Castle Rock, Colo. in the Continental Divide Championship when Jim Mulhall of Littleton, Colo., spun out of control and hit a retaining wall. Two mechanics were seriously injured and a spectator also was hurt.

The race, abbreviated from 40 to 27 laps because of the tragedy, was won by Dick Simon but Sudden Sam Posey, the boyish-looking 24-year-old Sharon, Conn., ace, placed second in his Eagle-Chevy, giving him first place in the Continental points championship. Posey, who won at Laguna Seca last month, will be at Sears as will all the other Formula A pros.

Two Women Tie At Peacock Gap

Mesdames Robert Bond and Don Faber each netted 68 strokes yesterday to tie for the club trophy in the Peacock Gap Women's Golf Club's 18-home medal handicap tournament at the San Rafael course.

Class A — Mesdames John Hurley, 88-19 — 69; Al Sheppard, 88-18 — 70; Harold Baer, 86-14 — 72.

Class B — Mmes. Robert Bond, 92-24 — 68; Hal Suhrke, 91-22 — 69; E. A. Peiterle, 98-25 — 73.

Jay Alou, Torres In Hospital

HOUSTON (AP) — Outfielder Jesus Alou and shortstop Hector Torres of the Houston Astros were in Methodist Hospital today with head injuries suffered as they collided while chasing a fly ball.

Alou suffered a severe concussion when the two ran together in the third inning of last night's game between the Astros and the Pittsburgh Pirates. Houston won 7-4.

A hospital spokesman said Alou was lapsing in and out of consciousness when he arrived.

DEEP CUTS

Torres was not believed to be as seriously injured, although attendants said he suffered deep cuts above the nose and on the chin.

Quick first aid administered by Pittsburgh trainer Tony Bartirome may have saved Alou's life.

Alou started in slowly and Torres hurried back. While the ball dropped just behind and to the side of them, their heads banged and they sprawled helplessly on the Astroturf.

The ball went for a three-run homer and gave the Pirates a temporary 4-0 lead.

QUICK WORK

Bartirome reached Alou first Noticing that Alou had swallowed his tongue, Bartirome pulled it out, inserted a rubber hose and inflated the hose.

This reopened Alou's throat and restored a normal air flow into the lungs.

"He looked like he was dead," Houston infielder Denis Menke said of Alou. "It was the hardest collision I've ever seen."

"I saw foam coming from his mouth," said Astros trainer Jim Ewell, who helped Bartirome give first aid.

'GREAT JOB'

Umpire Al Barlick, one of the first on the confused scene, said, "Alou's eyes were turning blue. Those trainers did a great job of taking care of him."

One of the most intimately concerned was Matty Alou, Pittsburgh center fielder and brother of Jesus. He hurried to the hospital immediately after the game.

Alou and Torres were carried off the field on stretchers. Torres regained consciousness before leaving the stadium.

Recreation Softball

Refectory defeated Stan's Sports 15-8 and Hiller's walloped the Hurricanes 10-2 last night in the C-II Division of the San Rafael Softball League at Albert Field.

Mets Blast Giant Hurling But Help Is On The Way

Sports

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "Any time your pitching gives up nine runs, you can't expect to win," says San Francisco Manager Clyde King, "but it's awfully tough to stop a team from hitting once it has momentum."

King, who didn't appear shell shocked, referred to the rampaging New York Mets, who pounded three Giant pitchers for 13 hits and rolled to a 9-4 baseball victory last night — their 11th straight triumph.

HELP ON WAY

But help is on the way for the Giants as newly acquired reliever Ron Kline was expected to be in uniform today when the Giants and Mets concluded their two-game series. Gary Gentry, 5-4, of the Mets faced Gaylord Perry, 8-5.

Kline, 1-3, came from Pittsburgh yesterday, with the Giants sending reliever Joe Gibbon to the Pirates.

"Our bullpen needs help," King declared after the Mets scored four runs off reliever Ron Herbel and added a single run off Ray Sadecki.

The Mets' impressive triumph extended the club's record for consecutive victories and gave the Mets the season's longest victory streak. It also made them 4-0 against the Giants and snapped a five-game Giants winning streak.

KEY MAN

Veteran right-hander Don Cardwell was the key man in the victory, hurling two-hit ball for eight innings, collecting three singles and driving in the go-ahead run with a fifth-inning sacrifice fly.

Cardwell, now 2-6, posted his first victory since May 6 and made his first start since May 15. He needed relief help from Ron Taylor in the ninth after Willie McCovey smashed a solo homer, his 20th, and Jack Hiatt added a two-run blast.

"I got two quick strikes on McCovey, then hung a curve," explained Cardwell. "Hiatt hit a high fastball. I was getting higher and higher — and that's a sure sign of tiring."

EXTENDS STREAK

McCovey extended his batting streak to 15 games, equalling the season high by Chicago's Don Kessinger and Pittsburgh's Matty Alou.

Loser Mike McCormick, 3-3, singled and scored on Bobby Bonds' triple in the third inning. Rejuvenated Tommy Agee opened the Mets' scoring with a fourth inning homer and capped it with another round-tripper in the ninth.

"I was just trying to hit the ball up the middle," said Agee who proved a point by blasting both homers 420 feet, almost to dead center. "The main reason for my success this season, is that I know the pitchers better."

The Mets did plenty of scoring in between those homers. Jerry Grote's double and Cardwell's sacrifice fly made it 2-1 in the fifth. Ed Charles' sacrifice fly and Grote's run-scoring single added a pair of runs and chased McCormick in the sixth.

Cleon Jones' three-run homer featured a four-run rally in the seventh. The blow gave Jones the team lead with eight home runs, a figure equalled by Agee one inning later.

U.S. OPEN TOMORROW

Casper Man To Beat

HOUSTON (AP) — Billy Casper loomed as the favorite in an elite field of the world's best shot makers seeking golf's most prestigious title in the United States Open, with laughing Lee Trevino and tough little Gary Player among the chief contenders.

"It's hard to pick a favorite," the 37-year-old Morman demurred. "The rough isn't that high, that tough here and that opens it up a lot. There's a lot of guys who could win it."

DIFFERENTLY

But his opponents in the 72-hole test that begins tomorrow on the 6,967-yard, par 70 Cypress Creek layout at the Champions Golf Club look at it a little differently.

"Right now, he's the best there is," defending champion Trevino said after a practice round yesterday. "Arnold Palmer is still the king of golf, but I don't care what anybody says. Casper is the best in the world."

Frank Beard concurred.

"He's playing just great right now," the steady man from Louisville said. "That last round he played in Chicago is probably the best round I've ever seen or heard of."

SECOND VICTORY

Casper, twice an Open winner, shot a four-under-par 67 in the rain, mud and muck of the Midlothian Country Club course Sunday and won the Western Open, his second victory of the year and 43rd of his career.

"I'm hitting my irons just great," the one-time fat man said. "And that's what it takes here. It's a long course and you have to hit a lot of long irons. The man who's straight off the tee and is hitting his irons will win it."

The course is relatively flat, laced by streams, sprinkled with lakes and studded with thousands of trees.

MUST GO STRAIGHT

"You've got to hit it straight here," said Trevino, an obscure guy from a driving range in El Paso, Tex., who used the 1967 Open as a springboard to prominance and leaped into the game's front rank with his 1968 victory.

Player, winner of almost $80,000 in only 10 tournaments this year, is playing some of the best golf of his career. He won the Tournament of Champions and has been out of the top 10 only three times.

MONEY WINNER

Beard hasn't won in almost two years but is one of the top money winners and holds the best stroke average on the course, 69.56. The dynamic Palmer, the game's all-time leading money-winner who was forced to qualify for the Open for the first time in a decade, also plays this course very well.

Nicklaus, the big Golden Bear of golf, has been in a recent slump but always is a threat.

Portman Inks Warriors Contract

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Bob Portman, once one of the most sought-after high school basketball players in Northern California, is returning to his home city of San Francisco as a professional.

The Creighton University graduate signed a contract yesterday with the San Francisco Warriors who had tabbed the 6-foot-5, 200-pounder as their top draft choice.

HIGH EXPECTATIONS

"We have very high expectations for Portman," said Warriors general manager Bob Feerick.

As a hard-driving forward with an unstoppable fallaway jump shot, Portman became the highest scorer in Creighton's history. He tallied 1,876 points and set 15 basketball scoring records at the Omaha, Neb. school.

As a junior, Portman averaged 29.5 points to rank fifth in the nation among major college players. He averaged 26.2 points in his senior year and pulled down 308 rebounds in 26 games.

FROM S. I.

A graduate of St. Ignatius High School in San Francisco, Portman majored in sociology and plans to work as a youth counselor. He will marry his college sweetheart, Pat Justus of Colorado Springs, Colo., on July 5.

"I'm really happy to come to San Francisco," said Portman, 22. "In addition to it being my home town, the Warriors have a fine ball club and a good, solid organization."

Seals Buy Howell

MONTREAL (UPI) — The Oakland Seals of the National Hockey League have purchased defenseman Harry Howell from the New York Rangers.

Howell, 36, who is recovering from a back operation, won the Norris Trophy in 1966-67 as the NHL's top defenseman. He holds the longevity record for a Ranger—1,160 games in 17 seasons.

A's Whip Senators, Send Dobson To Mound Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Oakland Athletics send Chuck Dobson to the mound tonight to sustain momentum against Washington.

The A's downed the Senators 6-4 last night, with Danny Cater whacking a two-out single in the seventh inning that scored Reggie Jackson, who had doubled.

The score was knotted 4-4, when Campy Campaneris opened the seventh with a single. He stole second, then scored on Jackson's double. It was Campy's third safety of the contest.

He extended his hitting streak to eight straight games by banging a leadoff single in the first and scoring on Joe Rudi's triple. Rudi scored on a sacrifice fly by Jackson to give Oakland an early 2-0 lead.

Frank Howard evened things by clouting his 18th homer after Del Unser led off with a single. Ken McMullen hit his fifth homer to give the Senators a temporary lead in the second inning.

Sal Bando homered for Oakland in the third, and the A's took over from there.

OLYMPIC GAMES

It's A Matter Of Politics

WARSAW (AP) — There appears to be more politics involved than sports at International Olympic Committee meetings.

"The United Nations has nothing on us," said one National Olympic Committee president who attended the June 6-10 IOC meeting in Warsaw.

"It's the United Nations squeezed into three days," said another official.

PROBLEM

"Political intrusions" is one of the biggest problems we have, IOC President Avery Brundage of Chicago admitted during the meeting.

That is one of the prices the movement must pay for its global success and prestige, he said.

"There will always be those who try to use the Games for their own purposes," he said, adding that the Olympic fathers will not permit it.

Such unathletic issues like flags, hymns, team names and South African racial policy constantly dog the Olympic executives.

Brundage was even called upon to declare that IOC approval for the team name designation of Democratic People's Republic of Korea had nothing to do with recognition of the Communist North Korean regime.

"The IOC has no relations with governments," he said, "and only recognizes national Olympic committees."

Last year the Korean Communists boycotted the Mexico City Games because they refused to compete under the name of North Korea. They branded the IOC a "reactionary plaything of the U.S. imperialists."

After many years of committee wrangling, Communist East Germany, not recognized by the West, finally got its Olympic wishes fulfilled.

At the 1972 Games, its flag will fly with all the other competing nations. When East Germans win, the national flag will be raised and the anthem played. For East Berlin, this is doubly delightful because the Summer Games will be in Munich, West Germany.

DEFEATED

Some IOC members want to eliminate this nagging problem and do away entirely with flag raising and anthems. But with the East block and young African nations against it, such a proposal was defeated last year.

Buffeted by changing political tides, the name of Formosa in Olympic protocol was changed twice: from Nationalist China to Taiwan to Republic of China.

Communist China doesn't participate at all.

One IOC phenomenon which could no doubt match the U.N. in intensity is lobbying.

One Olympic official summed it up like this: "When you look around you, there you see IOC delegate A pushing delegate B to vote his way on point seven on the agenda. And there is delegate C pressuring delegate D to vote for E as a new member."

On top of this, you have the delegations of mayors, local businessmen and bankers, applying the gentle, smiling but firm sell to bring future Olympic Games to their cities.

The Mobile Unit Wins For Mets

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The Mets' "Mobile Unit" is spreading pennant fever in New York.

Tommie Agee and Cleon Jones, the Mets' flashy, young outfielders from Mobile, Ala., smashed three home runs and drove in six runs between them last night tto lead New York to a 9-4 triumph over the San Francisco Giants.

The victory was the Mets' 11th in a row, the longest streak in the majors this season, and kept the second place Mets seven games behind Chicago in the National League's Eastern Division. The Cubs held on to their lead by downing Atlanta 3-1.

OTHER SCORES

Elsewhere St. Louis edged Cincinnati 5-4, Houston beat Pittsburgh 7-4, Los Angeles shaded Philadelphia 2-1 and Montreal whipped San Diego 7-4.

Agee hit a pair of solo homers,his eighth and ninth of the season, and Jones slammed a three-run shot in the four-run seventh inning to spark the Mets. Agee tied the score at 1-1 with his fourth inning homer and added another in the ninth to help Don Cardwell record his second victory in eight decisions.

Willie Smith and Ron Santo hit eighth inning homers to give the Cubs their victory over the Braves and hand Ken Holtzman his 10th triumph in 11 decisions.

A SMASH

Smith, pinch-hitting for Holtzman, tied the score at 1-1 when he became the first player to hit a home run into the Atlanta Stadium upper deck. Al Spangler was safe on Orlando Cepeda's error and Santo hit his 10th homer with two out. The victory left the Cubs with a 4-0 record this season against the Braves, the Western Division leaders.

Lou Brock led off the game with a homer to ignite a four-run rally that carried the Cardinals past the Reds. Bob Gibson pitched an eight-hitter and struck out 11 batters in boosting his record to 8-3.

Brock's homer, one of his three hits, Curt Flood's triple, Vada Pinson's single, a walk and Julian Javier's two-run single scored the four runs in the first. Pinson doubled home Brock in the eighth with what proved to be the deciding run.

NARROWS GAP

Bobby Tolan homered for the Reds in the eighth to cut the margin to 5-4, but Gibson blanked the Reds in the ninth.

THE ROUTE

Don Sutton went all the way to record his ninth victory against four losses. The Phils scored their lone run in the fourth on Don Money's sacrifice fly.

Don Bosch's two-run double highlighted a three-run ninth inning rally that boosted the Expos to their victory over the Padres. Maury Wills singled in Bosch with the third run. Mack Jones drove in three for Montreal, two with his 11th homer. Ed Spiezio had a pair of homers and Nate Colbert hit his 12th for the Padres.

Orioles' Boog Powell Continues His Streak

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Frank Robinson's two good eyes helped put the Baltimore Orioles on top of the American League's East Division, and Boog Powell's bad hip is helping keep them there.

Robinson, fully recovered from an eye injury he suffered two seasons ago, went on a record 10-homer spree in April that helped vault the Orioles into the East lead, and although he has slacked off somewhat recently, other Orioles, particularly Powell, have taken over.

Powell, on the other hand, hadn't been doing much until he hurt his hip a few weeks ago.

Since then he's been on a streak that continued last night when he drove in three runs with a homer in the Orioles' 11-4 victory over California.

In other American League games, Kansas City edged the New York Yankees 7-6, Oakland trimmed Washington 6-4, Detroit blanked Seattle 5-0, Minnesota defeated Boston 6-2 and the Chicago White Sox stopped Cleveland 9-5.

Powell's streak covers the last 26 games. In that stretch, he has driven in 32 runs and batted .327, hitting safely in all but one of the games. That's brought his over-all record to 47 runs batted in and a .302 average.

The big first baseman isn't certain why he's been hitting so well, but it could be more than mere coincidence that the streak started about the time he injured his left hip on a slide into second base.

"Lunging is a bad habit I get into once in a while," Powell says. "The bad hip kept me from lunging at the ball. As a result, I started using my hands and shoulders more. Until then, until I got hurt, I wasn't giving my hands a chance to work."

Against the Angels, Powell had help from Paul Blair, who himself has a streak going. In the past four games, the center fielder has knocked in 10 runs. That includes the four he got last night with two doubles and a single.

SLEEPING GIANTS

Two Living Golf Legends Trying To Remain Alive

HOUSTON (AP) — Arnold Palmer pumped his drive into the deep gorge on the right of the 554-yard, par 5 13th and, grumbling under his breath, strode into the thicket to try to whang the ball out.

Pow! The ball moved only a few feet and remained in the heavy foliage. His jaw tightened, Palmer took his stance.

JUMPED BACK

Palmer, alarmed, jumped about two feet and fell back against a bush.

Everybody laughed.

"You son-of-a-gun!" a shaken Palmer blurted at his playing companion. "I'll get you for this."

At one hole, Nicklaus sent a wild hook careening into a clump of trees, then turned to his father, druggist Charlie Nicklaus of Columbus, Ohio, and said:

"Aren't you glad you came out?"

"Yeah, I'm learning a lot," papa Nicklaus replied.

Palmer sent a drive screaming down the middle of the fairway, plunked a ball into a trap, blasted out and sank a good putt for his par.

'I'VE GOT IT'

"I've got it now," he said to a friend following behind him on the fairway. "Now watch me go."

This little drama on the Cypress Creek course of the Champions Club was a sort of moving preview of the U.S. Open Golf Championship starting tomorrow.

One of the spectators labeled it succinctly:

"Two living legends trying to stay alive."

To the gallery of several hundred, it was obvious that both Arnie and Big Jack, in this rare head-to-head practice session two days before the official tee-off, were attempting to regain the confidence and skills lost somewhere during the past several months.

Both have had mild slumps before. No one recalls when these two giants of the game, the two powerhouses who have dominated the sport for most of the last decade, have been in such depressing doldrums at the same time.

Palmer hasn't won a tournament this year. Nearing 40, he is said by some to be over the hill, the victim of putting nerves. His last victory was in the Kemper Open against a subordinate field last fall. He was 27th in the Masters, the tournament he has won four times; 37th at Colonial and 25th at Atlanta, his last two starts.

Nicklaus' collapse has been more marked and mysterious. In the last eight tournaments, this bull of a young man, only 29 and still possessing the greatest potential in golf, has won a total of only $12,000, finishing higher than 16th only once. He is 14 over par for his last 28 rounds. He has had only four rounds under 70 in this stretch.

CONFUSED

Arnie is walking faster, tugging at his belt more and jerking at his glove—old winning characteristics.

He almost knocked in a chip at one hole and turned to Nicklaus, giving his rival one of those old pucker-nose leers. Jack got the message.

At the next hole, Palmer pulverized a drive and Nicklaus crunched one 40 yards past him—a good 300 yards. "I'll press you," Jack said.

Arnie hit a tremendous drive. "Doggone it, another straight one," he said. "I wanted to hit one left to right."

A JAB

"Don't worry," Nicklaus said. "You didn't go far enough to get in any trouble."

The stilette dug deep.

Both scrambled wildly, driving into trees, knocking balls into traps, recovering for pars, getting few birdies. Nicklaus shot a 75 and Palmer a 73 over the par 70, snake-infested Cypress Creek course of the Champions Club.

Both kept a weather eye out for copperheads, mocassins and king snakes, in the creeks and marshes. They saw only turtles.

Palmer, in gray slacks and white shirt open at the neck, less crestfallen, more bravado in his walk and more spark in his play, said, "I've got it—I think I've got it whipped now." He seemed to be giving himself a pep talk.

Nicklaus, wearing a yellow visor the color of his hair, said unhappily. "I know what I want to do, I just can't do it. It's perplexing. But I could snap back overnight."

"That stroke," said Palmer. "I've got that stroke now."

What is it?

Mets Blast Giant Hurling But Help Is On The Way

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "Any time your pitching gives up nine runs, you can't expect to win," says San Francisco Manager Clyde King, "but it's awfully tough to stop a team from hitting once it has momentum."

King, who didn't appear shell shocked, referred to the rampaging New York Mets, who pounded three Giant pitchers for 13 hits and rolled to a 9-4 baseball victory last night — their 11th straight triumph.

HELP ON WAY

But help is on the way for the Giants as newly acquired reliever Ron Kline was expected to be in uniform today when the Giants and Mets concluded their two-game series. Gary Gentry, 5-4, of the Mets faced Gaylord Perry, 8-5.

Kline, 1-3, came from Pittsburgh yesterday, with the Giants sending reliever Joe Gibbon to the Pirates.

"Our bullpen needs help," King declared after the Mets scored four runs off reliever Ron Herbel and added a single run off Ray Sadecki.

The Mets' impressive triumph extended the club's record for consecutive victories and gave the Mets the season's longest victory streak. It also made them 4-0 against the Giants and snapped a five-game Giants winning streak.

KEY MAN

Veteran right-hander Don Cardwell was the key man in the victory, hurling two-hit ball for eight innings, collecting three singles and driving in the go-ahead run with a fifth-inning sacrifice fly.

Cardwell, now 2-6, posted his first victory since May 6 and made his first start since May 15. He needed relief help from Ron Taylor in the ninth after Willie McCovey smashed a solo homer, his 20th, and Jack Hiatt added a two-run blast.

"I got two quick strikes on McCovey, then hung a curve," explained Cardwell. "Hiatt hit a high fastball. I was getting higher and higher — and that's a sure sign of tiring."

EXTENDS STREAK

McCovey extended his batting streak to 15 games, equalling the season high by Chicago's Don Kessinger and Pittsburgh's Matty Alou.

Loser Mike McCormick, 3-3, singled and scored on Bobby Bonds' triple in the third inning. Rejuvenated Tommy Agee opened the Mets' scoring with a fourth inning homer and capped it with another round-tripper in the ninth.

"I was just trying to hit the ball up the middle," said Agee who proved a point by blasting both homers 420 feet, almost to dead center. "The main reason for my success this season, is that I know the pitchers better."

The Mets did plenty of scoring in between those homers. Jerry Grote's double and Cardwell's sacrifice fly made it 2-1 in the fifth. Ed Charles' sacrifice fly and Grote's run-scoring single added a pair of runs and chased McCormick in the sixth.

Cleon Jones' three-run homer featured a four-run rally in the seventh. The blow gave Jones the team lead with eight home runs, a figure equalled by Agee one inning later.

Two Marin Yearlings In NCAA Track Meet

It may be considered a bit of a rarity for a freshman to compete in the National Collegiate Athletic Association track and field championships, but Marin County can claim not one but two collegiate yearlings at the NCAA meet at University of Tennessee in two weeks.

They are hurdler Lowell Harris of Oregon State, a Terra Linda grad, and Alan Lee of Rice, Tam's great sprinter of 1968.

LOWELL HARRIS

That talented twosome, who dominated the Marin County Athletic League championships a year ago, have qualified for the big show, Harris by skimming the tall timber in 14.1 seconds and Lee as leadoff man for Rice's crack 440-yard relay team.

Harris, incidentally, has repeatedly lowered the OSU frosh mark for the high hurdles and last week, in an All-Comers meet at Corvallis, whipped Oregon and OSU varisty hurdlers with his sensational 14.1 clocking.

ATTORNEY BOB MARSHALL, president of Sears Point International Raceway, says it is quite an unnerving experience to ride in a pace car for the big stock car races, as he did Sunday for the parade and pace laps at the 150-mile NASCAR event.

"When you stop to think of what is following you around the course," said Marshall, "it makes you shudder. Each of those 26 cars weighs about 4,000 pounds and has about 500 horsepower. So, look at it this way: I was being chased by 13,000 wild horses weighing 52 tons. Brrr."

Formula A Cars Next At Sears

Next on the Sears agenda June 21-22 is the Sports Car Club of America's Continental Championship featuring those Formula A cars in a 49-lap, 123.6-mile main event. Formula B and C races will supplement the big show.

The Continental Series had its first fatality Sunday at Castle Rock, Colo. in the Continental Divide Championship when Jim Mulhall of Littleton, Colo., spun out of control and hit a retaining wall. Two mechanics were seriously injured and a spectator also was hurt.

The race, abbreviated from 40 to 27 laps because of the tragedy, was won by Dick Simon but Sudden Sam Posey, the boyish-looking 24-year-old Sharon, Conn., ace, placed second in his Eagle-Chevy, giving him first place in the Continental points championship. Posey, who won at Laguna Seca last month, will be at Sears as will all the other Formula A pros.

Two Women Tie At Peacock Gap

Mesdames Robert Bond and Don Faber each netted 68 strokes yesterday to tie for the club trophy in the Peacock Gap Women's Golf Club's 18-home medal handicap tournament at the San Rafael course.

Class A — Mesdames John Hurley, 88-19 — 69; Al Sheppard, 88-18 — 70; Harold Baer, 86-14 —72.

Class B — Mmes. Robert Bond, 92-24 — 68; Hal Suhrke, 91-22 — 69; E. A. Petterle, 98-25 — 73.

Jay Alou, Torres In Hospital

HOUSTON (AP) — Outfielder Jesus Alou and shortstop Hector Torres of the Houston Astros were in Methodist Hospital today with head injuries suffered as they collided while chasing a fly ball.

Alou suffered a severe concussion when the two ran together in the third inning of last night's game between the Astros and the Pittsburgh Pirates. Houston won 7-4.

A hospital spokesman said Alou was lapsing in and out of consciousness when he arrived.

DEEP CUTS

Torres was not believed to be as seriously injured, although attendants said he suffered deep cuts above the nose and on the chin.

Quick first aid administered by Pittsburgh trainer Tony Bartirome may have saved Alou's life.

Alou started in slowly and Torres hurried back. While the ball dropped just behind and to the side of them, their heads banged and they sprawled helplessly on the Astroturf.

The ball went for a three-run homer and gave the Pirates a temporary 4-0 lead.

QUICK WORK

Bartirome reached Alou first Noticing that Alou had swallowed his tongue, Bartirome pulled it out, inserted a rubber hose and inflated the hose.

This reopened Alou's throat and restored a normal air flow into the lungs.

"He looked like he was dead," Houston infielder Denis Menke said of Alou. "It was the hardest collision I've ever seen."

"I saw foam coming from his mouth," said Astros trainer Jim Ewell, who helped Bartirome give first aid.

'GREAT JOB'

Umpire Al Barlick, one of the first on the confused scene, said, "Alou's eyes were turning blue. Those trainers did a great job of taking care of him."

One of the most intimately concerned was Matty Alou, Pittsburgh center fielder and brother of Jesus. He hurried to the hospital immediately after the game.

Alou and Torres were carried off the field on stretchers. Torres regained consciousness before leaving the stadium.

Recreation Softball

Refectory defeated Stan's Sports 15-8 and Hiller's walloped the Hurricanes 10-2 last night in the C-II Division of the San Rafael Softball League at Albert Field.

U.S. OPEN TOMORROW

Casper Man To Beat

HOUSTON (AP) — Billy Casper loomed as the favorite in an elite field of the world's best shot makers seeking golf's most prestigious title in the United States Open, with laughing Lee Trevino and tough little Gary Player among the chief contenders.

"It's hard to pick a favorite," the 37-year-old Morman demurred. "The rough isn't that high, that tough here and that opens it up a lot. There's a lot of guys who could win it."

DIFFERENTLY

But his opponents in the 72-hole test that begins tomorrow on the 6,967-yard, par 70 Cypress Creek layout at the Champions Golf Club look at it a little differently.

"Right now, he's the best there is," defending champion Trevino said after a practice round yesterday. "Arnold Palmer is still the king of golf, but I don't care what anybody says. Casper is the best in the world."

Frank Beard concurred.

"He's playing just great right now," the steady man from Louisville said. "That last round he played in Chicago is probably the best round I've ever seen or heard of."

SECOND VICTORY

Casper, twice an Open winner, shot a four-under-par 67 in the rain, mud and muck of the Midlothian Country Club course Sunday and won the Western Open, his second victory of the year and 43rd of his career.

"I'm hitting my irons just great," the one-time fat man said. "And that's what it takes here. It's a long course and you have to hit a lot of long irons. The man who's straight off the tee and is hitting his irons will win it."

The course is relatively flat, laced by streams, sprinkled with lakes and studded with thousands of trees.

MUST GO STRAIGHT

"You've got to hit it straight here," said Trevino, an obscure guy from a driving range in El Paso, Tex., who used the 1967 Open as a springboard to prominance and leaped into the game's front rank with his 1968 victory.

Player, winner of almost $80,000 in only 10 tournaments this year, is playing some of the best golf of his career. He won the Tournament of Champions and has been out of the top 10 only three times.

MONEY WINNER

Beard hasn't won in almost two years but is one of the top money winners and holds the best stroke average on the course, 69.56. The dynamic Palmer, the game's all-time leading money-winner who was forced to qualify for the Open for the first time in a decade, also plays this course very well.

Nicklaus, the big Golden Bear of golf, has been in a recent slump but always is a threat.

Portman Inks Warriors Contract

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Bob Portman, once one of the most sought-after high school basketball players in Northern California, is returning to his home city of San Francisco as a professional.

The Creighton University graduate signed a contract yesterday with the San Francisco Warriors who had tabbed the 6-foot-5, 200-pounder as their top draft choice.

HIGH EXPECTATIONS

"We have very high expectations for Portman," said Warriors general manager Bob Feerick.

As a hard-driving forward with an unstoppable fallaway jump shot, Portman became the highest scorer in Creighton's history. He tallied 1,876 points and set 15 basketball scoring records at the Omaha, Neb. school.

As a junior, Portman averaged 29.5 points to rank fifth in the nation among major college players. He averaged 26.2 points in his senior year and pulled down 308 rebounds in 26 games.

FROM S. I.

A graduate of St. Ignatius High School in San Francisco, Portman majored in sociology and plans to work as a youth counselor. He will marry his college sweetheart, Pat Justus of Colorado Springs, Colo., on July 5.

"I'm really happy to come to San Francisco," said Portman, 22. "In addition to it being my home town, the Warriors have a fine ball club and a good, solid organization."

Seals Buy Howell

MONTREAL (UPI) — The Oakland Seals of the National Hockey League have purchased defenseman Harry Howell from the New York Rangers.

Howell, 36, who is recovering from a back operation, won the Norris Trophy in 1966-67 as the NHL's top defenseman. He holds the longevity record for a Ranger—1,160 games in 17 seasons.

A's Whip Senators, Send Dobson To Mound Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Oakland Athletics send Chuck Dobson to the mound tonight to sustain momentum against Washington.

The A's downed the Senators 6-4 last night, with Danny Cater whacking a two-out single in the seventh inning that scored Reggie Jackson, who had doubled.

The score was knotted 4-4, when Campy Campaneris opened the seventh with a single. He stole second, then scored on Jackson's double. It was Campy's third safety of the contest.

He extended his hitting streak to eight straight games by banging a leadoff single in the first and scoring on Joe Rudi's triple. Rudi scored on a sacrifice fly by Jackson to give Oakland an early 2-0 lead.

Frank Howard evened things by clouting his 18th homer after Del Unser led off with a single. Ken McMullen hit his fifth homer to give the Senators a temporary lead in the second inning.

Sal Bando homered for Oakland in the third, and the A's took over from there.

OLYMPIC GAMES

It's A Matter Of Politics

WARSAW (AP) — There appears to be more politics involved than sports at International Olympic Committee meetings.

"The United Nations has nothing on us," said one National Olympic Committee president who attended the June 6-10 IOC meeting in Warsaw.

"It's the United Nations squeezed into three days," said another official.

PROBLEM

"Political intrusions" is one of the biggest problems we have, IOC President Avery Brundage of Chicago admitted during the meeting.

That is one of the prices the movement must pay for its global success and prestige, he said.

"There will always be those who try to use the Games for their own purposes," he said, adding that the Olympic fathers will not permit it.

Such unathletic issues like flags, hymns, team names and South African racial policy constantly dog the Olympic executives.

Brundage was even called upon to declare that IOC approval for the team name designation of Democratic People's Republic of Korea had nothing to do with recognition of the Communist North Korean regime.

"The IOC has no relations with governments," he said, "and only recognizes national Olympic committees."

Last year the Korean Communists boycotted the Mexico City Games because they refused to compete under the name of North Korea. They branded the IOC a "reactionary plaything of the U.S. imperialists."

After many years of committee wrangling, Communist East Germany, not recognized by the West, finally got its Olympic wishes fulfilled.

At the 1972 Games, its flag will fly with all the other competing nations. When East Germans win, the national flag will be raised and the anthem played. For East Berlin, this is doubly delightful because the Summer Games will be in Munich, West Germany.

DEFEATED

Some IOC members want to eliminate this nagging problem and do away entirely with flag raising and anthems. But with the East block and young African nations against it, such a proposal was defeated last year.

Buffeted by changing political tides, the name of Formosa in Olympic protocol was changed twice: from Nationalist China to Taiwan to Republic of China.

Communist China doesn't participate at all.

One IOC phenomenon which could no doubt match the U.N. in intensity is lobbying.

One Olympic official summed it up like this: "When you look around you, there you see IOC delegate A pushing delegate B to vote his way on point seven on the agenda. And there is delegate C pressuring delegate D to vote for E as a new member."

On top of this, you have the delegations of mayors, local businessmen and bankers, applying the gentle, smiling but firm sell to bring future Olympic Games to their cities.

Lutherans Win Champs Pin Title

Grace Lutheran Church bowling team is the new champ of champs after winning the sixth annual Nave Lanes Tournament of Champions, official tabulations revealed yesterday.

Thirty-eight teams, champions of 38 leagues in Marin County bowling (190 bowlers), made last weekend's tournament the biggest Nave TOC on record.

Second prize of $150 went to Hagen and Smith — Dan Walker, Walt Smith, Ralph Chatoian, Jack Martin and Terry De Young — 2,959; third prize of $100 to the Hamilton Five — Ernie Cambell, Ken Kuckenbecker, Glen Edwards, Glen Freeman and Gary Goodman — 2,934, and fourth prize of $80 to Dervin Ford — Dottie Keaton, Mary Downing, Kathy Robinson, Fran Thurman and Helen Palazzotto — 2,928.

De Young had high series in the tournament, leading Hagen and Smith with a 647.

MARIN GOLF NOTES

Meadow Club Bash Draws Sports Celebs Saturday

By RALPH CHATOIAN

It's the 19th annual Invitational Gold Putter and Silver Spoon tournament, 36 holes of golf spread over two days, Friday and Saturday.

A field of 240 golfers will vie in the two-man team, best-ball net competition and full handicaps will be used. Golfers will start teeing off at 8 a.m. both days.

Among the "big name" sports figures in the tourney will be Matt Hazeltine Jr., Gordy Soltau, Chub Feeney, Lefty O'Doul, Ernie Nevers, Dr. Jack Lucetti and Mat Palacio.

PEACOCK GAP golf clubber Al Nathe was just a wee bit early with his hole-in-one. Playing a practice round last Friday on the eve of the Peacock Gap invitational, Nathe, of 305 Summit Avenue, aced the 165-yard third hole with a four-iron. If he had waited a day to score the ace, he would have won a $100 merchandise order. An ace on the 13th hole during the tournament, the longer 192-yarder, would have been good for a new automobile.

Paul Lempio and Al Kennedy won the two-man team fourth annual invitational at Peacock, scoring 22 up in the match vs. par competition. They were playoff winners over Joe Bregante and Mike Perry who also finished with 22 up. They were followed by Martin Bramante-Oscar Fahrner, 20 up, and Ed Kalfain-Al Caselli, 20 up.

A HOLE-IN-ONE contest will be sponsored by the Marin Catholic Athletic Boosters Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on the Marin Catholic High School baseball field in Kentfield. Cost will be three shots for $1, with proceeds going to the Marin Catholic athletic department. There will be plenty of merchandise prizes, promises co-athletic director Gary Hughes.

A COMMITTEE is expected to be named tonight by the Meadow Club board of directors to take charge in putting on the third annual Marin County Tournament of Champions. The first tourney was held at Indian Valley, the next at San Geronimo, and this time it's Meadow Club.

SEMIFINALS AND FINALS of the Marin Country Club President Cup matches will be held Saturday and Sunday on the Novato club's course. Winners last Sunday advancing to the Saturday semis are (Morley Flight) Fred Lusieur, D. E. Rosen-Kranz, A. S. Gross, Norval MacDonald; (Kett Flight) R. A. Hartley, Guy Baty, Dr. John R. Mani; (Oliphant Flight) Don Thompson, W. R. Kessler, Milt Morley, Donald Telford; (Harias Flight) Frank Carbone, E. N. Elliott, J. L. Haff, Dr. Leon Balshone.

The first major league night baseball game that counted in the standings was played at Cincinnati on May 24, 1935.

Receiving Her 'Dividends' Mrs. Payson Is Finally

Joan Payson, owner of the New York Mets, never intended to make money out of them. Mrs. Payson is a wealthy woman, 200 times a millionaire. So why would she want to receive dividends from the Mets, financial dividends, that is?

The dividends that interested Mrs. Payson, who watches the Mets in virtually every game they play in Shea Stadium, were pride of ownership of a ball club and the thrill of winning.

The Mets didn't provide Mrs. Payson with many moments of pleasure in 1962, the year they were born. They won only 40 ball games that year, losing 120. But Mrs. Payson, a true sportswoman, knew how to lose with grace and dignity.

ALL MET fans know who Mrs. Payson is. They can point her out in her first base box alongside the Met dugout. When the Mets swept the Giants in a three-game series at Shea Stadium a couple of weekends ago, Mrs. Payson leaned into the dugout and waved a "well done" to her team.

Ron Hunt, now a Giant but once a Met, speaks with warm affection about Mrs. Payson who sent Hunt's wife, Jackie, a bouquet of roses after Ron had a big day at bat in one game.

"MRS. PAYSON was always doing things like that," Hunt recalls. "I was shocked when I was traded to the Dodgers following the 1966 season. I guess that's the way it is the first time you're traded. But it hit me and my wife especially hard. We loved it in New York."

Mrs. Payson was the primary reason why Hunt had such happy moments in New York. She sent the relaxed, informal atmosphere in Shea Stadium for the fans. She never put any pressure on the team. So the team became the Amazin's. They were amazing when they won.

A RARE breed of fans adopted the Mets. Only in the first year of their existence, 1962, did the Mets fail to top the million mark. Home attendance in 1962 was 922,530. Each year it has soared until it reached 1,932,693 in 1966. Last year it tapered off slightly to 1,781,657.

If the Mets make a serious run at the National League's Eastern Division title this year, Shea Stadium attendance will top two million.

MRS. PAYSON doesn't need the money. She unquestionably will give it away to one of her favorite charities. Nobody, least of all Met fans, will begrudge her that pleasure. Indeed, they will be happy that she is receiving dividends from the team, not the financial ones but the thrill of winning, a thrill in which they, of course, will participate.

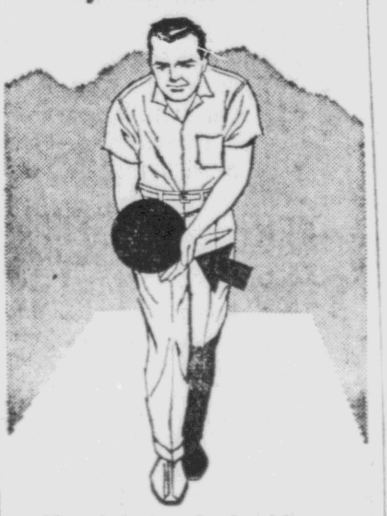
BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER



The left hand should move forward on the pushaway, bearing the bulk of the weight of the ball as long as possible. As the left hand drops away, however, the transition of weight to the right hand should be smooth.

The Mobile Unit Wins For Mets

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The Mets' "Mobile Unit" is spreading pennant fever in New York.

Tommie Agee and Cleon Jones, the Mets' flashy, young outfielders from Mobile, Ala., smashed three home runs and drove in six runs between them last night tto lead New York to a 9-4 triumph over the San Francisco Giants.

The victory was the Mets' 11th in a row, the longest streak in the majors this season, and kept the second place Mets seven games behind Chicago in the National League's Eastern Division. The Cubs held on to their lead by downing Atlanta 3-1.

OTHER SCORES

Elsewhere St. Louis edged Cincinnati 5-4, Houston beat Pittsburgh 7-4, Los Angeles shaded Philadelphia 2-1 and Montreal whipped San Diego 7-4.

Agee hit a pair of solo homers,his eighth and ninth of the season, and Jones slammed a three-run shot in the four-run seventh inning to spark the Mets. Agee tied the score at 1-1 with his fourth inning homer and added another in the ninth to help Don Cardwell record his second victory in eight decisions.

Willie Smith and Ron Santo hit eighth inning homers to give the Cubs their victory over the Braves and hand Ken Holtzman his 10th triumph in 11 decisions.

A SMASH

Smith, pinch-hitting for Holtzman, tied the score at 1-1 when he became the first player to hit a home run into the Atlanta Stadium upper deck. Al Spangler was safe on Orlando Cepeda's error and Santo hit his 10th homer with two out. The victory left the Cubs with a 4-0 record this season against the Braves, the Western Division leaders.

Lou Brock led off the game with a homer to ignite a four-run rally that carried the Cardinals past the Reds. Bob Gibson pitched an eight-hitter and struck out 11 batters in boosting his record to 8-3.

Brock's homer, one of his three hits, Curt Flood's triple, Vada Pinson's single, a walk and Julian Javier's two-run single scored the four runs in the first. Pinson doubled home Brock in the eighth with what proved to be the deciding run.

NARROWS GAP

Bobby Tolan homered for the Reds in the eighth to cut the margin to 5-4, but Gibson blanked the Reds in the ninth.

THE ROUTE

Don Sutton went all the way to record his ninth victory against four losses. The Phils scored their lone run in the fourth on Don Money's sacrifice fly.

Don Bosch's two-run double highlighted a three-run ninth inning rally that boosted the Expos to their victory over the Padres. Maury Wills singled in Bosch with the third run. Mack Jones drove in three for Montreal, two with his 11th homer. Ed Spiezio had a pair of homers and Nate Colbert hit his 12th for the Padres.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Orioles' Boog Powell Continues His Streak

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Frank Robinson's two good eyes helped put the Baltimore Orioles on top of the American League's East Division, and Boog Powell's bad hip is helping keep them there.

Robinson, fully recovered from an eye injury he suffered two seasons ago, went on a record 10-homer spree in April that helped vault the Orioles into the East lead, and although he has slacked off somewhat recently, other Orioles, particularly Powell, have taken over.

Powell, on the other hand, hadn't been doing much until he hurt his hip a few weeks ago.

Since then he's been on a streak that continued last night when he drove in three runs with a homer in the Orioles' 11-4 victory over California.

In other American League games, Kansas City edged the New York Yankees 7-6, Oakland trimmed Washington 6-4, Detroit blanked Seattle 5-0, Minnesota defeated Boston 6-2 and the Chicago White Sox stopped Cleveland 9-5.

Powell's streak covers the last 26 games. In that stretch, he has driven in 32 runs and batted .327, hitting safely in all but one of the games. That's brought his over-all record to 47 runs batted in and a .302 average.

The big first baseman isn't certain why he's been hitting so well, but it could be more than mere coincidence that the streak started about the time he injured his left hip on a slide into second base.

"Lunging is a bad habit I get into once in a while," Powell says. "The bad hip kept me from lunging at the ball. As a result, I started using my hands and shoulders more. Until then, until I got hurt, I wasn't giving my hands a chance to work."

Against the Angels, Powell had help from Paul Blair, who himself has a streak going. In the past four games, the center fielder has knocked in 10 runs. That includes the four he got last night with two doubles and a single.

SLEEPING GIANTS

Two Living Golf Legends Trying To Remain Alive

HOUSTON (AP) — Arnold Palmer pumped his drive into the deep gorge on the right of the 554-yard, par 5 13th and, grumbling under his breath, strode into the thicket to try to whang the ball out.

Pow! The ball moved only a few feet and remained in the heavy foliage. His jaw tightened, Palmer took his stance.

JUMPED BACK

Palmer, alarmed, jumped about two feet and fell back against a bush.

Everybody laughed.

"You son-of-a-gun!" a shaken Palmer blurted at his playing companion. "I'll get you for this."

At one hole, Nicklaus sent a wild hook careening into a clump of trees, then turned to his father, druggist Charlie Nicklaus of Columbus, Ohio, and said:

"Aren't you glad you came out?"

"Yeah, I'm learning a lot," papa Nicklaus replied.

Palmer sent a drive screaming down the middle of the fairway, plunked a ball into a trap, blasted out and sank a good putt for his par.

'I'VE GOT IT'

"I've got it now," he said to a friend following behind him on the fairway. "Now watch me go."

This little drama on the Cypress Creek course of the Champions Club was a sort of moving preview of the U.S. Open Golf Championship starting tomorrow.

One of the spectators labeled it succinctly:

"Two living legends trying to stay alive."

To the gallery of several hundred, it was obvious that both Arnie and Big Jack, in this rare head-to-head practice session two days before the official tee-off, were attempting to regain the confidence and skills lost somewhere during the past several months.

Both have had mild slumps before. No one recalls when these two giants of the game, the two powerhouses who have dominated the sport for most of the last decade, have been in such depressing doldrums at the same time.

Palmer hasn't won a tournament this year. Nearing 40, he is said by some to be over the hill, the victim of putting nerves. His last victory was in the Kemper Open against a subordinate field last fall. He was 27th in the Masters, the tournament he has won four times; 37th at Colonial and 25th at Atlanta, his last two starts.

Nicklaus' collapse has been more marked and mysterious. In the last eight tournaments, this bull of a young man, only 29 and still possessing the greatest potential in golf, has won a total of only $12,000, finishing higher than 16th only once. He is 14 over par for his last 28 rounds. He has had only four rounds under 70 in this stretch.

CONFUSED

Arnie is walking faster, tugging at his belt more and jerking at his glove—old winning characteristics.

He almost knocked in a chip at one hole and turned to Nicklaus, giving his rival one of those old pucker-nose leers. Jack got the message.

At the next hole, Palmer pulverized a drive and Nicklaus crunched one 40 yards past him —a good 300 yards. "I'll press you," Jack said.

A JAB

"Don't worry," Nicklaus said. "You didn't go far enough to get in any trouble."

The stilette dug deep.

Both scrambled wildly, driving into trees, knocking balls into traps, recovering for pars, getting few birdies. Nicklaus shot a 75 and Palmer a 73 over the par 70, snake-infested Cypress Creek course of the Champions Club.

Both kept a weather eye out for copperheads, mocassins and king snakes, in the creeks and marshes. They saw only turtles.

Palmer, in gray slacks and white shirt open at the neck, less crestfallen, more bravado in his walk and more spark in his play, said, "I've got it—I think I've got it whipped now." He seemed to be giving himself a pep talk.

Nicklaus, wearing a yellow visor the color of his hair, said unhappily. "I know what I want to do, I just can't do it. It's perplexing. But I could snap back overnight."

"That stroke," said Palmer. "I've got that stroke now."

What is it?

"It's all in here," Palmer, his brow wrinkled, responded. He tapped his hair-receding head.

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

How To Manipulate Transfer Shortage On A Losing Trick

As an experienced player, you are familiar with the principle of transferring dummy's shortage from one suit to another on tricks that you win in your own hand. Far less familiar is the principle of transferring the shortage on a trick that an opponent wins.

Opening lead — ♡ K

EAST OVERTAKES

West leads the king of hearts, and East overtakes with the ace of hearts to return his low heart. West wins the second trick with the nine of hearts and then continues with the queen of hearts.

This puts you in position to ruff in the dummy, but you would be foolish to do so. East's dramatic play at the first trick makes it clear that he started with only two hearts and that he expects to overruff the dummy on the third round of the suit.

Nothing good will happen, from your point of view, if you ruff the third heart with one of dummy's trumps. East will overruff, and you will eventually lose a diamond as well. Down one.

DON'T GIVE UP

You don't have to give up so tamely. When West leads the third heart, discard a diamond from dummy. This transfers dummy's shortage from hearts to diamonds.

East likewise discards a diamond, but it doesn't help him even though he is now in position to overruff dummy on the second round of diamonds. When West shifts to a diamond at the fourth trick, you win with the ace of diamonds and take the precaution of drawing three rounds of trumps before doing anything else.

CLEAR CLUBS

With East's fangs drawn, you can now clear the ace of clubs out of the way and ruff a diamond in the dummy. You discard the remaining diamonds on dummy's king and queen of clubs, thus assuring the contract.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:
♥ KQJ952
♦ KJ976
♣ 10.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

The hand is not quite strong enough in top cards for an opening bid of one heart. Nevertheless, some experts would open this very powerful hand with one heart because of its playing strength. Some other experts might open with a shutout bid of four hearts. Most experts would pass, intending to bid the red suits very vigorously later.

Bike Path Talks

The Larkspur Park and Recreation Commission will discuss the Marin County Park and Recreation Commission's proposed bicycle path plan at their 8 p.m. meeting today in city hall. Commissioners will also review the proposed summer recreation program.

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, June 11, the 162nd day of 1969 with 203 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus and Saturn. The evening stars are Mars and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1920 Ohio Sen. Warren Harding was called to a Chicago hotel and informed that he would be the dark-horse Republican candidate for President.

In 1927 Charles Lindbergh was welcomed home by President Calvin Coolidge after his historic solo flight across the Atlantic to Paris.

In 1950 Ben Hogan won the United States Open Golf Championship only 16 months after suffering near-fatal injuries in an automobile accident.

In 1963 federalized National Guard troops stood by as Gov. George Wallace allowed two Negroes to enroll at the University of Alabama.

A thought for the day: Miguel de Cervantes said, "Tell me thy company and I'll tell thee what thou art."

40 Strep Cases During Last Week

Forty cases of streptococci infections were reported last week in Marin County by Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer.

Nineteen cases of gonorrhea were listed, including five each in Sausalito and San Rafael. Also reported were six cases of infectious hepatitis, three syphillis, three German measles cases and a tuberculosis case.

AN A FOR EFFORT

Richard Leonard, competing in the standing long jump, was among the competitors in the Special Olympics for retarded children last Saturday at San Rafael High School's field. Youths from Eureka to Sausalito competed, winners being eligible for the Western Regional Special Olympics July 26 in Los Angeles. Marin County coaches helped officiate at last Saturday's meet. Lutherans Win Champs Pin Title

Thirty-eight teams, champions of 38 leagues in Marin County bowling (190 bowlers), made last weekend's tournament the biggest Nave TOC on record.

Second prize of $150 went to Hagen and Smith — Dan Walker, Walt Smith, Ralph Chatoian, Jack Martin and Terry De Young — 2,959; third prize of $100 to the Hamilton Five — Ernie Cambell, Ken Kuckenbecker, Glen Edwards, Glen Freeman and Gary Goodman — 2,934, and fourth prize of $80 to Dervin Ford — Dottie Keaton, Mary Downing, Kathy Robinson, Fran Thurman and Helen Palazzotto — 2,928.

De Young had high series in the tournament, leading Hagen and Smith with a 647.

Meadow Club Bash Draws Sports Celebs Saturday

By RALPH CHATOIAN

It's the 19th annual Invitational Gold Putter and Silver Spoon tournament, 36 holes of golf spread over two days, Friday and Saturday.

A field of 240 golfers will vie in the two-man team, best-ball net competition and full handicaps will be used. Golfers will start teeing off at 8 a.m. both days.

Among the "big name" sports figures in the tourney will be Matt Hazeltine Jr., Gordy Soltau, Chub Feeney, Lefty O'Doul, Ernie Nevers, Dr. Jack Lucetti and Mat Palacio.

PEACOCK GAP golf clubber Al Nathe was just a wee bit early with his hole-in-one. Playing a practice round last Friday on the eve of the Peacock Gap invitational, Nathe, of 305 Summit Avenue, aced the 165-yard third hole with a four-iron. If he had waited a day to score the ace, he would have won a $100 merchandise order. An ace on the 13th hole during the tournament, the longer 192-yarder, would have been good for a new automobile.

Paul Lempio and Al Kennedy won the two-man team fourth annual invitational at Peacock, scoring 22 up in the match vs. par competition. They were playoff winners over Joe Bregante and Mike Perry who also finished with 22 up. They were followed by Martin Bramante-Oscar Fahrner, 20 up, and Ed Kalfain-Al Caselli, 20 up.

A HOLE-IN-ONE contest will be sponsored by the Marin Catholic Athletic Boosters Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on the Marin Catholic High School baseball field in Kentfield. Cost will be three shots for $1, with proceeds going to the Marin Catholic athletic department. There will be plenty of merchandise prizes, promises co-athletic director Gary Hughes.

A COMMITTEE is expected to be named tonight by the Meadow Club board of directors to take charge in putting on the third annual Marin County Tournament of Champions. The first tourney was held at Indian Valley, the next at San Geronimo, and this time it's Meadow Club.

SEMIFINALS AND FINALS of the Marin Country Club President Cup matches will be held Saturday and Sunday on the Novato club's course. Winners last Sunday advancing to the Saturday semis are (Morley Flight) Fred Lusieur, D. E. Rosen-Kranz, A. S. Gross, Norval MacDonald; (Kett Flight) R. A. Hartley, Guy Baty, Dr. John R. Mani; (Oliphant Flight) Don Thompson, W. R. Kessler, Milt Morley, Donald Telford; (Harias Flight) Frank Carbone, E. N. Elliott, J. L. Haff, Dr. Leon Balshone.

The first major league night baseball game that counted in the standings was played at Cincinnati on May 24, 1935.

Receiving Her 'Dividends' Mrs. Payson Is Finally

Joan Payson, owner of the New York Mets, never intended to make money out of them. Mrs. Payson is a wealthy woman, 200 times a millionaire. So why would she want to receive dividends from the Mets, financial dividends, that is?

The dividends that interested Mrs. Payson, who watches the Mets in virtually every game they play in Shea Stadium, were pride of ownership of a ball club and the thrill of winning.

The Mets didn't provide Mrs. Payson with many moments of pleasure in 1962, the year they were born. They won only 40 ball games that year, losing 120. But Mrs. Payson, a true sportswoman, knew how to lose with grace and dignity.

ALL MET fans know who Mrs. Payson is. They can point her out in her first base box alongside the Met dugout. When the Mets swept the Giants in a three-game series at Shea Stadium a couple of weekends ago, Mrs. Payson leaned into the dugout and waved a "well done" to her team.

Ron Hunt, now a Giant but once a Met, speaks with warm affection about Mrs. Payson who sent Hunt's wife, Jackie, a bouquet of roses after Ron had a big day at bat in one game.

"MRS. PAYSON was always doing things like that," Hunt recalls. "I was shocked when I was traded to the Dodgers following the 1966 season. I guess that's the way it is the first time you're traded. But it hit me and my wife especially hard. We loved it in New York."

Mrs. Payson was the primary reason why Hunt had such happy moments in New York. She sent the relaxed, informal atmosphere in Shea Stadium for the fans. She never put any pressure on the team. So the team became the Amazin's. They were amazing when they won.

A RARE breed of fans adopted the Mets. Only in the first year of their existence, 1962, did the Mets fail to top the million mark. Home attendance in 1962 was 922,530. Each year it has soared until it reached 1,932,693 in 1966. Last year it tapered off slightly to 1,781,657.

If the Mets make a serious run at the National League's Eastern Division title this year, Shea Stadium attendance will top two million.

MRS. PAYSON doesn't need the money. She unquestionably will give it away to one of her favorite charities. Nobody, least of all Met fans, will begrudge her that pleasure. Indeed, they will be happy that she is receiving dividends from the team, not the financial ones but the thrill of winning, a thrill in which they, of course, will participate.

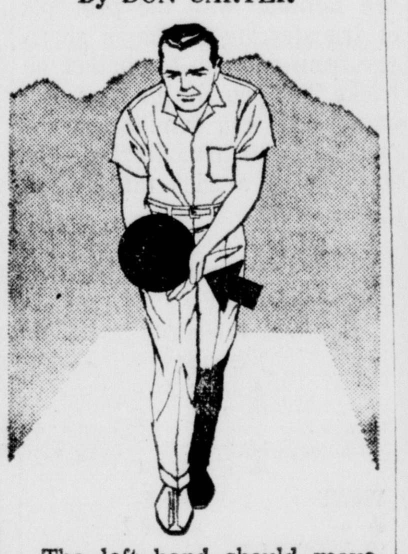
BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER



The left hand should move forward on the pushaway, bearing the bulk of the weight of the ball as long as possible. As the left hand drops away, however, the transition of weight to the right hand should be smooth.

Market In Another Losing Day

NEW YORK (UPI) — The market finished with a loss today despite a rally around midsession. Trading was very heavy.

Steels had a mixed appearance. Most issues in the group had been lower earlier in the session. Autos also were mixed.

Chemicals moved lower, with most losses in fractions. Oils were weak from the opening bell, with Atlantic Richfield among the downside leaders.

Electronics had a handful of losers of a point or more. Honeywell, however, was one of the few to buck the trend.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange eased in brisk trading.

To Seek Increase

NEW YORK (UPI) — Public Service Co. of Colorado will seek a rate increase this summer, President Robert Person has told New York security analysts.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Mutual Funds Are Not Always Suitable Buys

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I have always felt that unless one had time to follow the market he was better off in a mutual fund. I have shares of Comstock, Eberstadt and Pioneer Fund. What do you think of these? — E. M.

A. Two of your funds, Comstock and Eberstadt, are too new to have compiled a meaningful performance record. However, after retirement you may want to switch into less aggressive funds since one of these is a performance fund and the other a growth fund.

Pioneer has an above-average record over the past five years.

I agree that a busy executive frequently lacks the time and/or interest to handle his investments wisely. But he owes it to himself to investigate all the alternatives.

Because you have split your capital of $127,000 among three mutual funds you have probably paid up to 6 per cent acquisition charges. Unlike a mutual fund, this type of portfolio supervision is fitted to the individual's needs.

Q. Would you list some top-quality convertible preferred stocks that pay a fairly good dividend? I plan on retiring in five years and feel that they provide a hedge against inflation with some safety. — R. P.

A. When market conditions are uncertain, convertible securities make particularly good investment sense. Air Products and Chemical $4.75 convertible preferred, yielding just under 4 per cent, is selling at a small premium over conversion value.

High-yielding Atlantic City Electric $5.88 convertible preferred at 5.3 per cent reflects the bear market in utility issues. Shares trade at a reasonable premium, carry an AA rating and are protected through 1973 against call.

International Telephone $4.50 convertible preferred is also call protected through 1973 and yields 4.3 per cent.

My final choice, Reynolds Metals $4.50 convertible preferred, yields 4.8 per cent but sells at a higher premium (22 per cent) over conversion value.

Any or all of these issues are fairly priced for medium to long-term investment.

Small World Car Leasing Agency To Open By July 1

Opening by July 1 in downtown San Rafael will be Small World Car Leasing — a branch of the Mill Valley business operated by Walt and Nancy Brown for the past five years.

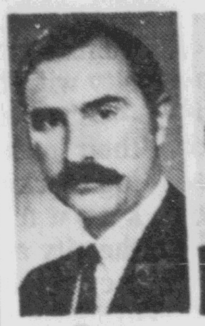
They have leased 871 Fourth Street, San Rafael, through Herman Deitch, Realtor. Coincidentally this is a return to the identical building where Brown started to work in 1947. At that time it was a feed store (Marin County Feed Co.) and later he resigned and moved across the street to work for Dohemann Motor Co.

The Browns operate both Small World Car Leasing and Small World Travel in Mill Valley. Last October the car leasing was separated from the travel business and moved to 383 Miller Avenue. The travel agency continues at 25 East Blithedale Avenue.

The Browns lease out assorted small cars such as Camaro, Mustang, Datsun, Toyota and MG. Guy Torrey of Larkspur, who has been with them four years, will be San Rafael manager and there will be one other salesman and a secretary.

Meanwhile they are diversifying their activities still further with a condominium in Acapulco, which they will rent out to tourists as they do with one already owned in Hawaii.

NOON NEWS PROGRAM weekdays on Radio KTIM now features stock reporter Gordon F. Parr of San Rafael with a brief analysis of the just-closed market, including cause and effect by world affairs and a briefing on most actively traded stocks. The report is also rebroadcast on KTIM's 5:30 p.m. news.



Parr

Martino

How To Manipulate Transfer Shortage On A Losing Trick

As an experienced player, you are familiar with the principle of transferring dummy's shortage from one suit to another on tricks that you win in your own hand. Far less familiar is the principle of transferring the shortage on a trick that an opponent wins.

EAST OVERTAKES

West leads the king of hearts, and East overtakes with the ace of hearts to return his low heart. West wins the second trick with the nine of hearts and then continues with the queen of hearts.

This puts you in position to ruff in the dummy, but you would be foolish to do so. East's dramatic play at the first trick makes it clear that he started with only two hearts and that he expects to overruff the dummy on the third round of the suit.

Nothing good will happen, from your point of view, if you ruff the third heart with one of dummy's trumps. East will overruff, and you will eventually lose a diamond as well. Down one.

DON'T GIVE UP

You don't have to give up so tamely. When West leads the third heart, discard a diamond from dummy. This transfers dummy's shortage from hearts to diamonds.

East likewise discards a diamond, but it doesn't help him even though he is now in position to overruff dummy on the second round of diamonds. When West shifts to a diamond at the fourth trick, you win with the ace of diamonds and take the precaution of drawing three rounds of trumps before doing anything else.

CLEAR CLUBS

With East's fangs drawn, you can now clear the ace of clubs out of the way and ruff a diamond in the dummy. You discard the remaining diamonds on dummy's king and queen of clubs, thus assuring the contract.

♥ K Q J 9 5 2
♦ K J 9 7 6
♣ 10.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

The hand is not quite strong enough in top cards for an opening bid of one heart. Nevertheless, some experts would open this very powerful hand with one heart because of its playing strength. Some other experts might open with a shutout bid of four hearts. Most experts would pass, intending to bid the red suits very vigorously later.

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, June 11, the 162nd day of 1969 with 203 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus and Saturn. The evening stars are Mars and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1920 Ohio Sen. Warren Harding was called to a Chicago hotel and informed that he would be the dark-horse Republican candidate for President.

In 1927 Charles Lindbergh was welcomed home by President Calvin Coolidge after his historic solo flight across the Atlantic to Paris.

In 1950 Ben Hogan won the United States Open Golf Championship only 16 months after suffering near-fatal injuries in an automobile accident.

In 1963 federalized National Guard troops stood by as Gov. George Wallace allowed two Negroes to enroll at the University of Alabama.

A thought for the day: Miguel de Cervantes said, "Tell me thy company and I'll tell thee what thou art."

40 Strep Cases During Last Week

Forty cases of streptococci infections were reported last week in Marin County by Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer.

Nineteen cases of gonorrhea were listed, including five each in Sausalito and San Rafael. Also reported were six cases of infectious hepatitis, three syphillis, three German measles cases and a tuberculosis case.

'People's Park' Fancy Name For Nuisance

Just about everything concerning the so-called "people's park" in Berkeley has been badly handled, and that includes the reporting.

What was the "people's park"?

The news stories from Berkeley informed us that it was a parcel of property (most of a city block) purchased last year by University of California for campus expansion; that after the buildings on it were razed, it remained idle through the winter; that Berkeley "street people" decided to turn it into a park and installed some picnic tables, etc.; that U.C. then ordered them out and put up a chain-link fence around the property, whereupon the "street people" reacted with a riot.

WHAT THE NEWS stories failed to tell us was wherein the "park" of the "street people" differed from what most of us think of as a park.

Residents of Berkeley — genuine residents, with fixed addresses — referred to the "people's park" as an "open-air house of ill fame." It was not used as a park is normally used. Many "street people" lived there. They ate there, cooking over open fires; they slept there, together. And because they do not work and have no regular hours, they kept the nights hideous with loudly amplified "music."

There is little communication between town and gown in Berkeley — a fact noted at some length by Mayor Wallace Johnson during a recent televised Berkeley City Council meeting. But eventually, university officials became aware of the situation and ordered the property fenced — with very short warning to the occupying "street people." (Whether more adequate warning would have made any difference is very doubtful.)

The riot that followed resulted in calling the National Guard.

WHEN THE RIOT started, Berkeley called for police assistance from neighboring jurisdictions. The California Highway Patrol, Alameda County sheriff's office, and police departments of several cities sent officers. But the riot was too much for even this force to handle. Nintey-five law officers were injured the first day.

At request of the Berkeley police chief and Alameda County sheriff, the city administration then asked for the National Guard. Gov. Ronald Reagan, who had been watching the situation closely, had the guard ready. It moved in.

During all this time, the university administrators — who had saddled the city with the problem in the first place — sat behind the broken windows of their own vandalized buildings, making clucking noises. Then they let it be known — without ever approaching the city administration directly — that they might be willing to lease the property to the city for a dollar a year if the city wanted to make a park of it.

A majority of the city council voted to do that.

HOWEVER, THIS by no means placated the "street people" — who probably want nothing less than they want a park controlled by the city, which could not be used as an "open air house of ill fame." So they moved onto another piece of vacant property, started another "people's park" — and got into another ruckus with police.

What does it all boil down to?

Put plainly, this: A bunch of bums created a downtown hobo jungle and started a war when they were kicked out of it.

"Street people" and "people's park" are just pretty terms to create semantic confusion.

Where They Build

When it comes to building nests in which to lay their eggs and raise they young, most birds choose sensible sites according to the instinctive laws of their particular kind. But now and then a pair will choose a site that defies all logic.

We recall that a few years ago a pair of mourning doves built their nest and raised their young atop a traffic signal light in downtown Oakland. Recently, a lady in San Rafael wrote us about a bird, presumably a wren, which chose a sconce next to her main door as a nesting site. She was worried because there is much traffic in and out, much banging of the door, causing the wall and the sconce to vibrate.

Mail boxes are a fairly common site. But build a bird house and you may wait years for a tenant.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Sebastopol Editor Tees Off On State College Pornography

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Pornography at Sonoma State College has drawn the ire of Ernest V. Joiner, editor of the Sebastopol Times, which is a solid weekly in the apple capital of California.

Joiner is one of the state's more fiery editors, who carries a slogan on his mast-head which says "if you don't want it published, don't let it happen."

When he turns to pornography, he calls a spade a spade, and without reservation castigates the state college for permitting what he terms the publication of obscene material in the Steppes, the student newspaper.

WITHOUT MUCH pride, Joiner announced in the June 5 issue of the Times that for the first time in its history, it published (on Page 2) a nude photograph. At the same time, he wrote that on the advice of his attorney, he left out two articles from Steppe "which could not be reproduced because they represent the lowest gutter approach, replete with filthy four-letter words, to topics of no consequence whatever."

"The nudes on page 2," he wrotes, "indicate how the college uses your tax money to prepare your children to be adults, responsible citizens."

The photo itself certainly was no contribution to the arts, but rather something that might be seen in a nudist magazine, and far from a cause for incitement to riot.

"I HAVE VIEWED," wrote Joiner, "many items of pornography, but I have never seen it so blatantly and vulgarly displayed as in the pages of this college newspaper. It is filth. It is trash. It is hard core pornography. . . .

"The worst part of it is that it bears the hallmark and seal of approval of President Ambrose R. Nichols Jr. and his college administrators.

"If administrators do not approve of such sewer content, they would surely do something to stop it. . . .

"What can you do? Ask your legislative representatives to get some decency back on the campus, or withhold appropriations until the filth is removed. Demand the removal of Nichols and the small band of left-wing professors who encourage by their permissive attitude, obscenity as a part of higher education. Vote against college bond issues and fight appropriations of any of your dollars to such institutions as Sonoma State College until conditions change for the better.

"Now if you'll excuse me. I'm going to the curb and vomit.!"

Perhaps if more people would attack college pornography, financed by state taxpayer dollars, in this vein, there would be less college pornography.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

DDT Helpful And Harmless

One of the surest ways for anybody to make a real ass of himself is to try to speak authoritatively on a subject about which he knows nothing.

Newspaper editors are no exception, and you demonstrated this with effectiveness and originality in your silly editorial on DDT May 22. I believe I could ignore the foolishness of it, but when it also involves dangerous misinformation, someone ought to correct you.

Dr. Wayland J. Hayes, former chief of toxicology for the United States Public Health Service, and now a professor of biochemistry at Vanderbilt University, stated less than 30 days ago, that there is no danger to the public in current uses of DDT, either from residues in food or from environmental exposure to this pesticide.

Eradication of malaria in the United States was brought about by the use of DDT, and while it no longer exists here, it remains a major killer of people in many parts of the world. . . .

Public health officials in California and many other parts of the United States are today greatly concerned about the possibilities of encephalitis outbreaks this summer as a result of last winter's heavy snows and rains which are now furnishing record sized breeding grounds for mosquitoes. DDT is still the best mosquito control measure known to man.

The U. S. Public Health Service has, unknown to most of the general public (because of ignorant distortions like yours) studied DDT and its effects on all types of life, human and otherwise, for more than 20 years and has never found any significant harmful effects as long as the chemical is used within reason. . . .

Councilman Not Truck Owner

One of your news stories about the recent doings of the San Anselmo City Council (May 28) stated that "Councilman" Robert Scott was called to account for storing trucks and gear in front of his home. Please be assured that the Robert Scott who was involved in this incident is not a city councilman and he might very well resent being called one. We are in fact not related to one another.

Your reporter who was otherwise most accurate, may have been confused by an earlier criticism by some councilmen of "Councilman" Robert Scott. They were troubled because of your Mr. (Bruce) Coleman's excellent reporting about our fire and police needs in San Anselmo. At least you did not blame the truck-owning Robert Scott for ruffling the feelings of these councilmen. Things are bizarre enough in our council meetings.

Democracy Alive; Details Challenged

This is in response to the editorial of June 4 in which you told of the democracy at Tomales High School. In your editorial you had many misleading and false facts.

First was when you stated Bob Borello received the majority of votes even though he was named ineligible by Principal (Anthony) Matulich. It is true he did receive the majority of the votes, but you didn't state the basis for which he received them. These are that the majority of the votes he received were against Matulich's decision rather than for Borello.

Secondly you stated that 50-75 students went on strike for two class periods. This is also misleading as the majority of these students went on strike just to be getting out of class. I would say 10-15 really knew why they were on strike. In my understanding the whole thing was overpublicized.

Thirdly you stated that there was a petition signed by 165 students which declared that they felt Borello should have office. There was no such petition.

You're right about democracy taking place at Tomales, as for the first time in years Tomales students have come alive.

'Unity Conference' In Moscow Shows Deep Communist Rift

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — Soviet Russian leadership is going through a painful and humiliating experience.

Waht is happening is that the summit conference of Communist parties, now assembled in Moscow to show how united they are behind the Kremlin, is revealing how disunited they have become and how much they resent Russian attempts at domination.

It is evident that the Kremlin can't get what it wants — expulsion of Red China from the ranks of 'true" Communists and endorsement of its right to intervene in the internal affairs of other Communist countries (as in Czechoslovakia) whenever it doesn' tlike their brand of communism.

This means that in very few nations do the Comunsit governments or the Communist parties accept Russian leadership unless compelled to do so by Russian force.

This means that communism in the world today is a collection of changing, divergent, national unions, most of them rejecting the ideological pattern of both Moscow ad Peking.

HOW DISUNITED is this "unity" summit which took the Russians five years of coaxing, cajoling and threatening to bring about?

Consider:

Nearly half of all the Communist parties in power — six out of 14 — are boycotting it. They are mainland China, Yugoslavia, North Vietnam North Korea, Albania and Cuba.

There are at least eight other Communist parties deliberatley absent — those from New Zealand, Indonesia, Japan, Malaysia, Thailand, Burma, Laos, South Vietnam.

Of the approximately 75 Communist parties present, not more than 20 are substantial and significant parties. The remainder are minisects, many of them no more than splinter groups within Communist parties, as in India and Israel, with the larger segments staying away because they are anti-Russian.

On the eve of the conference there were so many controversial amendments cutting away at what the Kremlin wanted the conference to approve that the only way the Russians could get the opening session under way with some semblance of harmony was to postpone debate.

IN THE EASTERN European Communist bloc, where the Russians exert their greatest power because the Red army can move in so readily, Romania is showing itself bravely independent. It refuses to say anything even politely vague that could be twisted into apparent approval of the Czech occupation or the Russian doctrine of "limited sovereignty" for others. Its position is that "the less we shine, the better" because the Romanians well know how the Russians use past vagaries to justify the Czech invasion.

The Italian Communist Party, the largest in Europe, is independent of Russian wishes. It is turning sharply away from anything but the loosest association with Moscow. Its leaders are beginning to describe Marxism as outdated and irrelevant to conditions of modern industrial society, and they don't want to be bound by the Kremlin's "petrified ideology."

Like the Czech Communist reformers, before they were bludgeoned by Russian tanks, the Italians are now saying that communism can achieve its goals only by popular consent.

Communism by popular consent will be wholly unlike the communism we have known in the past. It may not be communism at all. But it is unlikely that the Kremlin can succeed in stemming the tide.

'New Left' Leader Plans Attack On Broadcasters

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — Broadcasters and the Federal Communications Commission are bracing for an attack on radio and television programming policies directed by a top theoretician of the "New Left."

While programming policies of broadcasters will be the initial focus for a legal task force headed by Marcus Raskin, co-director of the Institute for Policy Studies here, FCC licensing policies — the standards by which stations are licensed — are its ultimate target.

UNDER THE Federal Communications Act, the airwaves are public property. Raskin says his task force wants to find out whether licensed broadcasters operate in the public interest or in their own, commercial interests.

The three-year licenses of all broadcasters in this area — District of Columbia, Maryland, Virginia and west Virginia — expire together on Oct. 1. They are to be the first ones to have their programming reviewed by the Raskin group.

Raskin has been an outspoken critic of the Vietnam war and a political activist and writer for "New Left" causes. A year ago he was found not guilty, in a much publicized case, of conspiring to advise young men to evade the draft. He was the only defendant acquitted in that Boston case which resulted in guilty verdicts against Dr. Benjamin Spock, Rev. William Sloane Coffin Jr., the Yale University chaplain, and two others.

RASKIN HAS rounded up half a dozen lawyers and law students, well acquainted with communications law, to do the spade work in the inquiry.

By publicizing deficiencies in programming before renewal time, the Raskin group will, in effect, be spotlighting license which might be subject to successful challenge. The group can then assist in challenges based on failure to provide adequate community services.

RASKIN TALKS of the public — the community served by a radio or television station — as finding ways to take back the airways which it owns. That is tough talk for broadcasters, but at least two members of the FCC agree that some programming fails to serve the public interest.

Moreover, the two commissioners, Nicholas Johnson and Kenneth A. Cox, recently questioned whether their FCC colleagues are interested in applying "any standards at all" in the renewal of licenses.

The two commissioners commented in dissenting with respect to the renewal of licenses for some radio and television stations in New York State. They did not propose that licenses be revoked or suspended, but they suggested that the FCC should look "more closely" at time allotted to news and public affairs programming. Specifically, they recommended further inquiry into the operation of seven of the 24 commerical television stations in New York state.

Blessed is he who has found his work; let him ask no other blessedness. —Thomas Carlyle.

Market In Another Losing Day

NEW YORK (UPI) — The market finished with a loss today despite a rally around midsession. Trading was very heavy.

Steels had a mixed appearance. Most issues in the group had been lower earlier in the session. Autos also were mixed.

Chemicals moved lower, with most losses in fractions. Oils were weak from the opening bell, with Atlantic Richfield among the downside leaders.

Electronics had a handful of losers of a point or more. Honeywell, however, was one of the few to buck the trend.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange eased in brisk trading.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Mutual Funds Are Not Always Suitable Buys

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I have always felt that unless one had time to follow the market he was better off in a mutual fund. I have shares of Comstock, Eberstadt and Pioneer Fund. What do you think of these? — E. M.

A. Two of your funds, Comstock and Eberstadt, are too new to have compiled a meaningful performance record. However, after retirement you may want to switch into less aggressive funds since one of these is a performance fund and the other a growth fund.

Pioneer has an above-average record over the past five years.

I agree that a busy executive frequently lacks the time and/or interest to handle his investments wisely. But he owes it to himself to investigate all the alternatives.

Because you have split your capital of $127,000 among three mutual funds you have probably paid up to 6 per cent acquisition charges. Unlike a mutual fund, this type of portfolio supervision is fitted to the individual's needs.

Q. Would you list some top-quality convertible preferred stocks that pay a fairly good dividend? I plan on retiring in five years and feel that they provide a hedge against inflation with some safety. — R. P.

A. When market conditions are uncertain, convertible securities make particularly good investment sense. Air Products and Chemical $4.75 convertible preferred, yielding just under 4 per cent, is selling at a small premium over conversion value.

High-yielding Atlantic City Electric $5.88 convertible preferred at 5.3 per cent reflects the bear market in utility issues. Shares trade at a reasonable premium, carry an AA rating and are protected through 1973 against call.

International Telephone $4.50 convertible preferred is also call protected through 1973 and yields 4.3 per cent.

My final choice, Reynolds Metals $4.50 convertible preferred, yields 4.8 per cent but sells at a higher premium (22 per cent) over conversion value.

Any or all of these issues are fairly priced for medium to long-term investment.

Paper Increase

NEW YORK (UPI) — St. Regis Paper Co. will raise prices of Natural Kraft grocery sack paper by $7.50 a ton Aug. 1. A similar boost was announced for Kraft converting grades to be effective Sept. 1.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

Small World Car Leasing Agency To Open By July 1

Opening by July 1 in downtown San Rafael will be Small World Car Leasing — a branch of the Mill Valley business operated by Walt and Nancy Brown for the past five years.

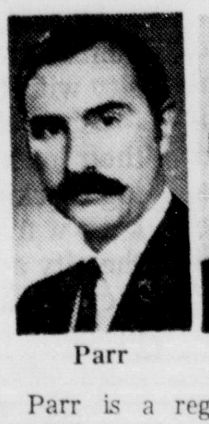
They have leased 871 Fourth Street, San Rafael, through Herman Deitch, Realtor. Coincidentally this is a return to the identical building where Brown started to work in 1947. At that time it was a feed store (Marin County Feed Co.) and later he resigned and moved across the street to work for Dohemann Motor Co.

The Browns operate both Small World Car Leasing and Small World Travel in Mill Valley. Last October the car leasing was separated from the travel business and moved to 383 Miller Avenue. The travel agency continues at 25 East Blithedale Avenue.

The Browns lease out assorted small cars such as Camaro, Mustang, Datsun, Toyota and MG. Guy Torrey of Larkspur, who has been with them four years, will be San Rafael manager and there will be one other salesman and a secretary.

Meanwhile they are diversifying their activities still further with a condominium in Acapulco, which they will rent out to tourists as they do with one already owned in Hawaii.

NOON NEWS PROGRAM weekdays on Radio KTIM now features stock reporter Gordon F. Parr of San Rafael with a brief analysis of the just-closed market, including cause and effect by world affairs and a briefing on most actively traded stocks. The report is also rebroadcast on KTIM's 5:30 p.m. news.



Parr

Martino

Parr is a registered representative with Irving Lundborg and Co., San Rafael, where he has been since the first of last year. Previously he was with Standard Register Co. in Los Angeles, Oakland and Portland.

JOSEPH MARTINO of Terra Linda has been promoted to assistant vice president and manager of Wells Fargo Bank's 477 Sutter Street office in San Francisco. Formerly assistant manager in San Rafael, he joined the bank in 1955 and has served as several San Francisco offices.

Fain

Froese

LAWRENCE A. FAIN of Tiburon has been promoted to assistant vice president in the national division at Bank of America's San Francisco headquarters. He joined the bank in 1967.

AL R. FROESE of Novato has been promoted to operations officer at Crocker-Citizens National Bank's East San Rafael office where the has been operations officer since 1966. He joined the bank in 1961 and served at offices in Selma and Fresno before his Marin assignment.

RONALD W. SHAFER of Santa Venetia has been promoted to senior professional service representative for Smith Kline and French, Philadelphia manufacturer of prescription medicines and other health products. He has been with the company since 1964.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

State Funds Withheld For Questionable Reasons

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

California law requires that school districts devote from 50 per cent (in high school and junior college districts) to 60 per cent (in elementary districts) of "current education expenditures" to payment of classroom teachers. However, 129 school districts in the state failed to comply with this requirement last year.

Punishment consists of withholding state funds equal to the amount of the excess in non-teaching expenditures.

HARDEST HIT last year, according to a report to the legislature by the State Department of Education, was Ravenswood Elementary School District in.San Mateo County. It was denied $265,107 in state funds for non-compliance. This loss of expected funds was disastrous to the predominatly Negro district, with low per capita income and a tax rate of $3.44 per $100 assessed valuation.

Three other school districts exceeded by more than $100,000 the amounts they legally could devote to purposes other than classroom teacher pay: Foothill Junior College District in Santa Clara County, $193,531; Santa Barbara Elementary School District, $119,272, and Fremont-Newark Junior College District in Alameda County, $108,530. However, not a dime in state funds was withheld from these three.

Like most sections of the California Education Code, this one has built-in loopholes. The Sata Barbara Elementary School District got its full state allotment despite its overspending because the State Department of Education found that it was devoting to teacher pay an amount comparable to other districts of its size. The two junior college districts were among eight new districts of that type which were allowed a special exemption.

WHY SHOULD a school district be denied state funds because of the way it spends its money?

There are two purported reasons. One is to guard against outright wasteful spending; the other is to reduce class sizes.

The education profession for many years contended that smaller classes were nore important than anything else in improving the quality of education. This was taken on faith by most people, including California's legislators.

Within the last few years, statewide and nationwide test results have shown that class size has little or nothing to do with how much children learn. However, the old belief still governs California's educational policies, and is reflected in many of its school laws. The requirement that a certain percentage of the district's budget go to pay classroom teachers is intended to keep classes small.

It does not seem to have much effect, however. Among the 129 non-complying districts listed in the state report, average class sizes in elementary grades ranged from 33.8 in Mecca District in Riverside County down to 10.6 in Helm District in Fresno County.

THERE IS FURTHER evidence that the requirement has little to do with how much is spent on non-teaching personnel.

Another report to the legislature by the State Department of Education listed the ratio of non-teaching to teaching employees in nearly every school district in California. It showed that elementary districts averaged 13.2 certificated people (holding credentials to teach) in non-teaching positions to every 100 classroom teachers.

Ravenswood Elementary District had 16.7 certificated non-teaching persons per 100 classroom teachers — a little above the state average. But the report listed 38 elementary districts that had 20 or more non-teaching certificated employees per 100 classroom teachers. Few of these districts were listed for failing to devote 60 per cent of their expenditures to classroom teacher salaries.

The three elementary districts with the highest ratio of non-teaching personnel were: La Habra, Orange County, 31.4 per 100; Los Altos, Santa Clara County, 31.3, and Pacific, Humboldt County, 29.4. None of these was listed for non-compliance.

To complete the irony, Ravenswood would not have lost that $265,107 if it had filed a request for exemption on time. For its 25.8 average class size entitled it to be forgiven for the overspending under another of the law's loopholes.

Minneapolis Lawman Wins Mayor Race

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — A politically independent police detective who pinned his hopes of becoming mayor on a tough law-and-order stand has won an easy victory over a Republican opponent endorsed by President Richard M. Nixon.

Charles Stenvig, who defeated City Councilman Dan Cohen 74,748 to 46,739 as 55 per cent of the city's registered voters turned out, promised in his victory speech yesterday that he would not let the voters down.

"My chief adviser is going to be God," Stenvig said, "and don't you forget it!"

Stenvig 41, will be sworn in July 7 as the successor to Arthur Naftalin, a Democrat who is stepping down to return to teaching at the University of Minnesota after four terms in the mayor's office.

Cohen, 33, was endorsed not only by the President but by Gov. Harold LeVander and had counted on a heavy voter turnout to overcome Stenvig's lead in the April 29 primary.

Stenvig led a field of 10 candidates in the primary and ran 8,000 votes ahead of Cohen.

The detective's campaign was centered on the single theme that law and order means "strong, fair, impartial law enforcement toward everyone."

The successful campaign cost only an estimated $15,000, and was featured by a clanking 1940 Ford truck with a loudspeaker on top. Cohen spent an estimated $45,000.

Stenvig will receive $21,000 a year in his new post. Under the weak-mayor system in Minneapolis, he will have few powers beyond appointing the police chief.

"Right now, the mayor's main job is being head of the police department," Stenvig said, and he expressed the view that his training is just right.

"There hasn't been anyone elected mayor yet that's had any training to head the police department," Stenvig said. "I've had 15 years, counting the military. I'm the best qualified yet."

Ross Panel Sets Creek Discussion

The Ross Town Council will meet at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow to hear public views on the phase of the Corte Madera Creek flood control project which is scheduled to run through the community.

The discussion is scheduled to last 30 minutes. Similar talks will be held at each council meeting as long as interest is shown.

In other business, H. D. Pischel of San Francisco will ask for council permission to subdivide 15 acres on Canyon Road into four future homesites.

Cambodia To Resume Ties With U.S.

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — The United States and Cambodia will resume diplomatic relations at the lower level of charges d'affaires, Prince Norodom Sihanouk told a news conference today.

The prince, Cambodia's chief of state, also announced that he has broken diplomatic relations with West Germany and West German aid to Cambodia will be stopped.

Cambodia recognized East Germany early in May, and West German Foreign Minister Willy Brandt termed this an unfriendly act as far as his government was concerned. This apparently angered Prince Sihanouk,

The prince said that the decision to resume relations with Washington followed an American note May 22 which said a previous statement recognizing Cambodia's frontiers "speaks for itself."

The earlier statement, in mid-April, said the United States respects Cambodia's sovereignty and territorial integrity "within its present frontiers."

Cambodia at first took exception to this, and Prince Sihanouk said he would not resume relations with Washington unless the Americans gave unreserved recognition to the border as he draws it.

'People's Park' Fancy Name For Nuisance

Just about everything concerning the so-called "people's park" in Berkeley has been badly handled, and that includes the reporting.

What was the "people's park"?

The news stories from Berkeley informed us that it was a parcel of property (most of a city block) purchased last year by University of California for campus expansion; that after the buildings on it were razed, it remained idle through the winter; that Berkeley "street people" decided to turn it into a park and installed some picnic tables, etc.; that U.C. then ordered them out and put up a chain-link fence around the property, whereupon the "street people" reacted with a riot.

WHAT THE NEWS stories failed to tell us was wherein the "park" of the "street people" differed from what most of us think of as a park.

Residents of Berkeley — genuine residents, with fixed addresses — referred to the "people's park" as an "open-air house of ill fame." It was not used as a park is normally used. Many "street people" lived there. They ate there, cooking over open fires; they slept there, together. And because they do not work and have no regular hours, they kept the nights hideous with loudly amplified "music."

There is little communication between town and gown in Berkeley — a fact noted at some length by Mayor Wallace Johnson during a recent televised Berkeley City Council meeting. But eventually, university officials became aware of the situation and ordered the property fenced — with very short warning to the occupying "street people." (Whether more adequate warning would have made any difference is very doubtful.)

The riot that followed resulted in calling the National Guard.

WHEN THE RIOT started, Berkeley called for police assistance from neighboring jurisdictions. The California Highway Patrol, Alameda County sheriff's office, and police departments of several cities sent officers. But the riot was too much for even this force to handle. Nintey-five law officers were injured the first day.

At request of the Berkeley police chief and Alameda County sheriff, the city administration then asked for the National Guard. Gov. Ronald Reagan, who had been watching the situation closely, had the guard ready. It moved in.

During all this time, the university administrators — who had saddled the city with the problem in the first place — sat behind the broken windows of their own vandalized buildings, making clucking noises. Then they let it be known — without ever approaching the city administration directly — that they might be willing to lease the property to the city for a dollar a year if the city wanted to make a park of it.

A majority of the city council voted to do that.

HOWEVER, THIS by no means placated the "street people" — who probably want nothing less than they want a park controlled by the city, which could not be used as an "open air house of ill fame." So they moved onto another piece of vacant property, started another "people's park" — and got into another ruckus with police.

What does it all boil down to?

Put plainly, this: A bunch of bums created a downtown hobo jungle and started a war when they were kicked out of it.

"Street people" and "people's park" are just pretty terms to create semantic confusion.

Where They Build

When it comes to building nests in which to lay their eggs and raise they young, most birds choose sensible sites according to the instinctive laws of their particular kind. But now and then a pair will choose a site that defies all logic.

We recall that a few years ago a pair of mourning doves built their nest and raised their young atop a traffic signal light in downtown Oakland. Recently, a lady in San Rafael wrote us about a bird, presumably a wren, which chose a sconce next to her main door as a nesting site. She was worried because there is much traffic in and out, much banging of the door, causing the wall and the sconce to vibrate.

Mail boxes are a fairly common site. But build a bird house and you may wait years for a tenant.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Sebastopol Editor Tees Off On State College Pornography

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Pornography at Sonoma State College has drawn the ire of Ernest V. Joiner, editor of the Sebastopol Times, which is a solid weekly in the apple capital of California.

Joiner is one of the state's more fiery editors, who carries a slogan on his mast-head which says "if you don't want it published, don't let it happen."

When he turns to pornography, he calls a spade a spade, and without reservation castigates the state college for permitting what he terms the publication of obscene material in the Steppes, the student newspaper.

WITHOUT MUCH pride, Joiner announced in the June 5 issue of the Times that for the first time in its history, it published (on Page 2) a nude photograph. At the same time, he wrote that on the advice of his attorney, he left out two articles from Steppe "which could not be reproduced because they represent the lowest gutter approach, replete with filthy four-letter words, to topics of no consequence whatever."

"The nudes on page 2," he wrotes, "indicate how the college uses your tax money to prepare your children to be adults, responsible citizens."

The photo itself certainly was no contribution to the arts, but rather something that might be seen in a nudist magazine, and far from a cause for incitement to riot.

"I HAVE VIEWED," wrote Joiner, "many items of pornography, but I have never seen it so blatantly and vulgarly displayed as in the pages of this college newspaper. It is filth. It is trash. It is hard core pornography. . . .

"The worst part of it is that it bears the hallmark and seal of approval of President Ambrose R. Nichols Jr. and his college administrators.

"If administrators do not approve of such sewer content, they would surely do something to stop it. . . .

"What can you do? Ask your legislative representatives to get some decency back on the campus, or withhold appropriations until the filth is removed. Demand the removal of Nichols and the small band of left-wing professors who encourage by their permissive attitude, obscenity as a part of higher education. Vote against college bond issues and fight appropriations of any of your dollars to such institutions as Sonoma State College until conditions change for the better.

"Now if you'll excuse me, I'm going to the curb and vomit.!"

Perhaps if more people would attack college pornography, financed by state taxpayer dollars, in this vein, there would be less college pornography.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

DDT Helpful And Harmless

One of the surest ways for anybody to make a real ass of himself is to try to speak authoritatively on a subject about which he knows nothing.

Newspaper editors are no exception, and you demonstrated this with effectiveness and originality in your silly editorial on DDT May 22. I believe I could ignore the foolishness of it, but when it also involves dangerous misinformation, someone ought to correct you.

Dr. Wayland J. Hayes, former chief of toxicology for the United States Public Health Service, and now a professor of biochemistry at Vanderbilt University, stated less than 30 days ago, that there is no danger to the public in current uses of DDT, either from residues in food or from environmental exposure to this pesticide.

Eradication of malaria in the United States was brought about by the use of DDT, and while it no longer exists here, it remains a major killer of people in many parts of the world. . . .

Public health officials in California and many other parts of the United States are today greatly concerned about the possibilities of encephalitis outbreaks this summer as a result of last winter's heavy snows and rains which are now furnishing record sized breeding grounds for mosquitoes. DDT is still the best mosquito control measure known to man.

The U. S. Public Health Service has, unknown to most of the general public (because of ignorant distortions like yours) studied DDT and its effects on all types of life, human and otherwise, for more than 20 years and has never found any significant harmful effects as long as the chemical is used within reason. . . .

Councilman Not Truck Owner

One of your news stories about the recent doings of the San Anselmo City Council (May 28) stated that "Councilman" Robert Scott was called to account for storing trucks and gear in front of his home. Please be assured that the Robert Scott who was involved in this incident is not a city councilman and he might very well resent being called one. We are in fact not related to one another.

Your reporter who was otherwise most accurate, may have been confused by an earlier criticism by some councilmen of "Councilman" Robert Scott. They were troubled because of your Mr. (Bruce) Coleman's excellent reporting about our fire and police needs in San Anselmo. At least you did not blame the truck-owning Robert Scott for ruffling the feelings of these councilmen. Things are bizarre enough in our council meetings.

Democracy Alive; Details Challenged

This is in response to the editorial of June 4 in which you told of the democracy at Tomales High School. In your editorial you had many misleading and false facts.

First was when you stated Bob Borello received the majority of votes even though he was named ineligible by Principal (Anthony) Matulich. It is true he did receive the majority of the votes, but you didn't state the basis for which he received them. These are that the majority of the votes he received were against Matulich's decision rather than for Borello.

Secondly you stated that 50-75 students went on strike for two class periods. This is also misleading as the majority of these students went on strike just to be getting out of class. I would say 10-15 really knew why they were on strike. In my understanding the whole thing was overpublicized.

Thirdly you stated that there was a petition signed by 165 students which declared that they felt Borello should have office. There was no such petition.

You're right about democracy taking place at Tomales, as for the first time in years Tomales students have come alive.

'Unity Conference' In Moscow Shows Deep Communist Rift

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — Soviet Russian leadership is going through a painful and humiliating experience.

Waht is happening is that the summit conference of Communist parties, now assembled in Moscow to show how united they are behind the Kremlin, is revealing how disunited they have become and how much they resent Russian attempts at domination.

It is evident that the Kremlin can't get what it wants — expulsion of Red China from the ranks of 'true" Communists and endorsement of its right to intervene in the internal affairs of other Communist countries (as in Czechoslovakia) whenever it doesn' tlike their brand of communism.

This means that in very few nations do the Comunsit governments or the Communist parties accept Russian leadership unless compelled to do so by Russian force.

This means that communism in the world today is a collection of changing, divergent, national unions, most of them rejecting the ideological pattern of both Moscow ad Peking.

HOW DISUNITED is this "unity" summit which took the Russians five years of coaxing, cajoling and threatening to bring about?

Consider:

Nearly half of all the Communist parties in power — six out of 14 — are boycotting it. They are mainland China, Yugoslavia, North Vietnam North Korea, Albania and Cuba.

There are at least eight other Communist parties deliberatley absent — those from New Zealand, Indonesia, Japan, Malaysia, Thailand, Burma, Laos, South Vietnam.

Of the approximately 75 Communist parties present, not more than 20 are substantial and significant parties. The remainder are minisects, many of them no more than splinter groups within Communist parties, as in India and Israel, with the larger segments staying away because they are anti-Russian.

On the eve of the conference there were so many controversial amendments cutting away at what the Kremlin wanted the conference to approve that the only way the Russians could get the opening session under way with some semblance of harmony was to postpone debate.

IN THE EASTERN European Communist bloc, where the Russians exert their greatest power because the Red army can move in so readily, Romania is showing itself bravely independent. It refuses to say anything even politely vague that could be twisted into apparent approval of the Czech occupation or the Russian doctrine of "limited sovereignty" for others. Its position is that "the less we shine, the better" because the Romanians well know how the Russians use past vagaries to justify the Czech invasion.

The Italian Communist Party, the largest in Europe, is independent of Russian wishes. It is turning sharply away from anything but the loosest association with Moscow. Its leaders are beginning to describe Marxism as outdated and irrelevant to conditions of modern industrial society, and they don't want to be bound by the Kremlin's "petrified ideology."

Like the Czech Communist reformers, before they were bludgeoned by Russian tanks, the Italians are now saying that communism can achieve its goals only by popular consent.

Communism by popular consent will be wholly unlike the communism we have known in the past. It may not be communism at all. But it is unlikely that the Kremlin can succeed in stemming the tide.

'New Left' Leader Plans Attack On Broadcasters

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — Broadcasters and the Federal Communications Commission are bracing for an attack on radio and television programming policies directed by a top theoretician of the "New Left."

While programming policies of broadcasters will be the initial focus for a legal task force headed by Marcus Raskin, co-director of the Institute for Policy Studies here, FCC licensing policies — the standards by which stations are licensed — are its ultimate target.

UNDER THE Federal Communications Act, the airwaves are public property. Raskin says his task force wants to find out whether licensed broadcasters operate in the public interest or in their own, commercial interests.

The three-year licenses of all broadcasters in this area — District of Columbia, Maryland, Virginia and west Virginia — expire together on Oct. 1. They are to be the first ones to have their programming reviewed by the Raskin group.

Raskin has been an outspoken critic of the Vietnam war and a political activist and writer for "New Left" causes. A year ago he was found not guilty, in a much publicized case, of conspiring to advise young men to evade the draft. He was the only defendant acquitted in that Boston case which resulted in guilty verdicts against Dr. Benjamin Spock, Rev. William Sloane Coffin Jr., the Yale University chaplain, and two others.

RASKIN HAS rounded up half a dozen lawyers and law students, well acquainted with communications law, to do the spade work in the inquiry.

By publicizing deficiencies in programming before renewal time, the Raskin group will, in effect, be spotlighting license which might be subject to successful challenge. The group can then assist in challenges based on failure to provide adequate community services.

RASKIN TALKS of the public — the community served by a radio or television station — as finding ways to take back the airways which it owns. That is tough talk for broadcasters, but at least two members of the FCC agree that some programming fails to serve the public interest.

Moreover, the two commissioners, Nicholas Johnson and Kenneth A. Cox, recently questioned whether their FCC colleagues are interested in applying "any standards at all" in the renewal of licenses.

The two commissioners commented in dissenting with respect to the renewal of licenses for some radio and television stations in New York State. They did not propose that licenses be revoked or suspended, but they suggested that the FCC should look "more closely" at time allotted to news and public affairs programming. Specifically, they recommended further inquiry into the operation of seven of the 24 commerical television stations in New York state.

Blessed is he who has found his work; let him ask no other blessedness. —Thomas Carlyle.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

State Funds Withheld For Questionable Reasons

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

California law requires that school districts devote from 50 per cent (in high school and junior college districts) to 60 per cent (in elementary districts) of "current education expenditures" to payment of classroom teachers. However, 129 school districts in the state failed to comply with this requirement last year.

Punishment consists of withholding state funds equal to the amount of the excess in non-teaching expenditures.

HARDEST HIT last year, according to a report to the legislature by the State Department of Education, was Ravenswood Elementary School District in San Mateo County. It was denied $265,107 in state funds for non-compliance. This loss of expected funds was disastrous to the predominatly Negro district, with low per capita income and a tax rate of $3.44 per $100 assessed valuation.

Three other school districts exceeded by more than $100,000 the amounts they legally could devote to purposes other than classroom teacher pay: Foothill Junior College District in Santa Clara County, $193,531; Santa Barbara Elementary School District, $119,272, and Fremont-Newark Junior College District in Alameda County, $108,530. However, not a dime in state funds was withheld from these three.

Like most sections of the California Education Code, this one has built-in loopholes. The Sata Barbara Elementary School District got its full state allotment despite its overspending because the State Department of Education found that it was devoting to teacher pay an amount comparable to other districts of its size. The two junior college districts were among eight new districts of that type which were allowed a special exemption.

WHY SHOULD a school district be denied state funds because of the way it spends its money?

There are two purported reasons. One is to guard against outright wasteful spending; the other is to reduce class sizes.

The education profession for many years contended that smaller classes were nore important than anything else in improving the quality of education. This was taken on faith by most people, including California's legislators.

Within the last few years, statewide and nationwide test results have shown that class size has little or nothing to do with how much children learn. However, the old belief still governs California's educational policies, and is reflected in many of its school laws. The requirement that a certain percentage of the district's budget go to pay classroom teachers is intended to keep classes small.

It does not seem to have much effect, however. Among the 129 non-complying districts listed in the state report, average class sizes in elementary grades ranged from 33.8 in Mecca District in Riverside County down to 10.6 in Helm District in Fresno County.

THERE IS FURTHER evidence that the requirement has little to do with how much is spent on non-teaching personnel.

Another report to the legislature by the State Department of Education listed the ratio of non-teaching to teaching employees in nearly every school district in California. It showed that elementary districts averaged 13.2 certificated people (holding credentials to teach) in non-teaching positions to every 100 classroom teachers.

Ravenswood Elementary District had 16.7 certificated non-teaching persons per 100 classroom teachers — a little above the state average. But the report listed 38 elementary districts that had 20 or more non-teaching certificated employees per 100 classroom teachers. Few of these districts were listed for failing to devote 60 per cent of their expenditures to classroom teacher salaries.

The three elementary districts with the highest ratio of non-teaching personnel were: La Habra, Orange County, 31.4 per 100; Los Altos, Santa Clara County, 31.3, and Pacific, Humboldt County, 29.4. None of these was listed for non-compliance.

To complete the irony, Ravenswood would not have lost that $265,107 if it had filed a request for exemption on time. For its 25.8 average class size entitled it to be forgiven for the overspending under another of the law's loopholes.

Minneapolis Lawman Wins Mayor Race

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — A politically independent police detective who pinned his hopes of becoming mayor on a tough law-and-order stand has won an easy victory over a Republican opponent endorsed by President Richard M. Nixon.

Charles Stenvig, who defeated City Councilman Dan Cohen 74,748 to 46,739 as 55 per cent of the city's registered voters turned out, promised in his victory speech yesterday that he would not let the voters down.

"My chief adviser is going to be God," Stenvig said, "and don't you forget it!"

Stenvig 41, will be sworn in July 7 as the successor to Arthur Naftalin, a Democrat who is stepping down to return to teaching at the University of Minnesota after four terms in the mayor's office.

Cohen, 33, was endorsed not only by the President but by Gov. Harold LeVander and had counted on a heavy voter turnout to overcome Stenvig's lead in the April 29 primary.

Stenvig led a field of 10 candidates in the primary and ran 8,000 votes ahead of Cohen.

The detective's campaign was centered on the single theme that law and order means "strong, fair, impartial law enforcement toward everyone."

The successful campaign cost only an estimated $15,000, and was featured by a clanking 1940 Ford truck with a loudspeaker on top. Cohen spent an estimated $45,000.

Stenvig will receive $21,000 a year in his new post. Under the weak-mayor system in Minneapolis, he will have few powers beyond appointing the police chief.

"Right now, the mayor's main job is being head of the police department," Stenvig said, and he expressed the view that his training is just right.

"There hasn't been anyone elected mayor yet that's had any training to head the police department," Stenvig said. "I've had 15 years, counting the military. I'm the best qualified yet."

Ross Panel Sets Creek Discussion

The Ross Town Council will meet at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow to hear public views on the phase of the Corte Madera Creek flood control project which is scheduled to run through the community.

The discussion is scheduled to last 30 minutes. Similar talks will be held at each council meeting as long as interest is shown.

In other business, H. D. Pischel of San Francisco will ask for council permission to subdivide 15 acres on Canyon Road into four future homesites.

Cambodia To Resume Ties With U.S.

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — The United States and Cambodia will resume diplomatic relations at the lower level of charges d'affaires, Prince Norodom Sihanouk told a news conference today.

The prince, Cambodia's chief of state, also announced that he has broken diplomatic relations with West Germany and West German aid to Cambodia will be stopped.

Cambodia recognized East Germany early in May, and West German Foreign Minister Willy Brandt termed this an unfriendly act as far as his government was concerned. This apparently angered Prince Sihanouk,

The prince said that the decision to resume relations with Washington followed an American note May 22 which said a previous statement recognizing Cambodia's frontiers "speaks for itself."

The earlier statement, in mid-April, said the United States respects Cambodia's sovereignty and territorial integrity "within its present frontiers."

Cambodia at first took exception to this, and Prince Sihanouk said he would not resume relations with Washington unless the Americans gave unreserved recognition to the border as he draws it.

'COLLIER'S TOWERS'

A $65 Million Capitol Building

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Start asking about "Collier Towers" in Sacramento and a curtain of secrecy falls. Behind the scenes, plans are being made for a new state Capitol with the estimated cost now around $65 million. Here is a report by Associated Press writer Bill Boyarsky).

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A select group of legislators is meeting secretly each week, planning construction of a new 24-story twin-tower Capitol that would cost at least $65 million and double the office space allocated to each senator and assemblyman.

Although the word hasn't yet been passed to the taxpayers, lawmakers are likely to offer a bill next year to send workmen out building the replacement for the columned and domed Capitol that has housed the legislature since 1869.

Admittedly afraid of premature publicity, the man behind the new building, Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, has imposed tight security on architects and other officials preparing plans.

All meetings of a special committee to plan the project are held in secret. Most officials connected with it are reluctant to comment and Collier refused all interviews. Officials in the State Division of Architecture wouldn't permit a photographer to take a picture of a preliminary model until Gov. Reagan's office told them to do it.

And although workmen haven't hammered a single nail, cost estimates have zoomed from $32.1 million to $65 million as lawmakers contemplate a toilet in every office, a conference room for every lawmaker and a parking space for every car.

Without debate or public discussion, the legislature has already spent $40,545 on plans, models and overseas trips by legislators who wanted to see the latest in legislative buildings.

Investigating lawmakers, on state expense accounts, have traveled to such capital cities as Brasilia; Honolulu; Lima, Peru; Lansing, Mich.; Albany, N.Y., and Santa Fe, N.M. One of the trips provided the travelers with New Year's Eve in Hawaii.

Around the legislature, the project is half jokingly called "Collier Towers" after its leading booster. Advocates of the project said the legislature and

Mrs. Donnelly Dies; Journalist, Historian

FLORENCE DONNELLY
Newspaperwoman since 1930

Florence Donnelly, "grand old girl" of Marin County newspapering and founder of the Marin County Historical Society, died yesterday at her long-time home at 117 C Street, San Rafael. She was 76.

Mrs. Donnelly began her newspaper career on the San Rafael Independent in 1930, and was still active as the Independent-Journal's historical writer until her final illness, which began a few weeks ago with an attack of influena.

As a "cub reporter," she covered general news in San Rafael, and did courthouse coverage during the waning years of Prohibition, when rumrunners and gang killings made the headlines and the criminal courts.

Her versatility carried her from such assignments as murder investigations to being first editor of the Marin Magazine, then to women's editor, and finally to historical writer.

She presided over the I-J's women's department for more than 20 years, and in 1952 her women's pages won first award in the California Newspaper Publishers contest. The following year, she was honored by the San Rafael Improvement Club for outstanding community service.

In 1964, she gave up the women's editorship to devote her time to her "first love," Marin County history, writing numerous historical articles for the Marin Magazine. Three of her articles on North Marin are still awaiting publication in the magazine, a section of the Saturday Independent-Journal.

Mrs. Donnelly not only was co-founder of the Marin County Historical Society in 1935, but held a series of offices in it, including that of president. She

U.S. Awaits Hanoi Hint On Pullback

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials are watching for a Hanoi response, either through diplomatic channels or on the battlefield, to President Richard M. Nixon's bid for a North Vietnamese pullback to match the American troop withdrawal from South Vietnam.

So far the enemy's answer seems negative—both in propaganda blasts at Nixon's 25,000-man withdrawal announcement and in a flareup in combat offensives after a brief lull.

But U.S. sources suggested it would take time for Hanoi leaders to make a full evaluation of Sunday's Midway Island meeting between Nixon and South Vietnam's President Nguyen

Army Puts $4.5 Million Tag On Underground Drain

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCIESCO — Col. Frank C. Boerger, San Francisco district engineer of the Army Corps of Engineers, today estimated cost of a diversionary underground route from Corte Madera Creek through Ross between $4 million and $4.5 million.

Boerger's estimated cost of the corps' plan to handle storm water through a concrete-lined ditch on the creek's present course at $2.5 million. The difference in cost between the two plans would have to be borne locally, Boerger said, because he doubted the federal government would allocate additional funds.

A Ross citizen committee has proposed to divert storm water from the creek through a box culvert under the abandoned Northwestern Pacific Railroad

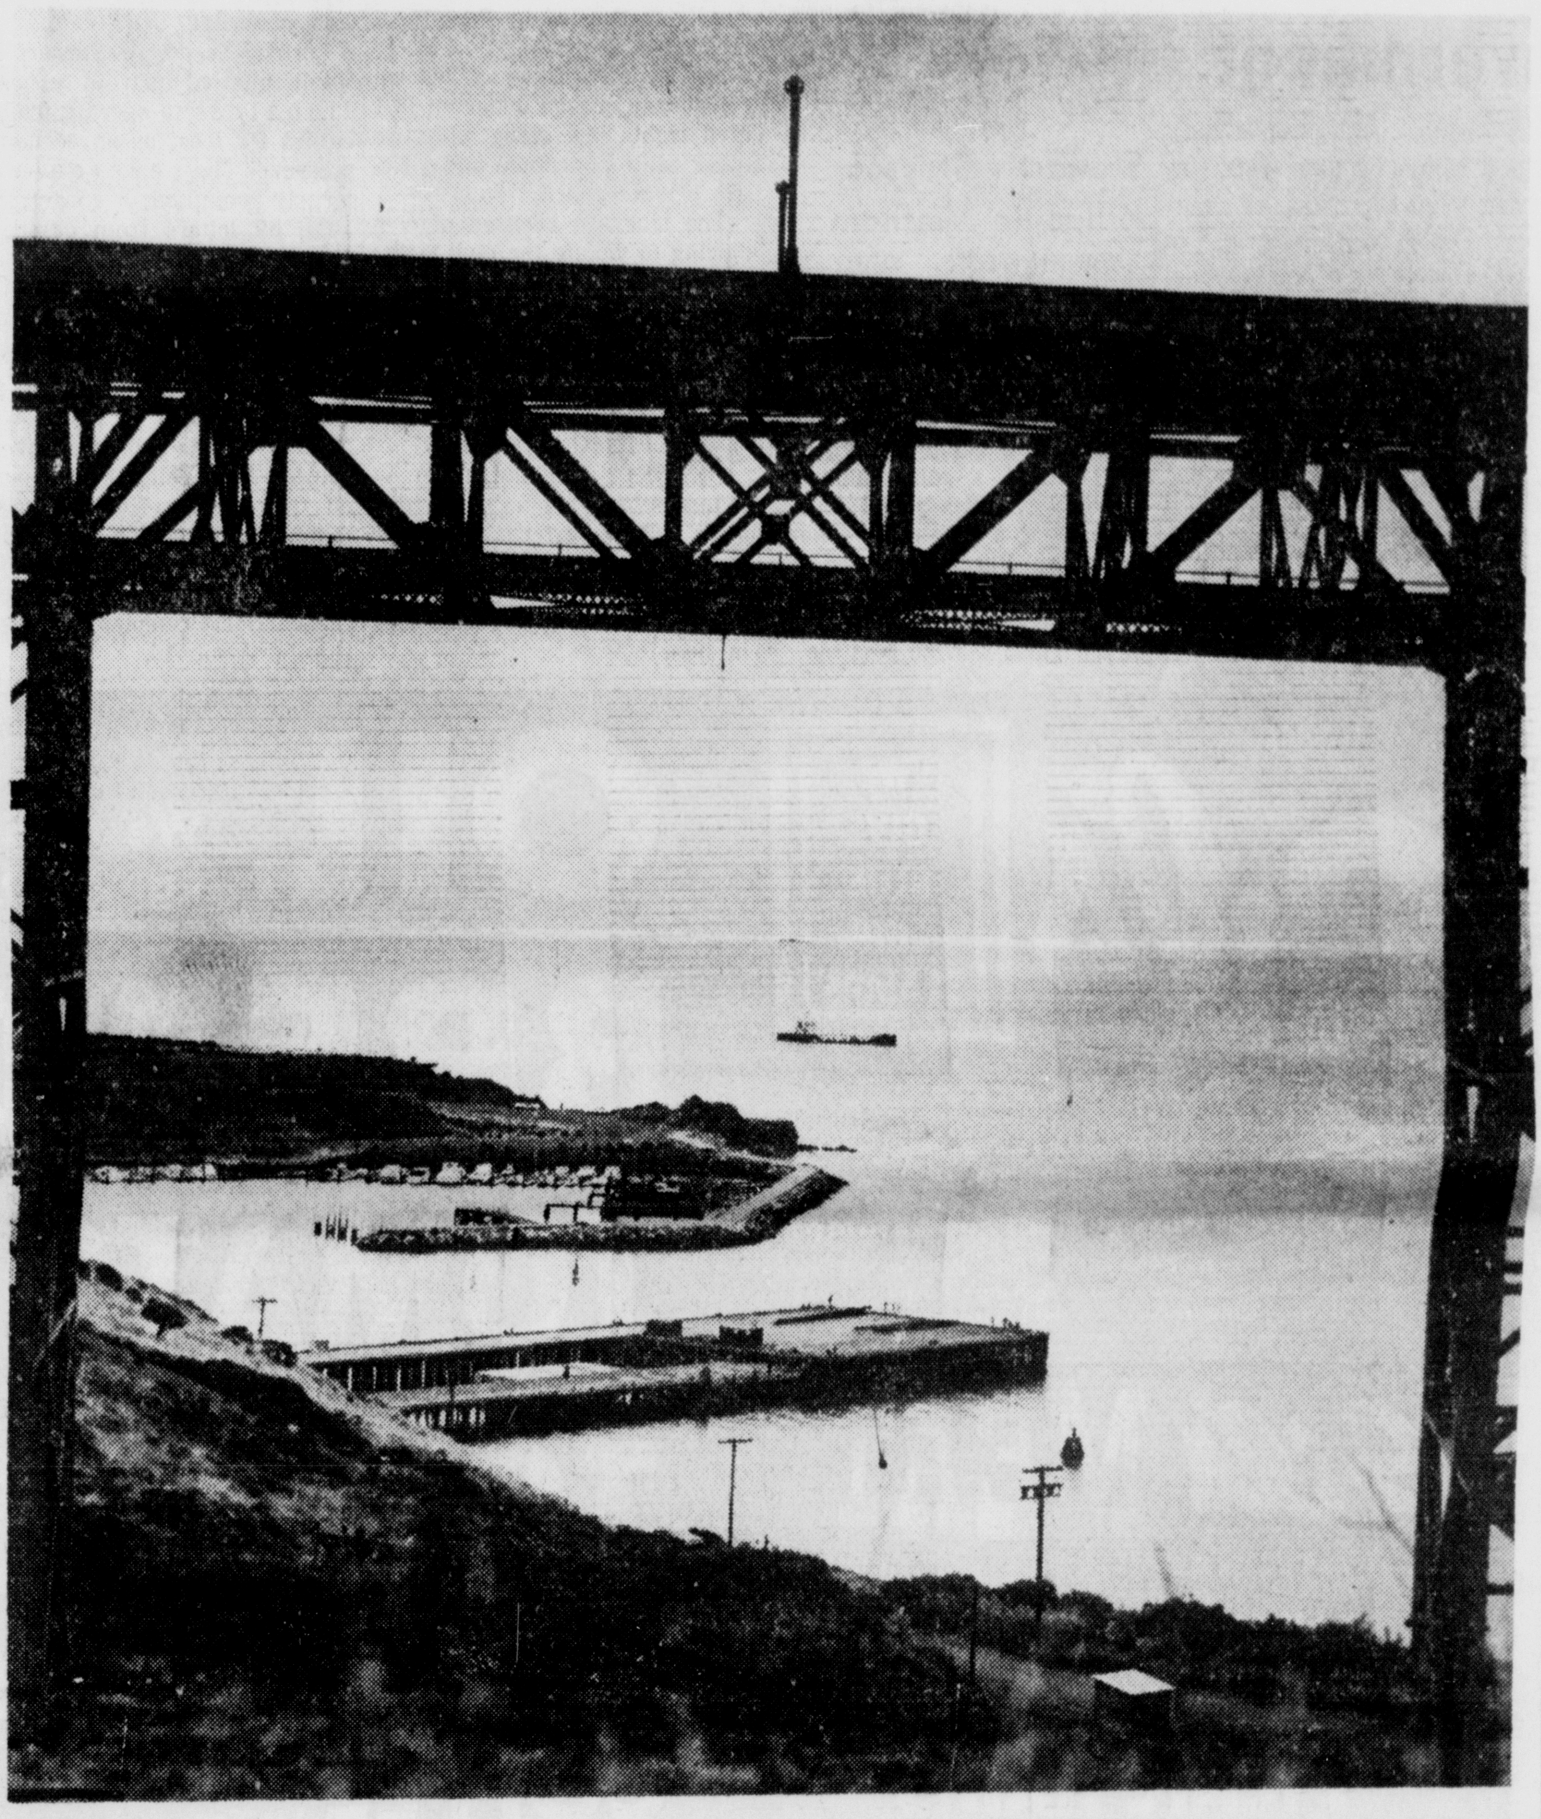
A SOMBER SERENE BAY

The somber mood created by the Bay Area's overcast the past two days was caught this morning by Independent-Journal photographer Bob Hax, looking east from Southern Marin. The stark and skeletal support of Golden Gate Bridge's northern approach frames Fort Baker and the distant East Bay hills. Moving across the silvered bay is the Army Corps of Engineers ship that sweeps the bay clean of debris. The vessel's lonely passage — in a scene where the only other movement is the stirring of water and the scudding of mist — emphasizes the day's serenity.



Mayor Beats Challenger In Petaluma

With 6,705 voters going to the polls out of the 9,218 eligible, Mrs. Putnam received 2,747 votes to Lipman's 2,473. Mrs. Putnam will begin her second four-year term as mayor next month.

City Councilman Phillip L. Joerger was returned to office with 3,058 votes. He will be joined on council by newcomers Fred V. Mattei who polled 3,071 votes and Robert A. Brunner who received 2,086.

The two vacant council positions were created by Vice Mayor Kenneth C. Colin's decision not to run and Councilman Lipman's decision to oppose Mayor Putnam at the end of his council term.

Other council candidates and their unofficial vote tallies were —James E. Reed, 1,961; Lawrence R. Bernauer, 1,268; Rodney L. Cameron, 1,256; Eulon O. Stanley, 690; Donald P. Petrol 674, and Lawrence E. Forney, 543.

In the board of education race, two incumbents were returned and one defeated.

Newcomer Arthur L. La Franchi proved top vote getter with 4,302, defeating incumbent Clay Thompson who received 3,090. Reelected were Sol Fishman with 3,591 votes and Dr. William M. Kortum with 3,939.

Candidate John K. Murphy received 1,808 and Alfred N. Brengle polled 1,725.

School Bonds Vetoed Again In San Rafael

San Rafael Elementary School District's $2.1 million bond proposal was rejected by the voters yesterday, the second defeat this year for the measure.

The unofficial count was 3,865 yes votes and 2,910 no, a 57.05 per cent favorable vote, but short of the required two-thirds majority.

There were 6,775 votes cast, a 40 per cent turnout.

In February the same measure fell short of the two-thirds mark, but garnered a 60.26 per cent favorable vote, 3,729 yes to 2,459 no.

Disappointed board members, school officials and bond campaign workers looked on last night as the results were posted during a board meeting at the Administration Building. (Board of Education stories, page 6.)

Board President Herman L. Childress thanked campaign workers and commented: "We still need classroom space." The board will attempt to work out the problem, he said.

Passage of the bonds would have provided a Glenwood Middle School and improvements at existing schools. The financing also would have enabled the district to switch to a middle school setup for sixth, seventh and eighth grades, and eliminated sixth grades at neighborhood schools.

There was overwhelming support from the Glenwood School precinct, 701 to 195, but the defeat came generally from voting throughout the district.

The measure gained a two-thirds vote only in the Glenwood School area and at the polling place at the Tait residence, 71 Lochinvar Road, Loch Lomond.

In eight of the 19 polling places, mainly in the older section of San Rafael, the measure failed to gain even a simple majority.

Paul K. McMullen, chairman of the campaign committee, and his wife, Valerie, were given a standing ovation for their efforts, and luggage as a gift from co-workers.

The unofficial voting count by precincts was:

Sun Valley School 235 yes, 182 no; West End School, 174 yes, 250 no; San Rafael City Hall, 163 yes, 172 no; Farley residence, 1480 Lincoln Avenue, 163 yes, 110 no; Gallinas School, 193 yes, 170 no; MacPhail School, 191 yes, 152 no; Hartzell School 213 yes, 158 no; San Pedro School, 176 yes, 136 no; San Rafael Boy Scout Hall, 61 yes, 107 no; San Rafael City Schools Administration Building, 147 yes, 159 no.

Davidson School, 182 yes, 193 no; Laurel Dell Intermediate School, 275 yes, 204 no; San Quentin recreation room, 24 yes, 29 no; Bahia Vista School, 162 yes, 87 no; San Rafael High School, 177 yes, 181 no; Dufficy residence, 31 Palm Avenue, 140 yes, 146 no; Coleman School, 166 yes, 108 no; Tait residence, 238 yes, 113 no; Glenwood School, 701 yes, 195 no; absentee ballots, 84 yes, 58 no.

Bagley Accuses Reagan Of Fogging Tax Reform

Withholding Issue Ires Key Architect

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A key Republican in the bipartisan drive for a tax reform package with mandatory income tax withholding today accused Gov. Ronald Reagan of fogging the issue of tax reform by debating mandatory versus voluntary withholding.

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, one of the architects of a comprehensive compromise tax package now being discussed, also stated flatly that any tax bill calling for merely voluntary withholding was doomed to failure in the Legislature.

Reacting to Reagan's press conference yesterday, Bagley said today: "The governor's statements really boil down to his trying to make an issue of partial versus complete withholding. There have got to be more important things in the world to argue about."

WHAT KIND

Reagan, in his regular weekly press conference, told reporters the issue is no longer withholding, but what kind.

Bagley today said, "I don't think that's the biggest issue facing California. I don't want to see that issue alone stop tax reform."

He said the whole question centers on whether any tax program can get the necessary two-thirds vote in the Assembly. It cannot if it has a voluntary withholding provision, he said.

"I can fairly say that the business community of California is totally opposed to partial withholding whereas they endorse full withholding," he said. He cited the recent unanimous action of the statewide tax committee of the California Manufacturers Association, which represents 50 major firms, opposing partial withholding.

'NOT IN CONCRETE'

Bagley again emphasized his "feet are not in concrete on any specific aspect of tax reform," adding: "All I'm trying to do is put together enough votes to pass a meaningful tax reform program."

In another development today, Assembly Speaker Robert Monagan of Tracy and Senate President Pro Tem Howard Way of Exeter, in their weekly news conference, said they have some reservations about Reagan's voluntary withholding plan.

Monagan said he is keeping an open mind, but isn't sure whether the governor's plan is "workable," while Way said the

Four Of Five Bonds Lose In Petaluma

Four bond issues were defeated in yesterday's Petaluma election with only one succeeding, which will provide $45,000 to enlarge police facilities.

Measure "B" on the ballot was approved by the needed two-thirds margin with an unofficial 3,321 "yes" votes to $1,585 "no" votes. The funds will provide three offices, a squad room and a dispatcher's area.

Narrowly defeated was measure "A" to provide $185,000 for a new east side fire station and an addition to the central fire station. Voted on the issue were 3,238 in favor and 1,679 against.

Measure "C," $100,000 for park improvements, was defeated 2,378 to 2,413.

Measure "D," providing $1,580,000 for improvements to Pet-

Jobless Count Drops In May

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A record 7.95 million Californians were working during May and unemployment fell to its lowest May level since 1959, the state Employment Department announced today.

Unemployment totaled 327,000 or 4.2 per cent of the work force. The May 1968 jobless rate was 4.6 per cent.

About half the employment gain came in agriculture, but the department said there were increases in all major industrial categories.

San Pedro Road Fund Promised

An East San Rafael delegation appeared in force today at the Civic Center to fight for San Pedro Road funds but found nothing to argue about when the county administrator reconsidered and recommended the full $500,000 funding.

Instead of a bruising battle, it was sweetness and light, after Asst. Administrator John F. Barrows explained that the admininstrator had recommended cutting $200,000 from the proposed $500,000 joint city-county appropriation to widen San Pedro road from Lochinvar Road to Main Drive.

However, Barrows said he found that carryover balances in the road budget turned out larger than expected, and so did revenues, which makes it possible to fund the full $500,000.

This the supervisors agreed to do. John Shiner, president of the Peacock Gap Homeowners Association, and Norris M. Rawles, San Rafael city engineer, changed their battle plans and wound up with brief thank you speeches.

Public Works Chief's Pay Hiked 5 Pct.

Public Works Director Donald R. Frost, who now gets $1,796 per month, won a 5 per cent raise to $1,883 from July, by unanimous action of the Marin County Board of Supervisors this morning.

The raise is higher than the $1,840 per month recommended by Alan Bruce, county administrator.

Since other county employees are getting raises of 5 per cent in July and another 2.5 per cent cost-of-living raise in January, "any raise less than 5 per cent would be a cut in pay," declared Frost.

Simultaneously, supervisors criticized Frost for having too many staff members and asked for more efficiency in the administration of his department.

"I would like to see a change

Fierce Red Attacks On U.S. Bases Kill 14 GIs

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese forces attacked three U.S. bases in the coastal lowlands south of Da Nang during the night, killing 14 Americans, wounding 68 and destroying or damaging some artillery guns, the U.S. Command reported today. The Americans said 76 North Vietnamese were killed.

In the heaviest attack, North Vietnamese sappers armed with flame throwers and dynamite bombs blasted their way into an American artillery base in foothills 30 miles south of Da Nang. Eleven Americans were killed and 32 wounded in hand-to-hand fighting.

SECOND THRUST

In the second enemy thrust, about 400 North Vietnamese troops tried to overrun a U.S. Marine battalion headquarters 20 miles south of Da Nang, but were hurled back with a loss of 35 killed. Two U.S. Marines were killed and 28 wounded.

In the third attack, the enemy opened fire with mortars, small arms and rocket-propelled grenades on a night bivouac of troops at the U.S. 11th Light Infantry Brigade 95 miles south of Da Nang. In the night-long exchange of fire, 14 North Vietnamese were killed. U.S. losses were one killed and eight wounded.

But the bitterest fighting raged around the U.S. artillery base where 27 North Vietnamese were killed.

About 150 troops of the U.S. 196th Light Infantry Brigade were camped for the night when the sappers attacked shortly after 2 a.m. The enemy troops broke through the barbed wire perimeter under cover of a 70-round mortar barrage that pinned the Americans down.

CLOSE CONTACT

The fighting was so close, spokesmen said, that the Americans were unable to call in bombers and artillery to help drive the North Vietnamese soldiers back.

The U.S. Command also reported about 50 rocket and mortar attacks during the night on allied bases and towns and said about half of them caused casualties or damage. Three hit American units around Dak To who are supporting a South Vietnamese division that has taken over the fighting in the mountains there. Several Americans were wounded, and South Vietnamese casualties were described as light. More than 100 rounds were fired at the allied positions.

Viet Cong Organize Tactical Government

PARIS (AP) — The Viet Cong's announcement that it has formed a provisional government for South Vietnam appears to have been timed to take the edge off the show of solidarity by President Richard M. Nixon and South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu at their Midway Island meeting Sunday.

The Viet Cong Radio announced last night that a special congress of "resistance forces" at a weekend meeting set up a "revolutionary government to rule Vietnam."

The Saigon government called creation of the provisional regime a "trick tactic" in the Viet Cong's campaign for a coalition government to rule South Vietnam.

"We completely disregard that kind of a puppet government," an official spokesman in Saigon said.

He noted that Nixon and Thieu at Midway agreed to "reject any attempt to impose upon the Republic of Vietnam any system or program or any particular form of government, such as coalition, without regard to the will of the people of South Vietnam."

South Vietnamese Foreign Minister Tran Chanh Thanh described the move as "another deceitful tactic of the Communists which may cause detriment to the progress of the Paris peace talks."

Radio Hanoi announced that the two top positions in the "provisional revolutionary government of the Republic of South Vietnam" would be held by the two top officials of the Viet Cong's Natinal Liberation Front.

NLF Chairman Nguyen Huu Tho was elected "chairman, council of advisers to the government," the broadcast said. Huynh Tan Phat, vice chairman and secretary-general of the NLF's Central Committee, was named "chairman of the government."

It appeared that the council chairman would be the more important, similar to the party chief in Communist-ruled countries.

A broadcast also announced the election of three vice chairmen of the government: Dr. Phung Van Cung, deputy chairman of the NLF; Nguyen Van Tiet, a member of the National Alliance of Deocratic and Peace Forces, regarded in Saigon as a Communist front, and Nguyen Doa, whose background was not immediately available.

The broadcast also said Trinh Dinh Thao, chairman of the National Alliance, was elected vice chairman of the advisers council.

Proclamation of the provisional government had been expected for months.

Bolinas Fire Budget

The Bolinas Fire Protection District board Monday night approved a final 1969-70 budget of $16,239, an increase of $1,179 over last year. The tax rate should stay at or near the present 33 cents per $100 assessed valuation, chairman Manuel S. Peters said, because of increased property valuation.

ALGIERS MOTEL INCIDENT

Detroit Policeman Found Innocent In Murder Trial

MASON Mich. (AP) — An all-white jury has found a suspended white policemen innocent of murdering a Negro youth during Detroit's 1967 racial riot. But he still faces a federal conspiracy charge in the Algiers Motel incident.

It took the jury of 11 women and one man less than three hours yesterday to return the acquittal verdict after Circuit Judge William Beer limited them to two choices: a first-degree murder conviction or a not-guilty finding.

Judge Beer gave no explanation of why he ruled out second-degree murder or manslaughter.

The defendant, Ronald August, 30, was on trial for the shotgun slaying of 19-year-old Aubrey Pollard, one of three Negro teen-agers killed July 26, 1967 at the Algiers Motel in Detroit's inner city.

"I'm going to pray," was August's only comment to newsmen who asked him what he planned to do next. He was escorted from the Ingham County Courthouse under heavy guard.

August admitted killing Pollard but said it was in self-defense in a struggle for the shotgun.

After the verdict was announced, the mother of the victim, Rebecca Pollard, said she thought it was a fair trial and the prosecutor did all he could "but the jury refused to believe the facts."

"All whites stick together," Mrs. Pollard added. "I didn't think they would find him guilty."

The verdict had repercussions in the state senate, where a Negro lawmaker introduced a resolution calling for an investigation of the conduct of the judge in restricting the jury to two possible verdicts.

"The inevitable result of the trial . . . has granted a license to kill to the Detroit Police Department and all law enforcement agencies so far as black men are concerned," said the resolution drafted by Sen. Basil Brown, an attorney.

August still faces a federal conspiracy charge under an 1871 civil rights law along with two other white policemen and a Negro private guard.

The four are accused of conspiring to violate the civil rights of 10 persons at the Algiers Motel, which police and National Guardsmen had raided in a search for reported snipers.

Stewart's Stepson Killed In Vietnam

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The stepson of actor Jimmy Stewart has been killed in action in Vietnam, the Pentagon disclosed today.

He was Marine 1st Lt. Ronald W. McLean. The Pentagon said he suffered a fatal gun shot wound while on a patrol June 8. Stewart is a brigadier general in the Air Force Reserves. The stepson was a member of the Third Reconnaissance Battalion of the Third Marine Division.

OXFORD, England (AP) — Princess Margaretha of Sweden gave birth yesterday to her third child, a son.

She and John Ambler, a British businessman, were married in 1964.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Hartfords Split

The Hartfords were reconciled after she sought a divorce in September 1967 and that action was dropped. In both suits Mrs. Hartford charged cruel and inhuman treatment, and in the one lodged yesterday she added a complaint of nonsupport.

Hartford, 57, whose fortune came from A&P Stores, and the red-haired beauty from Wilkes-Barre, Pa., were married in 1962 and have a daughter.

New Park Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Interior Walter J. Hickel has decided to keep all national park campgrounds under federal operation, but to levy a fee for their use.

Tent and trailer fees will probably range from $1.50 to $3.50 a day when they go into effect next spring, a spokesman said yesterday.

Former Secretary Stewart L. Udall allowed private concessionaires to operate trailer camps for fees, as an economy measure. The reversal was largely prompted, a spokesman said, by letters from campers objecting to the higher costs.

Historic Mission

WASHINGTON (AP) — The aircraft carrier Hornet, a 27-year-old veteran of World War II, will be the prime recovery ship for the Apollo 11 astronauts on their return from the first manned landing on the moon next month, space agency officials say. The Hornet replaces the carrier Princeton, recovery ship for Apollo 10.

A 'Heart Suit'

WASHINGTON (AP) — An astronaut-like suit has been developed as an emergency uniform for heart attack victims. The idea — still experimental — is to ease the work load on an overburdened, diseased heart, and save a life.

In a report today to the Artificial Heart Program Conference, sponsored by the National Heart Institute, the suit was said to specifically treat cardiogenic shock, a sharp drop in circulating blood because of a weak heart.

Joint Sun Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) The United States and Germany have agreed to cooperate in the launching of German-built spacecraft in two space probes intended to come closer to the sun — 28 million miles — than any experiment so far.

The agreement signed in Bonn, Germany, yesterdqy provides for two U.S. Atlas-Centaur launch rockets for the probes, which will be known as Helios.

The missions in 1974 and 1975 will study solar wind, magnetic and electric fields, cosmic rays and cosmic dust.

Drug Hauls Up

MEXICO CITY (AP) — U.S. and Mexican border authorities seized more heroin and almost as much marijuana in the first three months of this year as in all of 1968, a U.S. Customs official reported.

Customs officer Joseph Jenkins told a U.S.-Mexican drug traffic conference yesterday that authorities at the border seized 55.3 pounds of heroin during January, February and March compared to 54.8 pounds during 1968. He said the total of 147,624 pounds of marijuana was confiscated in 1968, compared to 107,329 pounds during the first three months of 1969.

Suez Exchange

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli and Egyptian guns roared across the Suez Canal again last night, and the army said two Israelis were killed and seven wounded.

The Egyptians fired mortar and light arms at four places along the waterway, a spokesman said, and shooting continued sporadically through most of the night.

The Israelis killed — two 18-year-old privates and the wounded were caught in the open by one shell.

ALGIERS MOTEL INCIDENT

Detroit Policeman Found Innocent In Murder Trial

MASON Mich. (AP) — An all-white jury has found a suspended white policemen innocent of murdering a Negro youth during Detroit's 1967 racial riot. But he still faces a federal conspiracy charge in the Algiers Motel incident.

It took the jury of 11 women and one man less than three hours yesterday to return the acquittal verdict after Circuit Judge William Beer limited them to two choices: a first-degree murder conviction or a not-guilty finding.

Judge Beer gave no explanation of why he ruled out second-degree murder or manslaughter.

The defendant, Ronald August, 30, was on trial for the shotgun slaying of 19-year-old Aubrey Pollard, one of three Negro teen-agers killed July 26, 1967 at the Algiers Motel in Detroit's inner city.

"I'm going to pray," was August's only comment to newsmen who asked him what he planned to do next. He was escorted from the Ingham County Courthouse under heavy guard.

August admitted killing Pollard but said it was in self-defense in a struggle for the shotgun.

After the verdict was announced, the mother of the victim, Rebecca Pollard, said she thought it was a fair trial and the prosecutor did all he could "but the jury refused to believe the facts."

"All whites stick together," Mrs. Pollard added. "I didn't think they would find him guilty."

The verdict had repercussions in the state senate, where a Negro lawmaker introduced a resolution calling for an investigation of the conduct of the judge in restricting the jury to two possible verdicts.

"The inevitable result of the trial . . . has granted a license to kill to the Detroit Police Department and all law enforcement agencies so far as black men are concerned," said the resolution drafted by Sen. Basil Brown, an attorney.

August still faces a federal conspiracy charge under an 1871 civil rights law along with two other white policemen and a Negro private guard.

The four are accused of conspiring to violate the civil rights of 10 persons at the Algiers Motel, which police and National Guardsmen had raided in a search for reported snipers.

Stewart's Stepson Killed In Vietnam

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The stepson of actor Jimmy Stewart has been killed in action in Vietnam, the Pentagon disclosed today.

He was Marine 1st Lt. Ronald W. McLean. The Pentagon said he suffered a fatal gun shot wound while on a patrol June 8. Stewart is a brigadier general in the Air Force Reserves. The stepson was a member of the Third Reconnaissance Battalion of the Third Marine Division.

Third Child

OXFORD, England (AP) — Princess Margaretha of Sweden gave birth yesterday to her third child, a son.

She and John Ambler, a British businessman, were married in 1964.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Hartfords Split

The Hartfords were reconciled after she sought a divorce in September 1967 and that action was dropped. In both suits Mrs. Hartford charged cruel and inhuman treatment, and in the one lodged yesterday she added a complaint of nonsupport.

Hartford, 57, whose fortune came from A&P Stores, and the red-haired beauty from Wilkes-Barre, Pa., were married in 1962 and have a daughter.

New Park Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Interior Walter J. Hickel has decided to keep all national park campgrounds under federal operation, but to levy a fee for their use.

Tent and trailer fees will probably range from $1.50 to $3.50 a day when they go into effect next spring, a spokesman said yesterday.

Former Secretary Stewart L. Udall allowed private concessionaires to operate trailer camps for fees, as an economy measure. The reversal was largely prompted, a spokesman said, by letters from campers objecting to the higher costs.

Historic Mission

WASHINGTON (AP) — The aircraft carrier Hornet, a 27-year-old veteran of World War II, will be the prime recovery ship for the Apollo 11 astronauts on their return from the first manned landing on the moon next month, space agency officials say. The Hornet replaces the carrier Princeton, recovery ship for Apollo 10.

A 'Heart Suit'

WASHINGTON (AP) — An astronaut-like suit has been developed as an emergency uniform for heart attack victims. The idea — still experimental — is to ease the work load on an overburdened, diseased heart, and save a life.

In a report today to the Artificial Heart Program Conference, sponsored by the National Heart Institute, the suit was said to specifically treat cardiogenic shock, a sharp drop in circulating blood because of a weak heart.

Joint Sun Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) The United States and Germany have agreed to cooperate in the launching of German-built spacecraft in two space probes intended to come closer to the sun — 28 million miles — than any experiment so far.

The agreement signed in Bonn, Germany, yesterdqy provides for two U.S. Atlas-Centaur launch rockets for the probes, which will be known as Helios.

The missions in 1974 and 1975 will study solar wind, magnetic and electric fields, cosmic rays and cosmic dust.

Drug Hauls Up

MEXICO CITY (AP) — U.S. and Mexican border authorities seized more heroin and almost as much marijuana in the first three months of this year as in all of 1968, a U.S. Customs official reported.

Customs officer Joseph Jenkins told a U.S.-Mexican drug traffic conference yesterday that authorities at the border seized 55.3 pounds of heroin during January, February and March compared to 54.8 pounds during 1968. He said the total of 147,624 pounds of marijuana was confiscated in 1968, compared to 107,329 pounds during the first three months of 1969.

Suez Exchange

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli and Egyptian guns roared across the Suez Canal again last night, and the army said two Israelis were killed and seven wounded.

The Egyptians fired mortar and light arms at four places along the waterway, a spokesman said, and shooting continued sporadically through most of the night.

The Israelis killed — two 18-year-old privates and the wounded were caught in the open by one shell.

White House Rules Out Price Controls

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The White House ruled out today possible imposition of wage and price controls if Congress fails to extend the 10 per cent income tax surcharge.

One day after Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy said such controls were among alternatives that might be necessary to curb "runaway inflation" in absence of continuation of the surtax, President Richard M. Nixon was pictured by his press secretary, Ronald Ziegler, as giving no consideration to such a move.

Ziegler told reporters emphatically that the administration does not plan to impose wage and price controls even if Congress rejects Nixon's request to continue the surtax at the 10 per cent rate for all of 1969, phasing it out with a 5 per cent rate for the first half of 1970.

Ziegler said that Kennedy "was referring to some of the problems we will face if the surtax is not passed" in remarks at a news conference Tuesday.

Kennedy mentioned controls, along with additional budget cuts and tighter restrictions on money supplies, among alternatives he said the Adeministration would have to consider if the surtax were allowed to expire as scheduled on June 30.

While ruling out wage and price controls, the White House insisted the surtax extension was "vital not only to provide a strong budget but to assist in stopping the inflationary spiral in existence for the last four years."

Ziegler made his remarks when asked for the White House position in response to "reports on Capitol Hill that the surtax is in trouble."

The Nixon proposal is expected to win approval in the House Ways and Means Committee—possibly this week—but faces trouble on the House floor.

It also has some strong opposition in the Senate. Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., today called the Nixon plan a gimmick. McCarthy said Nixon "is in trouble" on his proposal.

Missile, Submarine Costs Soaring, Congress Learns

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Pentagon official testified today that the Minuteman II missile is expected to cost almost $4 billion more than original estimates and that the price of a rescue submarine has increased 2,700 per cent.

Barry J. Shillito, assistant defense secretary for installations and logistics, told the Senate-House economy in government subcommittee that the cost increases were mostly due to "increased sophistication" built into the projects after original estimates were made.

Shillito also rebutted testimony given to the subcommittee yesterday that the armed services intentionally underestimate the cost of weapons because Congress might scrub programs if it knew the full amount in advance.

Shillito conceded there was an "over-optimism problem" regarding early cost estimates, but said he disagreed completely with a statement of Gordon W. Rule, the Navy's director of procurement control, that the services "play games" with the estimates.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., subcommittee chairman, told Shillito: "When they are off so consistently it seems that it is something more than optimism."

Proxmire asked Shillito about reports that the cost of the Minuteman II had increased from $3.2 billion to $7 billion. "This is pretty much the numbers that have been passed on by the Air Force," Shillito replied.

Proxmire also asked if reports were true that the unit cost of a deep-diving rescue submarine had increased from $3 million to $80 million.

Shillito conceded the figures were accurate but said the program had been improved so much it is "almost totally different from the one we embarked on."

The subcommittee also was told that the Pentagon is so anxious to keep weapons contractors prosperous that government employees who try to cut costs are subject to retaliation.

A. Ernest Fitzgerald said project managers who attempt to require economies are subject to "financial retribution, loss of status and social sanctions."

As a result, he said, "the most successful government project managers take a detached view of all financial matters once they make sure they have enough money to cover their contractors' requirements."

aluma Boulevard North and Washington Street lost by a margin of 2,142 in favor and 2,658 against.

Measure "E", the second street issue providing $1,295,000 for a second Highway 101 overcrossing and street improvements, received 2,657 in favor and 2,004 against.

On the two charter amendments, requiring only a simple majority, one was approved and the other soundly defeated.

Approved was the amendment that would allow the library board of trustees to merge with the Sonoma County library system when an agreement is reached and would also permit the board to receive gifts to the library in forms other than books. The measure passed by a vote of 2,467 to 1,931.

Defeated was the amendment that would permit the city council to post ordinances rather than publish them on a two-thirds council vote, whose unanimous sanction is needed now. The vote was 1,545 in favor and 3,121 against.

Reagan's tax reform program would permit citizens to choose whether they want their state income tax withheld.

The governor contended "voluntary withholding meets all of the requirements of the taxpayer," but compulsory pay-as-you-go "in effect constitutes a tax increase" because the state would pick up more revenue than it does now.

Monagan and Way were opposed to withholding for years, but have softened their positions this session.

Way said at their "Bob and Howard" session that when the prime interest rate rose to 8.5 per cent this week it "really drove home" the state's acute fiscal situation. He indicated new state revenue received from withholding could help resolve that.

"We are faced with a new set of fiscal facts," Way said.

Monagan said he has directed his staff "to dig into" the voluntary concept and see whether it is "practical." He noted it has some attractions — the fact it is voluntary, is one.

"But there may be so many functional problems," he said, "that they may outweigh the advantages."

Greyhound Buses Keep Rolling Along

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Greyhound buses kept on rolling along today despite a strike by 350 mechanics at the company's repair depot here.

But officers of the Automotive Machinists Lodge 1305, which called the strike Monday, insisted the buses which carry 23,000 Bay Area commuters, including about 4,000 in Marin, will be halted in a few days.

Company officials said the buses will operate "as long as we can maintain them," adding that long-haul buses can be repaired in other cities such as Los Angeles, Seattle, Portland and Phoenix.

Drivers have not crossed picket lines at the repair depot, but were ordered by their union to cross lines at the main terminal 10 blocks away.

A few drivers refused to cross picket lines at the terminal, the company said, and they had their buses driven through by other drivers.

About 200 Teamster Union members who work with the mechanics honored the lines.

Division 1225 of the Amalgamated Transit Union — the drivers' union — said it has a no-strike clause in its contract with Greyhound that would subject drivers to firings and the union to fines if the drivers do not work.

The mechanics' spokesman, Fred Martin, asserted that the commuter buses, serviced exclusively at the struck depot, can operate "no more than four or five days at the most."

Greyhound officials denied Martin's charge that they are endangering commuters' safety but acknowledged that commuter service "may have to be disrupted."

The mechanics rejected by a two-to-one margin a Greyhound offer with an option of an hourly increase of 68½ cents over two years or $1.02½ over three years.

The mechanics, who earned $5.09 an hour under an expired contract, want an increase of $1.50 an hour over three years.

right-of-way to preserve the natural beauty of the creek. The committee proposed donation of right-of-way by property owners for the culvert.

The committee presented its proposal to Boerger today at a meeting at the office of Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District. The congressman was not present.

William C. Bricca, chairman of the committee, challenged Boerger's figures, calling them speculative.

Daniel Shillinger of Ross, a civil engineer and committee member, said he felt the value of right-of-way would offset additional construction cost.

Charles Murphy of the Marin County public works department represented the county at the meeting. Any change in plans would have to be approved by the county and the Town of Ross, as well as by the Army engineers.

in your department," declared Supervisor Louis H. Baar. "I would like to see the county contract out more of the jobs." He said private firms seem to be able to do the jobs at less cost than the county. "Through attrition, I think you can eliminate a number of people on your staff."

Baar was particularly critical of the number of inspectors in the building department. "I find the department using specialized inspectors whereas most other counties and cities use combined inspectors," said Baar.

He suggested that the seven inspectors would be reduced and some of the jobs combined because of the building slump during the past few years. "There's something radically wrong with the system."

Chairman John F. McInnis asked Frost to work with the county administrator and find ways to reduce his staff by attrition.

Supervisors spent most of this morning poring over various items in the public works budget, which totals more than $4 million.

In another action, supervisors raised the pay for Sheriff's Lt. Michael McLean from the present $188 per month to $650 per month. McLean, who is famous statewide for his work in search and rescue with his bloodhounds, also receives an additional $75 per month as constable at Point Reyes.

Sheriff Louis P. Mountanous agreed to drope one of the new deputies he had requested to offset the pay raise for McLean.

Van Thieu, at which the U.S. pull-out was announced.

And it would also probably take weeks for U.S. intelligence to confirm an unannounced North Vietnamese troop withdrawal if such were to take place, informants said. North Vietnamese troop strength in the South has been estimated at about 100,000 in recent months.

Nixon made his appeal yesterday in a report to the nation on the Midway summit as he returned to a White House lawn greeting from bipartisan congressional leaders, cabinet members and diplomats.

"We have opened wide the door to peace" with the troop withdrawal announcement and his earlier 8-point peace offer, Nixon said in his brief televised remarks.

"And now we invite the leaders of North Vietnam to walk with us throught that door either by withdrawing forces, their forces, from South Vietnam as we have withdrawn ours, or by negotiating in Paris, or through both avenues," he said.

"We believe this is the time for them to act. We have acted and acted in good faith.

"And if they fail to act in one direction or the other, they must bear the responsibility for blocking the way to peace and not walking through that door which we have opened."

The next Paris negotiating session is due tomorrow. A State Department spokesman indicated that in the peace talks so far, the North Vietnamese have not signaled they would match U.S. withdrawals. He said Washington wants agreement for simultaneous pullbacks.

Nixon said the Midway meeting "brought home the message that the troops of South Vietnam have now been trained and equipped to the point where they can take over a substantial portion of the combat activity presently being borne by Americans."

This went further than his Sunday statement. In announcing the recall of 25,000 GIs by the end of August, Nixon said then Thieu had reported such success in Saigon troop training "that he could now recommend that the United States begin to replace U.S. combat forces with Vietnamese forces."

Some 300,000 of the 538,000 Americans in South Vietnam are estimated to be on combat assignment. Despite Nixon's statement about Saigon preparedness to take over "a substantial portion" of this fighting, administration officials said there are no new plans for a U.S. withdrawal beyond the review already announced for late August.

Silverthorne's Retrial Delayed

SAN FRANCISCO — The retrial of Don E. Silverthorne of Tiburon on charges of manipulation and mismanagement of bank funds has been continued in U. S. District Court while he undergoes a medical examination.

No date was set Monday for the start of the new trial in the court of Judge Albert C. Wollenberg.

Silverthorne, of Tiburon, is former president of the defunct San Francisco National Bank. U. S. Attorney Cecil Poole has requested that eight charges against the 69-year-old banker be dropped, leaving 43.

Harbor Strike Still Holds Sway

No progress toward scheduling negotiations was reported today in a strike by marine engineers that has idled ferryboats, sightseeing boats and tugs on San Francisco Bay.

Lester Bedient, general manager of Harbor Tours, Inc., said it appeared it would take "a few days" for labor and management representatives to get together.

The cutoff in Tiburon ferry service has directly affected about 200 Marin commuters who have been forced to join the freeway traffic.

Impact Of Art Symposium Set

A five-day symposium on "The Community and the Contemporary Arts," will be held Monday through Friday at Dominican College in San Rafael.

The future impact of art on individuals and communities through city planning, design and cultural institutions will be explored in a 30-hour, two-unit course from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. each day.

About 24 architects, planners, museum directors, musicians, actors and artists will participate in the symposium.

was an honorary director at her death.

She also was first secretary of the Marin Tuberculosis and Health Association on its organization. She was a member of the San Rafael Business and Professional Women's Club and an honorary member of the San Rafael Improvement Club.

Mrs. Donnelly was born Florence Gertrude Holland. She came from a newspaper family. Her mother's parents came to California in the gold rush, and operated newspapers in Weaverville and Shasta. Her father's parents came in the 1860s to Tomales, where the future Mrs. Donnelly spent her earliest years before the family moved to San Rafael.

She attended the old Fourth Street and B schools in San Rafael, was graduated from San Rafael High School and San Francisco State College, and also took postgraduate courses at University of California.

Her marriage to state Sen. James Donnelly ended in divorce, after which she returned to the family home at 117 C Street, built for her father in 1905, to remain there until her death. Her father, Frank Sargent Holland, a former Marin County recorder, died in 1946, and her mother, Alice Conmy Holland, in 1963. Her only son, James Holland Donnelly, also preceded her in death.

With Mrs. Donnelly when death came was her longtime close friend, Miss Frances Ridge, who has shared the C Street home for 25 years.

Surviving are three grandchildren and three great-granchildren.

Funeral will be at 10 a.m. Friday at the Harry M. Williams Mortuary, San Rafael. Recitation of the Rosary will be at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the mortuary.

WARREN ANDERSON

Warren Eugene (Red) Anderson, 56, a cook at the Marin Golf and County Club in Novato, died yesterday at his trailer home in Novato. Deputy Coroner Keith Craig said he died of pneumonia after a short illness.

Anderson, who lived at the El Novato Motel and Trailer Court at 7530 Redwood Highway, had worked at the club for three years. A native of Oklahoma, he had lived in Marin County 14 years.

He was a member of the Bartenders and Culinary Workers Union, San Rafael.

He is survived by a daughter, Robin J. Anderson of Daly City; a brother, Wilfred Anderson of San Francisco, and a sister, Dee Anderson of Carlsbad, San Diego County. He is also survived by brothers and sisters in Oklahoma.

Funeral will be at 11 a.m. Friday at Keaton's Chapel of Marin, Novato, with burial at Marin Memorial Gardens, Novato.

VIVIAN SMITH

Memorial services for Vivian McNab Smith, 67, a retired saleswoman with Stan's for Sports in San Rafael, will be held at 3 p.m. tomorrow at the Chapel of the Hills in San Anselmo. Cremation was private with inurnment at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery in San Rafael.

Mrs. Smith, who lived at 1825 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, died after collapsing at her home Monday. The Marin County coroner's office said the death was of natural causes.

She was the widow of the late Ralph A. Smith and had lived in San Rafael for 10 years. She was a native of Ukiah.

Mrs. Smith is survived by a son, Charles A. Lindgren of Moraga, and two sisters, Mrs. Eleanor Scott of Kentfield and Mrs. Mildred Chambers of Cottonwood, Shasta County.

The family prefers memorial contributions to a favorite charity.

Prison Sentence For Burglar

One of two men accused of burglarizing Braverman's Furniture Store in San Anselmo on March 11 yesterday pleaded guilty to second degree burglary as his trial was set to start in Marin Superior Court.

Judge Thomas F. Keating sentenced Howard Tennyson Payne, 48, of Oakland to a one-to-15 year term in state prison.

His co-defendant, Phillip Martin Stewart, 29, of no known address, continued with the trial, which was expected to go to a jury today.

They were arrested on the roof of the store with what police called "very sophisticated" burglary tools in their possession.

LOUISE BRUNDAGE

Louise M. Brundage, 71, a resident of Marin County for 18 years, died at a local hospital today after a long illness.

Mrs. Brundage, a native of La Veta, Colo., lived with her daughter, Geraldine Riordan at 17 Valley Road, Fairfax.

She is survived by her daughter and by a son, Max Chester Springer of Walsenburg, Colo.

Funeral will be at 11:30 a.m. Friday at Keaton's mortuary, San Rafael. Burial will be private.

MARIE DAL BON

Requiem Mass for Marie L. Dal Bon, 90, mother of Leo Dal Bon of Tiburon, will be offered at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow in Saints Peter and Paul Church in San Francisco. Entombment will be in Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma.

Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today at the Valente Marini and Perata Mortuary at 649 Green Street, San Francisco.

Mrs. Dal Bon, who lived in Redwood City, died Saturday in a San Francisco hospital, where she had been a patient eight days. She was the widow of John Dal Bon, a general contractor, who died in 1952.

Born in Italy, Mrs. Dal Bon emigrated to the United States in 1906, settling in the Bay Area.

Other survivors are a daughter, Gilia Dal Bon of Redwood City; four grandchildren, and three great-grandchildren.

WELDON MORROW

Funeral was held today for San Francisco businessman Weldon Morrow, son of Mrs. Howard Morrow of Tiburon. Burial was at Cypress Lawn in Colma.

Morrow, 67, died yesterday at a Mill Valley convalescent home.

He was a third generation San Franciscan whose family traveled to the west from New Zealand in 1849, during the Gold Rush. Morrow was a member of the Society of California Pioneers.

His wife, the former Florence O'Neill, was active in San Francsco civic affairs until her death in 1958.

Besides his mother Morrow is survived by a son, Howard Morrow of Berkeley; a daughter, Mrs. Barbara Julian of Novato; two brothers, Grant and Howard Morrow; a sister, Maryle Doerflinger, and five grandchildren.

Courthouse Purchase Funds Eyed

The City of San Rafael may wind up fiscal 1969 with nearly enough money on hand to purchase the Courthouse Square from Marin County.

James H. McCowan, city finance director, said today it appears the city will have at least $130,000 more than anticipated on hand when it closes the books on the fiscal year which ends June 30. This year's budget predicated a year-end general fund carryover of $556,444.

This would mean nearly $700,000 on hand at the close of the fiscal year which is not earmarked for special purchases.

The city also has a capital improvement reserve of nearly $200,000. This, however, is to go for purchase of right-of-way for widening San Pedro Road, if Marin County contributes its half to the $500,000 cost of the third phase of that project. County supervisors were to decide today whether to do so or to accept a recommendation of County Administrator Alan Bruce that the total be cut back to $300,000 — half from the county and half from the city.

Even if part of the capital improvement reserve were available, the city would not have enough cash on hand to buy the Courthouse Square outright in the $750,000-$850,000 price range based on an appraisal received this week. A sizable reserve must be kept against contingencies.

However, during discussion of the Courthouse Square transaction Monday night, supervisors indicated "a sizable down payment" from San Rafael would be acceptable. At one point, Supervisor Louis H. Baar suggested the purchase price might be spread over two years.

City council discussions of buying the square have been based on the assumption it could be resold to a developer at no loss to the city. Funds used for its purchase would thus return to the city treasury for use for other projects.

Case Dismissed; Charges Refiled

A charge of having stolen property was dismissed yesterday in Marin Municipal Court as having been filed in the wrong jurisdiction, but a San Francisco man accused of having articles from a Greenbrae burglary was rearrested by San Francisco authorities.

Judge Hadden W. Roth ruled that since the allegedly stolen goods were found in San Francisco, the case could not proceed in Marin County.

A charge of burglarizing the Greenbrae home of Dr. Robert Todd Cary on May 2 against John Peter Kearney, 23, was also dismissed for lack of evidence to link him to the burglary.

Kearney was later arrested again by San Francisco authorities.

San Rafael Schools Budget Votes Delayed

San Rafael Board of Education last night postponed action on tentative elementary and high school district budgets and a proposed 6 per cent boost in the teacher salary schedule. (Results of bond election, page 1.)

Trustees will meet Tuesday to review the tentative budgets $4,879,092 in the high school district, and $4,590,135 in the elementary district.

The tentative elementary budget is $143,264 lower than the current budget, and the high school budget $241,048 higher.

Supt. John F. Plank noted the tentative budgets include the recommended 6 per cent hike in the faculty salary schedule and a 5 per cent pay raise for non-teaching employees, but no cost-of-living increase for administrators.

Plank recommended that teachers be given "open contracts" so they could get an additional pay hike, possibly 2 per cent, if additional state funds were made available.

Also recommended as the result of salary negotiations was full health insurance coverage for dependents, now only partial.

Under the recommended plan the teacher salary schedule would range from $6,678 to $13,356.

Plank has declined to estimate tax rates claiming there are variables unsettled such as state aid but the elementary district rate will have an override for seventh and eighth grade, possibly up to 22 cents, that wasn't included in last year's rate.

The total tax rate for this year is $3.06 in the elementary district and $2.265 in the high school district.

Plank noted that the budgets were based on the maximum legal general purpose tax rate of $2.25 per $100 assessed valuation in the elementary district and $1.75 in the high school district.

One of the economies slated to be undertaken during the coming year is the elimination of 10 buses, at a net savings estimated at $30,000.

The cutting back of service, given a first hearing by the board last night, would end bus travel for 519 elementary pupils and 573 high school students.

The pickup limit for junior high and middle school pupils would be extended from a mile-and-a-half to two miles, and the high school limit would be enforced at the three-mile limit. High school students have been picked up this year outside the two-mile area.

The San Rafael Board Of Education Also:

MORAL GUIDELINES—Took under study a set of moral guidelines for instruction issued by the state Department of Education.

MINORITIES — Heard reports from staff members on improvements in instruction about minorities, and on efforts to recruit minority teachers, which havd resulted in teaching contracts being offered to three as the result of a recruiting trip to the East and South.

FIELD TRIP — Heard a report and viewed slides covering a field trip by a San Rafael High School science class to the Mojave desert.

HIRED — Approved the hiring of Frederick Baguio, teacher, elementary district, $11,000 a year; Tami Bell, intern teacher, social science, high school district, $6,000 a year; Julie Glimpse, German teacher, elementary district, $7,200 a year; and Barry Hoglund, mathematics teacher, elementary district, $8,700 a year; and Samuel Kimokeo, custodian 1, high school district, $5,628 a year.

PERSONNEL MOVES — Approved John King, English teacher at San Rafael High School, as department chairman; Philard McAtee, business education teacher at Terra Linda High School, as work experience coordinator, and switched Alfred Sparks, English-physical education teacher, from the elementary district to the high school district.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted the resignations of Dennis Deems, art teacher, San Rafael High School; Anne Firestone, second grade teacher at MacPhail School; Donald Meroff, physical education-science teacher, at Davidson School; Alice Smith, English teacher, San Rafael High School; Harvey Blackwood, groundsman 1, elementary district; Roland Garcia, custodian 1, Terra Linda High School; Charles Pollard, groundsman 1, elementary district, Paul Thorpe, bus driver; and Ann Yoder, library clerk 1, elementary district.

MEETING SCHEDULE — Adjourned until 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Administration Building, Third and E streets, and canceled the regularly scheduled meeting June 24.

LEAVES — Granted leaves for the 1969-70 school year to Janet Dillon, science teacher; Judith Heuser, fifth grade teacher, West End School, and Anne Sorrelle, English teacher, San Rafael High School.

TEXTBOOK — Adopted as a high school textbook "Algebra 1" by Dolciani, et al.

Helen Wilson New Home Owners Leader

Helen S. Wilson, former City of Larkspur librarian is the new president of the Madrone Woodlands Homeowners Association, Larkspur, succeeding Philip J. Dunnigan for a one year term.

Other newly elected officers include Charles Stuart, vice president and Joan Landman, secretary-treasurer. New directors are Richard Halper and Edward Scherman, Mrs. Landman reported yesterday. She also said that there will be no meeting of the association again until fall.

Teacher's Ouster Demanded

An angry contingent of residents last night demanded action against a San Rafael High School teacher who permitted two Chinese Red Guards to address and distribute Maoist propaganda to two of his world history classes.

"We want this man fired and want him fired now," said Kenneth G. Coleman of 114 Ridgeland Drive, a retired Army officer, one of the protesting group of about seven or eight residents.

The material distributed to the classes was revolutionary, advocating arming of individuals and overthrow of the armed forces, and the presentation "filthy," he said.

The two Red Guards from San Francisco passed out copies of Red Guard Community News and spoke to the classes using four-letter words last month.

The teacher, Angelo Douvos, wrote to parents of his second and third period world history classes, apologizing for dissemination of materials that were objectionable.

One mother said the material distributed was "pure filth," and another gave board members her daughter's notes on the class session.

Supt. John F. Plank said it was a "grievous error of judgment" on the part of Douvos.

Board Member Paul L. Jones said the matter should be aired since the fact that the teacher approved the appearance by the Red Guards, implies district approval.

Alan Hopkins, a representative of the San Rafael Teachers Association, objected to people "tearing someone apart" when he wasn't there, and said "this has got to stop."

Board members advised protestors that there is a procedure for filing complaints against teachers, which should be followed, and that a teacher had the right to a closed session on charges against him.

Board President Herman L. Childress said adhering to policy would be the only fair way to proceed for the protection of all involved.

Some members of the group also protested against a textbook used by Douvos, a book which he and a fellow teacher wrote, which was approved by the board for supplementary classroom use.

Atheneum Seeks Use Of Old Robson Home

A proposal thatt the Atheneum Arts Foundation move into the house on the Robson Estate, which was given to San Anselmo as a park, was received with enthusiasm by the city council last night but not by, the city attorney.

Representatives of the foundation, which has by its own admission a history of success in artistic ventures but disaster in financial affairs, described how they would care for the old house and grounds in exchange for the use of some of the rooms.

"You have no business even considering such a proposal," the city attorney, John G. Buresh, told councilmen.

Hhe said that the estate was given to the city for a park with the intent that it would be used primarily for older people and children.

"This is a regional operation," he said in reference to the foundation.

The thought of getting the old place cared for appealed to City Administrator-Controller Alfred C. Kaeppel, however. "I have a feeting that the house is a budgetary quicksand," he said.

Councilmen also expressed an interest in looking into the proposal, in which the foundation suggested that groups such as the Marin Shakespeare Festival, Marin Civic Ballet and Marin Symphony Guild could use the house for a meeting place.

Officials of the Atheneum group, which is now housed in the old Dollar Estate in San Rafael, said that they have refurbished that house and kept it in excellent shape but will soon not be able to use it.

The foundation also has its own furniture, the council was told.

With Councilman James F. Reed, who is an Atheneum director, abstaining, the council voted to have the parks and recreation commission consider the proposal.

HUB PROPOSES MEMORIAL TO HANS FISCHEL

The San Anselmo City Council last night set up a memorial fund for the city's part-time treasurer, Hans E. Fischel, who was killed Saturday in a traffic accident.

Councilman James F. Reed suggested that contributions might be collected to purchase a bench for senior citizens or play equipment for children in one of the city's parks in memory of Fischel.

It was agreed that tax-free donations could be made to the fund through the city offices.

San Anselmo Town Meeting Criticism Sparks Debate

San Anselmo's town meeting was blasted, praised and defended at a meeting of the San Anselmo City Council last night where the recent event was thoroughly hashed over.

The discussion followed the writing of a letter to the council and the Independent-Journal by Mrs. Sarah Nome of 77 Alder Avenue, who described the town meeting recommendations as "not a mandate of the people of San Anselmo, but that of a controlled opinion-forming group."

To Mrs. Nome's charge that the town meeting was planned and conducted by a closed group of approximately 20 citizens, Everett Farey, general chairman of the affair, responded that "in San Anselmo 20 people constitute a crowd."

Farey also defended the right of young people to vote at the meeting after Mrs. Nome had written that their hands should not have been counted in the "official" votes summing up the recommendations.

Many of those present agreed with David E. Bacigalupi that since not everyone attending the meeting was present at each panel session, the recommendations only represented the views of a few, but most agreed the town meeting was still beneficial.

Councilman Duane C. Regan described Mrs. Nome's letter as "vicious, unwarranted attack" on the town meeting and Councilman Kenneth L. Anderson called it "petty, sour-grapes griping," but Mayor Woodrow V. Capurro said that Mrs. Nome was not on trial.

Mrs. Nome said last night she had not been able to attend the town meeting because she had to work.

The San Anselmo City Council Also:

VARIANCE — Upheld a planning commission denial of a variance to permit a room over a garage at 50 Florence Avenue with Mayor Capurro voting against the denial.

EASEMENT — Denied an appeal to permit a ramp and parking deck at 248 Redwood Avenue.

TOT LOT — Agreed to spend $1,834 for equipment for a small children's playground in Memorial Park.

FESTIVAL — Decided to go ahead with plans for an annual Fall Festival Sept. 17-21 in Memorial Park and agreed to contract for the furnishing of rides and booths.

SLIDE — Told Public Works Director Charles R. Leitzell to meet with Fairfax's city engineer to discuss a slide problem on Forest Avenue.

LIBRARY — Agreed to have questionaires regarding joining the county library system passed out to library patrons.

PLANTERS — Allowed four planters to be placed on a sidewalk at 119 Redwood Road.

Hub Rec Meeting Put Off To June 26

The San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Commission did not meet last night in order that Robert England, chairman, and Frank L. Quinn, parks director, could attend a meeting of the San Anselmo City Council.

The next commission meeting wilf be held at 8 p.m. June 26 at the Robson-Harrington Mansion.

Closed Meeting

The Mill Valley School District board will hold a closed meeting at 7:30 a.m. tomorrow to instruct the Supt. James A. Collins on negotiations with employees organizations.

Picnic Avenue Apartment Units, Swim Pool Lessons Win Backing

San Rafael planning commissioners came to grips with two neighborhood controversies last night, listened patiently to repeat performances of previously aired grievances and decided in favor of the projects that started it all.

The voted unanimously to recommend that the city council let stand the 10-year-old zoning that would permit construction of a 40-unit apartment on 1.41 acres at 237 Picnic Avenue.

They then approved 4 to 3, — with Commissioners Thomas R. O'Toole, Lawrence E. Mulryan and Pat Hetherton dissenting— the request of Patricia Del Prete to give swimming lessons in the pool at her home at 46 Brentwood Drive.

The apartment house decision left the Picnic Valley residents in a solid bloc of disgruntlement, while the swimming pool ruling left the Glenwood area residents as divided against each other as before, the anti-pool faction promising to appeal the matter to the city council.

In the Picnic matter, the commissioners found themselves caught between an aroused neighborhood and what it conceived to be its more dispassionate obligation to maintain public confidence in the efficiency of city zoning.

One after the other residents went to the rostrum to repeat that the large apartment project would create traffic problems, burden Laurel Dell Intermediate and Davidson Junior High schools, be inaccessible to fire engines and destroy the single-family and duplex character of the valley.

The same arguments had caused the city council on May 19 to unanimously overrule the planning commissioners' previous grant of a use permit for the development to Picnic Hill Properties.

Planning Director Herbert G. Hotchner last night pointed out that the developer had met all city requirements for the project. He said it was no longer a staff matter but a policy decision to be made by the commissioners "as to who should bear what burden," since the owner considered "any reduction in density would be detrimental to him" and "analysis indicates that . . . 40 units would be detrimental to the neighborhood."

He offered a suggestion, which got nowhere, that rezoning to garden apartments, permitting 30 units, be considered.

Edmund T. Ghirardo, one of the partners in Picnic Hill Properties, reviewed the history of the property which he said was zoned for 40 units without neighborhood opposition in 1959 and reviewed in connection with projects that fell through in 1962, 1964 and 1965, all without opposition.

Nora Hawkins of 44 Roberts Avenue, a leader of Picnic Valley opposition, acknowledged that the original zoning was without opposition, but said that was because "Lila Aldridge, a widow and neighbor was trying to dispose of her property . . . if she could get some money for it, that was okay." Subsequent lack of opposition she attributed to unawareness of the situation.

Ghirardo said he and his partners had bought the property based on the long history of its zoning and on the assumption that it could be developed. The $72,000 cost of land, he said, was based on that zoning and the high price and high site development costs would make development impossible with less than 40 units. Moreover, he said, he was locked in by FHA and private financing commitments which would all go down the drain if thep lans were tampered with.

He was supported by Carl S. Brown, speaking for the Associated Home Builders of Marin; Stanley Goldsmith, president of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce; David Greenless of Marin Builders Exchange, and others, all arguing that the integrity of zoning and the confidence necessary to investment in property were at stake.

Commissioner Mulryan then moved that the council be asked to approve the use permit and John J. Adams seconded, the motion carrying unanimously.

The swimming lessons controversy started with the request by Sheldon Bowers, president of the Glenwood Homeowners Association that the matter be put off because six months had not passed since previous commission denial of a permit to Mrs. Del Prete March 11.

The council ruled that this was a different application, however, since there would be only one pupil at a time and the matter fell under home occupations, rather than business or commercial.

Association members repeated past objections that it was opening neighborhood doors to commercial enterprises and would downgrade the neighborhood.

Other residents, non-association members, spoke for the lessons.

A set of conditions was presented by senior planner Charles J. Linthicum, who had replaced Hotchner in directing staff work on the issue because the latter is a neighbor of Mrs. Del Prete and opposed to the lessons.

The conditions were accepted by Mrs. Del Prete after some modifications proposed by Hotchner, speaking as a private citizen.

By 4-3 vote the commission granted her a five-month permit limiting the number of students to one at a time and accompanied by no more than one adult; no one else to be permitted in the pool area during lessons; hours to be daily from 10 a.m. to sunset; no noise permitted, and no advertising of the lessons.

Baptist Youth Hit Segregation

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Racial segregation within the Southern Baptist Convention was under attack today from the huge Protestant denomination's tiny progressive student group.

David Swink, 21, a Furman University graduate from Charleston, S.C., said his activist group called "Baptist Students Concerned" hoped to get an antisegregation resolution before the 15,000 delegates at the convention's annual meeting in progress here.

The resolution, one of several by the young people on social action issues, would "ask that this convention refuse to seat any church which discriminates against minority groups as a matter of policy."

Hillside Apartments Given Nod

The San Rafael Planning Commission last night gave a unanimous go-ahead to a proposed 87-unit apartment development on Professional Center Parkway, granting a necessary variance, use permit and architectural approval.

The apartments planned by Terra Linda Hills at Nos. 127 through 197 consists of 10 structures rising in tiers on the steep hillsides on both sides of the parkway.

The variance was to permit 12 to 16-foot separation instead of the required 20-foot separation, between the double-row dwelling groups to allow for chimneys. Among conditions of architectural approval was required installation of sidewalk along the entire frontage of the project's southerly site at the parkway and Channing Way.

Senior planner Charles Linthicum said the maximum permit fees paid by the developer indicated an investment in excess of $1 million.

The San Rafael Planning Commission also:

DRIVEWAY PARKING — Reversed 4 to 3 its May 13 denial and recommended to the city council approval of a variance request from Sanford Harris for parking in his front yard driveway at 244 Humboldt Street, since new information showed his existing garage too narrow for the larger, modern automobile. Commissioners Joseph J. Garbarino, Thomas R. O'Toole and Jorgen V. Lunding opposed.

GARAGE SPACE — Approved unanimously, over staff objections based on precendent, a five-foot encroachment within nine and one-half feet of Nye Street, requested by Frederick Matock for addition of two parking stalls to his five-unit apartment at Nye and Laurel Place, after hearing neighbors say it would end parking of two cars on the street.

NORTHGATE — Granted a use permit and approved plans for an office building of about 8,440 square feet to be built by Robert and Frank Antonioli at 117-123 Pau. Drive in Northgate Industrial Park.

CHURCH SIGNS — Granted a one-year extension of Unitarian-Universalist Church's directional signs adjacent to Terra Linda interchange and Professional Center Parkway.

TAKE-OUT FOOD — Granted a use permit to Harman Investment Inc. for a take-out Kentucky Fried Chicken service restaurant at 561 Second Street, and approved architectural design after toning down a planned candy striped roof to a more sedate solid red and imposing sign restrictions.

OFFICES — Granted Johnny Ribeiro a use permit and architectural approval for 2,650 square feet of offices and 8,190 square feet of warehouse space at 85 Mitchell Boulevard in Northgate Industrial Park.

APARTMENTS — Gave architectural approval to plans of Roland Johnson for a 22-unit apartment building at 1428 Mission Avenue, a revision of plans approved last September.

GAS STATION — Approved remodeling plans of Signal Oil and Gas Co. for the former Regal Station at 1011 Lincoln Avenue.

SIGN — Approved an illuminated, double-faced 12-square foot sign to project over sidewalk for Atlas Heating at 1570 Fourth Street.

Gunman Sent To State Hospital

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A man who wounded a policeman while allegedly gunning for a judge has been sent to the Atascadero State Mental Hospital.

Superior Court Judge Harry J. Neubarth ordered Grant Powell, 24, committed yesterday after receiving reports from two psychiatrists that Powell was legally insane.

Powell was stopped near Gilroy hours after he shot and wounded officer Jay Rogovoy, 30, on April 20, police said.

Rogovoy had been guarding the house of Judge Bernard Glickfeld when Powell entered. Later, Powell said he was looking for the judge because Glickfeld gave a light sentence to a rapist. The judge was not home at the time.

San Mateo Transit Link Plan Beaten

COMBINED AP & UPI

Only about one San Mateo County voter in 20 backed a first-stage rapid transit plan that called for feeder bus lines connecting with the present Southern Pacific commute system.

Only about 20 per cent of the county's registered voters turned out for yesterday's election, which climaxed eight years of discussion and studies on a rapid transit program for the Peninsula county.

And only about 20 per cent of those voting approved the plan as 8,859 voted yes to 38,836 against.

The system was proposed by the West Bay Rapid Transit Authority, which was set up when San Mateo County pulled out of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District in 1961. The defeat means the transit authority goes out of business this month.

Belmont passed a $900,000 sewer bond issue, but defeated a second $900,000 measure to buy and develop new parklands. With two-thirds needed for both measures, the sewers won 2,703-987 and the park bonds lost 2,069-1,623.

In Contra Costa County, voters in the San Ramon Valley Unified School District defeated a proposal to increase the tax rate from $3.75 to $4.75 per $100 of assessed valuation. The vote was 2,090 yes and 2,713 no.

Six Tires Stolen

Six tires worth about $180 were stolen during the weekend from a locked display rack outside Triple S Tire at 110 Jacoby Street, San Rafael, business manager Leonard H. Sager reported to police.

Federal Funds Seen For Traffic Signals

Federal funds may be available to finance traffic signals and other improvements for the East Blithedale Avenue-Camino Alto intersection, long a commuters' headache, the Mill Valley Planning Commission has been advised.

City engineer Stanley M. Bala told commissioners Monday that $21 million in federal funds is now available for California road safety improvement projects.

Improvements would include stop signals, widening of the street to accommodate four lanes, including a left hand storage lane, and optional left turn lane, a lane heading west on East Blithedale Avenue and a right hand turn lane onto Camino Alto north.

In addition, East Blithedale Avenue west of Camino Alto would be widened for a merging lane. Stop signals for the East Blithedale-Lomita Avenue intersection would also be requested, Bala said.

The project would cost approximately $100,000, he estimated. Last year, Bala said, more than 18,000 cars a day went through the intersection which is presently controlled by four-way stop signs.

Bala's proposal, which he said he would present to the city council Monday night, was opposed by the commissioners who said the city should instead seek funds to study the "vehicular entrances and exits . . . with particular emphasis on major intersections.

The Mill Valley Planning Commission Also:

SUBDIVISION Denied a request by the Bank of America to delay submission of a master plan for 31 acres on the Highway 101 frontage road near Sycamore Avenue extension until a subdivision has been authorized.

ENCROACHMENT — Approved an encroachment permit and variance requested by Joseph Sparrowhawk for 602 Ralston Avenue to allow construction of two separate one-car parking decks on the city right of way and a one-room addition to an existing house.

LOT SPLIT — Approved a subdivision of property at 630 West Blithedale Avenue, into four lots as requested by Alvin Corkland.

PERMIT — Granted a revocable encroachment permit to Irving Fish, 95 Magee Avenue, for a one car garage on the city right of way.

VARIANCE — Granted a variance to Dustin Fuller for an addition to an existing house which has no offstreet parking at 88 Magee Avenue.

REMODELING — Granted a variance to permit remodeling of Muller's General Insurance Co., 170 East Blithedale Avenue, requiring 10 rather than 12 offstreet parking spaces.

REZONING — Restated its previous position that the northwest corner of East Blithedale Avenue and Camino Alto should be zoned professional-administrative, not general commercial as proposed by the city council.

CONDITIONS —Told developer Manuel Gomez he must control dust by June 30 and erosion by Oct. 15 on his Cresta del Norte subdivision on the North Ridge or have his master plan approval revoked.

WORKSHOP — Set a workshop session for 8 p.m. tomorrow in The Planning Department to discuss the Millridge subdivision.

BICYCLE TRAILS — Postponed discussion of bicycle paths in Mill Valley to the June 24 meeting.

Stolen Car Is Found Wrecked Near Reno, Nev.

A car stolen Friday in Sausalito has been recovered — wrecked — near Reno, Nev., Sausalito police reported yesterday.

Police said Washoe County authorities Monday recovered a Mercedes-Benz stolen from Joaquina A. Duysin of 50 Cable Roadway and arrested Kenny Cleaver, 15, of San Francisco, on suspicion of car theft. Cleaver, now in Juvenile Hall at Reno, reportedly had wrecked the car shortly before being caught.

Police said Cleaver will not be extradited, but disposition of the case will be left up to the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the boy's parents.

Strawberry Apartments Given Nod

A 112-unit marina apartment project along Strawberry Cove on the water side of Seminary Drive won the unanimous approval of the Marin County Board of Superivosrs yesterday.

Supervisors, however, set restrictions on the amount of land coverage, and required the developer to leave at least 45 per cent of water frontage in open space and to provide a boat turnaround in the cove.

If these requirements cannot be met, the number of units may have to be reduced, said Supervisor Michael Wornum, who moved for approval.

The decision was a reversal of a denial by the Marin County Planning Commission.

Leonard B. Fleischman of Belvedere will develop two-story apartments on 6.7 acres of land along the south side of Seminary Drive east of Ricardo Drive.

Attorney Albert Bianchi of San Rafael and architect Allan Steinau of Belvedere argued successfully that the land coverage for the 112 units would be less than if 25 homes were built under the present one-family zoning.

Steinau presented plans and figures showing cluster type development that would leave 45 per cent of the waterfront open to view.

Density depends, "not on the number of doorknobs but on the size of each unit," said Bianchi. He said the architect will limit the average size of each apartment to 712 square feet, whereas the average size of units in nearby waterfront developments range from 760 square feet to 1,485 square feet.

Fleischman also agreed to provide public access to the water over his property. Werner Von Gundell, chief of current planning, insisted that 112 units is too dense, but acknowledged that the size of each unit had not been considered.

Wornum's motion to rezone the property to planned apartments with a density of 17 units per acre (112 units in all) passed with a 5 to 0 vote. A second motion by Wornum recommended to the county planning commission that development be bound by restrictions agreed upon by Fleischman.

Camera Theft

Burglars took $1,100 in camera equipment from the home of Joseph J. Giometti, 351 Corte Madera Avenue, Mill Valley, between 2:30 and 6:30 p.m. Monday, police reported.

Nursery School Gets Board's 3-2 Approval

A nursery school for up to 65 children in Terra Linda barely squeaked by on a 3 to 2 vote of the Marin County Board of Supervisors last night.

The Creative Nursery School, now operated at the Lucas Valley Community Church by Jeannette Parfitt, will be allowed to operate at 1100 Las Gallinas Avenue, across the street from Bernard Hoffman School.

The site, owned by Harold Nichelini, has 27,800 square feet and provides six offstreet parking spaces. Mrs. Parfitt said she will have no more than 65 children attending at one time, and school will operate five days a week.

Supervisor Michael Wornum moved for approval, seconded by Supervisor William A. Gnoss. Supervisor Louis H. Baar cast the third vote.

Supervisor Chairman John F. McInnis and Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr., who dissented, both stressed that slides had occurred on the site, and future slippage could endanger the children.

McInnis said he also took into account the "dominant number" of residents in the area who protested.

The Marin County Planning Commission had approved the nursery school last month by a 4 to 3 vote.

Robert Brown, who lives in a home directly overlooking the school, had appealed the decision. He and several other residents, including Rev. Dale J. Nystrom of Lucas Valley Community Church, protested that the school would add noise and traffic congestion.

Mrs. Parfitt and several parents argued that Hoffman School across the street already creates noise, and the nursery school children would be quiet by comparison. They argued that a circular driveway at the school would allow parents to deliver their children and immediately drive away without causing congestion.

When McInnis urged that the school be denied, Gnoss put up the strongest defense for the school.

"As a rule, I usually go by the supervisor in the district," said Gnoss. The school is within McInnis' district. "But this afternoon I have to disagree." He said he strongly favors nursery schools, which give mothers a chance to work. Gnoss added that privately operated nursery schools take the load off public schools and provide savings to taxpayers.

'Park' Plant Turns Out To Be Marijuana

BERKELEY (UPI) — Despite almost four weeks of police and National Guard occupation of "people's park," some of the seeds planted there are still growing.

But Mayor Wallace Johnson finds the horticultural efforts as "unusual" as everything else about the do-it-yourself park that sparked rioting and 19-day occupation of the city by the National Guard.

He hoisted a can holding a lush green plant at a city council meeting last night and said he had picked it from a lush growth at the park during an inspection earlier in the day.

The plant was marijuana.

Canada-Peking Meeting Hinted

OSLO (London Express) — Canada's willingness to recognize Red China was revealed yesterday at a press conference in Oslo when Mitchell Sharp, minister for external affairs, said he was going to Stockholm next Sunday and Monday and might meet Chinese diplomats there.

He said it was coincidence that he would be in Stockholm while the Chines diplomats were there, but if they wanted to meet him the would do so.

Talks with Peking officials and Canadian representatives have been going on for some months in Stockholm.

The talks began on the initiative of Canada after it consulted other nations.

Sharp said Canada was not coordinating its talks with any other country.

County Sign Curbs Come Under Fire

A 25-foot height limit on freestanding signs and the 75-square-foot limit on size, which are proposed in the county's new sign ordinance, may be lifted to give more flexibility for businesses along the freeway.

Marin County Board of Supervisors reached that tentative consensus after a four-hour hearing yesterday. However, they did not wind up the discussion on the entire ordinance and continued the hearing until 3 p.m. July 15.

Richard P. Nave and Ben A. Farlatti, representing the Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Visitors Bureau; Norman Traverso, manager of the Marin Property Owners Association; and several businessmen protested that highway businesses should not be restricted to the 25-foot height and 75-square-foot size. They conceded that such restrictions would be proper on nonfreeway roads.

"The Holiday Inn (at Terra Linda) has a 310-square-foot sign and it's still too small," said Nave. "Seventy-five square feet for Holiday Inn would be absolutely ridiculous. And 25-foot height along Highway 101 would be at eye level and more distracting to traffic than taller signs."

Nave and his group also asked that existing signs that do not conform to the new ordinance be exempted under a "grandfather clause," and that the planning director not be given sole authority over sign review.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors also:

SLIDE — Gave Fred Davidson 45 days to abate his home, perched on a sliding hill at 12 East LaVerne Avenue, Mill Valley, unless he can bring in an engineer's assurance that the home is safe. Supervisors also advised Davidson and his wife to vacate the home because county engineers warned the home could topple onto Miller Avenue at any time.

DEBRIS — Warned Jack B. Tefft of 23 Lomita Drive, Mill Valley, to clean up his property and start working on his unfinished home or he would face abatement. The county building inspector will report back next Tuesday, on progress made by Tefft.

SENIORS — Presented Mrs. Eleanor H. Snare of the Novato Senior organization with a plaque as one of two outstanding senior citizens in Marin County. The other, Ernest J. Blagg of San Rafael, was out of county and did not attend yesterday's ceremony.

FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT — Directed the county administrator to prepare a resolution of application to the Local Agency Formation Commission to set up a county fire protection district in areas now served solely by the county fire department.

LIBRARY — Hired financial consultants Stone and Youngberg of San Francisco to arrange financing for a new regional branch of the Marin County Library in Corte Madera, the consulting fee not to exceed $7,500.

FAIR-MARIN — Accepted the following as new members of Fair-Marin: Mount Tamalpais Branch of the Fleet Reserve Association; Marin County Retired Officers Association; Marin Barracks No. 550, Veterans of World War I and Ladies Auxiliary; Macin Council of the San Francisco Symphony Guild; and Marin Ballet Aquacade.

GASOLINE BIDS — Contracted with Shell Oil Co. to provide gasoline and Union Oil Co. to provide diesel fuel oil to the county for the 1969-70 fiscal year. They were the low bidders among four companies.

Home Looted

George L. Ballaseux of 315 Golden Gate Avenue, Belvedere, told police someone took jewelry and a camera, valued at $400, from his home between 10 a.m and noon yesterday.

Tomales Gets Warning To Boil Water

An outbreak of hepatitis in Tomales, possibly caused by sewage contamination in wells which supply drinking water, was reported today by Marin County Health Officer Dr. Carolyn Albrecht.

Dr. Albrecht advised all Tomales residents to boil their drinking water until further notice.

The first case of infectious hepatitis was reported last week, she said, and two more have been reported since.

There is no public water supply in Tomales, Dr. Albrecht said, and drinking water is taken from private wells. She said there are a number of failing septic tanks in Tomales and several of them are located too close to the wells.

"Until such time as we have had the opportunity to run laboratory tests on all the wells out there to see whether they're contaminated with sewage, we advise all residents of Tomales to boil their drinking water," Dr. Albrecht said. "That includes any water that goes into the human mouth, including water used for brushing teeth, cooking and mixing drinks."

The survey of wells and septic tanks and lab tests on water samples could take three or four weeks, she said.

Workshops Slated In Photography

Applications are now being accepted for two three-day photography workshops conducted by Mill Valley photographers Prikle Jones and Ruth-Marion Baruch, to be held Aug. 1-3 and 15-17 at the photographers' studio, 663 Lovell Avenue, Mill Valley.

Participants will be required to have a working knowledge of photography. The workshops will emphasize the use of the small camera.

55 Tam Students Due Honors Tonight

Fifty-five Tamalpais High School students will receive awards and honors at the annual awards day ceremoney at 8 p.m. today in the school library.

Novato Streets Due Summer Upgrading

Novato's streets are due for a summer upgrading.

The Novato City Council last night awarded contract for one street widening project, called for bids on another, and learned that the city public works department plans to spend $140,000 this summer on resurfacing of still others.

Ghilotti Brothers Inc. of San Rafael, lowest of four bidders, received a $65,348 contract to widen Wilson Avenue at Sinaloa Junior High School and Novato Boulevard at San Marin High School. Novato Unified School District is to pay $33,200 toward the project from funds allocated by the state.

Bids for widening Simmons Lane from Novato Creek to Novato Boulevard, a job estimated at $55,250, were called for July 1.

Public Works Director Clifford E. Temps reported the city plans to overlay other streets during the summer in the $140,000 additional program.

Besides streets, Pioneer Memorial Park is due for improvement.

The council called for bids for a spray pool and small boating lagoon at the park to be opened July 8. Cost is estimated at $33,000.

Edward W. Adams, parks and recreation director, announced Sept. 20 as tentative date for dedicating the park. He said the first phase of park improvement should be completed about Sept. 15.

The Novato City Council also:

SIGN DENIAL — Denied William Jonas' appeal from planning commission turndown of a readerboard sign for the Novak Square Shopping Center, emphasizing that such signs are granted only under special circumstances. One was allowed earlier for Pacheco Plaza Shopping Center because it is not visible from the highway, said Councilman J. Wayne Womack. Councilman Joseph D. Gargiulo dissented from the turndown.

EXCHANGE STUDENTS — Awarded honorary citizenship in Novato to three foreign exchange students: Gunilla Danielsson of Sweden, Morton Viul of Norway and Ahmet Talug of Turkey.

USE PERMITS — Passed an ordinance continuing for one year the requirement of use permits for certain businesses in the commercial district. This was done at the request of planning consultants Sedway and *Cooke of San Francisco, who are making a study of the down*town area.

RESIGNATION — Accepted the resignation of F. James Picchi from the plan review committee.

REZONING — Passed an ordinance rezoning from mobile home to planned residential approximately 30 acres of Los Robles Mobile Park on Bel Marin Keys Boulevard.

SCHUMAN SUBDIVISION — Accepted street improvements in the Ted R. Schuman subdivision of six lots west of Highway 101 at Lamont Avenue.

ACCESS — Approved vacating an access easement into Novato Square from Highway 101 to conform to plans approved May 13 for the proposed MacDonald's Restaurant.

SCHOOL AID — Endorsed Assembly Bill 409 which would appropriate $372 million state aid to schools on a 50 per cent cost basis. This would give Novato Unified School District $1,143,175 in state funds, according to Emily Baptiste, chairman of the Citizens Committee on School Legislation.

DOG CONTROL — Asked City Mgr. Charles A. Brown to arrange for a meeting with the Marin County Board of Supervisors to discuss the board's turndown of an appropriation for a countywide animal control program for next fiscal year.

BUDGET — Adjourned to 8 p.m. Thursday at the Novato Community House for its fourth budget study session. It also set 8 p.m. Monday and Tuesday next week at the same place for further budget meetings. Public hearings on the budget will be held at 8 p.m. on June 18 and 24 at the community house.

Antisecrecy Bill Sent To Senate Floor

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill to toughen enforcement of the Ralph M. Brown Act was sent to the Senate floor by the Senate Judiciary Committee yesterday but an important punitive provision was pulled out first.

Passage of the bill, which makes it easier for a citizen to seek court action to prevent secret meetings by government bodies, is virtually certain in the Senate, according to aides of Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, who is seeking to strengthen the act.

Cut out of the bill by the committee was a provision which would have made attendance by public officials at an illegal closed meeting "misconduct in office." Upon a finding by a county grand jury that there was sufficient cause for legal action, a Superior Court trial could have been held to remove the offending official from office.

Violation of the Brown Act, not uncommon, is punishable now only as a misdemeanor but this penalty apparently never has been used successfully.

The Brown Act permits closed meetings only to hire or fire a public employee or officer or to hear charges against a public employee or officer.

The Senate Judiciary Committee also recommended passage of another Bagley measure to eliminate most exemptions to a public records act passed by the Legislature last year which requires most state agencies to make their records public.

A third Bagley bill given a "do pass" stamp by the committee would require charitable trusts pay legal expenses for any state action made necessary to insure the trusts meet state registration and filing requirements.

School Advisers Eye Roles In Kentfield

The Kentfield School District task force — meeting to establish a continuing planning council for the district — yesterday worked on defining roles of the planning council, the responsibilities of the school board the superintendent and how the council would set up task forces to solve various problems. No action was taken.

The nine-member task force will meet with five other such groups at 9 a.m. June 20 at the Sonoma County Superintendent of Schools office in Santa Rosa to discuss how to involve the community in comprehensive planning, Anthony G. Bacich, Kentfield School District superintendent, reported.

$500 Fine In Marijuana Case

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court yesterday ordered Ronald T. Faircloth, 24, of Kentfield to pay a $500 fine and spend 10 weekends in jail for possessing marijuana.

The youth had been convicted by a jury last month of possessing the drug but the jury was hung on whether he was guilty of two charges of selling marijuana.

Judge McGuire also placed Faircloth on one year probation and told him to refrain from the use, possession or sale of any narcotics.

Faircloth was arrested May 15, 1968 at his Kentfield apartment. He was a College of Marin student at the time.

Schools Tax Will Increase In Petaluma

The Petaluma Board of Education last night approved a tentative budget of $2.4 million for the elementary district that will increase the general purpose tax rate by 30 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

George E. Castleberry, business manager, said the exact amount of the increase would be determined by the assessed valuation of the district. The tentative 1969-70 budget of $2,406,315 represents a decrease from this year's estimated expenditures of $2,445,662.

The board was told that major increases in the budget were cause by the 50 per cent teacher salary increase and the increase of 3 per cent in the district's contribution to health and dental plans.

The present general purpose tax rate is $1.83. Total tax rate in the district this year, including overrides is $2.11 per $100 assessed valuation.

Castleberry said the carryover balance this year would be $357,131, but would probably drop to $80,987 at the end of the next year.

The tentative budget of the elementary district will be reviewed this month by the Sonoma County Superintendent of Schools. The high school district tentative budget will be presented to the board later this month or in July.

The Petaluma Board of Education also:

CARE CENTER — Approved the use of property on the northwest corner of the McDowell School by the Sonoma County schools office for a child care center, with costs to be borne by the county school's office. Forty to 50 children of working mothers and students are expected to be enrolled next fall at the portable classroom building.

HIRED — Approved the employment of teachers George Geiger, at $8,135; James O'Malley, $9,620; Mary Ostrander, $7,290, and Muriel Reynolds, $9,147.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted resignations from Cheryl Brock, Janice Brosveen, S. Alan Francis and Linda Wells, all moving from the area.

SUMMER SESSION — Approved the employment of 40 teachers for the summer school sessions. Pay for the first session will be $122 per week and $128 per week for the second.

REMODELING — Approved plans to remodel the counseling and attendance area at Petaluma Senior High School at an estimated cost of $37,000, and the remodeling of central corridor at Kenilworth Junior High School at an estimated cost of $18,000 bids may be received by July 8 with completion hoped for by the fall.

PENNGROVE — Heard report that plans are underway to upgrade the Penngrove School by fall to meet state building requirements and to make the building safe during earthquakes.

Redwood High Names Officers

Jerry Piro of Corte Madera, running unopposed, has been elected student body president of Redwood High School for the fall semester.

Chris Martin, of Ross, also unopposed, was elected vice president; Debbie Leininger of Greenbrae defeated Robin Christensen for secretary, and Tim Shippey of San Anselmo, unopposed, was elected finance commissioner.

Also elected were song girls Chris Richardson, Karen Shimamoto, Noreen Ferrari, Pam Shreeve, Bonnie Sutherland, Lissa Hershleb and Linda Ball.

Vote tallies are not released in accordance with student council policy, but election candidates may see the results at the student office, William D. Wilkinson, student activities dean, reported.

TWIN-TOWER CAPITOL BUILDING—This model of a new proposed 24-story twin-tower Capitol building is a preliminary $65 million design which is being studied by the Legislature in tight security sessions. (AP Wirephoto)

$65 Million Capitol Building In Planning

its staff has outgrown its present quarters.

As envisioned by state architect Fred Hummel, the new Capitol would be a handsome one—two graceful, square towers rising from a tree-lined grass and concrete plaza. A five-story structure would link the towers. Airy glass-enclosed buildings on each side of the towers would house the Senate and Assembly chambers.

The layout would be located at the eastern end of Capitol Park on land now owned by the state. A street separating the park from the site would be tunnelled underground.

"A preliminary cost estimate for the entire complex, including towers, garage, plaza development, street depressions, utility relocations and tunnel extension is $65 million," Hummel said in a confidential report to Collier, the silver-haired veteran of the Senate and chairman of the finance committee.

Under Hummel's plan, the size of each legislative office would be more than doubled. Lawmakers who are committee chairmen—there are 42—would have 2,707 square feet, those who are not, 1,693 square feet. Now they get less than half that space.

The state Department of General Services, building planner for the Reagan administration, allocates only 400 square feet of office space to the four agency administrators, who are in the highest echelon of the executive department.

Each senator and assemblyman would have a toilet in his office. The General Services Department said this facility boosts construction costs by $3,000 an office.

Andrew Lolli, director of general services, has banned individual toilets for state executives. "Most of the directors said they didn't want them," Lolli said.

Since his administration came into office in January 1967, Gov. Ronald Reagan has insisted on economy in allocating office space for state employees. He canceled planned construction of one $10 million office building, saying space could be made available elsewhere.

Each of the 40 senators and 80 assemblymen would have his own conference room and space for two staff members and three secretaries.

And, there would be a 2,000-car garage underneath the Capitol.

The present Capitol would probably become a museum. The adjoining office annex would be turned over to other state agencies, with the governor likely remaining there.

The planning group, the Joint Committee on Legislative Space Needs, holds its meetings without giving notification in the daily legislative files. It meets in executive session, with newsmen barred.

Collier, the chairman, has refused to give interviews on the project or even consent to being photographed with the latest model of the building, although he has been asked four times.

In a brief conversation with an Associated Press reporter, he said he would comment after July 1 "when I've gotten all the facts and figures together."

Not all committee members insist on this secrecy. Assemblyman Joe A. Gonsalves, D-La

$65 Million Capitol Building In Planning

Mirada, arguing that the people should have all the facts, strongly defended the project.

He said the Legislature needs a big and sophisticated staff to study the nation's biggest state budget and detailed legislation dealing with taxes, resources and transportation. If staff members aren't available to provide advice, he said, lawmakers must consult lobbyists.

Technical staffs, he said, are now being forced out of present quarters because of lack of space. "If we are going to have something to base our decisions on, we have to have our own staffing," he said. "If not, we might as well take it from the lobbyists."

The Assembly, for example, has created a major Office of Research, with 25 or so staff members. The ways and means, education and revenue and taxation committees have all increased their staffs in recent years.

And, the Legislature has won nationwide praise from scholars for its staff and its research.

Gonsalves, an expert on legislative space, was chairman of the Assembly Rules Committee during a recent $1 million remodeling of Assembly quarters in the sprawling six-story Capitol annex.

He also noted that several state agencies are leasing offices in private buildings in Sacramento. It would be cheaper, he said, for them to move into the offices to be abandoned by the Legislature.

He said the building would be financed by a loan from the state employes retirement fund, and repair by rent payments made by state agencies using the abandoned legislative offices.

A highlight of the Colier committee investigation was the trips to other capitol cities.

In late 1968, Collier and Sen. James Wedworth, D-Hawthorne, flew to Brasilia, the new capital of Brazil, a city hewn out of the interior jungle. The state pays only mileage or transportation fare and a set per diem expense for such trips.

Collier's trip cost the state $1,467 and Wedworth's $1,413. Lima, Peru; Caracas, Venezuela and Buenos Aires, Argentina were on the list of stops.

In April 1968, Assemblyman Newton Russell, R-Tujunga, Sen. Tom Carrell, D-San Fernando; Gonsalves and Collier visited the Michigan capital, Lansing. They continued on to Albany, N.Y., where New York is planning a new Capitol.

In February 1968, the touring lawmakers swung through the south and southwest. Collier, Wedworth, Russell and Carrell went to Atlanta, Ga. and Raleigh, N.C.

In addition, Carrell and Collier visited Santa Fe, N.M., and Phoenix, Arix. Wedworth stopped at Phoenix.

Another trip took the travelers to Hawaii, for a look at that state's new Capitol. It began during the last week of December and ended New Year's Day.

Legislators on that trip were Gonsalves, Carrell, Collier and Wedworth.

Architect Hummel defended the trips.

"If we didn't do some preliminary studies, we could create a horrible monster," he said.

And Wedworth said that the lawmakers had learned the mistakes made by other states and nations in their new capitols and are determined not to repeat them here.

Gonsalves said he will insist on economy in the building, and will oppose such frills as recreational facilities. "I don't see how you can justify that in any public building," he said.

First Lady Sets Western Tour

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Richard M. Nixon flies to Oregon Monday to start a four-day visit to volunteer projects in three West Coast cities.

The White House said today the First Lady, making her first trip on her own, will tour "vest pockets of volunteerism" in Portland and Forest Grove, Ore., and Los Angeles.

She will be promoting one of the President's major projects, the effort to enlist million of Americans in volunteer projects to help cure the nation's social ills.

Scott Bonfiglio New Leader Of Catholic Students

The Tamalpais Community Services District will hold a public hearing on its proposed master plan at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Tamalpais Valley School.

Brixon Calls Mayors To Quick Parley

Larkspur Mayor Neil R. Brixon has called for a special meeting of mayors of Marin's 11 cities and towns to determine their views on three subjects: animal control, structural fire tax and added sheriff's deputies for unincorporated areas.

The luncheon meeting is set for 12:15 p.m. Monday at the Edgewater Inn, Corte Madera.

Early action is necessary, Brixon stressed, because these matters are now being considered by the Marin County Board of Supervisors and cannot await the next meeting of the Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen on June 25.

The supervisors might implement the animal control program if cities would consider making up the necessary $31,000, which Brixon calls "doggie dollars," to fund the program.

Brixon said that the Sheriff's Patrol Division costs of $960,472 should be borne solely by the unincorporated area taxpayers.

The supervisors are considering a possible fire district for the unincorporated area in which the structural fire tax would be levied according to relative benefits.

Brixon has urged each mayor to at least poll his council as to its thoughts on the three subjects prior to the luncheon meeting.

The ocelot, a species of wildcat in tropical America, averages about three feet long.

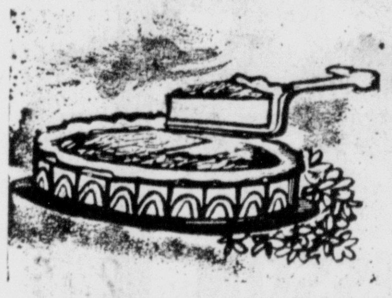
Turn Fresh Peaches Into A Cheese Cake

Everything's coming up peaches.

For over 2,000 years, it was believed the peach came from Persia. The botanical name a derivative from the Latin meaning "Persian" led to peaches being originally called "Persian Apples." Authorities have agreed that China is the home of the peach which probably traveled from there to Persia along caravan routes. The Spaniards are credited with bringing peach seeds and trees for planting in America on the second, third or both voyages of Christopher Columbus.

But those that are well colored with a creamy hue and roughed cheeks. The peaches should be fairly firm. Ripen at room temperature.

Sun Blushed Peach Cheesecake presents the favorite cheesecake in new dress. Take a bow with Peach Parfait, a regal sweet with a fresh, stately ending to any meal.



PEACH CHEESE CAKE

To prepare crumb mixture:

1 cup graham cracker crumbs
¼ cup sugar
¼ cup softened butter or margarine

Blend together all ingredients; press firmly into an even layer over bottom of 9-inch springform pan.

To prepare filling:

3 envelopes unflavored gelatin
¾ cup water
2 pounds peaches (6 medium-sized)
1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
2 egg yolks
¾ cup sugar
1 pound cream cheese, softened
2 egg whites
½ teaspoon salt
¼ Cup sugar
1 cup heavy cream

Soften gelatin in water. Peel, pit and thoroughly crush or puree peaches (you should have 3 cups). Stir in lemon juice. Beat egg yolks slightly in top of double boiler; stir in ½ cup crushed peaches and ¾ cup sugar. Cook and stir over hot water until mixture thickens; mix in softened gelatin; remove from heat.

Combine cream cheese and remaining peaches; stir in gelatin mixture. Chill until mixture mounds. Beat egg whites and salt until foamy. Gradually beat in ¼ cup sugar until stiff peaks form. Whip cream stiff. Fold egg whites and cream into cheese mixture. Pour into prepared pan. Chill at least 4 hours, or until firm. Serve with Crushed Peach Sauce. Makes 12 servings.

Crushed Peach Sauce

6 medium-sized peaches (about 2 pounds)
⅓ cup sugar

Peel, pit and slightly crush peaches; stir in sugar. Makes about 2¼ cups.

PEACH PARFAIT

1 package (3⅝ ounces) vanilla pudding mix
1½ cup milk
½ cup sour cream
2 cups diced peeled fresh peaches

Combine pudding mix and milk in medium saucepan. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture reaches boiling point. Remove from heat; blend in sour cream. Cool thoroughly, stirring frequently. Arrange alternate layers of peaches and pudding in parfait glasses ending with pudding layer. Chill until serving time. Makes about 4 servings.

Vegetables Take On New Flavor In Special Ways

Looking for some different ways to serve green vegetables? Blue Lake Puff with green beans is an unusual idea, and abundant asparagus is given special treatment here with blue cheese, almonds and chopped celery or onions.

Blue Lake Puff is an excellent accompaniment for fish or any light main dish such as broiled chicken.

BLUE LAKE PUFF

1 can (1 lb.) cut Blue Lake green beans
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 tablespoons finley chopped onion
2 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon powdered marjoram
Dash pepper
¾ cup milk
2 eggs, separated
½ cup shredded American cheese

Drain beans, reserving ¼ cup liquid. Turn beans into 8-inch round baking dish. Melt butter in saucepan; add onion and saute lightly. Stir in flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, marjoram and pepper. Add milk and reserved bean liquid; cook and stir over medium heat until thickened. Pour over beans. Beat egg whites with remaining ¼ teaspoon salt until stiff but not dry. Beat yolks until thick and lemon-colored; stir in cheese. Gently fold cheese-yolk mixture into egg whites; spread over bean mixture. Bake at 375 degrees 15 to 20 minutes. Serve at once from baking dish.

Makes 4 servings.

ASPARAGUS ALMONDINE

1¼ to 1½ lb. fresh asparagus, cooked or 2 pkg. (10 oz. each) frozen asparagus spears, cooked
2 tablespoons melted butter or buttery flavor oil
¼ cup chopped almonds, toasted
2 tablespoons fine, dry bread crumbs
2 tablespoons finely chopped celery or green or yellow onion
2 teaspoons blue cheese dressing mix
½ cup mayonnasie
1 tablespoon lemon juice

While asparagus cooks, make topping by combining butter, almonds, crumbs and celery and 1 teaspoon dressing mix. Blend mayonnaise, lemon juice and remaining 1 teaspoon dressing mix in saucepan, heat just until warm. Add hot asparagus to mayonnaise mixture and turn over to coat. Turn into serving dish; sprinkle with crumb topping.

Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Vegetable Dip Favors The Calorie Counters

Dips are everywhere. Today a party isn't a party without them.

Why not join the dip set by finding the dip of your choice—a dip that's pretty to look at, easy to make, appropriate for all seasons and occasions, and not too fattening.

The answer to this quest is vegetable dip. It will appeal to all dip setters. By using fresh raw vegetables as dippers, you automatically cut down on calories from the usual dippers.

You will also appreciate the harmony of seasonings in combining blue cheese and sour cream with this rich brown seasoning and broth. This combo should entitle you to a priority rating among the best of the dip set.

A VEGETABLE DIP

1 pint sour cream
½ cup catsup
¼ lb. blue cheese, crumbled
6 packets rich brown seasoning and broth

Mix all ingredients together in a bowl. Blend well and serve with bite-size fresh vegetables: carrot sticks, tomato wedges, caulifloweretes, cucumber slices, green pepper cubes, and ripe olives.

Tasty Italian Way With Ham

Often homemakers want to serve something different and a bit on the gourmet side, but busy schedules keep a creative cook in check.

If this is your problem, serve Baked Italian-Style Ham and become an "instant gourmet." Start with a handy canned ham, ready to serve or to heat-and-eat, and in a variety of sizes and shapes — the not-so-secret ingredient to many a famous meal. The ham is heated, spread with a flavorful tomato sauce, sprinkled with Parmesan cheese and topped with Mozzarella cheese wedges and French fried onion rings and return to the oven to soften the cheese. You'll be surprised at the dividend of flavor an investment of a few minutes can make.

Arrange the hame on a large platter and garnish with additional French fried onions and romaine hearts or escarole, if desired. Serve with hot buttered noodles, buttered artichoke hearts, Italian green beans, crispy bread sticks, a leafy salad with Italian dressing and Chianti wine or coffee, as desired. It's quite a feast.

Italian-Style Ham is great served hot or cold, so bake enough for a second meal. Just tuck the leftovers in the refrigerator and it's ready to be eaten as is or to be given a quick reheating for a second meal.

ITALIAN-STYLE HAM

1 canned (6 to 8 pound) ham
1 can (6 ounce) tomato paste
¾ cup water
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
1 teaspoon basil
½ teaspoon oregano
teaspoon garlic salt
⅓ cup shredded Parmesan cheese
1 package (6-ounce) sliced Mozzarella cheese
1 can (3 ounce) French fried onions (optional)

Place ham on rack in shallow uncovered pan. Bake for length of time and at temperature recommended on canned ham label. Combine tomato paste, water, onion, basil, oregano and garlic salt; mix. Simmer slowly to blend flavors, about 15 minutes.

Brush ham with sauce during last 20 minutes of baking. Sprinkle top with Parmesan cheese. Cut Mozzarella cheese slices in half diagonally and arrange slices on top of ham. Sprinkle about ⅓ of the onions over cheese.

Return to oven to soften cheese and heat onions. (If desired 1½ cups thick spaghetti sauce from a can or a mix may be substituted for the tomato sauce and spices.) Heat remaining French fried onions in separate pan with ham. Yield: About 12 servings.

LOOKING ABOUT LONDON . . . Variety is the word when it comes to London's youth scene. Fashionably dressed "dollies" coexist with scruffy student rebels as all make the scene on Portebello Road. (1) Latest in underground fashions; (2) young street musicians—"buskers"—entertain Saturday morning shoppers; (3) teen-agers contemplate stallholders' wares; (4) Simon Stable, proprietor of the underground's latest gathering spot.

Neat Beat Takes Over London

By GLENN GOODEY

LONDON (AP) — Bizarre music with words about love and peace filled the tiny room.

Flashing red and green lights barely cut through the thick haze of cigarette smoke. Black curtains shut out the spring sunshine, and black-painted walls accentuated the gloom.

Fumes from a paraffin heater and nude posters on the walls added to the offbeat atmosphere.

SIMON'S STABLE, music center of London's "underground" movement, was empty except for the proprietor — 29-year-old Simon Stable.

In between records he talked about the "underground," the post-hippie generation and young people in general.

"Last year's hippies, Britain's happy band of flower people, got fed up with just sitting around and being happy," he explained. "They dropped the bells and the beads. Some took jobs to see them through the winter. Others even cut their hair. I leave mine long to keep my neck warm," he added.

Simon's record shop is at the unfashionable end of London's famous Portobello Road, which has become the center of the city's post-hippie generation.

TWO MILES to the south, the Kings Road, mecca of fashion-conscious youth, winds through expensive Chelsea. Taking over this year from Carnaby Street, original home of the thigh-high miniskirt, the Kings Road has become the Savile Row of the London dollies and their barely distinguishable boy friends.

A short walk away lies London's entertainment center, the West End. There clubs like the Revolution, and the Speak-Easy have become favorite haunts of the city's young who have more money to spend than ever before and are determined to spend it as quickly as possible.

A quarter million youths 15 to 24 years old live in London and its suburbs. During the past year a wind of change has blown through their ranks.

Last year the image of the "different" youth was largely that of the free-thinking, free-loving hippies with bells, beads and long hair and a pocketful of drugs.

TODAY THERE is no longer any one cult. The majority are probably the most fashion-conscious youngsters in the world, ruled by no set trends, just a common desire for individuality.

Many take drugs, but unlike last year's hippies, they are clean and more readily accepted by the older generation.

The so-called "underground" movement's aim is to seek a new permissive climate for experiments in literature, art, films, theater, music and living.

They number under 1,000 and have taken the remnants of the hippie set into their ranks. Their outpost is the Bayswater Road area and the Portobello Road.

THEY LIVE in one-room apartments in near-derelict houses. During the day they earn a few pounds from laboring jobs, just enough to pay the rent and buy their own particular kind of food.

"Macrobiotic food," as they describe it, is mainly brown rice. "The idea is to imagine it's chicken or lobster," explained Simon Stable. "Mind over matter and all that."

At night underground life centers in the many clubs that have sprung up in the area. These feature unknown pop groups and serve soft drinks. Most popular is the Middle Earth Club in Lancaster Road, where for four shillings (48 cents) one can spend all night listening, dancing or talking about what's wrong with the world.

"We want to improve life," said Simon. "But we do it by persuading people that peace is better than war and money isn't everything."

His own shop, which barely provides him a living, sells records of the underground groups whose names — Caravan, Family, The Nervous System — are as weird as the music they play.

His life is a far cry from those led by the Kings Road and Carnaby Street sets. Their main desire is to earn enough to dress well and hopefully have some left over for the clubs, pubs, discotheques, cinemas and theaters they frequent.

It is the half-mile stretch of the Kings Road from Sloane Square to the top of Flood Street that really interests the youngsters. The shops (the word boutique is no longer used) vary from the way out "Quorum" and "Granny Takes A Trip," to the more elegant "Top Gear," "Countdown" and "Fifth Avenue."

"The youngsters have money to burn," commented Anthony Wookey, 29, manager of Mates, whose turnover exceeds 100,000 pounds ($240,000) a year and is rapidly rising. "Most of those over 20 earn about 20 pounds ($48) a week and spend it all during the weekend."

WOOKEY PROVIDED a quick rundown on the latest fashion trends:

"See-through shirts are in, and the hairier the chest a man has the better. Trousers are very tight round the hips and flared down below.

"Black velvet is the coming material for jackets, trousers and suits.

"Hair is shorter, tidier with long sideburns."

Downstairs his manager, Valerie Atkinson, 23, explained the female fashion scene:

"THE MINISKIRTS have been eclipsed by trousers, with long cossack-styled tunic blouses which can invariably be worn on their own as dresses.

"A girl no longer bases her entire wardrobe on the mini. This summer and autumn will be a cover-up but not a wrap-up. Clothes will be loose and light, with matching colors and very gay."

They both agreed male and female fashion was coming together. "Soon you won't be able to tell the man from the woman," said Tony.

The most unfashionable group of young people in the city are probably the students —some look scruffier than the "underground" set.

There are just over 200,000 students in the London area attending technical, art and commercial colleges. Another 30,000 attend universities and the London School of Economics (LSE). It is from this latter group that nearly all student protest in the city, including the anti-Vietnam demonstrations last year, riots, occupations and sit-ins this year, originated.

Pales Stay

White and pastels promise to be just as strong as fall and winter colors as they have been for spring and summer. Pale pinks, blues and yellows show for both day and evening in New York wholesale collections. Coming on strong: all shades of purple. By contrast, some of the colors are sharp reds, yellows, limes, and American beauty rose.

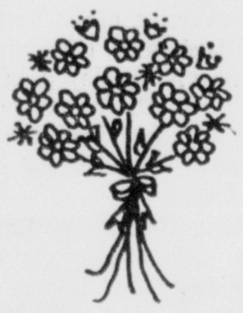
Old St. Hilary's Church Is Again Wedding Site



By MOLLY MARIN

Old St. Hilary's Church, now the museum of the Belvedere-Tiburon Landmarks Society, will once again be the scene of a wedding. Elaine Lyons, daughter of Dr. Harold Lyons of Ross and Mrs. Ione Lyons of Winton, selected the little white edifice as the setting for her exchange of vows with William Halnan of San Francisco on July 4.

The first church on the Tiburon Peninsula, St. Hilary's was dedicated Oct. 21, 1888. The Roman Catholic Church was a mission church attached to the Star of the Sea Church in Sausalito until 1951. In that year St. Hilary's Parish was formed. The present St. Hilary's Church was built in 1954, and since then Old St. Hilary's has not been used for religious services. The structure, a noted example of carpenter's Gothic architecture, was acquired by the Belvedere-Tiburon Landmarks Society in 1959. The society was formed expressly to preserve the former church.

Thanks to the sentiment of bride-elect, Elaine Lyons, it will once again be used for the marriage sacrament. "I always have wanted to be married there," Elaine said.

Local wildflowers growing in the surrounding acreage, also a Landmarks Society conservation project, will be used to decorate the church for its first wedding in 15 years. Mrs. George Ellman, the society's botanical expert, has volunteered to arrange the flowers.

The future bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Halnan of Oakland. He was graduated from the University of California with a Bachelor of Science degree in engineering and is employed by Airco Temescal Co. in Berkeley.

Elaine attended Sir Francis Drake and Redwood High schools, and is a graduate of Willamette University in Salem, Ore., where she was affiliated with Delta Gamma sorority.

The reception will be given at the home of family friends, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Watkin in Kent Woodlands.

THE ACRES of flowers in Portugal, Spain and France, were a memorable experience for the Robert Towles of Mill Valley, who have just returned from a month tour through those countries.

Mrs. Towle says the extraordinary display of flowers, including field after field of red poppies in Spain, was due to the unusually heavy rains last winter.

Also a highlight of their trip was the gourmet food in France.

SENORA JOAN Millzner de Palmero of Mexico City came to Marin last week, where she stayed with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Raymund Millzner of Belvedere. Her quick visit was especially timed so that she could attend the wedding of Suzi Mitchell of Belvedere and Sheldon Miller of El Cerrito last Saturday at the Swedenborgian Church in San Francisco.

THE LEONARD Blakelys have returned to Sausalito from their fourth trip to Mexico. After leaving on May 22 they flew to Mazatlan, Puerto Vallarta, Guadalajara and Mexico City. They especially enjoyed Mazatlan.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Old Man's Darling A Slave, Wishes For 'Younger' Life

DEAR HELEN:

I am one of those so-called "old man's darlings." I married my husband when I was 18 and he was over 40. My family was poor. He was a prominent executive, had a beautiful home, and I was divinely happy — for a while.

He showed me off to all his friends and called me his baby. He wanted children right away and when they didn't come, he rushed me to every specialist. They said nothing was wrong with me. He wouldn't be examined.

Then he started changing. He said I was making a fool of him and people were laughing. When a clerk referred to him as my father, he sulked for days.

I can't wear slacks — they're unfeminine. I can't act my own age and I don't know how to act his. I can't have young friends.

One night after a terrible argument he said he'd only married me because his friends made insinuations at his being still single. Now they're sneering, he says, because "he isn't man enough to have a child."

Helen, when I visit my old home and see my former friends and their children, I get sick. Youth needs youth. After 10 years, I despise my husband, but he won't let me go. Says he'd never hear the end of it as his friends would say he couldn't hold a young woman. Where do I go from here? — HEARTSICK

DEAR HEARTSICK:

Go to your doctor who will hopefully persuade your husband that he needs psychiatric counselling. Not age, but attitude, is ruining your marriage. When a man is consumed with fear, he can't function as a husband.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

A year ago I, a widow, married a healthy, handsome retired widower 15 years my senior. I was offered the world with a fence around it; all I have is the fence. The house is his, the furnishings his, the car his, and I am his! He gives me no money, not even gifts.

He wants me to quit my most enjoyable executive position so I can be home with him all day. This without even a television set, which he calls the idiot box; and without friends, whom he belittles.

How can a man change so radically? He, who took me out every week before we were married, was an interesting, lively conversationalist and seemingly enjoyed travel and people, has proved what he really is: A sour, sex-mad, stingy, old recluse.

I shall leave him, without asking support or concessions. But what I want to know is: Why can't people see beneath the surface during a courtship? Is this why there are so many divorces? — UNPAID HOUSEKEEPER

DEAR U.H.:

During a courtship people see only what pleases them because, 1. They are both trying hard to please, and 2, They want so desperately to be pleased that they ignore faults even when others see them plainly. Too bad there isn't some sort of foolproof machine which can take an engaged couple's components, scramble them, and predict what their future together will be like.

But then, who'd believe the machine, unless it registered "Compatible"?—H.

DEAR HELEN:

"Not a Nursemaid" says she hardly knows her husband who has lost his leg in Vietnam. I can understand her fear, but not her greed in wanting part of his pension even when she divorces him.

We had been married just one day when my husband went overseas. He returned a double amputee. I too was scared, and so was he, but we found we loved each other just as much. We now have four fine children, he has a good position, and we are ever so happy. Incidentally, our hobby is skiing What matter if he lost a hand and a leg? I won a wonderful husband!—SATISFIED FULLY

Stunning as her silver mealtime accessories may be, the bride knows that before her table setting can be a masterpiece, the china and crystal that is so much a sparkling, eye-catching part of the whole must be chosen with coordinating care. A well-appointed table requires silver and china and crystal patterns that harmonize into a beautiful working unit. To achieve this end, a wise bride will head directly for her jeweler for tips on table harmony.

Here are a few of the pointers he will give her: china comes in two basic design categories: traditional and contemporary. Between these two categories, even the most modern bride will find a pattern to her taste. (A thoughtful reminder from the Jewelry Industry Council: fad designs can become a bore in a short time. It is best to avoid them in fine china, which is a lifetime investment.)

Quality china can be easily determined by a few simple tests. The bride's jeweler will demonstrate these willingly for her:

1) She should be able to see light through it.

2) Balancing a plate on three fingers and tapping it with a pencil should produce a clear, bell-like ring.

3) The glass should feel smooth to the touch.

4) The cup should fit snugly and securely in the saucer.

As in silver, four place settings of china are considered the minimum necessary to set a table. A place setting of china includes a dinner plate, salad plate, bread and butter plate, teacup and saucer.

Naturally, the bride wants to enjoy her china for many years to come. She will, if she carefully follows these few simple rules:

1) Wash china as soon as possible after use.

2) Wash each piece individually in warm water with mild soap. Do not use steel wool or soap pads .

3) Rinse china thoroughly and drain.

4) Store on a felt pad. Hang cups on hooks or place individually on shelves.

Sure to focus attention on her table is the sunny sparkle of the bride's crystal. That's why, when she comes to choose it, her jeweler will suggest a design noted for its timelessness, to keep her table always in style. Crystal, like china, has a standard of quality that can be easily discovered:

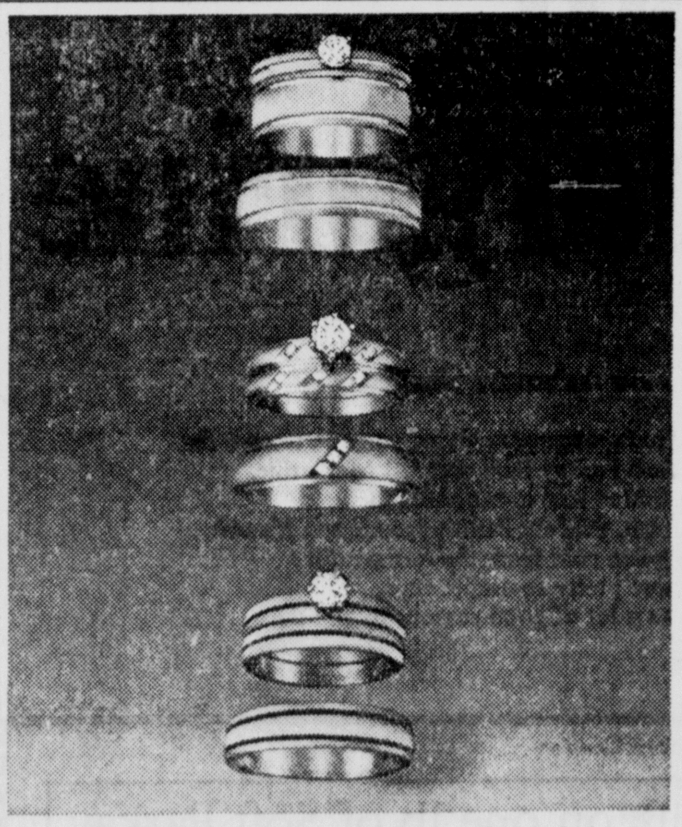
1) The bowls and stems of glasses should have uniform shape and balance.

2) Held to the light, the glassware should not reveal waves or bubbles.

3) Tapped gently with a fingernail, it should give off a clear, bell-like ring.

The bride will purchase her crystal by the place setting also: a water goblet, sherbet, wine glass and salad plate. Of course, the number of the china and crystal place settings that a young bride aims for must be the same.

After she has had the happy experience of finding the crystal and china patterns that have a definite place in her future home, the bride will want to register these patterns with her jeweler's bridal registry. Just like silver, crystal and china will be given to the bridal couple as wedding gifts. By registering her needs and wants, the bride signals her relatives and friends as to what would be the most useful and treasured of gifts they could bestow.



TWO FOR HER AND ONE FOR YOU
Matchmates® Her engagement and wedding rings match his wedding band. After all, why should the bride get all the nice things!

ART BOOM

Get Out Of Rut, Into Collecting

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—Get out of the rut. Get into collecting art.

Martha Jackson, entrepreneur of a well-known art gallery, offers the advice. And not, she insists, just because she sells art.

"Modern life is so compartmentalized," Miss Jackson explained. "Collecting takes you out of the mold you're in, and lifts you into another world of a whole new group of people. Everyone should be interested in art. It keeps you from being bored."

MISS JACKSON'S comments came during an interview as we talked on the "whys" of the art boom, in which almost everyone is showing off an original or originals by somebody or other.

Besides bringing you in contact with a new group in your town, there are other dividends. Add the pure enjoyment of a good painting or sculpture. And there's the investment factor.

"People have confidence in art," said Miss Jackson, whose gallery bears her name. "If they need to sell, it is negotiable.

"WE CAN GAUGE a lot of our business by what the stock market is doing. When the market is unstable, seesawing up and down, we sell beautifully. On a rising market, sales drop off. The money goes into stocks."

Miss Jackson, who's had her gallery since 1953 and introduced many an artist now famous, said that a lot of people are in the art market today for the same reason they're in the stock market— affluence.

"You can only spend so much on travel, buy only so many antiques," she said. "There just aren't enough places to spend it all, so people turn to art."

SOME COLLECT art because it's the "in" thing, she said. Some people purchase art simply to complete a decorating scheme. But others get bitten by the collecting bug and then art takes over. She knows one collector who long since has run out of room to hang works and they go under the bed, anywhere she can store them. She'll never forget the apartment she visited to find a Gaugin hanging in the bathroom.

Miss Jackson, a divorcee, was born in Buffalo, N.Y. She started her own collecting during World War II when her husband was stationed at Fort Meade. She began to tour museums and take courses at Johns Hopkins University. Her first purchase was a Marc Chagall wash which cost her $500. It's many times over that in value today.

SHE COMMENDS a similar training route for the uninitiated—read the art magazines, tour the galleries and museums, go back to school, for almost every college these days offers some courses in art.

Then go to a good gallery. If in doubt, she said, the gallery is easily checked through the Art Dealers Association of America, your local museum director, or the American Federation of Arts.

ON THE AGENDA

Golf Tournament To Benefit Area Cerebral Palsy Center

The first Shoong Foundation Invitational Golf Tournament for the benefit of the Cerebral Palsy Center for the Bay Area has been set for Friday. The event will be included in two nights and a day of activity.

The golf tournament, with area golfers participating, will be at the California Golf Club in San Francisco and will be preceded by a reception at the Cerebral Palsy Center on Lincoln Avenue in Oakland on Thursday evening. The reception is planned for players, their wives and guests and committee members. A Chinese gourmet banquet will be held at the Four Seas Restaurant in San Francisco's Chinatown the evening of the tournament.

Social activities are under the leadership of Mrs. William Webb of Oakland and Mrs. William MacDonald of Lafayette. Assistants include Mmes. Walter Shew of San Francisco and William Peterson of San Rafael.

The Cerebral Palsy Center is the only one of its kind in the Bay Area, providing a full range of therapy and workshop activities for youngsters and adults afflicted with cerebral palsy.

The Shoong Foundation, the philanthropic arm of the National Dollar Store chain, is headed by Milton Shoong, president.

CATHERINE CORDIERO

VICTORIA SCHWARTZ

SCHOLARSHIPS totaling $600 have been awarded to two Marin County 1969 high school graduates by the Marin Charter Chapter of American Business Women's Association.

Catherine M. Cordeiro, student at Sir Francis Drake High School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Cordeiro of Fairfax. Ranking fifth in a graduating class of 445, she is interested in the field of teaching and physical therapy and plans to attend the College of Marin.

Victoria D. Schwartz, graduating from Tamalpais High School, also plans to enter the College of Marin this fall. She is the daughter of Mrs. Rosemary D. Schwartz of Mill Valley. Vicky will study data processing and computerized accounting.

Both students have been active in school and community affairs and were selected on the basis of scholastic rating, interest in a worthwhile career and need of financial assistance.

Mrs. Vlado Kolitsch, educational chairman, was assisted by Mmes. Walter J. Tait and Jack McNerney in presenting the qualifications of various applicants to the members for their vote.

Since its chartering in 1965, Marin Charter Chapter has appropriated funds amounting to $2,000 in scholarships to students. Past recipients include Pamela Doherty, Linda Swipes, Maureen Oster, Paula Jacobson and Beverly Sowash.

MILL VALLEY American Legion Auxiliary Unit 284 will have a joint installation of officers with American Legion Post 284 Friday at 8:30 p.m. at Hammond Hall of the Mill Valley Episcopal Church of Our Saviour.

The auxiliary is in the process of choosing a new president. The late Mrs. David Wilson was to have been installed president.

Other officers to be installed Friday are Mmes. Ted Greubel, first vice president; William Cavanagh, corresponding secretary; Ralph Slonecker, treasurer; Bernice Camp, chaplain; William Lassner, sergeant at arms; Harry Fitzgibbon, second vice president; Norman G. Boyd, recording secretary, and Miss Kathleen Fitzgibbon, marshal.

PRE-KINDERGARTEN classes of the Belvedere Nursery School, Inc., are being scheduled for the morning hours this fall, with five-, three- and two-day-a-week sessions offered.

Children who will be five years old before March 1, 1970, will be admitted to the classes. All pre-kindergarten sessions will be held at the Hawthorne Nursery School in Tiburon, one of the member schools of the Belvedere Nursery School corporation.

The announcement was made by Mrs. B. G. Falk, president of the non-profit community organization which also operates Belvedere and Tiburon Nursery schools. "With the opening of the Hawthorne facility last year, it is now possible to have all the programs in the morning, the prime learning time for young children," Mrs. Falk said.

Mrs. Marilyn Knight is principal of the Hawthorne pre-kindergarten school; Mrs. Mary Anne Evans and Mrs. Nancy Curley, teachers. Two- and three-day-a-week nursery school level sessions will continue at the Belvedere Nursery School and the Tiburon Nursery School at Westminster Presbyterian Church. With all sessions in the morning, Mrs. Beverly Bastian, executive director of the associated schools, principals and teachers, will be available in the afternoons for parent conferences and will schedule group discussions on child development.

CHRISTINE GROTH

Chris Groth Will Marry In August

Mr. and Mrs. Wilmot Groth of Ross announce the engagement of their daughter Christine Marie Groth of San Rafael to Dr. Warren G. Kleinmaier of Larkspur.

Christine is the sister of Mary-Anne Orsi of San Rafael and the granddaughter of Mrs. Florence Lynch of San Francisco and Mrs. Florence Groth of Santa Clara. She is a graduate of Notre Dame des Victoires in San Francisco and San Francisco City College of Nursing. The future bride is a nurse at Marin General Hospital.

The future bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George G. Kleinmaier of San Francisco. He received a medical degree from Ohio State University, training in pediatrics and child neuropsychiatry at Emma Pendleton Bradley Home in Providence, R. I., and a degree in psychiatry at the Presbyterian Medical Center in Palo Alto. Warren trained in family therapy at the Mental Research Institute in Palo Alto and is practicing psychiatry and family therapy in Marin.

The couple plan an Aug. 31 wedding.

Mrs. David B. Mathis Is President Of Novato Parents Nursery School

President of Novato Parents Nursery School for the 1969-70 year is Mrs. David B. Mathis.

The parents group was organized last year, and she served as membership chairman with the ultimate purpose of the organization to provide a developmental nursery program that enables mothers to participate and observe.

They plan an expanded membership from one to two sessions this year and mothers with children 3 to 5 years old who are available to participate in a cooperative program are eligible to join.

Novato Parents Nursery School is now in its second year of operation and is housed in the educational annex to the United Methodist Church.

Parents assist the director in the nursery school, serving at the school one morning every week. The school is a non-profit, non-sectarian, interracial corporation and is affiliated with the California Council of Parent Participation Nursery Schools. Registrations are now being accepted for the Monday, Wednesday and Friday fall sessions to be held from 9 to 11:30 a.m. Parents may obtain additional information by calling Mrs. Jay Stryker in Novato.

Toni Mathis attended Lake Forest College in Illinois and received a degree and general elementary teaching credential at San Francisco State College.

She and her husband, a sales manager with an insurance company, have two sons, Michael David, 4, and Kent August, 2 years old.

The Mathises have lived in Marin County for seven years, moving to Novato from Kentfield.

Toni taught this spring in the educationally handicapped program in Novato and also as a substitute teacher.

She most enjoys children, "my own or teaching school," bridge and commercial art. She is also a member of the Novato Newcomers Club and Jolly Roger Chapter of Children's Home Society.

Officers serving with Mrs. Mathis are Mmes. Duane Bengs, vice president; Thomas O'Brien, secretary; Ray Owens, treasurer, and Stryker, membership.

MRS. DAVID MATHIS

Kathy Ann Samilson Wed In Garden Of Parents' Home

In a garden ceremony Sunday afternoon at the home of her parents in Tiburon Kathy Ann Samilson became the bride of Gary Edward Reiman of Tempe, Ariz.

Kathy's sisters, Linda, Leslie and Terry Samilson, were her attendants. They are the daughters of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Samilson.

Kent Reiman of Phoenix, Ariz., served his brother as best man.

A reception followed at the Samilson home and the couple left for a wedding trip to Phoenix where they will make their home.

Kathy is a graduate of Redwood High School and is a student at Arizona State University at Tempe. Her husband was graduated from North High School in Phoenix and Arizona State University and is employed at Camelback High School in Phoenix.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Reiman of Phoenix.

Julie Cramer Is Bride Of Brian Grove In Guam

Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church, not in Mill Valley, the home parish of the bride, but in Agat, Guam, was the setting for the 7 p.m. wedding on May 29 of Julie Anne Cramer and Brian Henry Grove.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith L. Cramer of Mill Valley, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Mirian Grove of San Anselmo and Clark Grove of San Francisco.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Kenneth Christianson, and best man was Richard Plog, both of Guam. Following the wedding a reception was held at the Mocambo, enlisted men's club on Guam.

Both of the young people were graduated from Marin Catholic High School. The bride attended the College of Marin and was employed with the Southern Pacific Co. in San Francisco. She is the sister of Mrs. Robert R. Zeigler Jr., Rosemary, Ellen, Joseph and Matthew Cramer and the granddaughter of Mrs. Andrew J. White, all of Mill Valley.

Brian was graduated from the College of Marin and is with the U. S. Navy finance office on Guam, where the couple will be for two years.

He is the brother of Mrs. Richard Matthews of Novato, Mrs. John Kent of San Francisco and Bruce, Diane, Clark and Deborah Grove, all of San Anselmo. His grandparents are Mrs. Harry Elmerich of San Anselmo and Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Roix of Santa Rosa.

take home the springtime flavor of
TODAY'S NEW LAMB
Like flying kites . . . like robins on the lawn and jonquils in the garden . . . tender young lamb is a part of the Spring scene. Enjoy the great variety of cuts now in your food store. Have a different one every week. For starters, fix a great American leg of lamb a marvelous new way. Have guests—or have delicious leftovers. Take your choice. Anyway, here's the recipe.
SPRINGTIME LEG OF LAMB AMERICANA
(makes 8 servings)
1 leg of lamb
1 cup onion bouillon
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon oregano leaves
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/2 pound medium size mushrooms
1 tablespoon chopped chives
2 cans (1 pound each) whole baby carrots, drained with 3/4 cup liquid reserved
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
Place lamb on rack in shallow roasting pan. Roast in 325° (slow) oven 2 hours; drain off fat. Combine bouillon, salt, pepper, oregano and lemon juice in saucepan; bring to boil. Add mushrooms; cover and cook 15 minutes or until tender. Combine mushroom liquid with chives; pour over lamb. Roast 30 minutes longer or until meat thermometer registers 175° for medium doneness, basting occasionally. Blend carrot liquid with flour; add lamb drippings. Cook until gravy boils 1 minute, stirring constantly. Heat carrots and mushrooms in butter and serve on the side. Lamb may be garnished with pear halves filled with grated cheddar cheese and halves of English walnuts.

Rules Change, Couples Permitted Public Kisses

By VIC ALDISS
London Express

LONDON — Courting couples are having a better deal in many parts of the world today. In Britain, there was a time when they had to seek the seclusion of some lover's lane or the back seats of a cinema. Now they can smooch away almost anywhere in public — in the street, in trains and buses.

In Italy it used to be a "crime" to be caught kissing in the street. Until this January, couples convicted of giving even polite pecks in public could be fined or even jailed.

But now the judges are turning a blind eye. The offense has "entered the zone of official indifference."

In the past 10 years, hundreds of modern Romeos and their Juliets have been convicted of public kissing. The problem was so serious an Italian magazine printed "helpful hints to young people on how they may kiss in public and get away with it."

The reason for this puritanical attitude was an ancient belief that one kiss morally meant an engagement. And a recent poll showed that 48 out of every hundred Italian girls had never been kissed up to the age of 16.

But now, perhaps after studying the subject in England, where public kissing is commonplace, Italy's judges are becoming more tolerant.

In Milan, a couple arrested for kissing each other good night at a railway station were acquitted. In Turin, a judge threw out a case with the comment: "The facts do not constitute a crime." And a Bologna magistrate acquitted two teen-agers of kissing in a car, saying: "They were only doing what comes naturally."

But it's still unwise to get too romantic in a few parts of the world. In Limerick, Ireland, a pretty teen-ager who kissed her boy friend was convicted recently under an act that states it is "an offense to offend against modesty and cause scandal, or injure the morals of the public on a public street."

It appeared that residents had been complaining about the activities of courting couples at night. The girl was fined $4.80 in what was said to be the first case of its kind in the republic.

Even in England, there are times when kissing is frowned on by law—for instance, while driving.

At Croydon, Surrey, a 20-year-old truck driver kissed his fiancee at the traffic lights. He kissed her again as he pulled away and was still kissing her when a police driver caught up with his lorry at 40 m.p.h.

In court, it was said the truck swerved to the curb, and at one intersection the defendant had his arm around the girl, so that the vehicle hit a traffic island.

This carry-on cost him $36 for careless driving and not being in a position to control his truck properly.

Another young motorist, Bill —, got in trouble with the law when his fiancee stole a kiss. The crew of a police car saw the car hit the curb and Bill was booked for careless driving and fined $24.

Kisses can cause other sorts of trouble. At an exclusive golf club in York, two young student sweethearts drove off from the first tee, then stopped for a kiss. They were spotted by scandalized senior members, who decided the kiss had broken their rules of "etiquette."

As a result, the loving pair, and 19 other university student golfers, lost their cheap-rate concession to play at the club.

Much more costly were a Liverpool lad's lunch - hour kisses. They were so long-drawn-out he arrived back late for his shift and was laid off.

His mates threatened to strike unless he was reinstated —and it's estimated the kissing argument cost $24,000 in lost production.

Kisses have often rated high prices, however. At a charity ball during the first World War, the Duke of St. Alban's bid $28,000 for a kiss—then let his 9-year-old son receive it from a famous actress.

At a similar function, Lord Lonsdale, the sporting peer, lashed out $3,600 for one smacker.

She was amused then, but amazed a few years later, when told he had left her $62,000 in his will in appreciation of the kiss.

Party kisses can cause trouble, sometimes. A South London woman was furious when her husband returned home from a New Year's Eve party with lipstick on his collar. Next day she moved to another bedroom. The husband then lost his temper and tipped her mattress up.

Later, the couple landed in the divorce court, where the north country judge commented: "I cannot think that any natural, normal wife would object to her husband being kissed by other women, or he kissing other women, or object to other men kissing her on New Year's Eve."

"Where I come from the first-footer opens the door to let the New Year in and then he has the right to kiss every lady in the room."

In Britain today, it's not only young lovers who kiss in public. Showbiz stars and soccer players are particularly uninhibited. And in the House of Commons when he was foreign secretary, George Brown blew a kiss to Labor veteran Emanuel Shinwell — and politicians of all parties roared approval.

Although few MPs realize it, he was reviving an old tradition. Back in the 17th Century, diarist Samuel Pepys was reporting that a member of parliament, "having made a successful speech, was kissed by Mr. Montague."

Greek poets used to call kissing "the key to paradise." But other nations and ages have branded the kiss as vulgar, indecent and a social sin.

In parts of China, kissing was held to be suggestive of cannibalism, and in Indo-China mothers used to frighten their children into obedience by threatening them with the "white man's kiss."

How did the kissing habit start? There are quite a few intriguing theories. Some experts say it developed because primitive man believed that the air he exhaled had magic power.

It was said to be an emanation of his true self. So, by kissing each other, men and women mingled their souls.

Other authorities claim the kiss is the last stage of a long evolution. Primitive Indians used to show friendship by standing face to face and smelling each other. They'd say "Smell me!" instead of "Give me a kiss!"

In other regions, tribes rubbed noses, just as Eskimos and Maoris do today. Rubbing noses naturally led to rubbing lips, and so the delightful habit was started.

In yet another explanation, the kiss is traced back to our earliest ancestors and animal forebears. In the days when food was raw and uncooked, the mother would warm and chew it up in her mouth, before transferring it by way of a "kiss" to her infant. Our present-day kiss is said to have stemmed from a subconscious memory of this pleasant association.

It's been said Britain led many other nations in bringing kissing to the popular art it is today, just as she taught the world cricket and soccer.

In the Middle Ages, Britain was famous — or infamous — for its kissing. Continentals who came over were amazed. But they took up the national pastime with gusto, and added their own refinements.

Now it seems history is repeating itself. Other countries are catching on to Britain's brand of permissiveness. The kissing custom is so popular it's surprising no civil servant hasn't thought of a way to tax it.

OPERA REVIEW

Menotti's 'Consul' Gripping Experience

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

SAN FRANCISCO — Thanks to several excellent singing actors and staging by the composer himself, Gian-Carlo Menotti, last night's Spring Opera production of "The Consul" at the Opera House was a gripping emotional experience.

The prediction at the time of its premiere in 1950 that the story of an underground hero's and his family's tragic efforts to escape persectuion might soon be too dated has failed to materialize, for it is still as current as today's newspaper.

For this reason the drama alone has impact enought to hold one's rapt attention, regardless of whether or not one likes the music.

For me the music is great because Menotti himself wrote the libretto and created music that expresses every nuance of the action and emotion. Furthermore, it contains some beautiful music, such as the trio of the hero, his wife and her mother at the end of the first scene, the bitter lullaby the grandmother sings to her dying grandson and the dream-like waltz that accompanies the magician's hypnotic manipulations at the consulate.

Elsewhere much of the music is too dramatic to be lyrical.

Everything from the directing by Charles Wilson, assistant conductor of the Boston Symphony, through Robert Darling's bleak, monchromatic sets of the dingy apartment and coldly antiseptic consulate to the powerful singing and acting of the major characters contributed to the sense of tension and frustration involved in trying to obtain visas and escape the horrors of a police state.

Taking top honors as a singing actress was soprano Jeannine Crader in the leading role of Magda Sorel, wife of the underground fighter John Sorel. Her tragic satirical aria on the frustrations of red tape in Act 2, Scene 2 was a tour de force. However, though she had a clear, powerful voice, she could not always be understood.

Because of her tremendously moving lullaby scene, contralto Christine Krooskos as Magda's mother stole Scene 1 of Act 2. A third singing actress of exceptional talent and clear diction was mezzo Joy Davidson as the coldly efficient consulate secretary who proved human at the end.

With his black iron bass Joshua Hecht was perfect as the sadistic secret police agent and baritone Seymour Schwartzman sang well and was convincing as the underground hero.

The only bit of humor in the highly charged musical drama, the role of the magician Nika Magadoff, was handled with comic flair and finesse by tenor Raymond Manton.

Except for soprano Jacklyn Schneider, whose voice sounded too youthful, the others applying for visas who served as a small chorus were well cast and sang well. They were bass-baritone Richard J. Clark, soprano Claudia Lindsey, contralto Donna Petersen and baritone Sean Barker.

The opera will be performed again Friday at 8 p.m.

SOLOIST FOR CONCERT — Violinist Deborah Donaldson will perform Samuel Barber's "Concerto for Violin and Orchestra" with the College of Marin Community Orchestra Saturday at 8:30 p.m. in the Fine Arts Theater on the campus. Miss Donaldson is concertmeister of the orchestra and a music major at the college.

Homestead Players Set Play Auditions

Tryouts for the Homestead Players' production of "Dark of the Moon" based on the ballad of Barbara Allen, will be held at 8 p.m. Friday at Brown's Hall, 390 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley.

The play, scheduled to open in August, will be directed by Don Eaton of Sausalito.

Photographers Exhibiting At Library Gallery

Photographs from "Portfolio II" by Pirkle Jones and "Photographs from Haight-Ashbury — 1967" by Ruth-Marion Baruch are now on exhibit in the Mill Valley Library gallery from 2 to 4 p.m. daily through June 27.

At other hours, visitors can request the key at the library desk. The show is sponsored by the Mill Valley Art Commission.

"Portfolio II," printed by Lawton Kennedy with a foreword by Ansel Adams, is a limited edition of prints suitable for framing. Copies are owned by the Oakland Museum, the Amon Carter Museum in Texas and Dominican College Library and the Mills College Library.

The Haight-Ashbury photos have been exhibited at the De Young and Amon Carter museums.

'Diary Of Anne Frank' Is Set

The Little Hills Theater of Petaluma will present "The Diary of Anne Frank" at 8:30 p.m. June 20, 21, 27 and 28 at the Petaluma Senior High School multiuse room.

Directing the amateur production is Diane Strohmeyer of Petaluma. Starring as Anne is Wendy Dragoo with Troy Wicker playing her father.

Others in the cast include Ginger Kreger, Bunnie O'Brien, Jerry Abbitt, Pat Young, Linzy Hudson, Guy Lounibos, G. Robert Armbuster and Mary Johns.

Opera Auditions Are Being Held

Auditions for lead and chorus parts in the Inverness Music Festival's production of Mascagni's "Cavalleria Rusticana" are being held at the Festival Theater in San Anselmo.

Those interested in participating may attend the rehearsal Monday from 8 to 10 p.m. at the theater.

The music festival will be produced on the grounds of St. Columba's Church, Aug. 15-17.

Film Crew Sought

Cast and technicians are now being sought for the Mill Valley Center for the Performing Arts' first venture into film making, "Sabbath in Gehenna" to be produced by Marvin Norinsky of Berkeley. Actors, technicians, apprentice crews, organizers, promoters and other interested persons may contact Maxine White in Mill Valley for further information.

Harmony Vocals Concert Slated At Dominican

"Baseball Daze," a barbershop harmony show will be presented by the Marin County Golden Gate Chorus at 8 p.m. Saturday at Dominican College, San Rafael.

Marin quartets participating will be the Bay Rums, Golden Gaters and Big Time Operators, according to Robert W. Johnson, program vice president.

Guest quartets are the Villains of Berkeley and the Plus Four of Monterey.

The event is to benefit several Little League teams in Marin County as well as the Logopedics. Tickets may be purchased at the door or through members, Johnson said.

100,000 DISHES LATER

Two Dishwashing Teens Pack Gear For Europe

By BRUCE COLEMAN

Two Corte Madera youths are packing for a summer in Europe after having washed more than 100,000 dishes to save for the trip.

How did the trip come about? they were asked.

"When you are dishwashers, you're in a room as big as this desk," explained Herber C. Leney Jr., 19. "You're back to back and it gets very boring for eight hours. It leads to talk."

"We sang, we whistled and we talked up a trip over the hot dishes," said Leney's partner, Gordon Kamai, 18.

Lene, who went to Hawaii last summer with Kamai's brother, said, "I've always wanted to go to Europe." Kamai wanted to go to Europe, among other reasons, to see his grandmother in Aachen, Germany.

"In seventh grade, I got the idea of youth hosteling in Europe," he declared. "We said we'd go when we graduated."

Kamai is to be graduated Thursday from Redwood High School. Leney is a College of Marin student.

The boys, seemingly almost too excited to sit still, indicated any young person can get to Europe the way they plan to.

Leney, who had just bought a new light windbreaker, said they had done a lot of research for the trip and knew they want to travel light. To save on space and weight, they will use back packs.

To save on money, they got charter air fares which run $280 to $300 each round trip. In Europe they will buy special rail passes.

To save on food and shelter they joined the International Youth Hostel which enables them to sleep and cook their own meals in hostels. "We can't afford restaurants," Leney explained.

Asked if they learned how to cook at The Original Hick'ry Pit, the Strawberry restaurant where they worked to save their money, Kamai said, "We know everything about making barbecued spare ribs."

In addition to working as dishwashers, the youths worked as bus boys and cook's helpers and Kamai also worked part time at a Tiburon publishing firm.

The youths estimate their fanancial needs for the summer at $850 each or $4 a day "including everything."

Departure dates are different because the boys couldn't get the same flight. Kamai will leave Friday for Frankfurt, Germany. Leney will depart July 1 for Zurich, Switzerland. They will meet in Aachen July 4 and start their grand tour. They plan to visit England, Holland, Belgium, France, Spain, Italy and the Scandinavian countries departing from Zurich in September and return to Marin before school opens.

"What is going to be interesting," said Kamai, "is to see where high school language is. I want to see how good my German is," Lene added: "My language is Spanish."

Occupations they learned at the Hick'ry Pit which might help them while hosteling, Kamai explained include salad making ("We made salad by the sink-full,") buttering bread and preparing fish for frying. Asked if they planned to do any dishwashing, Kamai replied, "Oh, no — not at all."

Sausalito Votes Pay Boost For Most City Employees

The Sausalito City Council last night approved 1969-70 salary and operating budgets for the police, fire and public works departments and passed a compromise $2,950 addition to the city manager's recommendation for library operations.

Th council approved 7.5 per cent pay raises of all but a handful of workers, as had been recommended by City Mgr. George M. Patterson.

The budget as it now stands totals $1,255,170, up $2,950 over the city manager's recommendations. Patterson said this package does not increase the total city tax rate of $1.315.

Only one change in tax rate funds was approved, a 1.5-cent increase to 16.2 cents for the library. A half-cent adjustment down in the general fund also was included.

Library board members appeared at the meeting to plead for passage of a $15.800 budget, $3.800 more than recommended by Patterson.

Michael Harris, library board president, said the boost was needed for book and periodical purchases, more part-time help and the establishment of a record collection at $400 — a feature he said would eventually be self-sustaining enabling it to expand.

Kathleen Worsley, head librarian, also informed the council of a critical shortage of standard library books in both the reference and general collection.

Needed are books by such authors as John Muir, C. Wright Mills, Mark Twain, T. S. Elliot and others, she said.

Councilman Mrs. Robin Sweeny, although expressing deep concern for the book shortage, said she would not want to increase the library tax rate fund since Sausalitans soon may be asked to approve funding of a new library.

She said she was worried that such an increase now would prove to be "psychologically upsetting" to voters.

Reaction of others on the council was mixed until councilman Jan Paul Dyk offered a compromise measure of $1,000 less than requested and $2,800 more than recommended.

The compromise as approved turned out to be $2,950, Patterson explained later.

The council approved a raise of $100 a month to $1,200 for Police Chief James D. Wright, a $100 raise to $1,300 for Fire Chief Charles E. Masten, who serves as acting city manager in Patterson's absence, and a $120 raise to $1,350 for City Engineer Norman Wohlschlaeger, making him the highest-paid department head.

Pay for patrolmen was boosted from a range of $644-$782 to $693-$881; for firemen from $628-$763 to $676-$821, and for heavy duty operators in the public works department from $584-$710 to $644-$782, a 10 per cent hike.

The city manager's salary was increased from $1,575 to $1,700 a month.

Other changes approved were the reclassification of a patrolman to detective, giving the department two in that category; fringe benefit improvements in hospital insurance, life insurance, medical-surgical benefits; establishment of health insurance for part-time library employees, and setting of a $5 per call bonus for off-duty firemen called in to work.

A 5 per cent raise was approved for the assistant fire chief and a 2.5 per cent increase for the head librarian.

Burglars Get Diver's Spear Gun, Camera

Burglars who broke into the Bamboo Reef at 3765 Redwood Highway north of San Rafael early yesterday morning took a spear gun and four underwater cameras, one of them valued at $2,300, sheriff's deputies said today.

The deputies found the alarm ringing at the building and the glass in the front door smashed when they arrived at about 12:36 a.m.

SAUSALITO PARENTS SPEAK

Black And White Fears Bared

By ALAN JONES

"If we can't find teachers to teach black children . . . this country is going to blow up," a white Sausalito parent said last night.

Black and white parents reached little agreement in a second meeting of the Sausalito School District Parents Club, but the group agreed to meet in two weeks to consider specific ideas for improving the school district. The discussion, like last week's, centered on problems of discipline, education quality and intetration at Martin Luther King School.

More than 100 persons listened as several speakers assailed the level of education in general at King School, charging that many teachers could not control their classes and so were unable to teach effectively.

Desegregation of the district still has not been accomplished, Assistant Principal James T. Toliver of King School said. After four years, only four of 30 teachers at the school are members of minority groups, he said. "Somebody's jiving" when they talk of integration, he said.

Supt. Philip W. Schneider said the district wants to hire more minority group teachers, but there is only one teaching vacancy at King next year. "You're going to have to ask more white teachers to resign . . . if you want more black teachers," he said.

Some parents asked for firing of incompetent teachers, but Schneider and parent Michael Harris of Sausalito said tenure rules make it difficult.

"There's no tenure in a revolution," a black woman responded.

William Broder, a white Sausalitan, drew applause for a fiery speech. "I think the white community is finally understanding how furiously angry the black community has been . . . and it's afraid," Broder said.

If the district hires a bright, yonung black teacher, he said, he or she is bound to be angry at what has gone on in this society.

"We must find a way," Broder said. "If we can't find teachers to teach black children . . . this country is going to blow up. . . . If we can't . . . we're going to kill our children."

Teacher Marilyn Burns brought listeners up short midway through the meeting when she pointed out that "I haven't heard anybody talk about what they want for their children . . . That's the crux of the whole problem."

Leneta Thomas, parents club secretary, explained the roots of present black feeling. "White people "can't give me my rights," Mrs. Thomas said. "It's up to me to become aware of my individuality . . . and take my rights."

Black people are militant, she said, because they are trying to form a solid black culture for a stable background. White minorities, she explained, are "secure in a group culture" which black Americans lack. Until that culture is stable, black people as a group cannot feeel equal, she said.

If white America rejects black demands, she said, "we all go down the drain," because society no longer can stand having one group constantly at the bottom of the ladder.

A classroom aide at King School, Ruby Carter, said she "needed a rope" to get children to settle down when classes start. She blamed lack of discipline on parents, teachers and students alike.

In many classrooms, she said, "Kids have no respect for the teacher . . . they didn't even have respect for themselves."

Some parents wanted to discuss teachers by name, but Mrs. Charles Lester, chairman, ruled that out. Teacher William Bradley (Chaka) was mentioned frequently, but in support rather than criticism. Bradley took over a social studies class in April after another teacher dropped the class.

A late evening argument blossomed between Mrs. Thomas and Benjamin Myles of Marin City. "We're teaching children some things that have nothing to do with a classroom," Myles said. He advocated good education regardless of integration — "If I never see a white man in my life, I can learn," he said.

"Are we interested in our children, or are we going to sit here and talk this black and white stuff till September?" he asked.

As the next meeting was being scheduled, a white man who did not identify himself took the Independent-Journal to task for what he called biased reporting, and asked if the group might not exclude the press from the next meeting.

"Speaking as a newspaperman," Harris said, "I can tell you that a secret meeting of 100 people is a farce." Harris is a San Francisco Chronicle reporter.

Others present attacked the I-J for "racist news coverage," particularly criticizing a story last month about a reported attack on one white student by several black students.

At the next meeting, set for 8 p.m. June 24, Mrs. Lester said parents should bring concrete suggestions for improving the school situation rather than continuing to air complaints. The meeting will be at St. Andrew United Presbyterian Church, Marin City.

Defendant In Sabella Kidnaping Questions Former Confederate

By MARY LEYDECKER

A 22-year-old man who is accused of kidnaping and robbing restaurant owner Luciano A. Sabella and who fired his lawyer yesterday, began his own defense by questioning his alleged former confederate who is now serving a sentence at San Quentin.

Daniel Thomas Stathos, who is a co-defendant in the Sabella case with Kenneth Lee Harnal, cross-examined Walter John Hoefler, former Larkspur man, over Stathos''s alleged use of drugs and Stathos's relations with Hoefler's wife.

Hoefler, who earlier pleaded guilty to the Sabella crime in November as well as the robbing of the Greenbrae Lanes in October, told a jury in Judge Samuel W. Gardiner's Superior court room, how he, Stathos and Harnal kidnaped and robbed Sabella.

He also described how he and Stathos held up the bowling alley.

During cross examination by Stathos yesterday, he said that his wife had told him that Stathos, a frequent visitor at the Hoefler's former home in Larkspur, had tried to "sexually assault her" in June or July of last year.

Both his wife and Stathos told him of the incident, Hoefler said, and he then told Stathos "to stay away from my wife."

"Did you tell me to stay away from your house?" Stathos inquired.

"No, just my wife," the convict responded.

However, Hoefler said that he learned last week from Dept. Dist. Atty. Jerry R. Herman that Stathos and his wife had been intimate on one occasion after Hoefler was arrested in December.

"I wasn't sure," Hoefler said, until told by Herman of testimony at the preliminary hearing of the case.

Stathos also questioned Hoefler about Stathos's alleged drug use, and Hoefler said, "You took 'reds' almost every day." In addition to the seconal pills, Stathos had smoked marijuana in his presence and mentioned taking LSD, he said.

"Was the person you describe as Stathos, who went with you to the Sabellas' house, high on pills?" Stathos asked Hoefler.

"No, he didn't seem to be," Hoefler responded with a faint smile.

Today a Larkspur police officer, Sgt. Charles J. Mattos, testified to finding a number of articles, including handcuffs, adhesive tape and keys allegedly from the Sabella restaurant, in a creek near Hoefler's home.

The prosecution has maintained that the handcuffs and keys were thrown in the creek.

Builder May Face Penalty In Cotati

Supt. Duncan A. Doleman said the slow progress on the building indicates that it might not be completed by the Sept. 2 opening of school. Contractor for the project is G. J. Elkington and Son, who would be subject to a $50 per day penalty charge if the school is not ready by fall.

The board directed the firm to report within two weeks on the causes of the slow pace of construction and to state why the penalty clause should not be invoked.

The board gave no discussion to what provisions could be made for the 240 students scheduled to be enrolled.

Bids on the installation of an eight-inch water line to the school were opened with the apparent low bidder the Argonaut Constructors of Santa Rosa at $28,946. The other bid was $46,300, received from the Everson Construction Co. of San Bruno.

The Cotati School Board also:

HIRED — Approved the employment of Lynn Walsh as a teacher at a salary of $6.690 and Frank Bruce as custodian at a salary of $5,632.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted teacher resignations from Wanda Ward, who is returning to college, and from Margaret Johnson is moving away.

WALDO ROHNERT — Heard a report that preliminary plans on the six classroom addition to the Waldo Rohnert School will be presented at the June 24 meeting. Local bonds totaling $50,000 for the project will be sold at 2:30 p.m. that day. Request for funding the project scheduled to go before the state Board of Allocation at 9:30 a.m. Friday.

Captain Tobin Nominated For Marshal Post

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON—Capt. George E. Tobin of the California Highway Patrol, a Mill Valley resident, today was nominated by President Richard M. Nixon to be U.S. Marshal for the northern district of California.

Tobin, 55, a Republican, was named to succeed Louis H. Martin, a Democrat appointed by former President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Tobin, reached at his office in San Francisco, told the Independent-Journal he was "tickled to death" with news of the nomination. He said it was his first knowledge of the nomination.

His four-year term is subject to Senate confirmation.

Tobin is a veteran highway patrolman, who formerly patrolled in Marin County. He was elevated to captain's rank in 1954 and had command of Calaveras and Amador counties before being transferred to San Francisco.

Tobin and his wife reside at 14 Glen Drive, Mill Valley.

Car Flips, Fairfax Youth Escapes Hurt

Dennis M. Lincks, 18, of 11 Madrone Court, Fairfax, escaped without apparent injury at 12:20 p.m. and flipped for 186 feet on Highway 101 in Corte Madera, the California Highway Patrol said.

Lincks told the patrol he started to change lanes, then swerved when he saw another car in his path. Lincks was unconscience at the scene for 20 seconds, the patrol said, but was examined at Marin General Hospital and released when no injury was found.

Sausalito Teachers Accept Pay Proposal

Sausalito School District teachers yesterday voted to accept a proffered 7.5 per cent pay raise, but kept their option open to seek more money later this year if they can find it in the 1969-70 budget.

The teachers had asked a 14.8 per cent raise.

The teachers also agreed to have an auditor from the California Teachers Association examine the district budget. If more money is found available, the teachers would ask for a bigger raise.

The teachers Monday asked the school district board to negotiate directly with the teachers association on salaries because Supt. Philip W. Schneider had not made a concrete counter-offer to the 14.8 per cent request.

The board offered 7.5 per cent for teaching and classified employees alike. The raise will cost $71,113 a year, Schneider said, and will raise the teachers' pay scale to a range of $6,876 to $13,825.

The board Monday also reviewed the proposed 1969-70 budget of $1,431,411 and made several tentative cuts to hold the total while granting the pay raise.

Asst. Supt. Joseph Amato had prepared another working budget for $1,474,411 which included $43,000 income requested from Marin County as payment in lieu of property taxes for public housing in Marin City. The county supervisors provided $43,000 last year, but Monday turned down the district request and alloted $3,500 for the district.

The board also accepted resignations of Bernadette Baraty, fifth grade teacher at Martin Luther King School, and Oralia Morales, third grade teacher at Central School. Miss Morales is returning to Stanford University for a master's degree. Mrs. Baraty gave no reason for resigning.

Budget Discussion

The Terra Linda Community Services District board will discuss the 1969-70 budget when it meets at 9 p.m. Monday at the Terra Linda Fire Station, secretary Helen Lontz reported today.

Bolinas Bill Passes Over Major Hurdle

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill to carry out the dissolution of the Bolinas Harbor District voted by Bolinas voters in March cleared an important legislative hurdle last night when it was approved by the Assembly Ways and Means Committee.

The measure, by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, carried an amendment which would require Marin County to submit an improvement plan for Bolinas Lagoon to the state Resources Agency within three years for approval. Any plan ultimately would have to return to the Legislature for final approval.

Bagley was not happy with the amendment, aides indicated, but accepted it in order to get the bill out of committee with a recommendation for passage. Assembly approval is almost certain.

The amendment was a departure from the usual policy of granting local agencies controlling state lands a 10-year deadline to make "substantial improvements" but with no deadline on planning.

The amendment had been tacked on the bill by the Assembly Natural Resources and Conservation Committee at the urging of minority leader Jesse M. Unruh, D-Los Angeles.

The bill, as passed by ways and means, did not include a "harbor of refuge" amendment which had been the aim of a lobbying campaign by some of the harbor district board and others.

Marin County planners had opposed the amendment because they felt it would spark extensive development of the lagoon. The intent of Bagley's bill, which drew support from the Sierra Club, the Nature Conservancy and other conservation groups, is to insure only limited development under tight county controls.

San Francisco Moves On School Integration

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The board of education has voted unanimously to accept a controversial integration plan for a segment of the city's public schools.

But the board also made it clear in its resolution adopted last night that the plan will not go into effect as scheduled in September 1970 unless it approves concrete plans in eight areas in order to insure better quality to go along with the integration.

The plan, first drafted by a citizens committee and backed by Supt. Robert Jenkins, calls for creation of school complexes in the Richmond district and an area southeast of Golden Gate Park. Included would be 9,000 children from 20 schools. To achieve the integration, some busing within the areas would be required.

The resolution reaffirmed the principle that "racial and ethnic integration of the school population and staff is one of the essential conditions of educational excellence in America's schools.

But it went on to emphasize that "there are instructional components equally necessary to any plan designed to improve the quality of education."

The board ordered Jenkins to give it details of the plan by Dec. 1.

Long Memorial Lecture Is Set

"The Family with a Disturbed Child: Current Research" will be the topic for the third annual E. J. Long Memorial Lecture, Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the Ross Rehabilitation Hospital, 1111 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Kentfield.

The speaker will be Dr. Margaret Thaler Singer who will present findings from her family studies. The public is invited.

Zucker Publicly Thanks Backers In Controversy

County planning Director Paul C. Zucker, who barely survived an attempt to fire him on April 18, yesterday issued an open letter thanking those who supported him and expressing hope that differences in opinion can be discussed calmly.

"I particularly appreciate the support of those who may have differed with us in the past, but share our concern for honest public debate and those who believe the program should be continued on this basis," said Zucker.

"To those persons who publicly supported by removal from office, I wish to express my admiration for standing by your convictions as I truly believe we share this common desire for holding to convictions. I would welcome the opportunity to discuss our differences in a calm atmosphere and am at your disposal in this regard.

"In the final analysis, the hearing has shown again that Marin County is worth getting excited over and even, if necessary, getting fired over."

A waltz is a dance to which the music is written in three-four time.

Nine Cases Of TB Reported

Nine Marin residents have been struck by tuberculosis during the first five months of this year, according to the Marin Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association. The number is the same as for the first five months of last year.

There were no children stricken last year; however, a 4-year-old boy is among those this year. Two of the reported cases are reactivations. Six of the victims are male, and all but one are under 50 years of age.

Cases occurred in Novato, Mill Valley, Sausalito, Ross, Fairfax and at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Bootzin's Companion Relates First Meeting

By PATRICK SULLIVAN

If it had not been for a chance meeting on a San Francisco street corner in November 1960, Max Bootzin might today be just a vague memory to Joan Saylor and her friend Charmaine Klenman.

But that unexpected meeting — and Miss Saylor's later conclusion that fate's dictates must be served — ultimately plunged the two young women deep into the elderly man's life, according to testimony yesterday in Marin Superior Court.

Miss Klenman is accused in a suit being pressed by Bootzin's three children of bilking him of large sums of money and property by promising to marry him. Judge Joseph G. Wilson, hearing the case without a jury, earlier ruled that similar charges against Miss Saylor were unfounded, since she received nothing from Bootzin, who died in 1966 at the age of 83.

Miss Saylor, 30, and stylish, said under questioning by defense attorney Marvin E. Lewis that she encountered Bootzin unexpectedly one evening about seven months after she and Miss Klenman, 36, moved out of his San Francisco apartment house.

TEA VISITS

The meeting led to a resumption of tea-drinking visits by Bootzin to their residence during which time the three became well-acquainted and Bootzin affectionately called her "the little one," said Miss Saylor, who was to resume testimony today.

Miss Saylor, a former bank teller and restaurant cashier, broke down at one point while describing Bootzin's clothing as shabby, with buttons missing from his shirts.

"He was very sad . . . very pathetic . . . his loneliness . . ." she said sniffling. She regained her composure after about 30 seconds of delay.

When Bootzin suffered an attack of influenza, the two women took him to their home, where he stayed about 10 days, Miss Saylor said.

It was during that time they did their first work for Bootzin, collecting rents, doing laundry for tenants and having appliances fixed for his apartment house at 495 14th Avenue, she said.

RELATES MONEY

When he recovered, Bootzin told the two women over tea that he planned to leave Miss Klenman $50,000 in his will for the help while he was sick. He told Miss Saylor he would "take care" of her also, she testified. She said both of them were shocked.

From then on Bootzin urged the two women to move in with him, first at a $175,000 apartment building in San Francisco, and later at a home he owned in Mill Valley, Miss Saylor said.

"I started to think it was fate — it was meant to be," she said. Miss Klenman ultimately was convinced to make the move because of those arguments, the witness added.

REMODELING COSTS

Earlier in the trial, Hubert H. Hanison of Mill Valley, a former building contractor, said his estimates for remodeling work done by the women at Bootzin's Strawberry home totaled $5,464 at 1962 rates.

The women, who still live at the home at 8 Richardson Drive, have maintained the Bootzin estate owes them $40,000 for the work and companionship they provided him after moving in about July 1961.

Ann Arbor Co-Ed Is Sixth Murder Victim

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Mrs. Joseph Kalom was watching television in Kalamazoo, Mich., when she saw an artist's sketch of a young woman whose mutilated body was found near this college town.

She recognized the likeness of her daughter Alice.

Last night, the Kaloms drove a 100 miles to Ann Arbor and after viewing the body, confirmed that their 21-year-old daughter was the latest victim in a 22-month string of six murders of young women in the Ann Arbor area.

Miss Kalom, a recent graduate of the University of Michigan School of Architecture and Design who stayed on to take a few courses this summer, was last seen alive by her boy friend early Saturday morning.

Police believe she was killed some time Sunday night. Her body was found Monday on an abandoned farm.

She had been shot in the head and repeatedly stabbed, once in the heart.

"I raised a good girl," said gan school of architecture and design who stayed on to take a Kalon, a pharmacist, after identifying the body. "I was afraid. I called her every time there was one of the murders. She said, "I'm careful; I don't associate with strangers."

The murder chain began Aug. 7, 1967. The victims ranged in age from 13 to 23 years.

All the bodies have been found on the fringes of Ann Arbor and nearby Ypsilanti. All had been shot, strangled or stabbed. All but one were partially nude and had been sexually molested.

Authorities investigating the murders believe all six deaths were the work of a single assailant.

Antilogging Case To Youth Court

The cases of two persons arrested during a protest of logging on the Righetti Ranch on Bolinas Ridge yesterday were transferred to juvenile court even though Juvenile Judge Samuel W. Gardiner said the defendants will receive five-day jail sentences if convicted.

Gregory Alan Brougham, 18, and Gillian LeProvest Baxter, 18, are accused of failing to yield the right of way to vehicles and failure to disperse. Brougham is additionally charged with marijuana possession.

Two others arrested at the same time, Michael Alan Bond, 26, and Lorraine Barrow, 35, both of Bolinas, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court and a jury trial was set for Sept. 18.

Police Chief Admits Park Action Was 'Inappropriate'

Charges that police pushed over a tool shed and playhouse "unfortunately are true," Chief Bruce Baker told a news conference yesterday.

Baker, who has been chief only two months, said "investigations are continuing, and until we're finished, I can't say what disciplinary action if any, will be taken."

He said the police action "was not a planned police raid."

About 30 officers dispersed 150 persons who gathered at the "annex" following an abortive march Friday night on the original "people's park" more than a mile away.

Baker said his men took "inappropriate action" when they tore apart one structure, overturned another and snapped some young newly planted trees.

The small buildings were "unauthorized structures," Baker said, but "it is not customary for police officers to dismantle such structures. The action . . . was not responsive to specific complaints."

The chief denied reports that they clubbed or "stomped" puppies, and that they threw a kitten into a fire, as some of the "street people" have claimed.

Baker said the department has received over 100 complaints about noisy gatherings in the area.

The "people's park annex" is on land owned by the Bay Area Rapid Transit District, which has offered to lease the land for a park.

The "annex" was established after the University of California fenced in land May 15 near the campus, sparking demonstrations that resulted in 130 injuries, one of them fatal.

BART General Manager B. R. Stokes said police did not contact him before the raid .

To reduce congestion and to insure speedy trials resulting from more than 920 arrests since May 15, State Supreme Court Judge Rogert J. Traynor authorized yesterday use of five additional courtrooms and three judges.

Traynor's order specifies use of three Alameda County Superior courtrooms and two Oakland-Piedmont municipal courts. Names of the judges will be announced.

Charges against many of the 500 arrested in a sweep of the Shattuck Avenue business district by police and National Guardsmen may be dropped after a review of affidavits and police consultations, said Deputy Dist. Atty. Jeffrey Horner.

U-Boat was the name given to German submarines during World War I.

Banquet Will Honor Prather

Robert Prather, principal of Tamalpais High School, will be honored by faculty, parents and district residents at a buffet dinner at 7 p.m. June 19 at the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley, the Tamalpais High School Parent-Teachers Association has announced.

Prather, principal since 1962, is taking a year's sabbatical and will take a post in the Tamalpais District office when he returns.

Reservations for the dinner may be made by calling Mrs. Ernest Kroner, 77 Del Casa Drive, or Mrs. John A. Thomson, 266 Hillside Avenue, both Mill Valley.

Moscow Blasts Red China On Border Provocations

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union accused Communist China today of provoking new clashes on the Soviet border and said China possibly will make further efforts to "poison the good, businesslike atmosphere" at the Moscow-organized international Communist conference.

Soviet Foreign Ministry spokesman Leonid Zamyatin added that a recent series of incidents on the border "probably has the purpose of hampering the consultations proposed by the Soviet government" on the border question.

Zamyatin was replying to a question on the Chinese protest note, delivered to the Soviet Embassy in Peking, accusing the Russians of killing a woman herder and kidnaping another herdsman. The note claimed Soviet troops, tanks and armored cars were involved in the incident which allegedly occurred yesterday in Sinkiang Province.

Zamyatin was speaking at a press conference in connection with the current international Communist conference of 75 parties.

China is boycotting the conference and several other neutral or China-aligned parties also are absent.

Manslaughter, Forgery Trial Judge Is Out

The manslaughter and forgery trial scheduled to tbegin yesterday in Sonoma County Superior Court for Vera Mae Walsh, former Fairfax practical nurse, was delayed after disqualification of the judge.

Mrs. Walsh, through her attorney, Albert Rizzo, disqualified Judge Lincoln F. Mahan. No reason was given.

The case will be assigned to another Superior Court judge on Monday with trial tentatively scheduled to begin June 17.

Mrs. Walsh, 42, is accused of the manslaughter death of her patient, Mrs. Gloria Giannis, who died Jan. 5 from an overdose of drugs at the Women's Santa Rosa apartment. She is also accused of forging Mrs. Giannis's name after her death to two checks totaling $235.

Mrs. Walsh is awaiting sentencing in Marin Superior Court for the theft of valuables from the home of a Fairfax couple by whom she was employed.

Richmond Bridge Traffic Increases

Traffic on the Richmond-San Rafael bridge showed 6.7 and 9.7 per cent increases in April and May over last year's figures for those months.

There were 497,558 vehicles on the bridge for an increase of 31,274 over April 1968, and 533-083 in May for a difference of 47,224 over May 1968.

Member Of Bolinas Panel Quits

Mrs. Alyce Thompson, longtime member of the Bolinas-Stinson Beach School District board last night formally submitted her resignation to the board.

In her letter to the board Mrs. Thompson said that she felt "utter futility by another example of the kind of behavior that's tearing this school apart."

The former board member actually quit the body following a closed meeting held prior to a budget session on May 27, declaring that the "discussion is incongruous after what we've just been through." Mrs. Thompson offered no clarification at that time.

In obvious reference to that closed meeting Mrs. Thompson's letter said: "There's no problem facing this school which couldn't be solved by placing it squarely on the table in a public meeting, and openly, fairly without prejudice discussing it to a solution."

The letter of resignation will now be forwarded to the county superintendent of schools office for action.

Mrs. Thompson's resignation was essentially academic, however, since her term expires June 30 and this was the last meeting of the present board. She did not run for reelection in April.

Pompidou Sees Better U.S. Ties

PARIS (AP — Georges Pompidou, favored to succeed Gen. Charles de Gaulle as president of France, says his country's relations with the United States have improved mainly because of the "evolution of the Vietnam situation."

In a televised interview yesterday, Pompidou said another factor was "a better understanding by the U.S. government — and particularly the (Richard M.) Nixon government — of the fact that France, despite its reservations about NATO defense arrangements, remains profoundly attached to the North Atlantic Alliance and to its old friendship with the United States."

Stray Message Bared In Probe Of Warships' Deadly Collision

SUBIC BAY, Philippines(AP) — The skipper of the U.S. destroyer Frank E. Evans testified today a message outlining expected plans for destroyer escort deployment around the Australian carrier Melbourne never was received by his ship before the two vessels collided last week.

Cmdr. Albert S. McLemore told a U.S.-Australian board investigating the collision that killed 74 Americans that the period covered by the message was 24 hours starting on the morning of June 2 and included the time of the collision—3:15 a.m. June 3.

McLemore said he has learned that the other two American destroyers around the Melbourne also had not received the communication.

U.S. Navy spokesmen stressed, however, that the message, a regular daily communication, was not an order for ships to follow and was considered more as an expected program for the day.

The spokesmen said the missing message would not have had any effect on the collision, but did indicate communications problems between the Evans and Melbourne. The message originated aboard the Melbourne.

McLemore told the board of three Australian and three American Navy officers that he had gone to sleep about midnight, and was not awakened until a violent crash threw him from his bed.

In reconstructing the events of the day and evening before that, he said he knew of an exercise scheduled for the night but that it did not involve switching the Evans from one station to another.

McLemore said that standing orders aboard the Evans were for him to be awakened if a change of station was coming, but not to be awakened if the vessel only changed speed or course.

The Australian Navy Department has said that the Evans had been ordered to switch from a screening position forward of the Melbourne to a plane guard position behind her.

Asked if he had any indication when he went to sleep that he might be required to change stations, McLemore said, "No, I really didn't know. I hadn't received the destroyer duty assignments of the day. Since then I have, and I was not the designated plane guard."

McLemore said, however, "We evidently were ordered in, and that's enough."

The officer in command of the bridge at the time of the crash was Lt. (j.g.) Ronald C. Ramsey, 24, Long Beach.

McLemore said Ramsey had been aboard the Evans for 20 months.

He said Ramsey had been qualified formally to operate the ship in fleet task force maneuvers only 10 days, but that he had been doing so with informal qualifications for about four months.

Earlier in the day, the board heard new testimony from Australian Rear Adm. G. J. B. Crabb, commander of the task group formation around the Melbourne.

Crabb, who had been asleep in his bunk up to within three minutes of the collision, said he had ransferred tactical command of the group to the commander of the Melbourne about 10:30 p.m. when an exercise was completed.

He said he was in his pajamas when he saw the carrier slice the Evans in two. Then he hurried back to his cabin to put on his uniform because "I thought it was incorrect for an admiral to be seen on deck in his pajamas."

Crabb said he was awakened at 3:12 a.m. and was told that the two ships were on a collision course.

He said he hurried to the flag bridge of the Melbourne, saw the crash and reported it at 3:16. One minute later he had changed into his uniform, he said, then he hurried back to the bridge to direct the rescue of the destroyer's surviving crewmen.

Seventy-four of the Evans' men were killed in the collision.

AN IDEA

Are you reading the Want Ads every day, hoping to spot a good buy? Then consider for a moment another way of doing the same thing which we think may be better.

It is a fact that often OUR best buys never get advertised at all. We have over $13 million in Marin property listed for sale at any one time, and naturally we can't advertise all we have for sale every day. And furthermore, we call OUR buyers BEFORE a property gets to the papers, and if it is what they want, it is sold before it is advertised at all!

So our suggestion is that you tell us what it is that YOU are looking for in Marin. Chances are we have it listed now, or if not, that we will have it listed soon, because we have a continuous flow of new listings from a backlog of FIFTY-NINE YEARS of selling here (relistings) as well as from our complete coverage with SIX MARIN COUNTY OFFICES.

As soon as we spot what you are looking for, WE WILL CALL YOU FIRST, BEFORE WE ADVERTISE THE PROPERTY. Become one of our buyers . . . call

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Reagan Refuses To Make A Bay Stand

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Gov. Ronald Reagan stood firm today in his refusal to commit himself to any one of four bills designed to save San Francisco Bay from haphazard development.

The governor told his weekly news conference yesterday he'll wait and see what is contained in the measures when they reach his desk.

Reagan was asked if his criteria for save-the-bay legislation excluded any bills, particularly one that gives the Bay Conservation and Development Commission (BCDC) authority over a strip of bay shoreline and adjacent salt ponds and marshlands.

"I'm going to wait till they get down here and I see them on the desk," he said.

DDT VIEWED

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Gov. Ronald Reagan says there would be "great difficulty" in banning DDT in California because it is the only bug killer that can effectively protect some crops.

"We'd have great difficulty in this state in an outright ban," the governor told his weekly news conference yesterday.

Reagan said some crops such as cotton require DDT applications to remain healthy.

But he said the state Department of Agriculture "has been working on this subject" and in the past five years has helped reduce the use of the pesticide by 80 per cent.

NO DANGER

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Fish in the Sacramento River contain safe levels of the pesticide DDT, the Department of Fish and Game reported yesterday.

Director Ray Arnett said his department has taken fish samples from an area of the river where DDT levels are the highest as any in California.

He said the survey showed fish in the river remain "well within the tolerance of five parts per million" set in April by the Federal Health, Education and Welfare Department.

CREDIT PANEL

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A 16-member task force was named yesterday by Gov. Ronald Reagan to investigate abuses in credit and personnel reporting which prevent persons from getting credit, insurance or jobs.

The governor said the group, which will serve without pay, will submit its findings and recommendations to him by Feb. 1, 1970.

"Widespread public concern about possible abuses in reporting practices that may have wrongfully denied citizens credit, insurance or employment deserves priority attention to determine the extent and nature of abuses and the appropriate steps needed to correct them," he said.

The task force will hold testimony from individuals and groups.

Reagan appointed Guy W. Wadsworth Jr., president of the Los Angeles Civil Service Commission, to head the task force and Gordon H. Bishop, chief of the state Collection Agency Licensing Bureau, as the group's executive secretary.

HITS REPORT

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Portions of a report criticizing the conditions for the mentally retarded at Sonoma State Hospital were labeled inaccurate yesterday by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

The governor noted the report was prepared a year ago by three prominent authorities of mental retardation for the state Department of Mental Hygiene. The document was ordered made public by a judge Monday.

Reagan said some of the report's criticisms "are already corrected or being corrected" and that staff workers are being hired "as fast as we can" to offset the reduction in patients who perform caretaker chores.

PROSTITUTES

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The Assembly yesterday voted 47-12 to place a minimum 45-day jail sentence on prostitutes convicted twice.

But author of the bill, Assemblyman Leo McCarthy, D-San Francisco, promised to offer amendments in the Senate to punish customers of prostitutes.

His measure requires a 45-day jail sentence for a second offense and 90 days on a third probation. Currently, the sentence is determined by the judge.

MEDI-CAL

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — An Assembly-passed bill providing stiff penalties for persons who attempt to defraud the state medical care program by submitting false claims has advanced to the Senate floor.

The Senate Labor and Social Welfare Committee yesterday endorsed the measure by Assemblyman Gordon Duffy, R-Hanford, which authorizes a maximum $5,000 fine and five years in prison for suppliers of medical services who knowingly submit false claims.

The committee also cleared to the floor a companion bill by Duffy that imposes a conflict of interest code on providers of Medi-Cal services. It would prohibit payment to a doctor who refers Medi-Cal patients to clinics or hospitals in which they have a "significant beneficial interest."

LACKS BACKING

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Robert H. Simpson, 89, walked the Capitol halls today wrapped in his sandwich-board sign abusively critical of state officials. A bill that would have ended his picketing lay gathering dust in a Senate committee.

Assemblyman Don Mulford, R-Piedmont, asked the Senate judiciary committee yesterday to remove his bill banning picketing within the Capitol from its agenda. The bill presently does not have enough support to clear the lawyers' panel.

While placing the bill in legislative limbo, chairman Donald L. Grunsky, R-Watsonville, allowed Simpson to air his grievances to the committee.

Simpson is a familiar figure in Capitol corridors with his signs including some abusive language accusing state officials of conspiring to violate his civil rights.

He once was committed to a mental hospital. A jury later found him sane.

Hitchhiking Girls Loot Woman's Purse

Three hitchhiking girls yesterday stole $16 from the purse of a Saratoga woman who gave them a ride, sheriff's deputies reported.

Deputies said Mrs. Ann W. Moss picked up the three teenagers in front of Tamalpais High School yesterday afternoon. When she let them off near Marin City, she found her puse had been ransacked, according to deputies.

Reed Parents Rate Teacher Need Highest

Parents in Reed School District believe well trained teachers, at pay competitive with other districts, are the most important single factor for the schools.

Ninety-one per cent of 930 parents listed well-trained, well-paid teachers as one of the three most important items in a survey conducted by an ad hoc study committee set up by the Reed District Parent-Teacher Club.

The only other item voted among "most important" by more than half of those responding to the survey was small classes — 25 pupils to one teacher. This got an 83 per cent vote.

Third in line, but far behind, was "large variety of educational materials (including audio-visual)," market by 32 per cent.

OTHER PRIORITIES

Following this came: good libraries with paid professional staff, 28 per cent; special trained personnel to deal with special problems, 27 per cent; bus transportation, 19 per cent, and paid teacher aides, 5 per cent.

Dianne G. Bramman, who headed the committee, said 72 persons worked on the survey, putting in a total of "439 woman-hours."

Reed District parents showed strong support for special programs, of which the district has many. More than half the respondents urged continuance of remedial reading, art, speech therapy, vocal music, "more able learner," instrumental music, Spanish and summer school programs.

The parents attached little importance to traditional classroom arrangements. Only two per cent felt desks should be in rows, and only six per cent felt every child should be working on the same page at the same time.

Use of standard textbooks in all classes got support of only 34 per cent, while 87 per cent said a variety of learning materials should be available.

DISCIPLINE ISSUE

A series of questions dealt with discipline. They showed 92 per cent of parents wishing to retain emphasis on self-discipline. Some discipline lacks which were noted by 25 per cent or more were: tardiness, too much moving about in classrooms, running in the halls, and failure to complete daily assignments.

There was little agreement on how teachers should report to parents, but a parent conference plus some sort of written evaluation found the most support.

Reed District parents—at least those who filled out the questionnaire—apparently keep track of their schools more closely than do parents in most districts, for 33 per cent said they had spent at least an hour observing their children's classes and 57 per cent said they had attended at least one meeting of the Reed School District board.

Eighty-six per cent said they would like to attend a special board meeting set up to discuss with parents the district's goals in discipline, curriculum and communication.

Paint Explodes, Causing Damage Of $1 Million

RICHMOND (UPI) — "It was really just a freak accident," said manager Bob Dickerson in describing a paint explosion which caused a million dollars damage to his small manufacturing plant and sent 17 men scrambling to safety.

Black clouds of smoke billowed over Dickerson's Reliance Chemical Co. yesterday as firemen fought the waterfront blaze for several hours and finally let it burn out.

He called the explosion a freak accident.

The plant, which manufactures paints, enamels and solvents for the government, was a total loss.

Incomes Climb By 2 Per Cent

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Personal income in California during the first three months of this year climbed by 2 per cent from the final quarter of 1968.

The state Finance Department said yesterday the $80.63 billion income total was 8.9 per cent higher than the first quarter of 1968.

The department said the increases were fractionally greater than those recorded for the rest of the nation.

Wages and salaries for the January-through-March period reached $55.24 billion, a gain of 2.5 per cent from the previous quarter.

Seminary In San Anselmo To Award Degrees To 61

Sixty-one persons will receive degrees at the 98th annual commencement exercises of San Francisco Theological Seminary, in San Anselmo Saturday.

In place of the traditional commencement speaker, two members of the class, Paul W. Pinegar and Donald R. Shaw, will join President Arnold B. Come in a dialogue "The Christ of the Future." The ceremonies begin at 10:30 a.m. in Baird Hall Court.

Commencement will be preceded by a baccalaureate sermon and service of communion at 8 p.m. Friday in the First Presbyterian Church of San Anselmo. The Rev. John O. Najarian Jr., a 1957 graduate of the seminary and newly installed pastor of the Hub church, will preach the sermon entitled "People with a Past."

Fifteen candidates will receive advanced degrees: three the doctor of theology, two the doctor of the science of theology, five the master of theology, and five the master of the science of theology. Thirty-eight candidates will receive the bachelor of divinity degree and eight the master of arts degree.

Other honors to be awarded at the exercises include: the Seminary Fellowship to Gerard Hubbel Weiss of White Plains, N.Y.: the Alumni Fellowship to Robert Edwin Kreischer of Lake Forest, Ill.; and the Fellowship for the Pastoral Ministry to Douglas Brown McMurry, Madison, Wis. McMurry also will receive the Martin Dwelle Kneeland Preaching Prize, with honorable mention going to Errol Ford of Compton, Los Angeles County; Reford Brooks Nash, Oklahoma City; Robert Wedaa, Gardena, Los Angeles County; and Roger Thomas Williams of Escondido, San Diego County.

Plans Approved For Apartments

Architectural plans for the 54-apartment Hummingbird Hill development on Via Hidalgo in Larkspur were approved last night by the Larkspur Planning Commission on application from John Tarantino and Al Franzi.

The commission also approved variance applications to permit tandem parking spaces for John S. Russell of 545 South Eliseo Drive and Everett Pezoldt at 557 South Eliseo Drive.

It approved renaming the now informally named North Industrial Way as Rich Street.

Jones Reelected President Of Family Service

Clinton Jones III of Kentfield has been reelected president of the Marin County Family Service Agency Board of Trustees.

Other officers elected are Mrs. Donald R. Wellington of San Rafael, vice president; Ben Solomon of Kentfield, treasurer, and Donald G. Davis of San Rafael, secretary.

Named as new members of the board were Mrs. Helen Washington of Marin City, a community worker in Project Breakthrough in Marin City, and Gerard Weiss of San Anselmo, a student at the San Francisco Theological Seminary and a worker in Head Start at Marin City.

Library Named For Eisenhower

The Sausalito School District board approved the library's name Monday after Jane Pomerleau, student council member told the board the student body had voted to name the library after the late president, Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The school, formerly Richardson Bay School, was renamed last year at the students' request following the assassination of King.

Five Marinites Get UOP Degrees

Five Marin County students were among 524 graduates at the 112th commencement at the University of the Pacific in Stockton.

They are: Peter James Bohan Jr. of Belvedere-Tiburon, bachelor of science in pharmacy; Kenneth B. Clarke of Mill Valley, Marcela Lewin of San Rafael and Carl Schwarcz of Sausalito, all bachelor of arts; and Vernon Kenneth Leonard Jr. of Pacific Marine Station, Dillon Beach, master of science.

Mets Blast Giant Hurling But Help Is On The Way

Sports

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "Any time your pitching gives up nine runs, you can't expect to win," says San Francisco Manager Clyde King, "but it's awfully tough to stop a team from hitting once it has momentum."

King, who didn't appear shell shocked, referred to the rampaging New York Mets, who pounded three Giant pitchers for 13 hits and rolled to a 9-4 baseball victory last night — their 11th straight triumph.

HELP ON WAY

But help is on the way for the Giants as newly acquired reliever Ron Kline was expected to be in uniform today when the Giants and Mets concluded their two-game series. Gary Gentry, 5-4, of the Mets faced Gaylord Perry, 8-5.

Kline, 1-3, came from Pittsburgh yesterday, with the Giants sending reliever Joe Gibbon to the Pirates.

"Our bullpen needs help," King declared after the Mets scored four runs off reliever Ron Herbel and added a single run off Ray Sadecki.

The Mets' impressive triumph extended the club's record for consecutive victories and gave the Mets the season's longest victory streak. It also made them 4-0 against the Giants and snapped a five-game Giants winning streak.

KEY MAN

Veteran right-hander Don Cardwell was the key man in the victory, hurling two-hit ball for eight innings, collecting three singles and driving in the go-ahead run with a fifth-inning sacrifice fly.

Cardwell, now 2-6, posted his first victory since May 6 and made his first start since May 15. He needed relief help from Ron Taylor in the ninth after Willie McCovey smashed a solo homer, his 20th, and Jack Hiatt added a two-run blast.

"I got two quick strikes on McCovey, then hung a curve," explained Cardwell. "Hiatt hit a high fastball. I was getting higher and higher — and that's a sure sign of tiring."

EXTENDS STREAK

McCovey extended his batting streak to 15 games, equalling the season high by Chicago's Don Kessinger and Pittsburgh's Matty Alou.

Loser Mike McCormick, 3-3, singled and scored on Bobby Bonds' triple in the third inning. Rejuvenated Tommy Agee opened the Mets' scoring with a fourth inning homer and capped it with another round-tripper in the ninth.

"I was just trying to hit the ball up the middle," said Agee who proved a point by blasting both homers 420 feet, almost to dead center. "The main reason for my success this season, is that I know the pitchers better."

The Mets did plenty of scoring in between those homers. Jerry Grote's double and Cardwell's sacrifice fly made it 2-1 in the fifth. Ed Charles' sacrifice fly and Grote's run-scoring single added a pair of runs and chased McCormick in the sixth.

Cleon Jones' three-run homer featured a four-run rally in the seventh. The blow gave Jones the team lead with eight home runs, a figure equalled by Agee one inning later.

U.S. OPEN TOMORROW

Casper Man To Beat

HOUSTON (AP) — Billy Casper loomed as the favorite in an elite field of the world's best shot makers seeking golf's most prestigious title in the United States Open, with laughing Lee Trevino and tough little Gary Player among the chief contenders.

"It's hard to pick a favorite," the 37-year-old Morman demurred. "The rough isn't that high, that tough here and that opens it up a lot. There's a lot of guys who could win it."

DIFFERENTLY

But his opponents in the 72-hole test that begins tomorrow on the 6,967-yard, par 70 Cypress Creek layout at the Champions Golf Club look at it a little differently.

"Right now, he's the best there is," defending champion Trevino said after a practice round yesterday. "Arnold Palmer is still the king of golf, but I don't care what anybody says. Casper is the best in the world."

Frank Beard concurred.

"He's playing just great right now," the steady man from Louisville said. "That last round he played in Chicago is probably the best round I've ever seen or heard of."

SECOND VICTORY

Casper, twice an Open winner, shot a four-under-par 67 in the rain, mud and muck of the Midlothian Country Club course Sunday and won the Western Open, his second victory of the year and 43rd of his career.

"I'm hitting my irons just great," the one-time fat man said. "And that's what it takes here. It's a long course and you have to hit a lot of long irons. The man who's straight off the tee and is hitting his irons will win it."

The course is relatively flat, laced by streams, sprinkled with lakes and studded with thousands of trees.

MUST GO STRAIGHT

"You've got to hit it straight here," said Trevino, an obscure guy from a driving range in El Paso, Tex., who used the 1967 Open as a springboard to prominance and leaped into the game's front rank with his 1968 victory.

Player, winner of almost $80,000 in only 10 tournaments this year, is playing some of the best golf of his career. He won the Tournament of Champions and has been out of the top 10 only three times.

Among the other top contenders are Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer, PGA champ Julius Boros, leading money winner Gene Littler, Masters champ George Archer and Beard.

MONEY WINNER

Beard hasn't won in almost two years but is one of the top money winners and holds the best stroke average on the course, 69.56. The dynamic Palmer, the game's all-time leading money-winner who was forced to qualify for the Open for the first time in a decade, also plays this course very well.

Nicklaus, the big Golden Bear of golf, has been in a recent slump but always is a threat.

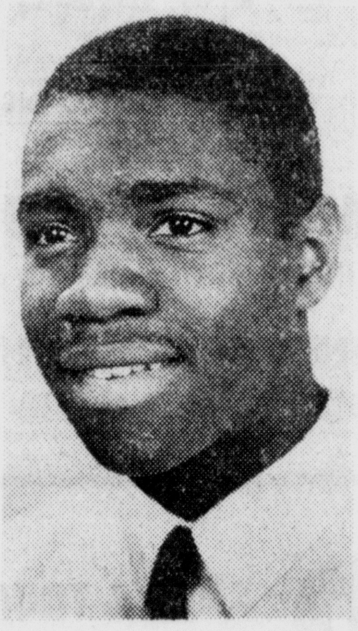
Two Marin Yearlings In NCAA Track Meet

It may be considered a bit of a rarity for a freshman to compete in the National Collegiate Athletic Association track and field championships, but Marin County can claim not one but two collegiate yearlings at the NCAA meet at University of Tennessee in two weeks.

They are hurdler Lowell Harris of Oregon State, a Terra Linda grad, and Alan Lee of Rice, Tam's great sprinter of 1968.



LOWELL HARRIS

That talented twosome, who dominated the Marin County Athletic League championships a year ago, have qualified for the big show, Harris by skimming the tall timber in 14.1 seconds and Lee as leadoff man for Rice's crack 440-yard relay team.

Harris, incidentally, has repeatedly lowered the OSU frosh mark for the high hurdles and last week, in an All-Comers meet at Corvallis, whipped Oregon and OSU varisty hurdlers with his sensational 14.1 clocking.

ATTORNEY BOB MARSHALL, president of Sears Point International Raceway, says it is quite an unnerving experience to ride in a pace car for the big stock car races, as he did Sunday for the parade and pace laps at the 150-mile NASCAR event.

"When you stop to think of what is following you around the course," said Marshall, "it makes you shudder. Each of those 26 cars weighs about 4,000 pounds and has about 500 horsepower. So, look at it this way: I was being chased by 13,000 wild horses weighing 52 tons. Brrr."

Formula A Cars Next At Sears

Next on the Sears agenda June 21-22 is the Sports Car Club of America's Continental Championship featuring those Formula A cars in a 49-lap, 123.6-mile main event. Formula B and C races will supplement the big show.

The Continental Series had its first fatality Sunday at Castle Rock, Colo. in the Continental Divide Championship when Jim Mulhall of Littleton, Colo., spun out of control and hit a retaining wall. Two mechanics were seriously injured and a spectator also was hurt.

The race, abbreviated from 40 to 27 laps because of the tragedy, was won by Dick Simon but Sudden Sam Posey, the boyish-looking 24-year-old Sharon, Conn., ace, placed second in his Eagle-Chevy, giving him first place in the Continental points championship. Posey, who won at Laguna Seca last month, will be at Sears as will all the other Formula A pros.

Two Women Tie At Peacock Gap

Mesdames Robert Bond and Don Faber each netted 68 strokes yesterday to tie for the club trophy in the Peacock Gap Women's Golf Club's 18-home medal handicap tournament at the San Rafael course.

Class A — Mesdames John Hurley, 83-19 — 69; Al Sheppard, 88-18 — 70; Harold Baer, 86-14 —72.

Class B — Mmes. Robert Bond, 92-24 — 68; Hal Suhrke, 91-22 — 69; E. A. Petterle, 98-25 — 73.

Jay Alou, Torres In Hospital

HOUSTON (AP) — Outfielder Jesus Alou and shortstop Hector Torres of the Houston Astros were in Methodist Hospital today with head injuries suffered as they collided while chasing a fly ball.

Alou suffered a severe concussion when the two ran together in the third inning of last night's game between the Astros and the Pittsburgh Pirates. Houston won 7-4.

A hospital spokesman said Alou was lapsing in and out of consciousness when he arrived.

DEEP CUTS

Torres was not believed to be as seriously injured, although attendants said he suffered deep cuts above the nose and on the chin.

Quick first aid administered by Pittsburgh trainer Tony Bartirome may have saved Alou's life.

Alou started in slowly and Torres hurried back. While the ball dropped just behind and to the side of them, their heads banged and they sprawled helplessly on the Astroturf.

The ball went for a three-run homer and gave the Pirates a temporary 4-0 lead.

QUICK WORK

Bartirome reached Alou first Noticing that Alou had swallowed his tongue, Bartirome pulled it out, inserted a rubber hose and inflated the hose.

This reopened Alou's throat and restored a normal air flow into the lungs.

"He looked like he was dead," Houston infielder Denis Menke said of Alou. "It was the hardest collision I've ever seen."

"I saw foam coming from his mouth," said Astros trainer Jim Ewell, who helped Bartirome give first aid.

'GREAT JOB'

Umpire Al Barlick, one of the first on the confused scene, said, "Alou's eyes were turning blue. Those trainers did a great job of taking care of him."

One of the most intimately concerned was Matty Alou, Pittsburgh center fielder and brother of Jesus. He hurried to the hospital immediately after the game.

Alou and Torres were carried off the field on stretchers. Torres regained consciousness before leaving the stadium.

Recreation Softball

Refectory defeated Stan's Sports 15-8 and Hiller's walloped the Hurricanes 10-2 last night in the C-II Division of the San Rafael Softball League at Albert Field.

Portman Inks Warriors Contract

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Bob Portman, once one of the most sought-after high school basketball players in Northern California, is returning to his home city of San Francisco as a professional.

The Creighton University graduate signed a contract yesterday with the San Francisco Warriors who had tabbed the 6-foot-5, 200-pounder as their top draft choice.

HIGH EXPECTATIONS

"We have very high expectations for Portman," said Warriors general manager Bob Feerick.

As a hard-driving forward with an unstoppable fallaway jump shot, Portman became the highest scorer in Creighton's history. He tallied 1,876 points and set 15 basketball scoring records at the Omaha, Neb. school.

As a junior, Portman averaged 29.5 points to rank fifth in the nation among major college players. He averaged 26.2 points in his senior year and pulled down 308 rebounds in 26 games.

FROM S. I.

A graduate of St. Ignatius High School in San Francisco, Portman majored in sociology and plans to work as a youth counselor. He will marry his college sweetheart, Pat Justus of Colorado Springs, Colo., on July 5.

"I'm really happy to come to San Francisco," said Portman, 22. "In addition to it being my home town, the Warriors have a fine ball club and a good, solid organization."

Seals Buy Howell

MONTREAL (UPI) — The Oakland Seals of the National Hockey League have purchased defenseman Harry Howell from the New York Rangers.

Howell, 36, who is recovering from a back operation, won the Norris Trophy in 1966-67 as the NHL's top defenseman. He holds the longevity record for a Ranger—1,160 games in 17 seasons.

A's Whip Senators, Send Dobson To Mound Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Oakland Athletics send Chuck Dobson to the mound tonight to sustain momentum against Washington.

The A's downed the Senators 6-4 last night, with Danny Cater whacking a two-out single in the seventh inning that scored Reggie Jackson, who had doubled.

The score was knotted 4-4, when Campy Campaneris opened the seventh with a single. He stole second, then scored on Jackson's double. It was Campy's third safety of the contest.

He extended his hitting streak to eight straight games by banging a leadoff single in the first and scoring on Joe Rudi's triple. Rudi scored on a sacrifice fly by Jackson to give Oakland an early 2-0 lead.

Frank Howard evened things by clouting his 18th homer after Del Unser led off with a single. Ken McMullen hit his fifth homer to give the Senators a temporary lead in the second inning.

Sal Bando homered for Oakland in the third, and the A's took over from there.

OLYMPIC GAMES

It's A Matter Of Politics

WARSAW (AP) — There appears to be more politics involved than sports at International Olympic Committee meetings.

"The United Nations has nothing on us," said one National Olympic Committee president who attended the June 6-10 IOC meeting in Warsaw.

"It's the United Nations squeezed into three days," said another official.

PROBLEM

"Political intrusions" is one of the biggest problems we have, IOC President Avery Brundage of Chicago admitted during the meeting.

That is one of the prices the movement must pay for its global success and prestige, he said.

"There will always be those who try to use the Games for their own purposes," he said, adding that the Olympic fathers will not permit it.

Such unathletic issues like flags, hymns, team names and South African racial policy constantly dog the Olympic executives.

Brundage was even called upon to declare that IOC approval for the team name designation of Democratic People's Republic of Korea had nothing to do with recognition of the Communist North Korean regime.

"The IOC has no relations with governments," he said, "and only recognizes national Olympic committees."

Last year the Korean Communists boycotted the Mexico City Games because they refused to compete under the name of North Korea. They branded the IOC a "reactionary plaything of the U.S. imperialists."

After many years of committee wrangling, Communist East Germany, not recognized by the West, finally got its Olympic wishes fulfilled.

At the 1972 Games, its flag will fly with all the other competing nations. When East Germans win, the national flag will be raised and the anthem played. For East Berlin, this is doubly delightful because the Summer Games will be in Munich, West Germany.

DEFEATED

Some IOC members want to eliminate this nagging problem and do away entirely with flag raising and anthems. But with the East block and young African nations against it, such a proposal was defeated last year.

Buffeted by changing political tides, the name of Formosa in Olympic protocol was changed twice: from Nationalist China to Taiwan to Republic of China.

Communist China doesn't participate at all.

One IOC phenomenon which could no doubt match the U.N. in intensity is lobbying.

One Olympic official summed it up like this: "When you look around you, there you see IOC delegate A pushing delegate B to vote his way on point seven on the agenda. And there is delegate C pressuring delegate D to vote for E as a new member."

On top of this, you have the delegations of mayors, local businessmen and bankers, applying the gentle, smiling but firm sell to bring future Olympic Games to their cities.

The Mobile Unit Wins For Mets

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The Mets' "Mobile Unit" is spreading pennant fever in New York.

Tommie Agee and Cleon Jones, the Mets' flashy, young outfielders from Mobile, Ala., smashed three home runs and drove in six runs between them last night tto lead New York to a 9-4 triumph over the San Francisco Giants.

The victory was the Mets' 11th in a row, the longest streak in the majors this season, and kept the second place Mets seven games behind Chicago in the National League's Eastern Division. The Cubs held on to their lead by downing Atlanta 3-1.

OTHER SCORES

Elsewhere St. Louis edged Cincinnati 5-4, Houston beat Pittsburgh 7-4, Los Angeles shaded Philadelphia 2-1 and Montreal whipped San Diego 7-4.

Agee hit a pair of solo homers,his eighth and ninth of the season, and Jones slammed a three-run shot in the four-run seventh inning to spark the Mets. Agee tied the score at 1-1 with his fourth inning homer and added another in the ninth to help Don Cardwell record his second victory in eight decisions.

Willie Smith and Ron Santo hit eighth inning homers to give the Cubs their victory over the Braves and hand Ken Holtzman his 10th triumph in 11 decisions.

A SMASH

Smith, pinch-hitting for Holtzman, tied the score at 1-1 when he became the first player to hit a home run into the Atlanta Stadium upper deck. Al Spangler was safe on Orlando Cepeda's error and Santo hit his 10th homer with two out. The victory left the Cubs with a 4-0 record this season against the Braves, the Western Division leaders.

Lou Brock led off the game with a homer to ignite a four-run rally that carried the Cardinals past the Reds. Bob Gibson pitched an eight-hitter and struck out 11 batters in boosting his record to 8-3.

Brock's homer, one of his three hits, Curt Flood's triple, Vada Pinson's single, a walk and Julian Javier's two-run single scored the four runs in the first. Pinson doubled home Brock in the eighth with what proved to be the deciding run.

NARROWS GAP

Bobby Tolan homered for the Reds in the eighth to cut the margin to 5-4, but Gibson blanked the Reds in the ninth.

THE ROUTE

Don Sutton went all the way to record his ninth victory against four losses. The Phils scored their lone run in the fourth on Don Money's sacrifice fly.

Don Bosch's two-run double highlighted a three-run ninth inning rally that boosted the Expos to their victory over the Padres. Maury Wills singled in Bosch with the third run. Mack Jones drove in three for Montreal, two with his 11th homer. Ed Spiezio had a pair of homers and Nate Colbert hit his 12th for the Padres.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Orioles' Boog Powell Continues His Streak

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Frank Robinson's two good eyes helped put the Baltimore Orioles on top of the American League's East Division, and Boog Powell's bad hip is helping keep them there.

Robinson, fully recovered from an eye injury he suffered two seasons ago, went on a record 10-homer spree in April that helped vault the Orioles into the East lead, and although he has slacked off somewhat recently, other Orioles, particularly Powell, have taken over.

Powell, on the other hand, hadn't been doing much until he hurt his hip a few weeks ago.

Since then he's been on a streak that continued last night when he drove in three runs with a homer in the Orioles' 11-4 victory over California.

In other American League games, Kansas City edged the New York Yankees 7-6, Oakland trimmed Washington 6-4, Detroit blanked Seattle 5-0, Minnesota defeated Boston 6-2 and the Chicago White Sox stopped Cleveland 9-5.

Powell's streak covers the last 26 games. In that stretch, he has driven in 32 runs and batted .327, hitting safely in all but one of the games. That's brought his over-all record to 47 runs batted in and a .302 average.

The big first baseman isn't certain why he's been hitting so well, but it could be more than mere coincidence that the streak started about the time he injured his left hip on a slide into second base.

"Lunging is a bad habit I get into once in a while," Powell says. "The bad hip kept me from lunging at the ball. As a result, I started using my hands and shoulders more. Until then, until I got hurt, I wasn't giving my hands a chance to work."

Against the Angels, Powell had help from Paul Blair, who himself has a streak going. In the past four games, the center fielder has knocked in 10 runs. That includes the four he got last night with two doubles and a single.

SLEEPING GIANTS

Two Living Golf Legends Trying To Remain Alive

HOUSTON (AP) — Arnold Palmer pumped his drive into the deep gorge on the right of the 554-yard, par 5 13th and, grumbling under his breath, strode into the thicket to try to whang the ball out.

Pow! The ball moved only a few feet and remained in the heavy foliage. His jaw tightened, Palmer took his stance.

JUMPED BACK

Palmer, alarmed, jumped about two feet and fell back against a bush.

Everybody laughed.

"You son-of-a-gun!" a shaken Palmer blurted at his playing companion. "I'll get you for this."

At one hole, Nicklaus sent a wild hook careening into a clump of trees, then turned to his father, druggist Charlie Nicklaus of Columbus, Ohio, and said:

"Aren't you glad you came out?"

"Yeah, I'm learning a lot," papa Nicklaus replied.

Palmer sent a drive screaming down the middle of the fairway, plunked a ball into a trap, blasted out and sank a good putt for his par.

'I'VE GOT IT'

"I've got it now," he said to a friend following behind him on the fairway. "Now watch me go."

This little drama on the Cypress Creek course of the Champions Club was a sort of moving preview of the U.S. Open Golf Championship starting tomorrow.

One of the spectators labeled it succinctly:

"Two living legends trying to stay alive."

To the gallery of several hundred, it was obvious that both Arnie and Big Jack, in this rare head-to-head practice session two days before the official tee-off, were attempting to regain the confidence and skills lost somewhere during the past several months.

Both have had mild slumps before. No one recalls when these two giants of the game, the two powerhouses who have dominated the sport for most of the last decade, have been in such depressing doldrums at the same time.

Palmer hasn't won a tournament this year. Nearing 40, he is said by some to be over the hill, the victim of putting nerves. His last victory was in the Kemper Open against a subordinate field last fall. He was 27th in the Masters, the tournament he has won four times; 37th at Colonial and 25th at Atlanta, his last two starts.

Nicklaus' collapse has been more marked and mysterious. In the last eight tournaments, this bull of a young man, only 29 and still possessing the greatest potential in golf, has won a total of only $12,000, finishing higher than 16th only once. He is 14 over par for his last 28 rounds. He has had only four rounds under 70 in this stretch.

CONFUSED

Arnie is walking faster, tugging at his belt more and jerking at his glove—old winning characteristics.

He almost knocked in a chip at one hole and turned to Nicklaus, giving his rival one of those old pucker-nose leers. Jack got the message.

At the next hole, Palmer pulverized a drive and Nicklaus crunched one 40 yards past him —a good 300 yards. "I'll press you," Jack said.

Arnie hit a tremendous drive. "Doggone it, another straight one," he said. "I wanted to hit one left to right."

A JAB

"Don't worry," Nicklaus said. "You didn't go far enough to get in any trouble."

The stilette dug deep.

Both scrambled wildly, driving into trees, knocking balls into traps, recovering for pars, getting few birdies. Nicklaus shot a 75 and Palmer a 73 over the par 70, snake-infested Cypress Creek course of the Champions Club.

Both kept a weather eye out for copperheads, mocassins and king snakes, in the creeks and marshes. They saw only turtles.

Palmer, in gray slacks and white shirt open at the neck, less crestfallen, more bravado in his walk and more spark in his play, said, "I've got it—I think I've got it whipped now." He seemed to be giving himself a pep talk.

Nicklaus, wearing a yellow visor the color of his hair, said unhappily. "I know what I want to do, I just can't do it. It's perplexing. But I could snap back overnight."

"That stroke," said Palmer. "I've got that stroke now."

What is it?

"It's all in here," Palmer, his brow wrinkled, responded. He tapped his hair-receding head.

Lutherans Win Champs Pin Title

Grace Lutheran Church bowling team is the new champ of champs after winning the sixth annual Nave Lanes Tournament of Champions, official tabulations revealed yesterday.

Thirty-eight teams, champions of 38 leagues in Marin County bowling (190 bowlers), made last weekend's tournament the biggest Nave TOC on record.

The Grace Lutheran team — Gail Poling, Maria Steinbach, Hank Steinbach, Paul Poling and Bill Bebo — totaled 3,005 pins, with handicap, to win top prize of $300.

Second prize of $150 went to Hagen and Smith — Dan Walker, Walt Smith, Ralph Chatoian, Jack Martin and Terry De Young — 2,959; third prize of $100 to the Hamilton Five — Ernie Cambell, Ken Kuckenbecker, Glen Edwards, Glen Freeman and Gary Goodman — 2,934, and fourth prize of $80 to Dervin Ford — Dottie Keaton, Mary Downing, Kathy Robinson, Fran Thurman and Helen Palazzotto — 2,928.

De Young had high series in the tournament, leading Hagen and Smith with a 647.

Meadow Club Bash Draws Sports Celebs Saturday

By RALPH CHATOIAN

It's the 19th annual Invitational Gold Putter and Silver Spoon tournament, 36 holes of golf spread over two days, Friday and Saturday.

A field of 240 golfers will vie in the two-man team, best-ball net competition and full handicaps will be used. Golfers will start teeing off at 8 a.m. both days.

Among the "big name" sports figures in the tourney will be Matt Hazeltine Jr., Gordy Soltau, Chub Feeney, Lefty O'Doul, Ernie Nevers, Dr. Jack Lucetti and Mat Palacio.

The festivities will wind up Saturday evening with prize awards and a dinner party at the clubhouse.

PEACOCK GAP golf clubber Al Nathe was just a wee bit early with his hole-in-one. Playing a practice round last Friday on the eve of the Peacock Gap invitational, Nathe, of 305 Summit Avenue, aced the 165-yard third hole with a four-iron. If he had waited a day to score the ace, he would have won a $100 merchandise order. An ace on the 13th hole during the tournament, the longer 192-yarder, would have been good for a new automobile.

Paul Lempio and Al Kennedy won the two-man team fourth annual invitational at Peacock, scoring 22 up in the match vs. par competition. They were playoff winners over Joe Bregante and Mike Perry who also finished with 22 up. They were followed by Martin Bramante-Oscar Fahrner, 20 up, and Ed Kalfain-Al Caselli, 20 up.

A HOLE-IN-ONE contest will be sponsored by the Marin Catholic Athletic Boosters Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on the Marin Catholic High School baseball field in Kentfield. Cost will be three shots for $1, with proceeds going to the Marin Catholic athletic department. There will be plenty of merchandise prizes, promises co-athletic director Gary Hughes.

A COMMITTEE is expected to be named tonight by the Meadow Club board of directors to take charge in putting on the third annual Marin County Tournament of Champions. The first tourney was held at Indian Valley, the next at San Geronimo, and this time it's Meadow Club.

SEMIFINALS AND FINALS of the Marin Country Club President Cup matches will be held Saturday and Sunday on the Novato club's course. Winners last Sunday advancing to the Saturday semis are (Morley Flight) Fred Lusieur, D. E. Rosen-Kranz, A. S. Gross, Norval MacDonald; (Kett Flight) R. A. Hartley, Guy Baty, Dr. John R. Mani; (Oliphant Flight) Don Thompson, W. R. Kessler, Milt Morley, Donald Telford; (Harias Flight) Frank Carbone, E. N. Elliott, J. L. Haff, Dr. Leon Balshone.

The first major league night baseball game that counted in the standings was played at Cincinnati on May 24, 1935.

Receiving Her 'Dividends' Mrs. Payson Is Finally

Joan Payson, owner of the New York Mets, never intended to make money out of them. Mrs. Payson is a wealthy woman, 200 times a millionaire. So why would she want to receive dividends from the Mets, financial dividends, that is?

The dividends that interested Mrs. Payson, who watches the Mets in virtually every game they play in Shea Stadium, were pride of ownership of a ball club and the thrill of winning.

The Mets didn't provide Mrs. Payson with many moments of pleasure in 1962, the year they were born. They won only 40 ball games that year, losing 120. But Mrs. Payson, a true sportswoman, knew how to lose with grace and dignity.

ALL MET fans know who Mrs. Payson is. They can point her out in her first base box alongside the Met dugout. When the Mets swept the Giants in a three-game series at Shea Stadium a couple of weekends ago, Mrs. Payson leaned into the dugout and waved a "well done" to her team.

Ron Hunt, now a Giant but once a Met, speaks with warm affection about Mrs. Payson who sent Hunt's wife, Jackie, a bouquet of roses after Ron had a big day at bat in one game.

"MRS. PAYSON was always doing things like that," Hunt recalls. "I was shocked when I was traded to the Dodgers following the 1966 season. I guess that's the way it is the first time you're traded. But it hit me and my wife especially hard. We loved it in New York."

Mrs. Payson was the primary reason why Hunt had such happy moments in New York. She sent the relaxed, informal atmosphere in Shea Stadium for the fans. She never put any pressure on the team. So the team became the Amazin's. They were amazing when they won.

A RARE breed of fans adopted the Mets. Only in the first year of their existence, 1962, did the Mets fail to top the million mark. Home attendance in 1962 was 922,530. Each year it has soared until it reached 1,932,693 in 1966. Last year it tapered off slightly to 1,781,657.

If the Mets make a serious run at the National League's Eastern Division title this year, Shea Stadium attendance will top two million.

MRS. PAYSON doesn't need the money. She unquestionably will give it away to one of her favorite charities. Nobody, least of all Met fans, will begrudge her that pleasure. Indeed, they will be happy that she is receiving dividends from the team, not the financial ones but the thrill of winning, a thrill in which they, of course, will participate.

Bob Veale of the Pittsburgh Pirates issued 94 bases on balls last season, top National League figure.

BOWLING TIPS

The left hand should move forward on the pushaway, bearing the bulk of the weight of the ball as long as possible. As the left hand drops away, however, the transition of weight to the right hand should be smooth.

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, June 11, the 162nd day of 1969 with 203 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus and Saturn. The evening stars are Mars and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1920 Ohio Sen. Warren Harding was called to a Chicago hotel and informed that he would be the dark-horse Republican candidate for President.

In 1927 Charles Lindbergh was welcomed home by President Calvin Coolidge after his historic solo flight across the Atlantic to Paris.

In 1950 Ben Hogan won the United States Open Golf Championship only 16 months after suffering near-fatal injuries in an automobile accident.

In 1963 federalized National Guard troops stood by as Gov. George Wallace allowed two Negroes to enroll at the University of Alabama.

A thought for the day: Miguel de Cervantes said, "Tell me thy company and I'll tell thee what thou art."

40 Strep Cases During Last Week

Forty cases of streptococci infections were reported last week in Marin County by Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer.

Nineteen cases of gonorrhea were listed, including five each in Sausalito and San Rafael. Also reported were six cases of infectious hepatitis, three syphillis, three German measles cases and a tuberculosis case.

How To Manipulate Transfer Shortage On A Losing Trick

As an experienced player, you are familiar with the principle of transferring dummy's shortage from one suit to another on tricks that you win in your own hand. Far less familiar is the principle of transferring the shortage on a trick that an opponent wins.

EAST OVERTAKES

West leads the king of hearts, and East overtakes with the ace of hearts to return his low heart. West wins the second trick with the nine of hearts and then continues with the queen of hearts.

This puts you in position to ruff in the dummy, but you would be foolish to do so. East's dramatic play at the first trick makes it clear that he started with only two hearts and that he expects to overruff the dummy on the third round of the suit.

Nothing good will happen, from your point of view, if you ruff the third heart with one of dummy's trumps. East will overruff, and you will eventually lose a diamond as well. Down one.

DON'T GIVE UP

You don't have to give up so tamely. When West leads the third heart, discard a diamond from dummy. This transfers dummy's shortage from hearts to diamonds.

East likewise discards a diamond, but it doesn't help him even though he is now in position to overruff dummy on the second round of diamonds. When West shifts to a diamond at the fourth trick, you win with the ace of diamonds and take the precaution of drawing three rounds of trumps before doing anything else.

CLEAR CLUBS

With East's fangs drawn, you can now clear the ace of clubs out of the way and ruff a diamond in the dummy. You discard the remaining diamonds on dummy's king and queen of clubs, thus assuring the contract.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:
♥ 4
♥ K Q J 9 5 2
♦ K J 9 7 6
♣ 10.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

The hand is not quite strong enough in top cards for an opening bid of one heart. Nevertheless, some experts would open this very powerful hand with one heart because of its playing strength. Some other experts might open with a shutout bid of four hearts. Most experts would pass, intending to bid the red suits very vigorously later.

Market In Another Losing Day

NEW YORK (UPI) — The market finished with a loss today despite a rally around mid-session. Trading was very heavy.

Steels had a mixed appearance. Most issues in the group had been lower earlier in the session. Autos also were mixed.

Chemicals moved lower, with most losses in fractions. Oils were weak from the opening bell, with Atlantic Richfield among the downside leaders.

Electronics had a handful of losers of a point or more. Honeywell, however, was one of the few to buck the trend.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange eased in brisk trading.

To Seek Increase

NEW YORK (UPI) — Public Service Co. of Colorado will seek a rate increase this summer, President Robert Person has told New York security analysts.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Mutual Funds Are Not Always Suitable Buys

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I have always felt that unless one had time to follow the market he was better off in a mutual fund. I have shares of Comstock, Eberstadt and Pioneer Fund. What do you think of these? — E. M.

A. Two of your funds, Comstock and Eberstadt, are too new to have compiled a meaningful performance record. However, after retirement you may want to switch into less aggressive funds since one of these is a performance fund and the other a growth fund.

Pioneer has an above-average record over the past five years.

I agree that a busy executive frequently lacks the time and/or interest to handle his investments wisely. But he owes it to himself to investigate all the alternatives.

Because you have split your capital of $127,000 among three mutual funds you have probably paid up to 6 per cent acquisition charges. Unlike a mutual fund, this type of portfolio supervision is fitted to the individual's needs.

Q. Would you list some top-quality convertible preferred stocks that pay a fairly good dividend? I plan on retiring in five years and feel that they provide a hedge against inflation with some safety. — R. P.

A. When market conditions are uncertain, convertible securities make particularly good investment sense. Air Products and Chemical $4.75 convertible preferred, yielding just under 4 per cent, is selling at a small premium over conversion value.

High-yielding Atlantic City Electric $5.88 convertible preferred at 5.3 per cent reflects the bear market in utility issues. Shares trade at a reasonable premium, carry an AA rating and are protected through 1973 against call.

International Telephone $4.50 convertible preferred is also call protected through 1973 and yields 4.3 per cent.

My final choice, Reynolds Metals $4.50 convertible preferred, yields 4.8 per cent but sells at a higher premium (22 per cent) over conversion value.

Any or all of these issues are fairly priced for medium to long-term investment.

New Factory

DETROIT (UPI) — Brooks & Perkins, Inc., will move its defense products division into a new factory at Livonia, Mich., by May 1970. The company also said it will cease rolling magnesium sheet products at Livonia.

Small World Car Leasing Agency To Open By July 1

Opening by July 1 in downtown San Rafael will be Small World Car Leasing — a branch of the Mill Valley business operated by Walt and Nancy Brown for the past five years.

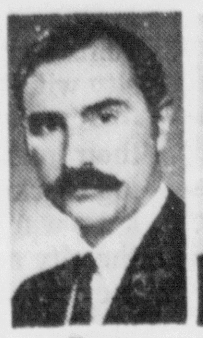
They have leased 871 Fourth Street, San Rafael, through Herman Deitch, Realtor. Coincidentally this is a return to the identical building where Brown started to work in 1947. At that time it was a feed store (Marin County Feed Co.) and later he resigned and moved across the street to work for Dohemann Motor Co.

The Browns operate both Small World Car Leasing and Small World Travel in Mill Valley. Last October the car leasing was separated from the travel business and moved to 383 Miller Avenue. The travel agency continues at 25 East Blithedale Avenue.

The Browns lease out assorted small cars such as Camaro, Mustang, Datsun, Toyota and MG. Guy Torrey of Larkspur, who has been with them four years, will be San Rafael manager and there will be one other salesman and a secretary.

Meanwhile they are diversifying their activities still further with a condominium in Acapulco, which they will rent out to tourists as they do with one already owned in Hawaii.

NOON NEWS PROGRAM weekdays on Radio KTIM now features stock reporter Gordon F. Parr of San Rafael with a brief analysis of the just-closed market, including cause and effect by world affairs and a briefing on most actively traded stocks. The report is also rebroadcast on KTIM's 5:30 p.m. news.



Parr

Martino

Parr is a registered representative with Irving Lundborg and Co., San Rafael, where he has been since the first of last year. Previously he was with Standard Register Co. in Los Angeles, Oakland and Portland.

JOSEPH MARTINO of Terra Linda has been promoted to assistant vice president and manager of Wells Fargo Bank's 477 Sutter Street office in San Francisco. Formerly assistant manager in San Rafael, he joined the bank in 1955 and has served as several San Francisco offices.

Fain

Froese

LAWRENCE A. FAIN of Tiburon has been promoted to assistant vice president in the national division at Bank of America's San Francisco headquarters. He joined the bank in 1967.

AL R. FROESE of Novato has been promoted to operations officer at Crocker-Citizens National Bank's East San Rafael office where the has been operations officer since 1966. He joined the bank in 1961 and served at offices in Selma and Fresno before his Marin assignment.

RONALD W. SHAFER of Santa Venetia has been promoted to senior professional service representative for Smith Kline and French, Philadelphia manufacturer of prescription medicines and other health products. He has been with the company since 1964.

'People's Park' Fancy Name For Nuisance

Just about everything concerning the so-called "people's park" in Berkeley has been badly handled, and that includes the reporting.

What was the "people's park"?

The news stories from Berkeley informed us that it was a parcel of property (most of a city block) purchased last year by University of California for campus expansion; that after the buildings on it were razed, it remained idle through the winter; that Berkeley "street people" decided to turn it into a park and installed some picnic tables, etc.; that U.C. then ordered them out and put up a chain-link fence around the property, whereupon the "street people" reacted with a riot.

WHAT THE NEWS stories failed to tell us was wherein the "park" of the "street people" differed from what most of us think of as a park.

Residents of Berkeley — genuine residents, with fixed addresses — referred to the "people's park" as an "open-air house of ill fame." It was not used as a park is normally used. Many "street people" lived there. They ate there, cooking over open fires; they slept there, together. And because they do not work and have no regular hours, they kept the nights hideous with loudly amplified "music."

There is little communication between town and gown in Berkeley — a fact noted at some length by Mayor Wallace Johnson during a recent televised Berkeley City Council meeting. But eventually, university officials became aware of the situation and ordered the property fenced — with very short warning to the occupying "street people." (Whether more adequate warning would have made any difference is very doubtful.)

The riot that followed resulted in calling the National Guard.

WHEN THE RIOT started, Berkeley called for police assistance from neighboring jurisdictions. The California Highway Patrol, Alameda County sheriff's office, and police departments of several cities sent officers. But the riot was too much for even this force to handle. Nintey-five law officers were injured the first day.

At request of the Berkeley police chief and Alameda County sheriff, the city administration then asked for the National Guard. Gov. Ronald Reagan, who had been watching the situation closely, had the guard ready. It moved in.

During all this time, the university administrators — who had saddled the city with the problem in the first place — sat behind the broken windows of their own vandalized buildings, making clucking noises. Then they let it be known — without ever approaching the city administration directly — that they might be willing to lease the property to the city for a dollar a year if the city wanted to make a park of it.

A majority of the city council voted to do that.

HOWEVER, THIS by no means placated the "street people" — who probably want nothing less than they want a park controlled by the city, which could not be used as an "open air house of ill fame." So they moved onto another piece of vacant property, started another "people's park" — and got into another ruckus with police.

What does it all boil down to?

Put plainly, this: A bunch of bums created a downtown hobo jungle and started a war when they were kicked out of it.

"Street people" and "people's park" are just pretty terms to create semantic confusion.

Where They Build

When it comes to building nests in which to lay their eggs and raise they young, most birds choose sensible sites according to the instinctive laws of their particular kind. But now and then a pair will choose a site that defies all logic.

We recall that a few years ago a pair of mourning doves built their nest and raised their young atop a traffic signal light in downtown Oakland. Recently, a lady in San Rafael wrote us about a bird, presumably a wren, which chose a sconce next to her main door as a nesting site. She was worried because there is much traffic in and out, much banging of the door, causing the wall and the sconce to vibrate.

Mail boxes are a fairly common site. But build a bird house and you may wait years for a tenant.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Sebastopol Editor Tees Off On State College Pornography

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Pornography at Sonoma State College has drawn the ire of Ernest V. Joiner, editor of the Sebastopol Times, which is a solid weekly in the apple capital of California.

Joiner is one of the state's more fiery editors, who carries a slogan on his mast-head which says "if you don't want it published, don't let it happen."

When he turns to pornography, he calls a spade a spade, and without reservation castigates the state college for permitting what he terms the publication of obscene material in the Steppes, the student newspaper.

WITHOUT MUCH pride, Joiner announced in the June 5 issue of the Times that for the first time in its history, it published (on Page 2) a nude photograph. At the same time, he wrote that on the advice of his attorney, he left out two articles from Steppe "which could not be reproduced because they represent the lowest gutter approach, replete with filthy four-letter words, to topics of no consequence whatever."

"The nudes on page 2," he wrotes, "indicate how the college uses your tax money to prepare your children to be adults, responsible citizens."

The photo itself certainly was no contribution to the arts, but rather something that might be seen in a nudist magazine, and far from a cause for incitement to riot.

"I HAVE VIEWED," wrote Joiner, "many items of pornography, but I have never seen it so blatantly and vulgarly displayed as in the pages of this college newspaper. It is filth. It is trash. It is hard core pornography. . . .

"The worst part of it is that it bears the hallmark and seal of approval of President Ambrose R. Nichols Jr. and his college administrators.

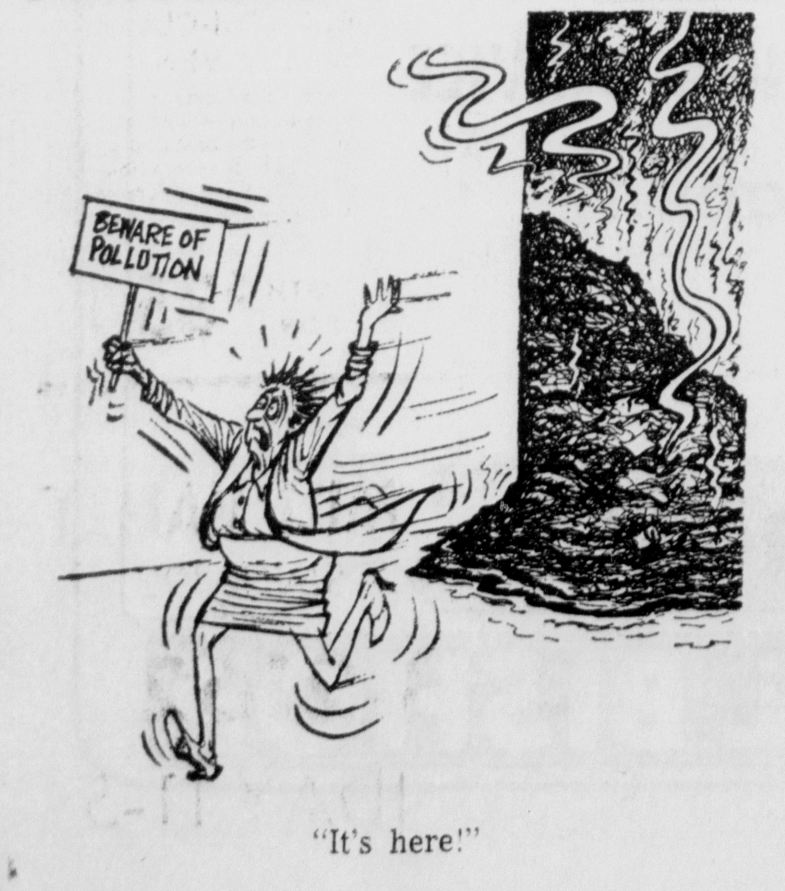
"If administrators do not approve of such sewer content, they would surely do something to stop it. . . .

"What can you do? Ask your legislative representatives to get some decency back on the campus, or withhold appropriations until the filth is removed. Demand the removal of Nichols and the small band of left-wing professors who encourage by their permissive attitude, obscenity as a part of higher education. Vote against college bond issues and fight appropriations of any of your dollars to such institutions as Sonoma State College until conditions change for the better.

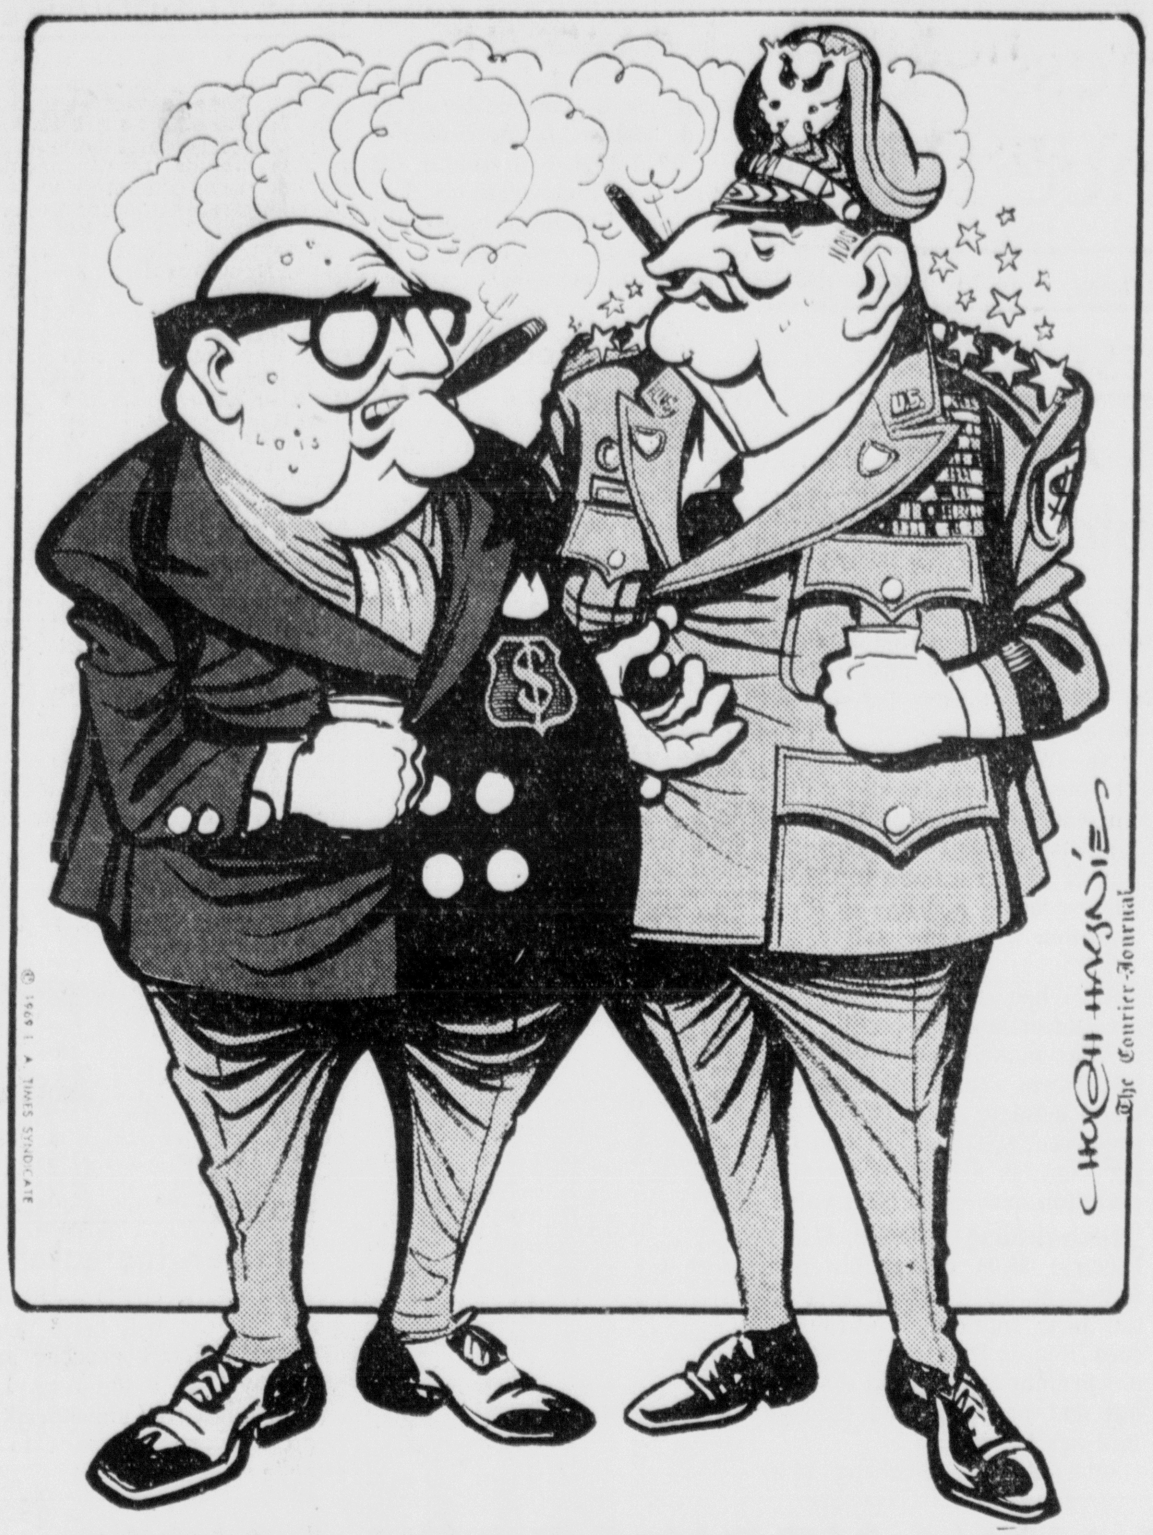
"Now if you'll excuse me, I'm going to the curb and vomit.!"

Perhaps if more people would attack college pornography, financed by state taxpayer dollars, in this vein, there would be less college pornography.

CYNIC'S CORNER BY INTERLANDI



"It's here!"



"As I was telling Gen. Bigbuck at the ABM Club after we closed that new arms deal — this whole business about there being a military-industrial complex is sheer poppycock!"

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

DDT Helpful And Harmless

One of the surest ways for anybody to make a real ass of himself is to try to speak authoritatively on a subject about which he knows nothing.

Newspaper editors are no exception, and you demonstrated this with effectiveness and originality in your silly editorial on DDT May 22. I believe I could ignore the foolishness of it, but when it also involves dangerous misinformation, someone ought to correct you.

Dr. Wayland J. Hayes, former chief of toxicology for the United States Public Health Service, and now a professor of biochemistry at Vanderbilt University, stated less than 30 days ago, that there is no danger to the public in current uses of DDT, either from residues in food or from environmental exposure to this pesticide.

Eradication of malaria in the United States was brought about by the use of DDT, and while it no longer exists here, it remains a major killer of people in many parts of the world. . . .

Public health officials in California and many other parts of the United States are today greatly concerned about the possibilities of encephalitis outbreaks this summer as a result of last winter's heavy snows and rains which are now furnishing record sized breeding grounds for mosquitoes. DDT is still the best mosquito control measure known to man.

The U. S. Public Health Service has, unknown to most of the general public (because of ignorant distortions like yours) studied DDT and its effects on all types of life, human and otherwise, for more than 20 years and has never found any significant harmful effects as long as the chemical is used within reason. . . .

Councilman Not Truck Owner

One of your news stories about the recent doings of the San Anselmo City Council (May 28) stated that "Councilman" Robert Scott was called to account for storing trucks and gear in front of his home. Please be assured that the Robert Scott who was involved in this incident is not a city councilman and he might very well resent being called one. We are in fact not related to one another.

Your reporter who was otherwise most accurate, may have been confused by an earlier criticism by some councilmen of "Councilman" Robert Scott. They were troubled because of your Mr. (Bruce) Coleman's excellent reporting about our fire and police needs in San Anselmo. At least you did not blame the truck-owning Robert Scott for ruffling the feelings of these councilmen. Things are bizarre enough in our council meetings.

Justice Lacking In Beating Of Boy

Four against one. They decide they don't like a hair style and they beat a boy into the hospital.

Justice? Punishment? Compensations for the victim?

No, the bullies are reprimanded and ordered to pay for the victim's shirt. The victim will always remember his ordeal because his spleen had to be removed. Will the cowards remember?

Democracy Alive; Details Challenged

This is in response to the editorial of June 4 in which you told of the democracy at Tomales High School. In your editorial you had many misleading and false facts.

First was when you stated Bob Borello received the majority of votes even though he was named ineligible by Principal (Anthony) Matulich. It is true he did receive the majority of the votes, but you didn't state the basis for which he received them. These are that the majority of the votes he received were against Matulich's decision rather than for Borello.

Secondly you stated that 50-75 students went on strike for two class periods. This is also misleading as the majority of these students went on strike just to be getting out of class. I would say 10-15 really knew why they were on strike. In my understanding the whole thing was overpublicized.

Thirdly you stated that there was a petition signed by 165 students which declared that they felt Borello should have office. There was no such petition.

You're right about democracy taking place at Tomales, as for the first time in years Tomales students have come alive.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

June 11, 1959

The state Senate Committee on Un-American Activities reported that Communists were working feverishly in California, aided by a series of U.S. Supreme Court decisions.

The state Public Works Board approved $98,500 to assist in filling the new Marin County fairgrounds and civic center site in Santa Venetia.

20 YEARS AGO

June 11, 1949

The Fairfax City Council approved a plan to construct a $120,000 National Guard armory at the pavilion grounds.

Hamilton Field's baseball team virtually clinched the Bay Area Armed Forces League pennant by walloping Presidio, 21-5.

'Unity Conference' In Moscow Shows Deep Communist Rift

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — Soviet Russian leadership is going through a painful and humiliating experience.

Waht is happening is that the summit conference of Communist parties, now assembled in Moscow to show how united they are behind the Kremlin, is revealing how disunited they have become and how much they resent Russian attempts at domination.

It is evident that the Kremlin can't get what it wants — expulsion of Red China from the ranks of 'true" Communists and endorsement of its right to intervene in the internal affairs of other Communist countries (as in Czechoslovakia) whenever it doesn' tlike their brand of communism.

This means that in very few nations do the Comunsit governments or the Communist parties accept Russian leadership unless compelled to do so by Russian force.

This means that communism in the world today is a collection of changing, divergent, national unions, most of them rejecting the ideological pattern of both Moscow ad Peking.

HOW DISUNITED is this "unity" summit which took the Russians five years of coaxing, cajoling and threatening to bring about?

Consider:

Nearly half of all the Communist parties in power — six out of 14 — are boycotting it. They are mainland China, Yugoslavia, North Vietnam North Korea, Albania and Cuba.

There are at least eight other Communist parties deliberatley absent — those from New Zealand, Indonesia, Japan, Malaysia, Thailand, Burma, Laos, South Vietnam.

Of the approximately 75 Communist parties present, not more than 20 are substantial and significant parties. The remainder are minisects, many of them no more than splinter groups within Communist parties, as in India and Israel, with the larger segments staying away because they are anti-Russian.

On the eve of the conference there were so many controversial amendments cutting away at what the Kremlin wanted the conference to approve that the only way the Russians could get the opening session under way with some semblance of harmony was to postpone debate.

IN THE EASTERN European Communist bloc, where the Russians exert their greatest power because the Red army can move in so readily, Romania is showing itself bravely independent. It refuses to say anything even politely vague that could be twisted into apparent approval of the Czech occupation or the Russian doctrine of "limited sovereignty" for others. Its position is that "the less we shine, the better" because the Romanians well know how the Russians use past vagaries to justify the Czech invasion.

The Italian Communist Party, the largest in Europe, is independent of Russian wishes. It is turning sharply away from anything but the loosest association with Moscow. Its leaders are beginning to describe Marxism as outdated and irrelevant to conditions of modern industrial society, and they don't want to be bound by the Kremlin's "petrified ideology."

Like the Czech Communist reformers, before they were bludgeoned by Russian tanks, the Italians are now saying that communism can achieve its goals only by popular consent.

Communism by popular consent will be wholly unlike the communism we have known in the past. It may not be communism at all. But it is unlikely that the Kremlin can succeed in stemming the tide.

'New Left' Leader Plans Attack On Broadcasters

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — Broadcasters and the Federal Communications Commission are bracing for an attack on radio and television programming policies directed by a top theoretician of the "New Left."

While programming policies of broadcasters will be the initial focus for a legal task force headed by Marcus Raskin, co-director of the Institute for Policy Studies here, FCC licensing policies — the standards by which stations are licensed — are its ultimate target.

UNDER THE Federal Communications Act, the airwaves are public property. Raskin says his task force wants to find out whether licensed broadcasters operate in the public interest or in their own, commercial interests.

The three-year licenses of all broadcasters in this area — District of Columbia, Maryland, Virginia and west Virginia — expire together on Oct. 1. They are to be the first ones to have their programming reviewed by the Raskin group.

Raskin has been an outspoken critic of the Vietnam war and a political activist and writer for "New Left" causes. A year ago he was found not guilty, in a much publicized case, of conspiring to advise young men to evade the draft. He was the only defendant acquitted in that Boston case which resulted in guilty verdicts against Dr. Benjamin Spock, Rev. William Sloane Coffin Jr., the Yale University chaplain, and two others.

RASKIN HAS rounded up half a dozen lawyers and law students, well acquainted with communications law, to do the spade work in the inquiry.

By publicizing deficiencies in programming before renewal time, the Raskin group will, in effect, be spotlighting license which might be subject to successful challenge. The group can then assist in challenges based on failure to provide adequate community services.

RASKIN TALKS of the public — the community served by a radio or television station — as finding ways to take back the airways which it owns. That is tough talk for broadcasters, but at least two members of the FCC agree that some programming fails to serve the public interest.

Moreover, the two commissioners, Nicholas Johnson and Kenneth A. Cox, recently questioned whether their FCC colleagues are interested in applying "any standards at all" in the renewal of licenses.

The two commissioners commented in dissenting with respect to the renewal of licenses for some radio and television stations in New York State. They did not propose that licenses be revoked or suspended, but they suggested that the FCC should look "more closely" at time allotted to news and public affairs programming. Specifically, they recommended further inquiry into the operation of seven of the 24 commerical television stations in New York state.

Blessed is he who has found his work; let him ask no other blessedness. —Thomas Carlyle.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

State Funds Withheld For Questionable Reasons

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

California law requires that school districts devote from 50 per cent (in high school and junior college districts) to 60 per cent (in elementary districts) of "current education expenditures" to payment of classroom teachers. However, 129 school districts in the state failed to comply with this requirement last year.

Punishment consists of withholding state funds equal to the amount of the excess in non-teaching expenditures.

HARDEST HIT last year, according to a report to the legislature by the State Department of Education, was Ravenswood Elementary School District in San Mateo County. It was denied $265,107 in state funds for non-compliance. This loss of expected funds was disastrous to the predominatly Negro district, with low per capita income and a tax rate of $3.44 per $100 assessed valuation.

Three other school districts exceeded by more than $100,000 the amounts they legally could devote to purposes other than classroom teacher pay: Foothill Junior College District in Santa Clara County, $193,531; Santa Barbara Elementary School District, $119,272, and Fremont-Newark Junior College District in Alameda County, $108,530. However, not a dime in state funds was withheld from these three.

Like most sections of the California Education Code, this one has built-in loopholes. The Sata Barbara Elementary School District got its full state allotment despite its overspending because the State Department of Education found that it was devoting to teacher pay an amount comparable to other districts of its size. The two junior college districts were among eight new districts of that type which were allowed a special exemption.

WHY SHOULD a school district be denied state funds because of the way it spends its money?

There are two purported reasons. One is to guard against outright wasteful spending; the other is to reduce class sizes.

The education profession for many years contended that smaller classes were nore important than anything else in improving the quality of education. This was taken on faith by most people, including California's legislators.

Within the last few years, statewide and nationwide test results have shown that class size has little or nothing to do with how much children learn. However, the old belief still governs California's educational policies, and is reflected in many of its school laws. The requirement that a certain percentage of the district's budget go to pay classroom teachers is intended to keep classes small.

It does not seem to have much effect, however. Among the 129 non-complying districts listed in the state report, average class sizes in elementary grades ranged from 33.8 in Mecca District in Riverside County down to 10.6 in Helm District in Fresno County.

THERE IS FURTHER evidence that the requirement has little to do with how much is spent on non-teaching personnel.

Another report to the legislature by the State Department of Education listed the ratio of non-teaching to teaching employees in nearly every school district in California. It showed that elementary districts averaged 13.2 certificated people (holding credentials to teach) in non-teaching positions to every 100 classroom teachers.

Ravenswood Elementary District had 16.7 certificated non-teaching persons per 100 classroom teachers — a little above the state average. But the report listed 38 elementary districts that had 20 or more non-teaching certificated employees per 100 classroom teachers. Few of these districts were listed for failing to devote 60 per cent of their expenditures to classroom teacher salaries.

The three elementary districts with the highest ratio of non-teaching personnel were: La Habra, Orange County, 31.4 per 100; Los Altos, Santa Clara County, 31.3, and Pacific, Humboldt County, 29.4. None of these was listed for non-compliance.

To complete the irony, Ravenswood would not have lost that $265,107 if it had filed a request for exemption on time. For its 25.8 average class size entitled it to be forgiven for the overspending under another of the law's loopholes.

Minneapolis Lawman Wins Mayor Race

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — A politically independent police detective who pinned his hopes of becoming mayor on a tough law-and-order stand has won an easy victory over a Republican opponent endorsed by President Richard M. Nixon.

Charles Stenvig, who defeated City Councilman Dan Cohen 74,748 to 46,739 as 55 per cent of the city's registered voters turned out, promised in his victory speech yesterday that he would not let the voters down.

"My chief adviser is going to be God," Stenvig said, "and don't you forget it!"

Stenvig 41, will be sworn in July 7 as the successor to Arthur Naftalin, a Democrat who is stepping down to return to teaching at the University of Minnesota after four terms in the mayor's office.

Cohen, 33, was endorsed not only by the President but by Gov. Harold LeVander and had counted on a heavy voter turnout to overcome Stenvig's lead in the April 29 primary.

Stenvig led a field of 10 candidates in the primary and ran 8,000 votes ahead of Cohen.

The detective's campaign was centered on the single theme that law and order means "strong, fair, impartial law enforcement toward everyone."

The successful campaign cost only an estimated $15,000, and was featured by a clanking 1940 Ford truck with a loudspeaker on top. Cohen spent an estimated $45,000.

Stenvig will receive $21,000 a year in his new post. Under the weak-mayor system in Minneapolis, he will have few powers beyond appointing the police chief.

"Right now, the mayor's main job is being head of the police department," Stenvig said, and he expressed the view that his training is just right.

"There hasn't been anyone elected mayor yet that's had any training to head the police department." Stenvig said. "I've had 15 years, counting the military. I'm the best qualified yet."

Ross Panel Sets Creek Discussion

The Ross Town Council will meet at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow to hear public views on the phase of the Corte Madera Creek flood control project which is scheduled to run through the community.

The discussion is scheduled to last 30 minutes. Similar talks will be held at each council meeting as long as interest is shown.

In other business, H. D. Pischel of San Francisco will ask for council permission to subdivide 15 acres on Canyon Road into four future homesites.

Cambodia To Resume Ties With U.S.

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — The United States and Cambodia will resume diplomatic relations at the lower level of charges d'affaires, Prince Norodom Sihanouk told a news conference today.

The prince, Cambodia's chief of state, also announced that he has broken diplomatic relations with West Germany and West German aid to Cambodia will be stopped.

Cambodia recognized East Germany early in May, and West German Foreign Minister Willy Brandt termed this an unfriendly act as far as his government was concerned. This apparently angered Prince Sihanouk,

The prince said that the decision to resume relations with Washington followed an American note May 22 which said a previous statement recognizing Cambodia's frontiers "speaks for itself."

The earlier statement, in mid-April, said the United States respects Cambodia's sovereignty and territorial integrity "within its present frontiers."

Cambodia at first took exception to this, and Prince Sihanouk said he would not resume relations with Washington unless the Americans gave unreserved recognition to the border as he draws it.
